A RECORD OF
THE BEARDEN FAMILY

This pamphlet contains a collection of data including census, marriage, and other records and miscellaneous notes and items compiled over the years from sources too numerous to mention, but for which I am grateful. By its very nature it will contain repetitions, contraditions and errors.

No claim is made or responsibility accepted as to the accuracy of the enclosed information. The material is not copyrighted and you may use it in anyway you desire. Much knowledge of our ancestors is lost because their records and stories were not recorded or kept. They were the pioneers who settled America, and but for them we would not be here. Many lie in forgotten and unmarked graves, perhaps on land they once owned and tilled.

John Quincy Adams wrote in 1823 as he walked through the burying-ground, and viewed the tombstones erected over the graves of four generations of his ancestors, that very little more was known than recorded upon those stones. As present generations pass on, who then of our posterity shall know of us?

There were marriages between my ancestors and the BEARDENS.

I would be pleased to hear from anyone who can add to this pamphlet.

Notes:

1. I have some doubts that all of the above were born in SC.
2. This family moved to Catoosa Co., GA., and then to Parker Co., TX.
3. Ansel Bearden had a previous family by wife #1 Georgia Lemuel. Possibly Theresa Ann (Thurzyann) Bearden who m. Benjamin Goss on 13 Oct 1835 in Lumpkin Co., GA., is one of them. Leonard & Nehemiah Bearden are said to be twin sons of Ansel & 1st wife, and to have m. Smith twins, Juliet & Cynthia. Said to be lots of twins in Bearden family - Jacob was a twin to James. One Bearden dau. had 3 sets of twins. Jacob had at least one set of twin girls.

THE ANCEL BEARDENS

From the book HISTORY OF PARKER COUNTY (TX), by the members of the Parker County Historical Book Committee, 1980, P.O. Box 156, Weatherford, Texas. (Page 153)

Ancel and Jane Bearden with their eleven children came to Texas from Catassa County, McGee,[1] Georgia about 1850. They settled in the western part of Parker County, Texas, a little southeast of Millsap, Tex. Ancel was a farmer. They came to Texas in a wagon train. Ancel was born in [2] 1783 in Ga. and died 8/8/1868 and is buried in the Gilbert family cemetery, 3 miles southeast of Millsap. Jane Bearden, Ancel's wife, was born 10/11/1805 and died 11/6/1885 and is buried beside her husband, Ancel. Several of their children are also buried in this cemetery.

Ancel and Jane Beardens children were:

1. John married Caroline Birt and their children are:
    - Martha married Singleton Sylvester Littlefield,
    - Joseph Singleton,
    - J. L. (Doc),
    - Lovie,
    - Luther,
    - S. T. (Sol),
    - Roxie,
    - Robert (Bob), and
    - Boots

    (John Marion Bearden m. Mary Caroline Burt/Birt from Lumpkin Co., GA)
2. Jane - a maid,
3. Betty - a maid
4. Hannah married W. C. Brashear
5. Melissa also married Rev. W. C. Brashear, (Hannah had died of Tuberculosis). W. C. Brashear and Melissa's children were:
    Drusilla, Samuel R., George, and Joseph.

    (William C., known as uncle Billie, was a Baptist preacher and was married about three or four times). He and his wife gave a home to girls who needed homes - Dora Smith Oliver, Rosa McCommis, Effie Baccus and Josie Canady.
6. Ancel Marion Bearden married Elizabeth Birt.
    Their children were:
    Dicie, George, Ann, Abbie Louise, Donnie, Mose, James Ancel and James Marion.
7. Joel Dallas Tyson Bearden married Nancy Elizabeth Bell and had one child - Lorinda who married Jim Curley. Joel's second wife was Betty Elizabeth Littlefield.
8. Reuben Beardon married Theodocae Dixon or Nichols.
    Their children are:
    Margaret, Jane, Thomas Pinkney, Rosa Elizabeth, Eldie, Joel Albert Tyson, Lillie Nora, Lottie Bertha, C. Ray, James Paul and Macie.
9. Sarah Fannie Bearden married Jim M. Littlefield (Big Jim).
    Their children:
    Leatha, Vinie, Mollie and Edd.
10. James William Burt Bearden married Lucinda Ann Burk. William was killed in 1863 near McGee, Ga. and is buried there during the Civil War. Lucinda died in 1861 in child birth leaving two children - Ocias Adonis (Donnie) and Dorkie Ann or Rilla.

Continued

11. Elizabeth (Liza) Bearden married George Gilbert, son of Webster Gilbert.

Their children are:

James Webster, Hannah Elizabeth, Singleton Sylvester (Sing), Thomas Taylor, Rosa, Melissa, Newton, Joel Almoth, Reuben Frank, Lora Ann, Mattie Linnie, and Rhoda.

Soon after coming from Georgia to Texas and to Parker Co. several of the Beardens moved on to Palo Pinto County near and in Santo, while the others stayed in the western part of Parker Co. John, Ancel Marion, Joel Dallas Tyson and Reuben settled in Santo, Tx. They were among the first settlers in and around Santo. Joel Dallas Tyson operated the first general store, which was located northeast of the present town. In addition to the store Joel operated the post office, a stage-coach station, a hotel, an eating place of some kind and a set of cattle pens used by the farmers, ranchers and traders of this area. Then when the town was moved to the present location, Joel built one of the first rock buildings for the store. Many of the Beardens are buried in the Eastside Cemetery, near where Joel had the first store. (By Grace Gilbert Smith)

Notes:

1. Catoosa Co., GA. Ansel Bearden, 62, Farmer, b. SC, on 4 Nov. 1850 is in the census of Lumpkin Co., GA., Amicalola Dst, Page 21, #9, with wife Jane (Jordan), 46 b. SC, and children: Emily 25, Elizabeth 21, William 19, John 15, Malisa 14, Hannah 12, Jane 10, Sarah 8, James 5, Joel 4, & Elizabeth 3/12, all b. SC. Also living in the household is: Ansel M. Bearden, 23, b. SC, and wife Emily 19, b. SC.
2. Note above article gives Ancel Bearden's birth year as 1783 and the 1850 census has him born in 1788. If 1783 was taken from a grave stone - with erosion 3s and 8s look alike.
3. There are some who think that Teresa Ann (Thurzy Ann) Bearden who married Benjamin Goss on 13 Oct 1835 in Lumpkin Co., GA., was a daughter of Ancel Bearden and his first wife, Georgia Lemuel.
4. A descendant says that Leonard & Nehemiah Bearden were sons of Ansel, twins, and married twins Cynthia & Juliette Smith. Nehemiah Beardem, 43, b. GA, wf. Cyntha 47 b. SC, and several children are in the 1860 census of Dawson Co., GA. Next door to him are Lenard Bearden 42, wf. Juliet, and 4 ch with one named Ancel. (Dawson Co. formed from parts of Lumpkin).
5. Ch. of Martha Bearden & Singleton S. Littlefield: Arizona m. Barney Carroll; Lucy m. George Wright; Grady m. Otha Thompson; Lena m. William Ervin/Irwin; Victoria m. Edd Baker; Finis m. Ina Young & Bonnie Littlefield m. Patrick Smith, all in Weatherford, TX.

Notes:
1. "Braden" is probably Enumerator Reid's way of spelling "Bearden" based on how it sounded and his spelling abilities. In 1860 census as Bearden, in Dawson County formed in Dec 1857 from Lumpkin Co. & others.
2. Irene Bearden Keller of Colorado has a Certificate of Death on John Bearden, b. 1850 & gives his father as John Bearden, and his mother as Fanny Fields.
John Bearden, 10, in Fanny's household in 1860 census - also has Richard, age 103 years. This would be Richard Bearden, b. 6 July 1760 in Granville Co., NC., died 21 June 1860 in Dawson Co., GA. He might be the father of Ansel Bearden who went to TX and was b. ca. 1788.

History of the Bearden Family

By: Lawrence L. Stanley

This story had its beginning about five years ago, when a relative of the Bearden family in Gilmer County, wrote a letter to Mrs. Irene Bearden Keller in Ninatare, Nebraska, suggesting to her that I might help her trace the Bearden family in this area of Georgia.

Mrs. Keller wrote me a letter, and at the same time she wrote to Mrs. Earl Chester of Dawsonville, Ga. Mr. & Mrs. Chester helped her to find some of the descendents of the two men, whose grave markers are shown in the photos that are part of this story. Here is a brief story of these two pioneers settlers in Georgia.

He lived in South Carolina in the long ago, a man whose name was Thomas Sumter. He was born in 1734 and died in 1832. He took the side of the Americans in the Revolutionary War, and became a guerilla leader of a band of S.C. militia called the Carolina Game Cocks. Fort Sumter in Charleston harbor which on Dec. 20, 1860 saw the beginning of the Civil War, was named for this man.

The marker you see here was furnished to Mrs. Keller by the Veterans Administration, and has been erected by Earl Chester and Silvey Bearden who are descendents of this Revolutionary soldier, near New Hope Baptist Church in Dawson County. The marker reads:

Richard Bearden
Sumpter Breg.
S.C. Militia Rev. War
July 6, 1760 June 21, 1861

Richard D. Bearden lived through as a soldier under Thomas Sumter, and through the war of 1812, and died at the age near 101 years old after he had witnessed the beginning of the Civil War.

HISTORY OF THE BEARDEN FAMILY

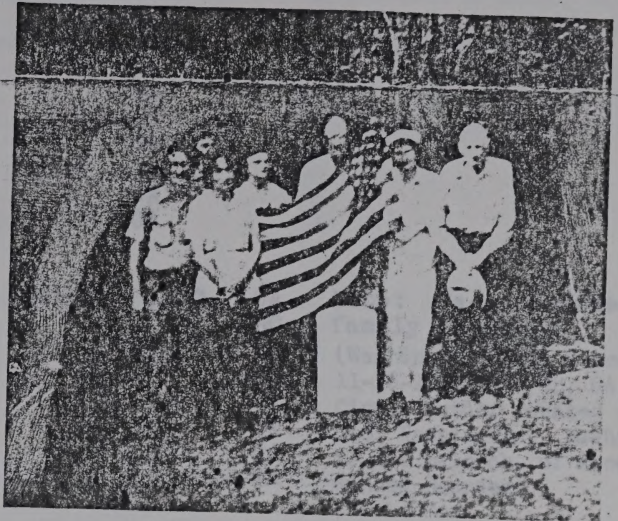
His son, whose marker was shipped to my home in Gilmer County by the Veterans Administration, where it was picked up by Vernon West and his son Randall West, and moved in a jeep about two miles into the forest off Highway 52 in Gilmer County, to the lone grave site of Jacob Bearden, whose name appears with that of Winny his wife, and a number of others on the historic marker in front of Ebeneezer Baptist Church, which is the oldest Baptist Church in Gilmer County.

A stone wall around this grave was accidently torn down by timber cutters, and was restored by Vernon West, at the request of Mrs. Keller. This marker reads;

Jacob Bearden
Prvt.
U.S. Army
War of 1812
1780 1867

He outlived his father by only six years, and died at age 87 years. The people who attended the brief ceremony on Saturday, Sept. 18, 1982 at William Bearden cemetery near New Hope Church in Dawson County were as follows: Boyd Bearden, age 82, his sister, Gladys Bearden age 66, his brother, Silvey Bearden age 74, another sister, Ella Bearden Moss age 68, J.B. Bearden, Mr. & Mrs. Earl Chester, Corine Bearden Kirk, her son, Dempsey Bearden Kirk, Bertha Bearden Bishop, and a granddaughter, Angela Bishop, W.M. Ernest Bearden, his wife, Mabel Norris Pope Bearden, Norman D. Bearden, his wife, Diann Bell Bearden, their daughter, Pricilla Bearden.

The descendants of this Bearden family still live in Dawson and Gilmer counties in 1982, or 222 years after the Old Revolutionary soldier Richard D. Bearden was born, and I count it an honor to have been invited to have a part in these two ceremonies. (Lawrence L. Stanley, 9/18/82.)



Note:

Lawrence L. Stanley, who wrote this article, lives in Gilmer County, Georgia.

His son, whose marker was shipped to my home in Gilmer County by the Veterans Administration, where it was picked up by Vernon West and his son Randall West, and moved in a jeep about two miles into the forest off Highway 52 in Gilmer County, to the lone grave site of Jacob Bearden, whose name appears with that of Winny his wife, and a number of others on the historic marker in front of Ebenezer Baptist Church, which is the oldest Baptist Church in Gilmer County.

A stone wall around this grave was accidently torn down by timber cutters, and was restored by Vernon West, at the request of Mrs. Keller. This marker reads:

Jacob Bearden
Pvt.
U.S. Army
1780 1867

He outlived his father by only six years, and died at age 87 years. The people who attended the final ceremony on Saturday, Sept. 18, 1982 at William Bearden cemetery near New Hope Church in Dawson County were as follows: Boyd Bearden, age 82, his sister, Gladys Bearden age 68, his brother, Sivey Bearden age 74, another sister, Ella Bearden Moss age 83, J.S. Bearden, Mr. & Mrs. Earl Chester, Corine Bearden Kirk, her son, Dumphrey Bearden Kirk, Bertie Bearden Bishop, and a granddaughter, Angela Bishop. W.M. Ernest Bearden, his wife, Mabel Norris Pope Bearden, Kenneth D. Bearden, his wife, Diann Bell Bearden, their daughter, Trecilla Bearden.

The descendants of this Bearden family still live in Dawson and Gilmer counties in 1982, or 222 years after the Old Revolutionary soldier Richard D. Bearden was born, and I count it an honor to have been invited to have a part in these two ceremonies. (Lawrence L. Stanley, 9/18/82.)

Notes:

1. Book Annals of Upper Georgia Centered in Gilmer County, George Gordon Ward, appears to be in error on page 251 when it says that Uriah Holden m. Lydia Bearden. Uriah's wife's name was Rhoda. Uriah's son, John Holden, m. Lydia Bearden. Uriah's twin brother, Ozias Holden had a son named John Stephens Holden, who married Louisa M. Perry 14 Aug 1873 in Dawson Co., GA.
2. Lydia Bearden said to be d/o Williby Bearden & Sarah Peek - see 1850 census of Gilmer Co., GA. Lydia not listed so probably already married, b. ca. 1825; died. 1900.John Holden b. 28 Feb 1822, d. 17 Sept 1894. Married 1841, according to a Holden descendant.

James J. BEARDEN m. Mary Josephine RANEY 17 Aug 1853 in Gilmer Co., GA (per Irene B. Keller, desc.) Mary d/o Daniel & Mary Polly (Morton or Norton) Rainey, gddau of Presley & Judith (Pearden) Rainey, g-gd of John Sr. & Elizabeth (Presley) Ramey of Wilkes Co., GA by 1793 , fm. VA.
Daniel Ramey siblings: Absolom, John, Jr., Edmond, Annie, Frances, Sarah & Polly.

Mrs. Keller of Colorado wrote in 1987 thatLeonard & Nehemiah Bearden were twins and m. Smith twins, Cynthia & Juliette. Also said that her g-gdfa was a twin & his dau. had 3 sets of twins; that Jacob Bearden was a twin to James and Jacob had at least one set of twin girls. Mrs. K's g-gdfa's twin was William Newton Bearden.

Richard Bearden b. 1799 SC, wf. Penelope b. 1700 SC, had twins Elizabeth and William b. 1829 in GA. Richards first wife may be Elizabeth Parker d. about 1840. Richard & Penelope in 1850 census of Lumpking Co., GA. (If I copied this correctly)

Return Baptist Church, Oconee Co., SC was constituted 18 May 1848 although it began as the Kilpatrick Branch of the Old Hepsibah Bapt. Ch. in 1805. In 1858 a committee composed of WILLIAM BEARDIN, Aaron Cain, E.H. Case, J. Lowry, B.F. Reeder and E. Miller were appointed to draw up plans for a larger church, but the onset of Civil War curtailed the plans. A new brick bldg. was erected in 1962.

 New Hope Baptist Church, Dawson Co., GA.

New Hope Church was established June 3rd, 1846. In order to create a constitutional body to organize a church in their own community, nearer their home. The following members asked for their letters from Goshen Church for this purpose: Letters were granted to - ANCEL BEARDEN and his wife; Nathaniel Harben, Moss McWherter; Abel and Elizabeth Sheriff and daughter, Elizabeth; and Abel Sheriff, Jr. On June 3, 1846 New Hope met for the first time and appointed Brother William Kimsey, Moderator; Benjamin Head, Pastor; and ANCEL BEARDEN, Clerk.  The following men from New Hope area served in the Civil War - ROLAND BEARDEN *******

(From - A Bicentennial Look at Dawson County, by Committee, 1975) - also, Goshen Baptist Church, Dawson Co., GA.

(Constituted Feb. 1, 1834 by ancestors of the Compiler)

James Rice and Sarah Rice, and ANSEL and JANE BEARDEN were among the first members; also, RICHARD BEARDEN, Zelpha Dobson, UNAS BEARDEN, Elias Turner and Sarah Turner, and Absolem Wofford.

 ANCEL BEARDEN & family in the 1850 census of Lumpkin Co., GA., and this area may have become Dawson County when formed. This family apparently went to Parker Co., Texas, as both are buried there. The following is from a book on the history of Parker Co., Texas. ( ) are my notes. Excerpts.

ANCEL BEARDEN, b. 1783 (census says 1788 so this may be a gravestone date)
d. 8 Aug 1868

JANE (wife) b. 11 Oct 1805, d. 8 Nov 1885
Both above are buried in the Gilbert Cemetery, Parker Co., Texas.
(Son of Ancel & 2nd wife Jane Jordan)
JOHN BEARDEN m. CAROLINE BRIT.
(Daughter)
MARTHA BEARDEN m. Singleton Silvester "Bud" Littlefield, for whom Littlefield Bend, Parker Co., TX., was named. He died 1 March 1935 and is buried in Soda Springs Cemetery.
S.S. Littlefield was the 9th child of Wilson & Phamey Littlefield, and was b. 12 Oct 1856.

GOSHEN CHURCH, DAWSON CO., GA (location was in Gilmer Co., GA until 1857) Minutes: (not complete)
March Turm - Received Ansel Bearden and Jane Bearden by letter.

Sept. Turm - Received Richard Bearden by letter.

1835 - June - Received Unos (?) Bearden by letter.

May 1838 - The church met and found in peace a grievance laid in by brother burt against brother Richard bearden for swearing and offering to fight the church appointed brother harbin and rice to site him to our next meeting

June 1838 - Richard Bearden made acknowledgement to church and was satisfied

Note: Richard Bearden's difficulties with the church continued and in September 1839 he was excluded from the church, apparently for swearing. I found no reinstatement but film very hard to read. On an old membership list, undated, he is shown "excluded."

9 April 1841 - Lemuel Bearden received by experience.

March 1842 - Lemuel Bearden granted letter of dismission.

March 1843 - Brother Ansel Bearden and wife dismissed by letter.

Note: I believe they withdrew to form New Hope Baptist Church, established 3 June 1846. See entry on preceding page on New Hope. Don't know why the 1843 dismission and 3 yrs later 1846 New Hope.

Richard BEARDEN had 2 blank draws in land lottery in Jackson Co., GA. In warrant dated 1815 received land grant 450 acres in Jackson Co., GA.

Richard BEARDEN, Sr., had a draw in Cherokee land in 1832 and won land in Lumpkin Co., GA. Won in Gold Lottery for 40 acres which he claimed in 1837.

Richard BEARDEN, b. 5 July 1760, Granville Co., N.C., was in Old 96th SC by 1770.

Richard BEARDEN, d. 21 June 1860 in Dawson Co., GA., age about 100.

Richard and William BEARDEN served under Captain William Smith from 96th District, SC, and Nathan Smith was also in Georgia with Richard Bearden. Richard Bearden had a Rev. War Pension depositions, 1826-1836 from Wayne-McNairy Counties, TN., but does not mention having lived in GA. He did live out his life in GA. after 1836 close to his sons. Under Pension Act of 1818, an applicant had to be a pauper to qualify.

Mrs. Keller stated seeking early land lotteries of GA - her 4th great grandfather from old 96th (Spartanburg) S.C. was in the early land lotteries, re:

RICHARD BEARDEN had 2 blank draws in 1805 in Jackson Co., GA. Then in a warrant dated 1815, he received a land grant for 450 acres of land Jackson Co., GA. I do not understand what lottery that was. 1807 Land Lottery? Bounty land granted because he was in Rev. War?

RICHARD BEARDEN, Sr., had a draw in the regular drawing, Cherokee Land Lottery, 1832. Winning draw in Lumpkin Co. He also had a winning draw in the Gold Lottery, 40 acres, which he did not claim until 1837.

Mrs. Keller trying to prove to Natl. Board of Directors, DAR, that RICHARD BEARDEN, b. 5 Jul 1760, Granville Co., NC., in Old 96th, SC, by 1770. In Rev. War from Old Dist. Ninety-Six had lots of deeds there 1786-1802, including a lg. land grant, 1786. DAR satisfied Mrs. Keller a descendant of the Richard Bearden of GA., who died in Dawson Co., 21 June 1860 at age 100-103, but"I have not proved that is the one and same Richard Bearden of SC & Tenn., who was in the Rev. War from SC."

"...Bearden descendants give the info that both William and Richard Bearden served under Capt. William Smith from 96th District, SC - and Nathan Smith was also in GA. with Richard Bearden." Mrs. Keller has Richard Bearden's R.W. pension applications, 1825-1836, from Wayne-McNairy Cos., Tenn. Does not mention living in GA., intentionally, as he had lived there so briefly, and had disposed of property there in order to qualify for the Pension (under Act of 1818, they had to be a pauper to qualify). He did live out his life in GA. after 1836 close to his sons.

Needs proof that -
1) Richard Bearden drew Bounty land in 1815, Jackson Co., GA., 450 acres was not the amount of land for either 1805 or 1807 Loteries - either one of the previous lotteries, 1805 and 1807;
2) Authority that Richard Bearden was only allowed to draw again in both Gold and regular Lottery 1832 because he was a Rev. Soldier, having already had a successful draw;....

DOWSEY (DORSEY)

I'm looking for a David Dowsey (Dorsey), born in S.C. about 1800. He and family are on 1850 Harrison Co., Mississippi, U.S. census. Then they are in Hancock Co., MS, on MS U.S. Census of 1870. Fo far I've been told there is not 1860 census of Hancock Co., MS, and I've never found. But I know this is my David Dorsey, my great grandpa....

...[need] to find who this David Dorsey's parents were and who he married if he was married first before coming to MS. My grandfather Rufus Dorsey was born in Ala. (on 1870 U.S. census of Hancock the name changes to Dowsey.)

In the No. 37 Quarterly of Ga. there is a David Dorsey named in Real Estate Sales, Pickens Co., S.C. Book A, Page 141, as heir of John Dorsey - David Dorsey had already left state this was dated Oct 4, 1852. Please if you can help me or know anyone, let me know.

I have info on my uncles, aunts and know that David Dorsey lived and died in Hancock Co., Miss., and where he and greatgrandma Emily Goodson McQueen is buried. This isn't clear if Emily was married to David before he came to Miss. Maybe we have another 1st wife, because two of the oldest children were born in Ala., according to 1850 Harrison Co., Miss., census.
Lena Dowsey Slaven, [Mrs. Slaven's address was not on her query. If she will send it to us we will print it in the next issue.]

BEARDEN

I am earnestly seeking information on the early land lotteries of Ga. My 4th great grandfather from Old 96th (Spartanburg) S.C., was in these early land lotteries, re:

Bearden, Richard, had (2) blank draws in 1905 in Jckson Co., Ga. Then in a warrant dated 1815, he received a land grant for 450 acres of land Jackson Co., Ga. I do not understand what lottery that was. Nowhere do I find where the lotteries were for that much land. And, which drawing would that be? Would it be for the 1807 Land Lottery? and not awarded until 1815? Or could it be for Bounty land, granted because he was in Rev. War?

Bearden, Richard, Sr., had a draw in the regular drawing, Cherokee Land Lottery, 1832. He had a winning draw, which fell in Lumpkin Co., I believe. He also had a winning draw in the Gold Lottery, for 40 acres, which he did not claim until 1837. As I understand the rules of this 1832 Land Lottery, the only way that Richard Bearden was allowed to draw in 1832, was because he was that exception, a Rev. soldier? If he had not been a Rev. soldier, then Richard Bearden would have been excluded in the 1832 drawing, but he was that exception, a Rev. Soldier, who had been a fortunate drawer in a previous lottery. Am I right in this conclusion?

I am trying to prove to the satisfaction of the Natl. Board of Directors, D.A.R., that the Richard Bearden, b. 5 Jul. 1760, Granville Co., N.C.; in Old 96th, S.C., by 1770. In Rev. War from Old Dist. Ninety-Six had lots of deeds there 1786-1802, including a lg. land grant, 1786. I have proved to the satisfaction of D.A.R., that I am a descendant of the Richard Bearden of Ga., who died in Dawson Co., Ga., 21 June 1860 at age 100-103; but I have not proved to their satisfaction that he is the one and same Richard Bearden of S.C. and Tenn., who was in Rev. W. from S.C. They say I need a Bounty land or something of that nature in Ga. I feel that as I understand those Ga. Land Grants, that Richard Bearden of Jackson, Hall, Gilmer, Lumpkin, and Dawson Counties, Georgia, was only allowed those last draws, which was (1) regular draw (160 acres) and one gold lot for 40 acres 1832 lotteries, because he was that fortunate drawer in a previous Land Lottery, who had taken out the grant. He was that exception, a Rev. War soldier, and allowed the draws in 1832 grant for that reason alone...

...Bearden descendants give the info that both Wm. and Richard Bearden served under Capt. Wm. Smith from 96th Dist., S.C. - and Nathan Smith was also

DANIEL

I really need help on the above named antecedent; he was a resident of Greene County, Ga., having died there in 1813; his wife, Sarah Burney Daniell, died there in 1815 or 16. They had three children, two sons and a daughter; their sons were: William and Charles; the daughter Nancy, who married an Eden Coleman. William married Mary King and Charles married Elizabeth Coffee, daughter of Peter Coffee and Sarah Smith.

Thomas in his will names his wife, Sarah, and daughter, Nancy; he made bequests to the following named grandchildren: Charles William Daniel, son of Wm. Daniell, decsd., John K. Daniell, Polly Daniell, Sally B. Daniell, Maria Daniell, Harriett Ann Daniell, and his daughter-in-law, Mary King, widow of William Daniell, decsd. Thomas Daniell owned large tracts of land in Greene, Wilkes, Washington and Wilkerson Counties in Georgia and also large tracts of land in Kentucky.

Thomas Daniell's son, Charles, died in Greene County while clearing some of his land; a tree fell on him; he left a widow, Elizabeth (Betsy) Coffee, and three children, two sons and a daughter; the sons' names were: William Coffee Daniell, who later became a doctor and was also mayor of Savannah, Ga.; his other son, Smith Coffee Daniell, who was an Indian fighter of some fame and later became a rather large land holder in Miss., his home being in Claiborne County, the daughter's name was Sophia' Tinsy'.

I need to know the following about Thomas Daniell: where was he born

Beardens Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary

THE TIMES-COURIER, ELLIGAY, GA Thurs May 9, 1985 P. 6a

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bearden of the Cartecay area were honored with a surprise 50th wedding anniversary celebration at Oakland Clubhouse on April 28. Their daughter, Mrs. Marie Boelscher, of Burlington, Ky. hosted the occasion.

The clubhouse was decorated with gold motifs, and photographs of the couple were displayed in sequences with captions depicting their married life together.

The refreshment tables contained an assortment of hors d'oeuvres, punch, and coffee. The anniversary cake was of gold and white layers held together at the top with a miniature gold fountain.

For the occasion Mrs. Bearden wore a jacket dress of blue-green, complementing her silver hair.

Many friends and relatives were in attendance, some coming from Michigan and Kentucky, just for the celebration.

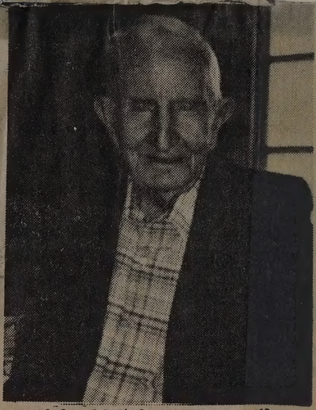
Bearden celebrates 92nd birthday (1987)

Robert Francis Bearden was honored on his 92nd birthday with a party and dinner at the home of his daughter, Rosine Bishop of Avery.

Mr. Bearden was born on Jan. 1, 1895, but the family could not all be together on Jan. 1 for this specil occasion – so, Sunday, Jan. 4, was selected, and a fine day it was for everyone.

Mr. Bearden is now a resident of Red River Haven Nursing Home where he enjoys visitors and games, TV and other pastimes. He enjoys coming to Avery to visit his daughter, Willene McCullough and Rosine Bishop.

He was born in the Savannah community near Avery and has spent most of his life around there except the time he was in service during World War I. On Dec. 23, 1926 he married Dessie Mabel Webb, who was taken from him by death on May, 12, 1967. He is still a member of Avery Missionary Baptist Church where he and his wife attended.



Helping him celebrate this special birthday were these family members: Edna, David, Shannon and Stanley Phelps of New Boston; Paula, Teri and Andy Speir Jr., all of Bogata; Charles, Phllis, Christopher and Cody Stanley of Avery; and Willene and Chubby McCullough and Rosine and Marvin Bishop, all of Avery. This occasion served as a double celebration. Mr. Bearden's granddaughter, Paula Speir, was also honored for her birthday on Dec. 28.

Geneva Bearden To Retire

Dawson County will pay tribute to a special lady, Thursday, Nov. 30th, at 3 p.m., with a reception to honor Mrs. Geneva Bearden, who is retiring after 30 years service with the ASCS office. The reception will be held at the grand jury room of the courthouse and the public is invited to attend.

On Nov. 1, 1959, when she went to work with the ASCS as a Clerk, cotton and other row crops were popular. Her main duties included taking farm reports and working with general farm programs.

Times have changed and today's farmers work more with broiler farms; and row crops have changed to grasslands. Years ago the farmers' main concern was making a living, while today's farmer's concerns involve environmental protection.

"Farmers are the most important sector of our country," Mrs. Bearden said, "because we have to have food and fiber to survive. I really have enjoyed working with the farmers, they're all such good people."

Mrs. Bearden is retiring as Program Assistant and her duties in more recent years have included administering farm programs, computer reports, disaster reports (tornado/floods), and assisting with farm program regulations.

Besides working with nice folks like the local farmers, Mrs. Bearden says the directors, committees and other agencies have made her job very nice through their friendships and cooperation.

She and her husband Bill have four children and four grandchildren. Mrs. Bearden is a member of Dawsonville First Baptist Church and her hobbies include reading and activities with her grandchildren.

After retiring, Mrs. Bearden said she plans to travel some and enjoy time with her grandchildren.

BEARDEN - Mr. Jack W. Markert, 2790 Shady Valley Drive, NE., Atlanta, GA 30324 has been trying to locate an obituary for ELIZA LANGFORD BEARDEN (1851-1906), to learn names of any survivors.

According to the 1850 census, she had two sisters who had never been mentioned by his ancestors. No record found of BEARDEN from Fulton Co. (GA) P.H. Dept., films on Atlanta newspapers. She was raised in Oconee Co., GA but no luck in Clarke Co. P.H.Dpt.

ELIZA LANGFORD BEARDEN lived on Woodward Av., Atlanta, Fulton Co., GA., and was bur. in Oakland Cemetery with her husband AARON B. BEARDEN. She appeared in the 1900 census, and AtlantaCity Directories for 1898 and 1900, but no later.

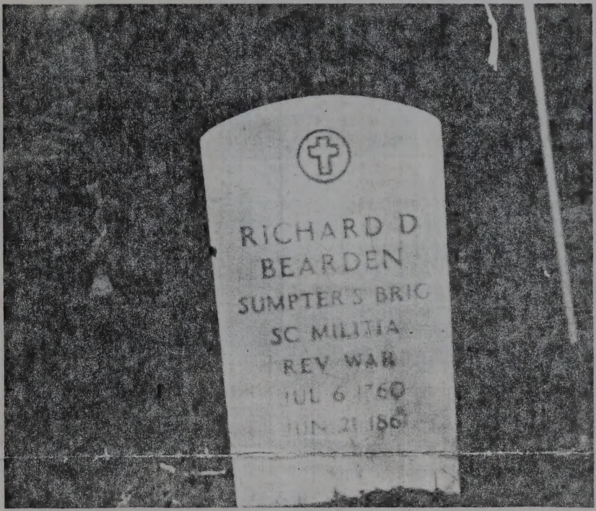
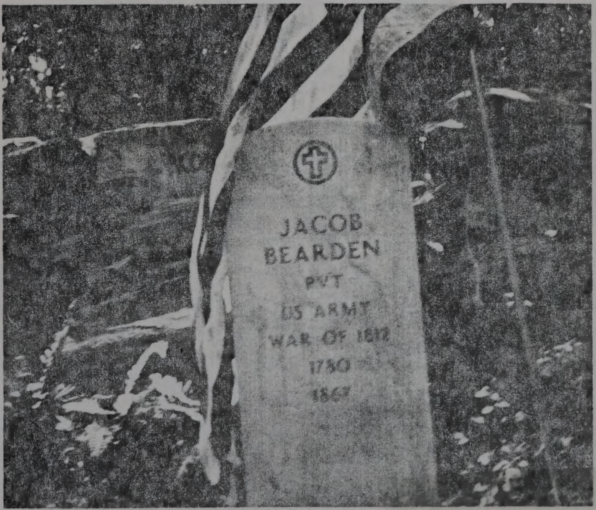
History of the Bearden Family

By: Lawrence L. Stanley





This story had its beginning about five years ago, when a relative of the Bearden family in Gilmer County, wrote a letter to Mrs. Irene Bearden Keller in Ninatare, Nebraska, suggesting to her that I might help her trace the Bearden family in this area of Georgia.

Mrs. Keller wrote me a letter, and at the same time she wrote to Mrs. Earl Chester of Dawsonville, Ga. Mr. & Mrs. Chester helped her to find some of the descendents of the two men, whose grave markers are shown in the photos that are part of this story. Here is a brief story of these two pioneers settlers in Georgia.

He lived in South Carolina in the long ago, a man whose name was Thomas Sumter. He was born in 1734 and died in 1832. He took the side of the Americans in the Revolutionary War, and became a guerilla leader of a band of S.C. militia called the Carolina Game Cocks. Fort Sumter in Charleston harbor which on Dec. 20, 1860 saw the beginning of the Civil War, was named for this man.

The marker you see here was furnished to Mrs. Keller by the Veterans Administration, and has been erected by Earl Chester and Silvey Bearden who are descendents of this Revolutionary soldier, near New Hope Baptist Church in Dawson County. The marker reads;

Richard Bearden
Sumpter Breg.
S.C. Militia Rev. War
July 6, 1760 June 21, 1861

Richard D. Bearden lived through as a soldier under Thomas Sumter, and through the war of 1812, and died at the age near 101 years old after he had witnessed the beginning of the Civil War.

Received 1-9-1988 from Mrs. J.B. Waters, E. Ellijay, GA

His son, whose marker was shipped to my home in Gilmer County by the Veterans Administration, where it was picked up by Vernon West and his son Randall West, and moved in a jeep about two miles into the forest off Highway 52 in Gilmer County, to the lone grave site of Jacob Bearden, whose name appears with that of Winny his wife, and a number of others on the historic marker in front of Ebeneezer Baptist Church, which is the oldest Baptist Church in Gilmer County.

A stone wall around this grave was accidently torn down by timber cutters, and was restored by Vernon West, at the request of Mrs. Keller. This marker reads;

Jacob Bearden
Prvt.
U.S. Army
1780 1867

He outlived his father by only six years, and died at age 87 years. The people who attended the brief ceremony on Saturday, Sept. 18, 1982 at William Bearden cemetery near New Hope Church in Dawson County were as follows: Boyd Bearden, age 82, his sister, Gladys Bearden age 66, his brother, Silvey Bearden age 74, another sister, Ella Bearden Moss age 68, J.B. Bearden, Mr. & Mrs. Earl Chester, Corine Bearden Kirk, her son, Dempsey Bearden Kirk, Bertha Bearden Bishop, and a granddaughter, Angela Bishop, W.M. Ernest Bearden, his wife, Mabel Norris Pope Bearden, Norman D. Bearden, his wife, Diann Bell Bearden, their daughter, Pricilla Bearden.

The descendants of this Bearden family still live in Dawson and Gilmer counties in 1982, or 222 years after the Old Revolutionary soldier Richard D. Bearden was born, and I count it an honor to have been invited to have a part in these two ceremonies. (Lawrence L. Stanley, 9/18/82.)

THE ANCEL BEARDENS

From the book HISTORY OF PARKER COUNTY (TX), by the members of the Parker County Historical Book Committee, 1980, P.O. Box 156, Weatherford, Texas. (Page 153)

Ancel and Jane Bearden with their eleven children came to Texas from Catoosa County, McGee,[1] Georgia about 1850. They settled in the western part of Parker County, Texas, a little southeast of Millsap, Tex. Ancel was a farmer. They came to Texas in a wagon train. Ancel was born in [2]1783 in Ga. and died 8/8/1868 and is buried in the Gilbert family cemetery, 3 miles southeast of Millsap. Jane Bearden, Ancel's wife, was born 10/11/1805 and died 11/6/1885 and is buried beside her husband, Ancel. Several of their children are also buried in this cemetery.

Ancel and Jane Beardens children were:

1. John married Caroline Birt and their children are:
    - Martha married Singleton Sylvester Littlefield,
    - Joseph Singleton,
    - J. L. (Doc),
    - Lovie,
    - Luther,
    - S. T. (Sol),
    - Roxie,
    - Robert (Bob), and
    - Boots
2. Jane - a maid,
3. Betty - a maid
4. Hannah married W. C. Brashear
5. Melissa also married Rev. W. C. Brashear, (Hannah had died of Tuberculosis). W. C. Brashear and Melissa's children were:

    Drusilla, Samuel R., George, and Joseph.

    (William C., known as uncle Billie, was a Baptist preacher and was married about three or four times). He and his wife gave a home to girls who needed homes - Dora Smith Oliver, Rosa McCommis, Effie Baccus and Josie Canady.
6. Ancel Marion Bearden married Elizabeth Birt.

    Their children were:

    Dicie, George, Ann, Abbie Louise, Donnie, Mose, James Ancel and James Marion.
7. Joel Dallas Tyson Bearden married Nancy Elizabeth Bell and had one child - Lorinda who married Jim Curley. Joel's second wife was Betty Elizabeth Littlefield.
8. Reuben Beardon married Theodocae Dixon or Nichols.

    Their children are:

    Margaret, Jane, Thomas Pinkney, Rosa Elizabeth, Eldie, Joel Albert Tyson, Lillie Nora, Lottie Bertha, C. Ray, James Paul and Macie.
9. Sarah Fannie Bearden married Jim M. Littlefield (Big Jim).

    Their children:

    Leatha, Vinie, Mollie and Edd.
10. James William Burt Bearden married Lucinda Ann Burk. William was killed in 1863 near McGee, Ga. and is buried there during the Civil War. Lucinda died in 1861 in child birth leaving two children - Ocias Adonis (Donnie) and Dorkie Ann or Rilla.

Continued

11. Elizabeth (Liza) Bearden married George Gilbert, son of Webster Gilbert.

James Webster, Hannah Elizabeth, Singleton Sylvester (Sing), Thomas Taylor, Rosa, Melissa, Newton, Joel Almoth, Reuben Frank, Lora Ann, Mattie Linnie, and Rhoda.

Soon after coming from Georgia to Texas and to Parker Co. several of the Beardens moved on to Palo Pinto County near and in Santo, while the others stayed in the western part of Parker Co. John, Ancel Marion, Joel Dallas Tyson and Reuben settled in Santo, Tx. They were among the first settlers in and around Santo. Joel Dallas Tyson operated the first general store, which was located northeast of the present town. In addition to the store Joel operated the post office, a stage-coach station, a hotel, an eating place of some kind and a set of cattle pens used by the farmers, ranchers and traders of this area. Then when the town was moved to the present location, Joel built one of the first rock buildings for the store. Many of the Beardens are buried in the Eastside Cemetery, near where Joel had the first store. (By Grace Gilbert Smith)

Notes:

1. Catoosa Co. in NW GA. Ansel Bearden, 62, Farmer, b. SC, on 4 Nov. 1850 is in the census of Lumpkin Co., GA., Amicalola Dst, Page 21, #9, with wife Jane (Jordan), 46 b. SC, and children: Emily 25, Elizabeth 21, William 19, John 15, Malisa 14, Savannah 12, Jane(?) 10, Josiah(?) 8, James 5, Joel 4, & Elizabeth 3/12, all b. SC. Also living in the household is: Ansel M. Bearden, 23, b. SC, and wife Emily 19, b. SC.

2. Note above article gives Ancel Bearden's birth year as 1783 and the 1850 census has him born in 1788. If 1783 was taken from a grave stone - with erosion 3s and 8s look alike.

3. There are some who think that Teresa Ann (Thurzy Ann) Bearden who married Benjamin Goss on 13 Oct 1835 in Lumpkin Co., GA., was a daughter of Ancel Bearden and his first wife, Georgia Lemuel.

4. A descendant says that Leonard & Nehemiah Bearden were sons of Ansel, twins, and married twins Cynthia & Juliette Smith. Nehemiah Bearden, 43, b. GA, wf. Cyntha 47 b. SC, and several children are in the 1860 census of Dawson Co., GA. Next door to him are Lenard Bearden 42, wf. Juliet, and 4 ch with one named Ancel. (Dawson Co. formed from parts of Lumpkin).

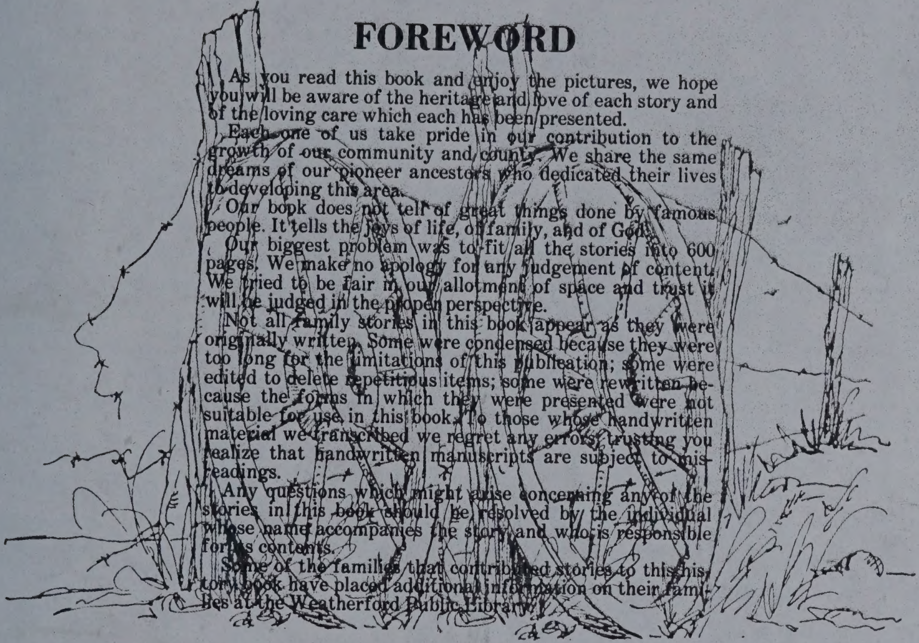
PARKER COUNTY



FOREWORD

As you read this book and enjoy the pictures, we hope you will be aware of the heritage and love of each story and of the loving care which each has been presented.

Each one of us take pride in our contribution to the growth of our community and county. We share the same dreams of our pioneer ancestors who dedicated their lives to developing this area.

Our book does not tell of great things done by famous people. It tells the joys of life, of family, and of God.

Our biggest problem was to fit all the stories into 600 pages. We make no apology for any judgement of content. We tried to be fair in our allotment of space and trust it will be judged in the proper perspective.

Not all family stories in this book appear as they were originally written. Some were condensed because they were too long for the limitations of this publication; some were edited to delete repetitious items; some were rewritten because the forms in which they were presented were not suitable for use in this book. To those whose handwritten material we transcribed we regret any errors, trusting you realize that handwritten manuscripts are subject to misreadings.

Any questions which might arise concerning any of the stories in this book should be resolved by the individual whose name accompanies the story and who is responsible for its contents.

Some of the families that contributed stories to this history book have placed additional information on their families at the Weatherford Public Library.

The members of the Parker County Historical Book Committee express deepest appreciation for Mrs. Sammie (Frances) Skiles. She organized workshops to gather pictures, stories and orders to make this history book possible. We thank you Frances for all those endless hours.

of Lawrence and Christo Edwards of Weatherford. In September of 1947 we were married in the First Methodst Church of Hagerstown, Maryland. We resided in Martinsburg, West Virginia which was Earl's home for two years. We then headed back to Texas and Weatherford where we have lived in the same house since moving here. Our home is on the Old Brock Road and is on acreage from my father's farm. It is also within sight of my Grandfather Edwards' original home.

We have three children who have all attended schools here and are graduated of Weatherford High School. Eddie, our oldest son graduated from Texas A&M University and is living in Atlanta, Georgia with his wife Lynda and daughter Bonnie Kay. Our daughter, Barbara Kay married Wendell Gibson of the Baker Community, where they now reside and are in the dairy business. They have three children who are, Jason Ted, Wendy Kay and Wendell Matthew (Matt). Ted, our youngest son makes his home near the Fox Community.

Earl has been an employee of Texas State Department of Highways and Public Transportation since 1955 and I have been an employee of the Merchants and Farmers State Bank for over twenty years. Parker County is a wonderful place to live and has made a good home for us. Mildred Edwards Beard

IMON AND ALTHERIA BEAUCHAMP FAMILY

In 1909 (at the age of 9), Imon Harvey Beauchamp moved with his parents (Eugenia Theodocia Hart and Robert Lee Beauchamp) and sisters (Gwenie, Hauteen, Bama) and brother (Arless) to a Parker County farm from Prescott, Nevada County, Arkansas.

In January 1925, the Arch Hughes Region family (wife-Frances Ophelia Greenfield) moved to Ellis County from Williamsport, Maury County, Tennessee. Two months later the family (children-Verna, Altheria, Earl, Gladys and Charlotte) moved to Weatherford.

They lived on the old oil mill place (end of West First Street) where Arch farmed and fed cattle.

On November 21, 1932, Imon Harvey Beauchamp and Zelpha Altheria Region were married in Fort Worth. Their first home was in the Clear Fork area of Parker County.

In 1937, Imon opened Beauchamp's Blacksmith and Welding Shop in the 200 Block of North Elm. At that time his family lived at 406 W. Spring. In 1943, the family moved to 201 Trinity Avenue. That was the family home until May of 1971 when they moved to 604 East Fifth.

Imon loved welding and blacksmith work and was still running his shop when he passed away June 6, 1971.

Trevelene Joy was the name given to the first born of Imon and Altheria. She married Bobby Wayne Bennett (son of Marvin and Merle Bennett of Aledo). They had two children, Douglas Wayne and Stephanie Joy.

Trevelene is employed as a teller at the Merchants and Farmers State Bank in Weatherford.

Donald Orden was the second child. He married Thursia Avileen Miller (daughter of Faye Miller of Weatherford and Alvin Miller of Fort Worth). They had two daughters, Donna Kay and Ordena Gay. Donna Kay married Ricky Cook of Arlington (children-Kenneth Wayne and Christy Ann).

Donald is employed as a General Foreman at the Arlington, Texas Plant of General Motors.

The third child was named Sharon Gail. She is divorced and lives in Weatherford. She is the Director of Student Activities for Weatherford College.

Theda Elaine was the fourth child. She was married to Lawrence Michael Marciniak of New York. They had two sons, Felix Lee and Grant Hughes.

Theda and her sons live in Weatherford and she is employed as a bookkeeper for Simms Lumber Company in Weatherford.

Dear Mrs. Keller:

I may have already sent this, but if not, thought you would like to have it.

You mentioned a Perry witnessed many deeds for the Jacob & Williby Bearden family in Gilmer Co., GA. Probably this was Ransom B. Perry, Clerk of the Superior Court for 20 years. He was a brother of my g-gdfa Wm. Horton Perry who could not read or write. A history of the area said "he was not a robust man" so I figure his parents educated him thinking he was too frail to earn a living physically.

I have not read the Parker Co., TX., history. It was (clippings) sent to me. I had hoped to find out the parents of Theresa Ann (ThurzymAnn)Bearden who m. Benjamin Goss in Lumpkin Co., GA. I have no lusk on that, and my contact did not answer my last letter. He was a Littlefield.

I have the 1880 & 1900 census' of Fannin Co., GA. In 1880 there were John Bearden 22 Son-in-Law, Siddlie D. 20 Daughter, in home of Nancy Fox 66 with several other grandchildren & rebecca Fox 22 dau. The only other Bearden was Jackson, 46, wife Sarah T. 38 both b. SC, and several children. In 1900 only two families - John Bearden, b. Oct 1865, Emma b. Nov. 66 & ch. John b. Jun 1886 and Carried b. Nov 18888 all b. GA. The other family is Rufus H. Bearden, b. Oct 1874, Eller b. Apr 1884 m. 1 year, no ch. No Daniel James Bearden. Is that him in Stanley'sslittle history?

Do you have the address, or present status, of Mrs. Elwanda Simmons, Rt. 1, Box 244, Annona, TX 75550? I sent her a copy of the Ancil Bearden info & ltr was returned as "moved, not forwardable". She was quite ill in 1987 when I last heard from her.

Keep me in mind if you ever learn the parents of Theresa Ann Bearden who m. Benj. Goss.

Very truly yours,

E.R. PERRY

25 Dec. 1990

Dear Eugene:

I can think of no better way to celebrate Christmas morning at 4 a m than to answer some much neglected mail. We had Christmas with our son's family in Dillon, Colo. (the mountains) where the young ones got in some ski-ing and we older ones enjoyed good food, fellowship and the holiday spirit. Our grandson was there from San Diego, the first Christmas in 5 years tho he visits every year. We plan to leave soon and spend another holiday with our daughter's family in Edmond, Okla. on the 27th as we have grandchildren there coming there from N. C. and two from Neb., then on to Garland, Tex. to see my 95 yr old mother who we try to visit at least twice a year. I expect she may be the oldest living Bearden? Bearden by marriage that is. She is precious and I have traced all her lines back. Oddly, in trazcing my father's lines, I found mama was a two-fold descendant of the first James & Elizabeth (Keene) Weathers/Withers of Stafford and Fauquier Co's. Va. (This may be our last trip as my husband health is failing, also his eyes).

Eugene, again I thank you. I owe my good letter friends so much. I am still working on the Beardens and hope to have it ready for publishing in 1991 and I will surely use your information. I do suppose you know that a Perry witnessed many deeds for the Jacob & Williby Bearden family in Gilmer Co., Ga.? He was a Justice of the Peace there. Also, the Perry forname figures heavily in the Stanley/Schell family of that area and later in Texas.

Many years ago I exchanged information with Ansel Bearden's descendants and I do not mean to be withholding information but It takes much time for copies, etc. and it will be enclosed in the Bearden genealogy when I finish it. Ansel and Jane (Jordan?) Bearden's graves are located in Parker Co., Tex. with tombstones and I guess you know that their daughter Sarah Frances m. James M. Littlefield. One son of Ansel's by 2nd marriage was John Marion Bearden who m. Mary Caroline Burt/Birt from Lumpkin Co., Ga. and they had issue: Martha m. Singleton Sylvester Littlefield and had issue: Arizona m. Barney Carroll; Lucy m. George Wright; Grady m. Otha Thompson; Lena m. William Ervin/Irwin; Victoria m. Edd Baker; Finis m. Ina Young; and Bonnie Littlefield m. Patrick Smith, all in Weatherford, Tex. If you are interested I can send you more on descendants.

Did you find anything of my Weathers family in Parker Co., Tex. history? or Hunters? And, yes, some of Ansel's children had gone to Catoosa Co., Ga. before 1860 when they went to Tex.

Eugene, this is short but I promise you a copy of my Bearden history when I finish and I sincerely thank you. You must be a Bearden descendant as you have our quality of thoughtfulness and consideration for other people!

By the way, have you found the Bearden and Holden connection to the James family in Ga. and S. C., Tenn., etc? In searching my Woodson family I found that the famous (infamous) bank robber, James Woodson James and his bro Frank James are also descendants of the same Woodson family. Also, in Mrs. Adeline (Evans) Winn's "Southern Lineages", she mentions the James family of Spartanburg Co., S. C. I have an old letter from some Holden descendants of Gilmer Co., Ga. who had gone to Missori which is signed by someone of the James family there. Thought you might know the Beardn/James connection in Gilmer Co., Ga.??

I would surely like to find my Daniel James Bearden on the 1880 & 1900 census of Fannin Co., Ga. He m. Nancy Fox and supposedly died after 1900 in an epileptic spell while on a hunting trip. He was the s/o Washington Wiley Bearden and his wife Cintha Butler, m. 16 Nov. 1836 in Hall Co., Ga. Cintha's linegae goes back to the Washington family (George Washington) of Va. and Washington Wiley was the first male child of Jacob and Winney (Smith?) Bearden and an older bro/o my gr grandfather James Jasper Bearden.

I am trying hard to find James Jasper Bearden's wife on the 1850 census of S. C.? He m. on 17 Aug. 1853 in Gilmer Co., Ga. to Mary J. RAINEY, who was b. 1834 in S. C. There is a William ~~Bearden~~ RAINEY listed on the 1860 census of Gilmer Co. with issue b. in S. C. until 1849. I thought I had Mary J. Rainey's proved but ran into something that I place credence in that contradicted years of research on the Rainey/Raneys. Any help there appreciated as I can no longer read the census.

You must keep up the health improvement! Tell your wife I know how severely she suffers with arthritis. I believe the best thing is to keep moving the affected parts as much as possible. I believe in excercise where possible. You both have my sympathy.

MERRY CHRISTMAS & HAPPY NEW YEARS

Dear Mrs. Keller:

We exchanged BEARDEN information in 1987 and Dec 1988. You may recall I was interested in learning the parents of Theresa Ann (Thurzyann) Bearden who married Benjamin Goss; also Celia Bearden who m. Rev. O'Barr, and a Bearden who m. John Holden, all in GA.

I also have Littlefield connections, and in researching them, ran across the enclosed article on the history of Parker Co., TX., that shows Ansel Bearden who was in the 1850 census of Lumpkin Co., GA. Article says they came from Catassa Co., McGee, GA., about 1850 - I never heard of that and guess it comes from poor memory on whoever wrote the article.

I hopethis finds you well and that you have a good holiday season. I have been very ill much of this year, but believe recovering now, from vasculitis. My wife has severe arthritis.

Sincerely yours,

Catoosa

Dear Mrs. Keller:

My Bearden file came about from copying what I found on the name while usually looking for something else. I'm going to try and organize it in a better form and "re-do" it into a sort of a pamphlet. Once done, I'll send you a copy.

I may incorporate some of the data from you and Mrs. Simmons of TX. I'll have to think about bringing in lines other than the GA. ones as it may just confuse people.

MOSS & DOSS, not to be confused with GOSS, were also Georgia families, also GOFF and other confusing names. After Theresa Ann Bearden Goss died, Benjamin Goss (Jr.) remarried to a Hampton.

L's and S's looked identical in old handwriting, so Samuels & Lemuels were sometimes confused. Robert O'Barrs wife was Celia Bearden and Celias often nicknames Selias and Selies, Selys and sometimes spelled that way, and some people mistook the S for L's and vice-versa. That is how the lady in Jackson Co, GA, got "Liley Bearden" for Celia, w/o Robert O'Barr.

I think the enclosed notes from my files would answer your questions on Benjamin Parks, etc.

I checked the 1850 GA index in our library - they are not always correct. I found a O.H. Bearden in Cass Co., GA (by accident) that was not on the index. You asked about Beardens in 1850 in Murray, Whitfield or Wa~~l~~lker Co - our index did not list any of those counties. It did list Carroll and I'll send those later - Richard 38 b. GA, Solomon Bearding 30, and A.J. Bearding 28 were in Carroll Co, GA.

Sincerely,

E. R. Perry

Dear Mrs. Keller:

I have put together some more pages on BEARDENs from my files, and thought you might like a copy.

As you know, I would like to know the famly of THERESA ANN BEARDEN who married BENJAMIN GOSS on 13 Oct 1835 in Lumpkin Co., GA. They were in the 1850 Lumpkin Co., GA., census. Apparently Theresa Ann died as on 1 June 1857 Benjmain married Elizabeth Hampton.

I would also like the identify of CELIA BEARDEN who md. Rev. ROBERT O'BARR. Benjamin Parks discovered gold on land owned by Rev. O'Barr in 1828, but neither profited by it. Their son, ASHLEY O'BARR, md. MALINDA GOSS, another dau. of my g-g-grandparents Benjamin Goss and Martha Harbin.

I trust you had a good trip and reunion. Apparently Beardens are long-lived - note the 103 years age of Richard Bearden on the enclosed census.

I am unable to answer questions you posed in your letter of 22 Sept 1987, but will try...
1. 1835 Census of 11 for Ansel Bearden means total in family - could be 9 children plus mother & father for total of 11.
2. I have none of the Gilmer Co. "loose" papers at the Georgia Archives, but they would undoubtedly be very useful.
5. I do not know who the Beardens are on the articles I cut from GA. newspapers - just part of my collection.
9. I do not have FGS connection to Benjamin Goss & Theresia Ann Bearden. That Benjamin is a brother of my great-grandfather Nathaniel Harbin Goss who md. Melicent Whitten, left Dawson Co., GA., in 1872 and went to Lawrence Co., MO. My grandparents were already there.

Sincerely,

Dear Mrs. Keller:

Your letter came today and my rather unusually prompt reply is because we are about to leave for Colorado Springs and it will be about a month before we get back. Then I'll be buried under genealogy correspondence. I have two sisters, 1 brother, and many lesser relatives in Colorado. My parents homesteaded east of Col. Spgs. some 35 miles, in 1910 where I was born in 1918 and enlisted in the Navy in 1937 and never returned, except for visits.

BEARDEN is an "allied" family. I find them interesting too. Benjamin Goss & Martha Harbin were my 2G-grandparents. Their son Benjamin, b. ca1807 m(1) 13 Oct 1835 Lumpkin Co., GA., to THIRSEANN BEARDEN. This Benjamin was a brother of my g-grandfather Nathaniel Harbin Goss. I thought it would be nice to learn more about the Beardens. I saw her name once as "Kruska" Bearden. Indian?

I am enclosing a copy of my file on Beardens. On Page 4 is the address of Ruby Presley whose mother was a Bearden and she is very nice about providing data. I think her mother was a Bearden. I also heard from a El Wanda Simmons, P. 5, who has promised to send me some data, but wrote twice to say she is too ill with radium treatments right now. I also heard from Athea Whitt Boddy, address also Page 5, and another Bearden descendant.

I would be happy to get a copy of your book, and would be glad to pay for it. I ran across your inquiry in the Georgia Genealogical Magazine #91 of Winter 1984 recently. I think theenclosed pamphlet will show my connection to Thirseann Bearden Goss, about whom I know nothing, but have lots on the Goss family.

You said Thirseann a d/o Rowland Bearden and Elizabeth HARDIYE - did I read that last word right? I would want to be sure of spelling before I record it. I would like Rowland's issue if you could provide it in advance of your book.

Thanks.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mrs. Boddy:

I regret that I have no Bearden information for you. I placed the query hoping to learn more about my Goss line.

My GG-grandfather Benjamin Goss m ca1798 to Martha Harbin! He was born in NC, lived in SC, and was an early settler in GA. His son Benjamin md. Theirseann Bearden 13 Oct 1835 in Lumpkin Co., GA. Malinda, a dau. of Benjamin Sr., md. Ashley O'Barr 16 Feb 1831 Hall Co., GA., and Ashley's father, the Rev. Robert O'Barr md Celia Bearden 4 Sep 1810 in Jackson Co., GA. They moved to Arkansas where Celia died in 1852. Robert O'Barr owned the land on which Benjamin Parks discovered the first gold in America in Lumpkin Co., GA - apparently neither made much money from it and Senator John C. Calhoun of S.C. got the rights to it.

That is about all I know about the Beardens. I take a Gilmer Co. and a Dawson Co. (GA) newspaper and frequently see the name, so Beardens are still in the area. Benjamin Goss and several others went to Arkansas before the civil war, others after the war. I wonder if Charles Victor Bearden could be a relative of Celia Bearden O'Barr? Charles has a daughter of nearly same name - Celelia. Your husband was from the right area for that...
In Polk Co., AR in 1860 census were O'Barrs, Dilbecks, Goss, Garman's - all relatives of mine. Others were in Montgomery Co., AR, also in Boone Co., AR. Chances are the Beardens that md. into "my" family, and those of your husband, are related.

In the 1790 census of S.C. were:

BEARDEN, Susanna	1 Male of 16 and +;	1 M -16 &	2 females	96th Dst,	Newberry Co.
BEARDEN, Thomas	2		5	do	Union Co.
BERDEN, Richard	3	3	5	do	Spartanburg Co.

I have not copied or researched Beardens in the past, as they are just one of hundreds of surnames in my background, but will watch for them in the future and let you know if I find anything. Please do the same for me.

Very truly yours,

E. R. Perry

Dear Mrs. Kirk:

Both Irene Bearden Keller of Loveland, Colorado, and El Wanda Simmons of Annona, Texas, have indicated you were a Bearden researcher. Perhaps you can identify the following two Beardens:

THIRSEANN BEARDEN who m. 13 Oct 1835 in Lumpkin Co., GA., to Benjamin Goss who was a brother of my g-grandfather Nathaniel Harbin Goss.

CELIA BEARDEN who md. Rev. Robert O'Barr whose son Ashley m. Malinda Goss, a sister of my g-grandfather Goss. Ashley & Malinda m. 16 Feb 1831 by Thomas M. Kimsey MG in Hall Co, GA. Robert O'Barr m. Celia (Sealy) Bearden on 4 Sep 1810 in Jackson Co, GA.

I would be glad getting on the mailing list for your Bearden Newsletter, and will pay whatever the costs.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mrs. Simmons:

My Bearden file is basically a mess. Most of the data I copied when I found it while looking for something else. I'm going to sort it out and re-write it into some sort of useable pamphlet. When that is completed, I'll send you a copy. Right now it is in no order and contains information that should not be in it.

In the meantime, I'll enclose the missing information that you didn't get before.

Some of my Goss cousins think that Theresa Ann Bearden that m. Benjamin Goss, Jr., is probably a daughter of Ansel Bearden. Mrs. Keller of Loveland, Colorado, also thinks that.

I'll probably want to incorporate data that you, and Mrs. Keller, sent, into my pamphlet also - not sure. Since that seems to be another line or branch from those in GA., it might just confuse things. I'll have to think about it.

Many thanks for your letters and information. Will sort of quiet down here until after Christmas.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Very truly yours,

E. R. Perry

Dear Mr. Perry,

I havent found a Theresa Ann Bearden yet nor Celia Bearden but will keep checking for their families.

I thought you might enjoy a bit of Bearden history about the Bearden's from S.C., Tenn., Ark. & Texas.

I dont remember if I told you or not, but Enoch Bearden and 4 of his sons came to Texas from Tenn. Deaton Winlock, William Frank, Danial H. & Benjamin Rush.

I am feeling much better, but will just have to keep a check on things. Im sure everything will be alright.

Dear Mrs. Simmons:

I have put together some more pages on BEARDENs from my files, and thought you might like a copy.

I would like to know to what Bearden family belongs THERESA ANN BEARDEN who married Benjamin Goss, son of Benjamin Goss & Martha Harbin. Apparently she died prematurely and Benjamin remarried. Benjamin & Threresa are in the 1850 census of Lumpkin Co., GA., and in 1860 and 1870 in the same place but now Dawson Co., and his wife is Elizabeth A. Honyton or Honea whom he married on 1 June 1857. Actually, I think Elizabeth was a HAMPTON, but that is another problem.

I would also like to identify CELIA BEARDEN who md. Rev. ROBERT O'BARR. Benjamin Parks discovered gold on land owned by Rev. O'Barr in 1828, and neither profited by it. Their son, ASHLEY O'BARR md. MALINDA GOSS, another dau. of Benjamin & Martha Goss who were my g-g-grandparents.

"Bearden County."

Rachel K. T. McClung, (1850 census Knox co. Tenn) daughter of Col. Rufus Morgan, wife of Hugh L. McClung. Born in Abingdon, Va. Aug. 9, 1810. Died at Knoxville, Tn. Dec. 2 1842.

These were probably Sarah's sisters and father.

BEARDON

Giles County Tenn. 1850 Census:

These are Bearden's who lived in other households, I do not know which Bearden was their family:

1. Edward Bearden (26 yrs old) Born ca. 1824. Living in the household of Wm. Rose Age 70 yrs. From Va. Edward was a carpenter. (could this be the deceased leaving children in gaurdianship of William H. Blalock.)

2. Joicey L. Bearden (14 yrs. old) Born ca 1836 Living in the household of Thomas (Thos) Persons age 65 yrs old from Va.

3. Elizabeth Bearden (12 yrs old) Born ca. 1838 Living in the household of Mary New & Pleasant from Tenn.

Corene (Bearden) Kirk & Dempsey Kirk's son: Donald L. Kirk (28 yrs.) Born: 1958 Death: Jan. 16, 1986. Buried in New Salem Baptist Church Cemetery. Lived at Marietta, Ga. all of his life. Brother's Dempsey B. Kirk of Marietta, Ga. Michael J. Kirk of Woodstock, Ga. Robert N. Kirk of Gainesville, Ga.

Arkansas: Democrat:
State Senator John F. Bearden Jr. 58, Born 1928 Death 1986 at St. Vincent Infirmary at Little Rock, Ark. His home was Blytheville, Ark. (president pro tempore of the Senate since 1984.) (Represented District 12 consisting of Mississippi County and part of Pointsett County since 1969, replacing his cousin J. Lee Bearden of Leachville, Ark. (see vol. 6, no. 2 - June 1985)

BEARDEN

Rev. Robert E. Lee Bearden of Little Rock, Ark. Buried in Leachville Cemetery.

(In reference to Benjamin Bearden line)

"Southern Lineages" DAR by Mrs. A. Evans Wynn said that Benjamin of Granville Co. N.C. had a son Benjamine Jr. of S.C. who went to Giles Co. Tenn. Also states that Benjamin of Granville, N.C. lived all of his life there ~~all of his life~~, so his son wouldn't have been born in S.C. And the Granville County N.C. Beardens in Tenn. were in Knox Co. and surrounding area. Two different lines of Bearden's claim Benjamin Franklin (a Doctor) as their ancestor: one saying he was the son of Benj. of Giles Co. Tenn. and another claiming another line.?

The rest of the information is from 1850 Giles + Lincoln Tenn. Census and Texas, Red River Co. Census. Also from our relatives still in Red River Co, Texas. (I dont have any information on William Bearden) Was he Richard's brother?

I hope these notes and family sheets helps you with the Bearden Line's.

Sincerly,
ElWanda Simmons

P.S. I didn't have any information on the So. Line except what Corene Kirk had sent me. Thank you for your information.

ON THE KNOX COUNTY CENSUS FOR 1830. JUST A FEW NAMES

In the United States Census Bureau at Washington, appear the following names for KNOX COUNTY in the year 1830. These items give one some idea of some of the people who were living at that time in KNOX COUNTY:

WILLIAM RHEA, between 20 and 30 years of age and had a daughter between 1 and 5 years of age; two females, both between 20 and 30 years of age.

JAMES RHEA was between 60 and 70 years of age, and it looks like his wife was somewhere between 30 and 40 - a much younger person than the husband. They had one boy under five years of age ; one between 15 and 20, and one between 20 and 30 years old. There was a girl under 5 & one between 10 and 15.

ELIZABETH RHEA, evidently a widow, between 50 and 60 years of age, with a boy between 15 and 20, and two females - one between 10 and 15 and another between 20 and 30.

JOHN MORROW was living in KNOX CO. in 1830 and was between 50 & 60 years of age, while his wife was between 40 and 50. They were the parents of two boys between 5 and 10 years of age; 1 boy between 10 and 15. Also a daughter under 5 years old one 10 and under 15 and one 15 and under 20.

GEORGE MORROW was between 30 and 40 years of age; his wife between 20 and 30. Males, 1 under 5 and one between 10 and 15; girls, one 5 to 10 and one 10 to 15 years.

ISABELLA MORROW, widow, was listed as the head of the family, and the oldest person on the list was a female between 80 and 90 years old. (She must have been born between 1740 and 1750, to have been that old.) Another female was between 40 and 50 & and the oldest male was between 30 and 40. There were only three boys, two 10 and under 15 and one between 15 and 20 years of age.

SAMUEL HAYNIE appears to have been between 40 and 50 years old, while the oldest female on the list was between 60 and 70, though another, probably his wife, was between 40 and 50. There was a daughter who was 15 and under 20 years of age, and a son of the family also between 15 and 20 years old.

Many Southern soldiers have "deserted" listed on their records, which were not well-kept. If they didn't answer roll call they were "deserters", when they have been on furlough or sick, or wounded.

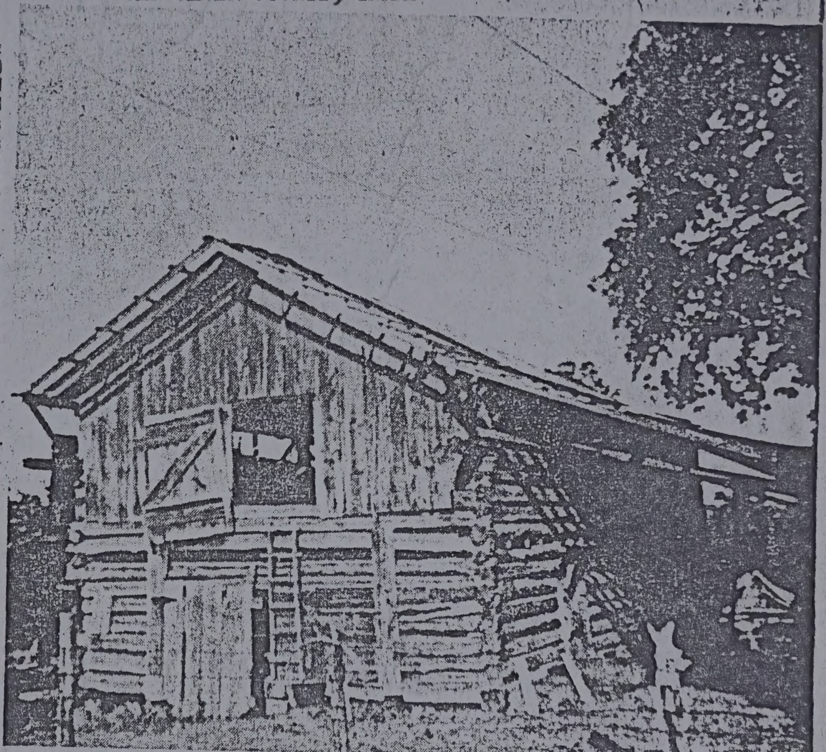
RED RIVER COUNTY, TEXAS



Original log cabin home of Joseph Wagley after it was converted into a barn. It was built in 1840 and moved back of the big house after it was built.

The late L.C. Mann was the son of Martha (Wagley) Mann, (he was the father of Valirie Mann of Avery), and his mother died when he was four years old. Not much was known about his background until his daughter started tracing their roots. Most of the material she collected came from Ruby Wagley Eason, descendant of John Wagley, and a brother to Joseph Wagley who worked on the Wagley family history for forty-three years, obtaining old letters from kin folks, files from land offices and Bible records.

The Wagleys were Englishmen originating from Wales. Only one of the Wagleys came to America, that was Abraham, the father of John and Joseph. Abraham was born in 1767 and as a young man worked for Spain as a sea captain and was paid in land. He then lived on an island south of Cuba. When his slaves took the Bubonic Plague (black death), he sold the negros and left to get away from the plague and came to Louisiana. He spent some time working through Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, North Carolina and Illinois before coming to Texas. Abraham married Maria Henson and most of their children were born in Burks County, North Carolina. Several of the Wagleys came to Texas settling in different places. Some settled in Nacogdoches, Texas. Abraham and two of his sons, John and Joseph, settled in Red River County by 1833. Abraham died in 1843 in Red River County and was buried in Hubbard, Texas in Fairview Cemetery. Joseph settled on a hill about two miles south of Annona overlooking the Kickapoo Valley, later known as the Garland Hill.

John settled on the next hill south, but later John left and went to Springfield, Missouri then back to Harrison, Louisthen back to Harrison, Arkansas and died there in 1868. Before John left Red River County, records show he gave the land for the Wagley Cemetery where eight or nine Wagleys were buried. After Joseph Wagley sold to the Garlands and left Red River County, the Garlands changed the name of the cemetery to Garland Cemetery. Joseph was born in 1802 in Burke County, North Carolina and he married Martha Stork who was a German. Most of their children were born in Red River County. Martha (Stork) Wagley passed away and Joseph married Nancy Ann (Coffee). They had two children. Records show the Wagley's were big land owners with lots of slaves.

The original log cabin, home of Joseph Wagley, was the first homes built in Red River County. It was an eighteen feet square log cabin built from hand cut logs and stood about one hundred feet in front of the new home that Joseph built in the mid 1840's. The Wagleys lived here in the original cabin while the slaves cut and sawed logs for the new home that took two years to build and it immediately became a stage coach inn that served the country for about twenty years. Joseph's new home consisted of two large rooms 18 x 18 square feet with a large hall between the two large rooms. A stairway in the hall led to a half story upstairs. The frame of the new house was built of native pine logs whipsawed by slaves to four by thirteen inches and mortised into eight inch corner posts. Each wall was assembled on the ground and then raised into position. The frame work was drilled and secured with wooden pegs, no nails being used in the original construction. The logs were sawed with two man saws. One man in a pit below the log and the other two above the ground. The oak sills were hand hewn with a broad axe and were more than twenty inches wide, although Joseph Wagley secured the 4,600 acres of land from the Republic of Texas. The land grant was a government reward for having fought the Spanish. He also bought the land from the Indians to keep their friendship. At that time, there was no Avery, Annona or Clarksville as the country was roamed by several tribers of Indians. Indian villages began about one half mile northeast of Crystal Lake extending on down southwest of Boxelder. A great majority were the friendly tribes of Kickapoo Indians. Although the Indians were peaceful with the white people, they were getting bad about living off of the white people's hogs and cattle. In 1872, the whites waited until summer when all the crops were laid by and Red River was real low, then they rounded up all the Indians and that were left with their belongings and drove them like cattle across Red River to Oklahoma to Indian Territory and that was the last of the Indians in Red River County.

After the Civil War in 1867, John Garland, grandfather of stage coach inn

The old plantation belonging to Joseph Wagley later purchased by John Garland immediately following the Civil War. The house was located two miles south of Annona but burned. This was used as an old stage coach inn. This picture was taken in the winter of 1966.

Roy Garland, acquired the home and half of the land grant from Joseph Wagley and expanded the house from its original one and a half stories to two full levels and eight large rooms. The original log cabin first home of Joseph Wagley was moved to the back of the large house with a loft added and converted into a barn. The Garlands were primarily cotton farmers and they chose not to operate the stage coach inn. In 1969, the big house was destroyed by fire. It was one hundred and twenty-nine years old.

After Joseph Wagley sold out in Red River County, he moved to Callahan County near Cisco, Texas. Here Joseph and one of his sons, Abram Henson Wagley, owned seventeen sections of land or about one-half of Callaham County and gave fifty cents per acre for the land. Joseph Wagley died in 1873 and was buried in Callahan County northeast of Putman of northwest of Cisco, Texas.

At the Wagley home in Red River County, built in the mid 1840's, the stage coach inn, where the wheels of hundreds of stage coaches once sliced out a path that long marked the old road through the oak tree country side. Here drivers once stopped to rest, passengers had their meals and rested over night. Fresh horses were harnessed for the next day on the route between Jefferson, the Riverport City and the Fort Worth area. The stage coach route forked at a point north of the Wagley home with one route leading to Abilene, Kansas and the other to West Texas. Highway 1701 west that runs in front of Miss Mann's home was the original old stage coach route on into Jefferson, Texas. Her place was also an old pioneer place which at one time was a two room log cabin built without nails where her home now stands. Another stage coach stop was at the McCulstion place, the home of Val Ryther's grandfather, located on Highway 1701 east about two and one half miles southeast of Avery. Here they changed horses again. In the late summer of 1876, the railroad through Avery was finished and that was the end of the stage coach but with the new railroad, the area became a town in 1902 named Avery.

CHAPTER I.

BEARDEN BACKGROUND AND ORIGIN

by Florence Bethea

[1] Bearden was laid out by the Southwestern Improvement Association (the Railway Land Co.) in 1882, and named in honor of Judge John T. Bearden, their attorney for the company. The plot embraced both sides of the track, with the main street north of the track. The first cars arrived in July, 1882. During the years E. W. Norman opened the first permanent store, and was soon followed by T. S. Wiginton and W. M. Gatling. The growth has been gradual since. In 1889 Dr. T. J. Henry led in a movement of business south of the track, but the main business is still north yet. The population is between 250 and 300. This is the seat of the Cotton Belt Lumber Company, which employs about 100 men and has a fourmill tram way.

They have a small commercial school and the only secret order is the Masons. The Bearden Banner, founded by Jack Ofterlee in 1889, is now edited by Oscar Lindsey.

2 "The early settlement of Bearden and surrounding country is not unlike that of many other countries, where pioneers went to a new land and a new country; and where these pioneers saw visions of the future greatness of the country in which they became citizens. It is largely the same story over and over again of the settlement of the United States, and its advancement westward by the hardy, adventurous pioneering spirit that prevailed in the yesterdays — and to some extent continues among our own people.

One of the oldest settlements in the state was that of Holly Springs, nine miles north and west of Bearden. Long before the railroad built into that section of the country another town was started a mile from the present town of Bearden. It was called Gatlin and located on the old Pine Bluff and Camden highway. Here a store was built; in the same vicinity some fellow was operating a distillery; a school house was erected and the surrounding country was being settled by prosperous farmers.

In the year 1885 the first big event in the career of the new city, struggling along for its existence in the thick of the piney woods, came. In that year the Cotton Belt Lumber Company located their mammoth plant here with mills, planing mills, commissary, general offices and a timber supply that was to keep the mill in operation without an interruption for a period of forty-six years. This mill was the biggest thing in Bearden, and most of the residents of Bearden in the early days were connected with the mill in some form or manner. The mill throughout the years employed around 300 men and this payroll became a very valuable part of the resources of Bearden. In later years another big mill was established on the other side of the city and a new community built up around it. This was Millville, though practically all the business of the mill and employees was transacted at Bearden.

While the various milling concerns were sawing up the pine woods, largely from newly made farms, the farmers were developing the country into a land capable of producing cotton, corn, peas, feed stuff of all kinds, peach orchids, grape vineyards and plenty of live stock." (More from the Bearden Banner article later)

The Merchants' and Farmers' Club was organized in 1910 and seems to have been responsible for much of the early settlement and consequent growth of, what they called, "Bearden Country." It was composed of farmers and business men whose objective it was to induce good men with their families to locate here. This plan was implemented to help secure the settler and thereby, prevent their rich agricultural lands from falling into the hands of speculators who had come to appreciate its value.

Most all the land for sale in and around Bearden was listed with them which was advertised in a most attractive way through a booklet made up entitled, "Bearden, The Eden of Arkansas — Bearden On the Ridge" with an office in Bearden and Grand Rapids, Michigan.

OFFICERS for the Merchants' and Farmers' Club were:

There are 3 known copies of this booklet in existence and it's with much gratitude for its use that we are able to bring you the following information and presented as originally written:

QUALITY RIDGE OF ANTE-BELLUM TIMES

"When slavery prevailed and cotton was king, quite a few men, who owned and operated river bottom farms on the Ouachita, Saline and Arkansas Rivers maintained homes on this ridge, where social and educational advantages were of the best. This country was known in those days as Quality Ridge and it boasts of many beautiful country homes and many thriving villages.

Tulip, Princeton and Holly Springs in Dallas County, Salem and Union in Ouachita and Chamberville, Woodbury, Locust Bayou and Hampton in Calhoun County were all social and educational centers. The most noted of these were Holly Springs and Tulip. Many prominent men of the State, as boys, were to school in one of these towns. Like Goldsmith's "Deserted Village," these little towns (except Hampton, which is the seat of Calhoun County) have lost their glory.

When the Civil War ended and the negroes were freed, the young men, who had grown up in luxury, returned discouraged and without means, to badly run-down homes and found that they did not know how to farm under the changed conditions. While some, who had operated farms of 400 acres or more, discovered that they would do well, without stock or money, to cultivate 40 acres. Hence 360 acres were allowed to grow up and again become wild. While others, who were too proud to take up the plow and hoe, naturally drifted into the professional world, leaving the old homes to be reclaimed by a younger generation. Later the railroads came through, missing most of the old landmarks, and leaving these once beautiful and prosperous homes and farms in their dormant condition for still another generation.

But today this country, after being deserted for 50 years is redeveloping into one of the prettiest farming countries in the South. New towns and cities have sprung up, nature has the hills studded with hickory and oak, and one has but to design his home grounds to suit his or her fancy. With it abundance of water, timber and other advantages, this country is offering greater inducements to honest, industrious families, with moderate means, and to good, determined men with no means, than any other section of the country.

LUMBER INDUSTRIES EMPLOY THOUSANDS OF MEN

With the four large lumbering mills, all within six miles of Bearden — The Cotton Belt Lumber Company at Bearden, Freeman-Smith Lumber Company at Millville, two and one-half miles west of Bearden; Eagle Lumber Company at Eagle Mills, six miles west of Bearden, and the Stout Lumber Company at Thornton, six miles east of Bearden — employing something like 2,000 men, and sending their own railroads 15 to 40 miles into the country, some north and some south of the Cotton Belt R.R., this entire country is put in close touch with the trunk line road.

Fully half the men employed by these lumber companies are men who are farmers or farmers' sons, working to pay for a home or else working to help improve one. The companies stock up with logs in the fall and early winter months, just at a time when the farmers can best be spared from the farm, and those who need the funds for new buildings, fences, etc., take advantage of the opportunity and work three or four months in the logging camps.

Each of the companies own isolated 40, 80 and 160 acre tracts of timber and contracts are made for the cutting and hauling to be done by the farmers in the fall and early winter. Other farmers own timber that they deliver to the lumber companies' railroads. One lumber company alone paid out for this class of work to farmers the past fall and winter more than $10,000.00, most of which went to re-model homes, buy fencing, or horses and buggies for their families. Quite a little went into new farm machinery, such as riding cultivators, mowers, rakes, etc. Another advantage, is that these lumber mills sell lumber to the farmers at wholesale prices. This enables the home-builder to save the freight and middle man's profit, and to practically cut the cost of building in half.

The lumber industries can contribute to the maintenance of the public schools, and give liberal aid to every movement for the upbuilding of the country.

The late J. H. Stout, of Menominee, Wis., was principal owner of Stout Lumber Co., and believing that his section of Arkansas was ideal for stock raising, fruit and truck growing, he put in a demonstration farm, not far from the lumber plant, on which are now being grown sucessfully alfalfa, red clover, bur clover, Japan clover, rape, vetch, peas and peanuts, some fine Elberta peaches, improved plums, strawberries, blackberries, dewberries, grapes, watermelons and cantaloupes, in addition to the regular crops of Indian corn, Kaffir corn, Milo Maize, oats, wheat, rye, buckwheat, etc.

SOME ATTRACTIONS OF THE CITY OF BEARDEN (about 1910)

Bearden is a city of 1,200 population, made up mostly of wealthy farmers and business men. . . Has one of the very best schools of any town its size in the South, teaching full common and high school courses and employing the very best teachers. The district owns a nice five-room school building with lot 450 to 600 feet, and does not owe a cent. . .There is a Knights of Pythias and Masonic Hall, with entertainment hall beneath. . .

We would not have you believe that this country is as fully developed as some sections of the older states. If it were, the lands that we are offering for from $8.00 to $20.00 per acre would be worth from $75.00 to $200.00 instead. . .

If you really want to own a good farm that can be had at a reasonable price and are willing to take it in the rough and help develop the country, and want to pitch your tent among a people who will treat you right, we invite you to come and see our country and be one of us."

A LETTER FROM A RETIRED MICHIGAN FARMER WHO SPENT THE WINTER OF 1910 AND 1911 IN ARKANSAS.

Otsego, Mich, June 21, 1911

Mr. J. A. McLeod,
Bearden, Ark.

Dear Friend:

Your letter of the 15 inst. at hand, and will say that we were very much pleased to hear from you and that you would soon be in Michigan.

Yes, I did enjoy my trip out through Bearden, Millville and Eagle Mills, as I saw country decidedly better than I anticipated. Land as good as the best of ours in Allegan County. I tell it over and over again to my friends about the opportunities there for the young man to get a home cheap, which is a thing of the past in Michigan. I will never forget our drive out over the Arkansas Lumber & Dev. Co.'s tract of land, where those great forests loomed up with large oak, hickory, gum, cypress and pine, and the cleared land which was of a rich gravelly clay loam just rolling enough to drain well. From this, we drove on through thousands of acres of land, known as the flat lands, which seemed to be of a sandy loam with a clay foundation, where I saw one field of rice stubble that beat any stubble I ever saw before. I was told that 70 bushels of rice per acre were cutt off in 1910, and judging from the stubble, it even looked better than that. On this same farm, I saw old corn fields were about 100 bushels per acre were harvested the same year.

In that same territory, I saw herds of fat cattle, ready for the market, running out in the woods, which had never had one bit of feed since they were born except that which they picked up on these flats.

At Millville and Eagle Mills, I saw saw-mills larger than I ever dreamed of, at work. These towns are very neat and well kept.

With the climate, health conditions, cheap lands and good water, Arkansas is bound to be a great state, and if I were twenty years younger, it would be my home.

Hoping to see you when you come to Michigan, I remain,

Your friend,

E. Buskirk

Now, as time went on these huge virgin forests were being gradually eaten away by the 4 giant mills but with the success of the farming industry and the integrity of these agressive leaders the town was able to survive when the end finally came. This fact is pointed out in the newspaper article from the "Bearden Banner" 1931 issue. It states, "When these mills finally cut out, the last of which was in January of 1931, the absence of the morning whistle of mill town was missed, but in so far as the general prosperity of the Bearden community was concerned, there was not a marked difference. This, however, is offset to some extent by the fact that as the old mills were closing out Anthony Brothers were getting their new mill under operation and they too have a long cutting contract.

In 1976 Bearden has an estimated weekly payroll of $95,000.00 from seven of her home-owned industries, listed as follows:

- Bearden Lumber Company
- Bearden Enterpries, Inc.
- Bear Brand Roofing Co.
- Bearden Hardwood, Inc.
- Carlton Smith Industries
- Dorey Piling Company
- South Arkansas Millwork, Inc.

By Marie Verrill

Many may ask what is a Racket Store? Most of the older generation know, but there are many who do not - many wild guesses were offered in answer. A "Racker Store" is what we now call a 5 & 10 Cent Store or a Dime Store. The name changed from Racket Store to 5 & 10 Cent Store just before World War I. Avery had a Racket Store in somewhat about 1904 or 6. This Racket Store was operated by Joe E. Bearden up until January 1, 1912 at which time he sold it to Fletcher Brem. He started this store on $65.00. This story came about due to the Clarksville Times returning the above picture to Joe Bearden, a local businessman with offices both in Avery and DeKalb. It was given to Joe Bearden because he is a namesake of Uncle Joe's, as he was called throughout the years. Just seeing this picture took many people down memory lane and giving the desire to know more about it. In doing research on this picture an article was found where Mrs. Frances Bassett, then a TIMES Correspondent had interviewed Miss Fannie Bearden who appears in the picture and Mrs. Bassett was given the picture by Miss Bearden, thus giving me insight and much information to make this article possible.

Mrs. Cleoda (McMillan) Robinson with some items purchased at the "Racket Store" in Avery.

The Joe E. Bearden family moved to Avery in 1900 and opened another store at a different location. Then he purchased a lot between Douglas Mercantile run by Ebb Bearden and Swann and Myers Drug Store. He built a much larger building that housed the Racket Store including novelities, toys, dolls, a lunch room, fountain, and barber shop. Lunches were served for 25 cents including drink and dessert and they also served lunches to the East bound train at noon. Uncle Joe made his own ice cream for the fountain and condensed chili, which he sold for 10 cents and he kept it in a homemade ice box that required a rope and pully to raise the lid. Ice and bread were shipped in by train from Kline Bakery and had no wrapping but was packed in wooden boxes of slats wired together. Miss Fannie came to live with them and helped in the store. She and her Aunt Ida would get up early to dress the chickens to serve on the lunches. Mr. Charlie Dial was about 20 years old and said he had been in the store millions of times and took his meals there. He said Mrs. Bearden was a real good cook and that the meals were just like you could get at home. He stated that the store opened early and would remain open as long as they had a customer. They used oil lamps and later hollow wire were put over the buildings and connected to jet light fixtures and compressors on the outside would force fuel through to the jet light fixtures. Charlie would pay Uncle Joe 25 cents for a haircut since Uncle Joe had the Barber Shop in connection with the store, he was the Barber. In talking with Thelma Phelps she said she got something from the store but couldn't show it - when asked what it was, she replied, "a haircut" Mrs. Cleoda Robinson said she visited the "Racket Store" many times and had many items to show for it. She purchased a sewing companion - a combined holder for spooled thread, thimbles, pins, needles, scissors, botton hooks and it also had a mirror and a pin cushion filled with non-rust dust. The thread holders were adjustable to large and small spools. She had a little china cinderella slipper that was marked 10 cènts by the store, a spinning top, and a jewelry box decorated with seashells with a little mirror and it was marked 25 cents and that was the most expensive thing she bought at the store.

Working in the store for Unclé Joe were his wife Ida, a niece Fannie Bearden and Willie Frye. Willie came to live with them after having worked by carrying in wood and water and finally in the store: Fannie also came to live with them in 1906. All carried on the full operation of the store. Mrs. Mary (Burkett) Northcutt now of Bagwell and formerly of Avery said her father Hick Burkett purchased a little rattler for her baby brother William Henry who was less than a year old when he died. The rattler he bought was like a tin top with a wooden top and handle (the handle also was a whistle) little arms extended cut from the top with four little symbols with beads underneath to make a noise (can't you imagine a baby with something like that today). Uncle Joe threw in a little stuffed cat that the paws held a ball. Mary's father gave her these little keepsakes before his death. Mary was very gracious to give me the information and to show me the items she has kept over the years. Mrs. Nora Grant of Avery said she used to buy their Christmas there. When talking to Gestler Bearden, a nephew of Uncle Joe's, he said he remembers Uncle Joe running the store but was too young to remember much about it. Mrs. Ima Edrington when asked about being in the store said her father Matt Davis always depended on the store to purchase their Santa Clause. She received her dolls from there. Mrs. Valerie Presley used to work with Miss Fannie Bearden and remembers her saying that Uncle Joe always told her to remember everyone's name, so that when they came in to the store she could call them by name as that was good for business. Miss Fannie Bearden is still living and lives in the Live Oaks Nursing Home in Clarksville. She was a former school teacher in Avery and a saleslady. Enos Bearden, the son of the Joe E. Beardens, died in 1939, Joe E. Bearden died in April of 1939, Mrs. Ida Bearden died in January 1941 and Willie Frye is deceased but do not know the year.

A very special thanks goes to all who gave any input to this article. The Clarksville Times and Gavin Watson for permission to take excerpts from the paper. To Frances Bassett for without her article this could not have been written. To Joe Bearden for the loan of the picture and to Mrs. Cleoda Robinson for her invaluable help in procuring ? information and for digging up the items for the picture to make the articles more interesting.

of Rotterdam, in Holland, where Peter was born about 1687. He came to America in 1706 and settled in the Paramus section of Bergen County, where, on the 11th of August of that year, he married, at Hackensack, Tryntie Hendricks Hopper. He purchased lands on the west side of the Saddle River, where he resided and reared a large family of children, whose names were Henry, 1707; Garret, 1709; William, 1710; Andrew, 1712; Maritie, 1714; Willempie, 1716; Lea, 1718; Rachel, 1723; Andrew, 1725; and John, 1727, all baptized at Hackensack. The descendants of these by the name of Allen and Van Allen are very numerous in the western part of Bergen County.

THE BERTHOLFS, who are very numerous in Bergen County, particularly in the western part, are descended from Guilliam Bertholf, who was born at Sluys in Flanders, and with his wife, Martina Hendricks Verwey, came to America in 1684 and first located at Bergen in New Jersey, where they joined the church, October 6, 1684, and where their son Henry was baptized April 6, 1686. Guilliam had studied theology at Middleburgh, Holland, and had come to America in the capacity of catechiser voorleser and schoolmaster. In these capacities he labored at Bergen until 1690, when he removed to Hackensack, where the people so esteemed him that in 1693 they sent him to Holland to be licensed as a minister of the Dutch Church. The Classis of Middleburgh, Holland, ordained and licensed him, and on his return in 1694 he accepted the pastorate of the "Church on the Green," at Hackensack, where he preached until his death. For the first fifteen years of his ministry he is said to have been the only Dutch preacher in New Jersey. During his pastorate he had the control of all the surrounding churches, preaching at Tappan, Tarrytown, Staten Island, Raritan, Pompton, Belleville, and The Ponds. He was a well-read and eloquent man, indefatigable in his work, and organized many churches. His issue were Sarah, Maria, and Elizabeth (all born at Sluys in Flanders), and Henry, Corynus, Jacobus, Martha, and Anna, all of whom joined the Hackensack church. Sarah married David D. Demarest, Maria married John Bogert, Elizabeth married John Terhune and Rolof Bogert, Henry married Mary Terhune, Corynus married Anna Ryerson, Martha married Albert Bogert, Jacobus married Elizabeth Van Emburgh, Anna married Abraham Varrick. Rev. Guilliam Bertholf purchased from John Berry a farm at Hackensack, extending from the Hackensack to the Saddle River, on which the village of Hackensack is now partly located, and there he died, universally respected, in 1724. All his children remained in Bergen County, over which their descendants are thickly scattered.

JAMES SHREWSBURY ERWIN, one of the leaders of the Hudson bar and Prosecutor of the Pleas for the County of Hudson, was born in Jersey City, September 5, 1857. He is the son of Matthew Erwin and Caroline A. (Gore) Erwin and a grandson of John Erwin, a native of Ireland, who came, at an early date, to New York City, where Matthew was born. On his mother's side Mr. Erwin is a grandson of William Gore, of Deal, Kent, England, the birthplace of both William Gore and his daughter, Caroline A. One of Mr. Erwin's maternal uncles, William Shrewsbury, was a missionary to Africa in 1835, while another, James Shrewsbury, for whom he was named, was a prominent English barrister in London. John Erwin, his paternal grandfather, was in the War of 1812, being a member of a New York company called

Re: DeRUINE - VAN DER STRATTEN

BERTHOLF - VERMEULEN

Dear Mr. Winter:

Recently your Ancestor Chart in "The Archivist" of November 1984 caught my eye because both of the above couples are also ancestors of my husband. Unfortunately, I did not copy down your complete chart, so cannot compute the degree of "cousinship". Probably about 7th, once or twice removed! I'll enclose an abbreviated chart so you can see his lines.

Do you have anything more on these early immigrants, their places of origin and perhaps their ancestors? We have very little and would appreciate any information you may be willing to share or any help and suggestions you can offer for further research. We have VERWEY instead of VERMEULEN for the wife of Guilliam BERTHOLF. Is this just a variation in spelling, or do we have it wrong?

A self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed for your convenience, and I will be looking forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Donald E. Diller

well the people of Hackensack appreciated their Voorleser, the sequel will show.

It is said, that for the first ten years of their existence as a Church, they worshiped in a building standing a short distance South of the present Southerly limit of the village. But as yet, it does not appear that any church had been built.

Among the early settlers from Holland, on the margin of the Hackensack and Passaic Rivers, was Guillaume Bertholf. He came in the capacity of Catechizer, Voorleser and Schoolmaster. With such acceptance and usefulness did he discharge his trust, that the people became very desirous that he should become their minister, and at the expense of the congregation, he went to Holland in 1693. The following extract from the minutes of the Classis of Middleburg, (translated by Dr. T. De Witt), and furnished by Professor Budding, of Delft, are full of interest, as they show the mode of such proceedings in the fatherland, as harmonizing with those handed down and still existing among us. The name of Bertholf is still found among us, and it is said that, having a large family of children, his posterity, in various ramifications, is quite extensive.

Classis in Ordinary Session held in Flushing, September 2, 1693.

Lemma or Article 9. Guillaume Bertholf, at present Voorleser in the congregation of two towns in New-Netherlands, presented a memorial signed by many members of the congregation, requesting that they might preserve him as their ordinary minister and pastor. It was resolved that the subject should be acted on to-morrow.

In Session, September 3, 1693.

Article 5. Guillaume Bertholf, mentioned under Article 9 in yesterday's session, appeared and presented his petition in the name of the church and congregation in New-Netherlands. The Classis, taking into consideration the anxious desire of the church there for the stated ministry of the word and ordinances, and their peculiar attachment to the person of Mr. Bertholf, and being unwilling to interpose any hindrance, deem it proper to admit him to a proof of his gifts and qualifications. The examination to be conducted by the President, and to be held fourteen days hence.

Classis Extraordinary, held at Middleburg, September 16, 1693.

Article 8. Guillaume Bertholf, according to article 5 of the classis 3d of September, having delivered his discourse on Matthew xi. 28, gave such satisfaction that he was admitted to his full examination, and in this examination he exhibited such proofs of his qualifications that the Classis granted the request of the Churches of Hackensack and Aquackenonk to obtain him as their stated minister and pastor, and consequently approved the call which they have made upon him. The Classis then unanimously resolved to ordain him to the work of the ministry by the laying on of hands, and to install him in the pastoral charge of the churches by which he is called. The Classis proceeded to this service, when a sermon was preached by the adsessor, Dominus Hugo Futs, and the form of ordinary read by the President, Dom. Abraham Duyvelaer. The ordination by the laying on of hands then took place, when the ordained brother was declared to be invested with the pastoral care of the above named churches, to be ruled according to the order of our Church. He then, with this view, signed the usual formula.

In 1694, he returned in safety to America, and entered on the discharge of his pastoral duty, welcomed by his people who knew him so well, and esteemed him so highly. He thus was the first regularly installed pastor of the Reformed Dutch Church in New Jersey. It will be observed that in the calling of Mr. B., the Church at Acquackanonck, Essex County, united.

In 1696, this servant of God and his happy people brought together the wood and the stone, and reared their sanctuary for God.

William Day, and John Stage, were the master builders, and, as in the case of the Bergen Church, Mr. Day, who had rendered the like substantial service in 1680, was afresh occupied in the rearing of the outer temple. In the wall of the church, over its entrance-way, was the inscription on stone, in rude indented letters :—

WILAM : DAY
IOHN = STAGE
ANNO = 1696.

The fathers in this Israel rejoiced to have the initials of their names indented in stones ; precious stones to them, for a memorial. In all the changes of the material house for God, they have been preserved, and may be seen and read of all who look upon the Easterly wall of the present sanctuary.

The site of this house was that on which the present building stands—a most delightful location, convenient of access, in the Southern part of this village, which for its neatness and beauty, attracts the attention of the stranger. It is immediately opposite to the County Court House, and having on its Westerly side the spacious public square. On that spot, where the foundation stone of the church was first laid in this village, has the worship of God been maintained, by successive generations, for one hundred and sixty years.

The deed of conveyance for this elegant site, is from Mr. John Berry, under date of 20th April, 1696; and the simple consideration is "that the inhabitants of Hackensack, New Barbadoes, and Acquackanonck, are intended to build a church on the land now in possession of Antony Antonyson, he therefore releases, renounces, and acquits all claims, interest, and demands whatsoever, he had thereto, or might pretend to have, unto one Morgan of ye said land, for accommodation of ye said church."

Again, under date of 23d March, 1712, he gives another, but more specific deed of quit claim, specifying the boundaries minutely according to English measure, containing two and three-quarters acres—absolutely giving and granting the said land, without any manner of condition, solely for "the consideration of love and good will towards his loving friends and neighbors of said townships of Hackensack, New Barbadoes, and Hackquackenong."

Mr. Bertholf had many seals to his ministry. In this Church he admitted to communion, two hundred and forty-two persons on confession of their faith, and twenty-six on certificate from other churches. He also had witnesses to the power of his ministry at Acquackanonck, and for thirty years, at stated times, administered the Lord's Supper at Tappan. It is well said of him by another, "He was in possession of a mild and placid eloquence, which persuaded by its gentleness, and attracted by the sweetness which it distilled, and the holy savor of piety which it diffused around. He was of the evangelical part of the ministry of his day, and promoted the independence of the Church, of foreign control."

His labors terminated in 1724. The precise date of his death we have not ascertained. His end was peace. "He was not—for God took him." Mr. Bertholf organized the Church at Raritan about the beginning of the last century, (1700), and introduced Rev. Theodorus J. Frelinghuysen into his pastoral office there, in 1720. He also organized the Church at Philip's Manor, (now Tarrytown), towards the close of the seventeenth century, (about 1697), and afterwards occasionally came and ministered there.

With the death of Mr. Bertholf, the connection between the Churches of Hackensack and Acquackanonck terminated. The Rev. Henry Coens succeeded him in the latter, and the Rev. Reinhart Errickson, from Holland, in the former charge. These gentlemen appear to have maintained very kind and pleasant relations to each other. Mr. Errickson became pastor of the Church at Hackensack, in 1725, and from his own record, it appears that he was united in marriage, by Rev. Henry Coens, of Acquackanonck, to Maria Provoost, on 22d of May, 1726; and he designates himself in that record, as "Minister of New Barbadoes, Schraalenbergh, and Paremus." And in turn, on the 1st of September of the same year, Mr. Coens was, by Mr. Errickson, united in marriage to Belina Provoost. This record establishes the fact of Mr. Errickson's having the pastoral care, at this early day, of the Churches of Hackensack and Schraalenbergh.

In the year 1724, as nearly as can be ascertained, the Church at Schraalenbergh was organized, and its history is for a long time identified with that of Hackensack. The first church was erected there in 1725. From that time until 1728, the Rev. Mr. Errickson evidently was pastor of both Churches; but whether any Church existed at Paramus, at that early day, is not ascertained.

At Hackensack he received into the communion of the Church, during his ministry, fifty persons on confession of their faith, and sixteen on certificate. What the additions to the communion at Schraalenbergh were, the author is not advised.

In 1728, Mr. Errickson resigned the pastoral charge of these Churches ,and accepted a call* from the Re-

in Eastern Cherokee Applications of the U.S. Court of Claims

by John T. Ross, 7000 Rovenna St., Anchorage, AK 99518

The tradition of Cherokee ancestry runs strong in my family. As the story is passed to successive generations, one question is invaribly asked. How much Indian are we? And who wouldn't desire to travel backwards eighty-seven years in time to interview a knowledgable ancestor? This paper will assist the reader to locate documents that answer many questions we'd ask. The quantity of genealogical data in these records is impressive.

The first treaty by which Indians ceded land east of the Mississippi River in exchange for land to the west was that of July 8, 1817, with the Cherokee Nation. The major Cherokee removal, however, did not come until after the treaty of December 29, 1835.[1]

This treaty culminated in the infamous Trail of Tears. Heeding their Chief's order, most of the Cherokee refused to participate in the official 1835 census. Now called the Henderson Roll, it included an enumeration of stock and other property for which payment was due as a consideration for relocation. Passive resistance was forcibly met by an enraged Georgia militia escorting the federal census takers. Despite the pressure, fewer than 500 of the more than 17,000 Cherokee appeared at the New Echota conference. The treaty of December 29, 1835 bore one hundred odd Cherokee signatures representing, at most, consent by less than a twentieth of the Cherokee Nation.[2] Lastly a memorial dated February 22, 1838 and signed by 15,665 of the Cherokee people repudiating the treaty was presented to the 25th Congress.[3] An official compilation of this document appears in the U.S. Serial Set but it bears only eight signatures.[4] Scrutiny of the orginal signature list is a research topic worthy of it's own merit.

Correspondence from the Center for Legislative Archives of the National Archives, Washington, DC indicates a rolled petition is undergoing conservation treatment and unavailable for public inspection at this time. It was submitted to the U.S. Senate (Record Group 46) and does contain a list of 15,000 names relating to the Treaty of New Echota (24th Congress, 1st Session). This record is not indexed.

The U.S. Court of Claims was established by an act of February 24, 1885 (10 Stat. 612) to hear claims against the United States including those referred to the court by Congress. An act approved July 1, 1902 (32 Stat. 726), gave the Court of Claims jurisdiction over any claim arising under treaty stipulations that the Cherokee Tribe, or any band thereof, might have against the United States. Within 2 years after the act was approved, three suits were brought before the court concerning grievances arising out of the treaties: (1) The Cherokee Nation v. The United States, General Jurisdiction Case No. 23199; (2) The Eastern and Emmigrant Cherokees v. The United States, General Jurisdiction Case No. 23212; (3) The Eastern Cherokees v. The United States, General Jurisdiction Case No. 23214. On May 18, 1905, the court decided in favor of the Eastern Cherokee and instructed the Secretary of the Interior to identify the persons entitled to participate in the distribution of funds for payment of the claims. On June 30, 1906, Congress appropriated more than $1 million for this purpose. Guion Miller, special agent of the Interior Department, began compiling a roll of all Eastern and Western Cherokee Indians who were alive on May 28, 1906, and could establish that at the time of the treaties they were members or descendants of members of the Eastern Cherokee. They also had to prove that they had not been affiliated with any tribe of Indians other than the Eastern Cherokee or the Cherokee Nation. In his report of May 28, 1909, Miller stated that 45,847 separate applications had been filed, representing a total of about 90,000 individual claimants, 30,254 of whom were entitled to share in the fund.[5]

The Eastern Cherokee Applications to the U.S. Court of Claims, 1906-1909 (M1104. 348 rolls) contain sworn evidences of identity. The application required each claimant to state fully his or her English and Indian names, residence, age, place of birth, name of husband or wife, name of tribe, and names of children. It further required the English and Indian names of the claimant's parents and grandparents, place of their birth, place of their residence in 1851 if they were living at the time, dates of their death, and a statement as to whether any of them had ever before been enrolled as Indians for annuities or other benefits and, if so, with what tribe. Each claimant was also to furnish the names of all brothers and sisters, with their ages and residences, and the names of all uncles and aunts. Applications were required to be made under oath and to be supported by affidavits of two witnesses who were well acquainted with the applicant. The applications are arranged by the number assigned at the time the application was received.[6] The index to the applications is arranged alphabetically by name (either English or Indian) of claimant.[7]

My great-great grandmother, #45149 Icy Catharine Ruff, and all 194 other applicants of this family were rejected by special agent Guion Miller's commission. This is because each of the four Biddy siblings they claimed descent from was not listed in the 1835 Henderson roll, the Chapman, Drennen and Old Settler Rolls of 1851 nor the Hester Roll of 1884.

In certifying the eligibility of the Cherokee, Miller used earlier census lists and rolls that had been made of the Cherokee between 1835 and 1884.[8]

They were enumerated in the U.S. census records primarily as whites. However, from the significant number that applied, it is evident they claimed Cherokee ancestry. The 1860 census of Polk County, NC[9] lists the race of Robert Johnson Biddy, Icy Catharine Ruff's father, as Indian. The 1850 census of Rutherford County, NC[10] states he and five children are of mixed-blood.

Information provided in these records pinpoint the Biddy family originating in Union County, SC. One applicant states they lived nearby the old iron works where Glendale Cotton Mill, near Spartanburg, SC, is presently located. They migrated to Rutherford County, NC before 1820 and thence to Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

The only place any Biddy family can be found in the First Census of the United States 1790[11] is in Union County, Ninety-Six District, SC. They were enumerated as whites during that decade. Probably one of the heads of the household, Thomas or Peter, is my ancestor. It is interesting to note that my great-great-great-great grandfather, Edmond Biddy, and family (except his spouse) are categorized as "all others, except Indians not taxed" in the 1800 census of Union County, SC.[12] During 1810[13] all are enumerated as whites except Edmond is listed as a "free person of color." The 1820 census of Rutherford County, NC[14] lists every person in Edmond Biddy's household as white.

Four men surnamed Biddy[15], John, Hollis, Peter and Thomas Jr, served in Colonel Brandon's Regiment of the SC line during the Revolutionary War. All of these appear in the 1800 census of Union County, SC and, except Peter, were undoubtedly part of Thomas Biddy's household in 1790.

John Biddy applied for a pension[16] on October 3, 1832. Aged 70, he states he was born July 17, 1762 in Lunenburgh County, VA. He died October 14, 1841 in Marshall County, AL and afterwards his widow, Sarah, filed an application for his pension arrears[17]. This family was enumerated under his son, James Biddy, as head of the household in the 1840 census of Marshall County, AL[18]. James, possibly a female sibling, and his father, John Biddy, were counted as "free colored persons" while the remainder are listed as white. All of the family members are enumerated as white in the 1850 census of Marshall County, AL[19].

Are the Biddys of Cherokee descent? I have no irrefutable proof, and the search continues. 195 family members recorded below believed such. Early census reports evidence recognition of mixed-blood or of the Caucasian race. And there are four patriots of the Revolution plus numerous family members who later fought for the Confederate States of America.

Listed below are the applications by number. The far left column indicates the LDS film number if one has to obtain microfilm on loan thru a Family History Library. Cross-referenced is the roll number of National Archives M1104 microfilm.[20]

Dear Mr. Perry,

At a Biddy family reunion on July 23, 1988, I compared notes with my aunt, Mrs. Jewel (Biddy) Banks of Kennesaw, Georgia, concerning our family tree. Both she and I are interested in tracing our ancestors back as far as possible. She mentioned that she had corresponded with you in the past concerning the ancestors of my great-grandmother, Zilpha A. (Dobson) Biddy, who was the daughter of Neely Dobson. I saw a letter from you in which you said that you had a pamphlet on Neely Dobson and would furnish a print of same for $5.00. I am enclosing $5.00 and would appreciate your furnishing me a copy of this information.

I am enclosing for your information a copy of a rough chart which I have started on the family which shows the information I have obtained to date. However, as you can see, there is confusion and incomplete information from Neely Dobson backward. Obviously Washington P. Dobson could not be Neely Dobson's father if my dates of birth and death are correct.

I was born and raised in Bartow County, Georgia, near Acworth. I vaguely remember my great-grandmother, Zilpha A. (Dobson) Biddy, who died at age ninety-six in 1941. Both she and my great-grandfather, Elias Biddy, are buried in the New Zion church cemetery in Bartow County.

Thank you for any information you can furnish me.

Yours truly,

Ted L Biddy

Biddy.

Dear Cousin Roy,

I came across this copy of Grandma Biddy's old Bible record. This was copied by my Mother in 1938. These birth dates vary a little from the ones you have and the difference in the names may be because some of them had three names

Im also sending a copy of Grandma and Granpa Biddy's Bible record, as copied by my Mother some years Later than she copied the Dobsons.

I've not been holding out on you. I just learned of these my oldest sister had them.

I'm pretty sure these are pretty accurate. I hope this finds you feeling better. I'm not much of a letter writer as you already know, but as soon as I found these I jumped right on them to get you a copy.

The B. W. Biddy was my dad. May be these will help.

Dear Cousin Roy

I apologize for not answering your letter from a good while back.

I really couldn't give any information about this WILLIAM DOBSONyou were asking about.

As to your questions in July 1 letter I'll try to respond to them, but most of my answers will not be worth much.

Yes, both my grandfather and my great grandfather had the first name Elias. My great-grandfather Biddy was named ELIAS WAITUS BIDDY and I think he was called Waitus. Several other Biddy men have been named Elias including my brother Ted Elias Biddy and he died Feb. 1985.

To the best of my memory Grandma said that her father died either enroute to or in the Gold fields of California or from. They sailed around the Horn as I remember the story. Two brothers and and their father and only James She called him (Jeems) returned. It seems they died of Typhoid Fever. I was told that her mother was buried at Yellow Creek Church Cemetery, but we tried and couldn't find a grave marked with her name.

No I don't remember anything about him sending any Gold to a Brother-in-Law. I'm afraid I don't have any information on Elsba's family. I do remember hearing talk about (Elsby) but I don't know what was said. I was only eleven years old when she passed away in 1941.

My Grandmother was buried in New ZionBaptist Church Cemetery beside my Grandfather. Church is located in southeast corner of Bartow County, GA.

I discussed these answers with two of my older sisters and I guess this is the best we can do.

My oldest livingSister said she might make a tape cassete and send if you have a cassete player.

I showed the other letter you wrote to Lee Dobson and he said he might write, we don't work in the same department as we did when I got acquaintexd with him so I don't see him very often.

I'm using your self addressed envelope, but you didn't have to do this. I guess you were trying to tell me to write.

I hope this finds you well. Your ? th cousin
EVERETT BIDDY.

Corrections and additions to Jediah Blackwell's family.
The mother of Nancy Henderson, wife of Jediah Blackwell, is believed to be Elizabeth Lindsay, who had brothers and sisters; John; James married Elizabeth Cunningham of Pendleton Co., S.C.; William; Ephraim; and Mary who married a Love.

1. John Blackwell, the oldest child of Jediah Blackwell, married, his wife is unknown. They both died before 1850. On Jan. 22, 1849 Lumpkin Co., Ga., Jediah Blackwell was made guardian of the three sons of John Blackwell.
   Children:
   - James Madison Blackwell born about 1841. In 1860 he was living with William Evitt and family as a farm hand. In 1880 he was living in Eastland Co., Texas with a wife, Amelia A. ---- b. 1850 Ala. and 8 children: John W. 14 b. Ga.; Jesse G. 11 b. Ga.; Telitha 9 b. Ga.; Andrew J. 7 b. Ark.; William G. 6 b. Ark.; Isabel 4 b. Ga.; James M. 2 b. Ark.; Thomas 3/12 b. Tex. Could have been others after 1880.
   - Jesse G. Blackwell born about 1843 perhaps in Lumpkin Co., Ga. He was living with William Evitt and family in 1860 Lumpkin Co., Ga. as a farm hand.
   - Andrew Jackson(Jack) Blackwell born about 1845 perhaps Lumpkin Co. Ga. In 1860 he was living with William Blackwell in Gilmer Co., Ga. as a farm hand. In 1880 he was in Eastland Co., Texas with wife, Crease b. about 1856 Ala. and four children: James W. 8 b. Ky.; Jesse Blackwell 6 b. Ky.; Jackson Blackwell 3 b. Tex.; Nancy Blackwell 1 b. Ark. Could have been more after 1880.
2. Rebecca Blackwell born about 1818 Lumpkin Co., Ga., married there Nov. 13, 1836 Joseph Anderson b. about 1810 N.C. They had 14 children: Martha T. m. Benjamin C. West, they lived in Gilmer Co., and had these children: Samuel M., W.M., Georgia, Julia; M.C.; Joseph or Jasper; Denver; Laney, J.E., Benjamin C. West; Angeline; Ensley M.; Lafayette; Crawford; James M. Benjamin H.; William C.; John M.; Liza R.; Reuben F.; Andrew J.; Marion C.; James M. Anderson was living with them, age 78 born in Delaware, perhaps the father of Joseph Anderson.
3. William Blackwell born Jan. 18, 1819 perhaps Hall Co. Ga., died Aug. 8, 1863, unmarried.
4. Mary Blackwell born about 1822, married in Lumpkin Co., Ga. March 16, 1841 Ensley B. Anderson born about 1811 N.C. They had 9 children: Martha, Joseph, Nancy, Elizabeth, Jediah, James, Eliza, Ensley, Julia Anderson, all born in Ga., perhaps in Gilmer Co., Ga.

   Angeline
5. Sarah Blackwell born about 1823, married in Lumpkin Co., Ga. Jan. 29, 1844 Silas Garvin. They were in Hall Co., Ga. in 1850 with 4 children: M.L.; T.H.; C.; N.C.;, all born in Hall or Lumpkin Co. They moved to Hopkins Co., Texas.
6. Jane Blackwell born about 1824 Ga., married Charles Edge in Lumpkin Co. Jan. 27, 1846. Their records later.

All the other children of Jediah Blackwell are the same. Jesse Blackwell the 7th child stayed in Ga. but the rest went to Texas with Jediah.

THE BLACKWELL FAMILY

JEDIAH BLACKWELL(Gidea, Jiddyer, Jeddiah) was born Dec. 14, 1794 in Georgia, the town, county or his parents are unknown. His Bible which is now in the possession of his great grandson, Ramon Lafayette Blackwell, gives the brothers and sisters of Jediah Blackwell. They are:

Lindsey Blackwell b. March 9, 1790
William Blackwell b. Jan. 8, 1792
Gidea Blackwell b. Dec. 14, 1794
Frances Blackwell b. May 5, 1797
Elizabeth Blackwell b. March 24, 1799
Charity Blackwell b. March 10, 1801
Mary Blackwell b. June 19, 1805
Susanna Blackwell b. Jan. 29, 1806
Mary Blackwell b. July 27, 1809
Edwin Blackwell b. July 5, 1813

These names were also given:
Edwin Pettigrew n. 1803
Bennett Pettigrew b. Oct. 25, 181-

Jediah Blackwell married Feb. 20, 1817 in Franklin Co. Georgia, Nancy Henderson b. Dec. 31, 1794 South Carolina. Her parents are unknown. The writer does not know if this couple lived in Franklin Co. Ga. where they married. In the 1820 census of Hall Co. Georgia, Jediah and Nancy Blackwell had two sons and a daughter under ten. In 1830 Hall Co. Ga. they had one son and two daughters under five; two sons and two daughters from five to ten; two sons and one daughter from ten to fifteen.

In 1832 Lumpkin Co. Ga. was formed from Cherokee, Habersham and Hall Counties. In 1840 Census, Jediah and Nancy Blackwell were in what is called Lumpkin Co. instead of Hall Co. Ga. They had two daughters under five; two sons form five to ten, also two daughters; one son and two daughters from ten to fifteen; two sons from fifteen to twenty and one son from twenty to thirty.

In 1850 they are still in Lumpkin Co. Ga. with these children: William 29; Wesley 20; Eliza 18; Andrew 17; Jasper 14; Elizabeth 12; Caroline 10; James 8; Duke(?) 7; Andrew 5. In 1860 they were in Rusk Co. Texas: Jiddyer 65; wife, Nancy 63 b. S. C. ; William 41; James Wesley 31. In 1870 census Rusk Co. Texas, Jediah and wife were living alone.

In 1850 census of Hall Co. Ga., Jesse Blackwell, son of Jediah Blackwell, was living there. Jesse was 25, wife E. was 24, (H. A.), a daughter was 3 and G. A. was 2 years.

These are the children of Jediah and Nancy Henderson Blackwell; This is not authentic.

Seventeen Children:

1. John Blackwell b. abt. 1817 Ga., Franklin or Hall Co.
2. Rebecca Blackwell b. abt. 1818 Ga., Franklin or Hall Co.
3. William Blackwell b. abt. 1819 Ga., Franklin or Hall Co.
4. Mary Blackwell b. abt. 1821 Hall Co. Ga. m. -- Anderson
5. Sarah Blackwell b. abt. 1823 Hall Co. Ga. m. Garvin
6. Jane Blackwell b. abt 1824 Hall Co. Ga. m. -- Edge
7. Jesse Blackwell b. abt. 1825 Hall Co. Ga. m. E. ---
8. Hamilton Wiley Blackwell b. abt 1827 Hall Co. Ga. n. Mary L. Malone

9. James Wesley Blackwell b. abt 1829 Hall Co. Ga. m. Lucinda Hulsey
10. Eliza A. Blackwell b. abt 1832 Hall Co. Ga. m. Mack Thompson
11. Andrew Blackwell b. abt 1833 Hall Co. Ga.
12. Jasper L. Blackwell b. Jan. 11, 1835 Hall Co. Ga. m.Martha A.Melton
13. Elizabeth C. Blackwell b. Oct. 21, 1837 Hall Co. Ga. m.John Edge
14. Nancy Caroline Blackwell b. abt 1840 Lumpkin Co. Ga.
15. James Blackwell b. abt 1842 Lumpkin Co. Ga.
16. Duke? Blackwell b. abt 1843 - died or left home by 1860
17 Andrew Blackwell b. abt 1845 - died or left home by 1860
The last two were born in Lumpkin Co. Ga.(The last three are sons of John Blackwell, deceased).

After several years of research this is what has been found on the Jediah Blackwell family. He(Jediah) and some of his family left Lumpkin Co. which was part of Hall Co. until 1832 and went to Texas between 1850 and 1860. They settled near Overton, Rusk Co. Texas where he bought land. In 1850 Lumpkin Co. Ga. the value of his real estate was $4000 and in 1860 Rusk Co. Texas the value of his real estate was $5340 and his personal estate was $21265. This is where he lived and died Nov. 17, 1874, buried in the Salem Cemetery, near Troup, Smith Co. Texas. His wife, Nancy Henderson Blackwell died Oct. 25, 1879 at their home near Overton, Texas, buried beside her husband.

1. John Blackwell, the oldest son was born about 1817 in Franklin or Hall Co. Ga. It is believed he came to Texas and settled in Eastland Co. Texas. In 1882 he had these heirs, James M., Andrew J., and Jesse Blackwell.

2. Rebecca Blackwell was born about 1818 Franklin or Hall Co. Ga. She married an Anderson and moved from Lumpkin Co. to Gilmer Co. Ga. In 1882 she had these heirs, Mary; W.C.; J. W. Anderson; Martha T. West,deceased and her children, Samuel M., Jasper L., Benjiman C. West.

3. William Blackwell was born Jan. 18, 1819 in Franklin or Hall Co. Ga. and died Aug. 8, 1863 Rusk Co. Texas, buried in the Salem Cemetery with his parents. If he ever married it is not known. He was living with his parents in 1860.

4. Mary Blackwell born about 1821 Hall Co. Ga. She married an Anderson or her sister Rebecca married a Henderson, there is a discrepancy. She married before 1850 and she was not listed with her parents in the 1850 census.

5. Sarah Blackwell was born about 1823 Hall Co. Ga. and married a Garvin and lived in Hopkins Co. Texas.

6. Jane Blackwell born about 1824 Hall Co. Ga. and married Charles Edge. In 1850 Charles Edge was 28 years old, a farmer with $500 real estate, born in South Carolina. He was perhaps a brother to John Edge who married Elizabeth C. Blackwell, daughter of Jediah Blackwell(has not been proven). The children of Charles and Jane Edge were: William 4, John 2, Jackson five months and living with them Nelson Edge 16 and Wesley 20 a minor (Laborer). All were born in Ga. and living in Lumpkin Co. Ga. atthis time. In 1860 Jane Edge was living in Walker Co. Ga. alone (He husband perhaps died before 1860) with her children. She had $1200 real estate and $555 personal estate. In 1860 Jane Edge was still in Walker Co. Ga. Her children were, William 12, John 11, Jackson D. 9, Elizabeth 7. In 1870 Jane was living in Walker Co. Ga. with real estate valued at $1200 and $300 personal. These children were still at home, William J. 22, Jackson D. 20, Elizabeth 18. She was not there in 1880, perhaps died or moved away with some of her children.

7. Jesse Blackwell was born about 1825 Hall Co. Ga. He was in Hall Co. Ga. in 1850 with a wife, A.~~[illegible]~~) 24, H. A. 3, G. A. 2. In 1882 he had these heirs: Horton T. and Lula Blackwell; Georgia, Mary and Alice Meadows (Perhaps G. A. 2 in 1850, married a Meadows). All of Hall Co. Ga.

8. Hamilton Wiley Blackwell born about 1827 Hall Co. Ga. Records later.

9. James Wesley Blackwell born about 1829 Hall co. Ga. and died in Dec. 1863, where he is buried is not known. He married Oct. 4, 1860 Rusk Co. Texas, Lucinda Hulsey by J. B. Brasfield, JP. If they had children it is not known.

10. Eliza A. Blackwell was born 1832 in Lumpkin Co. Ga. instead of Hall CO. since Lumpkin was formed from that part of Hall Co. Her records are later.

11. Andrew Blackwell was born about 1833 in Lumpkin Co instead of Hall Co. He perhaps died or married before 1860 since he was not on the 1860 census with his parents in Rusk Co. Texas.

12. Jasper L. Blackwell b. Jan. 1, 1835 Lumpkin Co. Ga. instead of Hall Co. Ga. His records later.

13. Elizabeth C. Blackwell b. Oct. 21, 1837 Lumpkin Co. Ga. instead of Hall Co. Ga. Her records later.

14. Nancy Caroline Blackwell was born about 1840 in Lumpkin Co. Ga. She m. a Pierce and lived in Hall Co. Ga. In 1892 she had these heirs, ~~[illegible]~~ J.B. & Lillie Pierce

15. James Blackwell was born about 1842 Lumpkin Co. Ga. There was a James Blackwell in the Confederate Army who was born in Lumpkin Co., a private March 4, 1862, captured at Cassville, Ga. May 20, 1864. He enlisted in the United States Navy at Rock Island, Ill. June 10, 1864. This could be the same person.

16. Duke or Dike was born about 1843 Lumpkin Co. Ga. He died or left home by 1860 as he did not come to Texas with his parents.

17. Andrew Blackwell was born about 1845 Lumpkin Co. Ga. He died or left home by 1860 as he did not come to Texas with his parents.

The last three, James, Duke, & Andrew Blackwell were the sons of John Blackwell, son of Jediah Blackwell.

Jesse Blackwell, son of Jediah Blackwell, married Almina Bowen in Jackson Co., Ga. March 17, 1846.

7. James Blackwell was born about 1825 Hall Co. Ga. He was in Hall Co. Ga. in 1850 with a wife, A. 26, H. A. 3, G. A. 2. In 1852 he had these heirs: Morton T. and Lula Blackwell; Georgia, Mary and Alice Meadows (Perhaps G. A. 2 in 1850 married a Meadows). All of Hall Co. Ga.

8. Hamilton Wiley Blackwell born about 1827 Hall Co. Ga. Records later.

9. James Wesley Blackwell born about 1829 Hall co. Ga. and died in Dec. 1863, where he is buried is not known. He married Oct. 9, 1850 Rusk Co. Texas, Lucinda Mulkey by J. B. Brasfield,JP. If they had children it is not known.

10. Eliza A. Blackwell was born 1832 in Lumpkin Co. Ga. instead of Hall Co. since Lumpkin was formed from that part of Hall Co. Her records are later.

11. Andrew Blackwell was born about 1833 in Lumpkin Co instead of Hall Co. He perhaps died or married before 1860 since he was not on the 1860 census with his parents in Rusk Co. Texas.

12. Jasper L. Blackwell b. Jan. 1, 1835 Lumpkin Co. Ga. instead of Hall Co. Ga. His records later.

13. Elizabeth C. Blackwell b. Oct. 21, 1837 Lumpkin Co. Ga. instead of Hall Co. Ga. Her records later.

14. Nancy Caroline Blackwell was born about 1840 in Lumpkin Co. Ga. She m. a Pierce and lived in Hall Co. Ga. In 1852 she had these heirs, J.D. & Lillie Pierce

15. Jason Blackwell was born about 1842 Lumpkin Co. Ga. There was a Jason Blackwell in the Confederate Army who was born in Lumpkin Co., a private March 4, 1862, captured at Cassville, Ga. May 20, 1864. He enlisted in the United States Navy at Rock Island, Ill. June 10, 1864. This could be the same person.

16. Duke or Dike was born about 1843 Lumpkin Co. Ga. He died or left home by 1860 as he did not come to Texas with his parents.

17. Andrew Blackwell was born about 1845 Lumpkin Co. Ga. He died or left home by 1860 as he did not come to Texas with his parents. The last three, Jason, Duke, & Andrew Blackwell were the sons of John Blackwell, son of Jediah Blackwell.

Rebecca Blackwell, daughter of Jediah and Nancy Blackwell, married Joseph Anderson Nov.13, 1836 in Lumpkin Co. Ga.

Jesse Blackwell, son of Jediah Blackwell, married Almine Bowen in Jackson Co., Ga. March 17, 1846.

Bogaert (Boomgaret), Pieter Willemsz, was a Mennonite preacher at Monnikendam (Holland), and in 1567 took an active part in the dispute between the Frisians and Flemish, siding with the former, and was banned by Dirk Philips. When Duke Alba (q.v.) came to Holland, Bogaert fled to Emden. Prince William of Orange wrote him here May 5, 1572, asking him to help in raising money among the Mennonites to continue his war against Spain. Bogaert complied and on July 19, accompanied by Dirck Jansz Cortenbosch (q.v.), was able to place 1,060 guilders at the disposal of the prince at Roermond, who gratefully accepted the sum. In the same year Monnikendam declared itself on the side of the prince, and Bogaert presumably returned home. The aid given by the Mennonites through his agency surely contributed to the tolerant attitude of the prince toward the Mennonites, for the prince repeatedly urged the strict Calvinists around him to a similar tolerance.

Bogaert was of a gentle disposition. He voiced his opposition to a repetition of baptism in the case of a transfer of membership. In 1588 he was made elder and in 1590 was banned by the stricter party together with the more moderate Jonge Frisians, Lubbert Gerritsz (q.v.) and Hoyte Renix (q.v.). In 1606 he was still living; in that year he wrote a letter from Monnikendam to C. P. Hooft, mayor of Amsterdam, a copy of which is in the archives of the Amsterdam church. The archives contain other documents from his hand, e.g., a pamphlet against Menno's book on the ban, and a letter of encouragement to Hans de Ries. A treatise titled Een Munster end Wttocht also genaempt over Robert Roberts boeksken 1592 (see Robert Roberts le Canu) with the motto Proeve wilt Behouwen (P. W. Bogaert) is probably from his pen. But he is not to be confused with Pieter Willemsz, who wrote several religious poems and belonged to the strict opposing party. The correspondence with the Prince of Orange and the letter to Hooft are found in Blaupot t.C., Holland I, 381-84. J.L.

I Jan Boomgaert born ca 1589 Netherland
______ _______ born ca 1593 Netherland

II Cornelis Janse (Jansen, Jansz) Boomgaert born ca 1621 Netherland (Bongaert) came from Netherland before 1654, apparently first came to old Bergen County, New Jersey sometime before or during the year 1676. The first appreance of Cornelis Jansen Bongaert's name in Bergen County records is found in the list of members received by the Dutch Reformed Church in Bergen, New Jersey, October 2, 1676. On that date, he and his wife "Geesje Jans", his son, "Jan Cornelisszen Bodard" and the son's wife, "Agnietje Jans", all became members of the Church. Presumabley the family settled in or near Bergen.
Flatbush Church Records "May 18, 1681 widow of Cornelis Bogart for use of the shroud 8 g(uilders)" and "May 1681 widow of Cornelis Bogart bought grave in Church (yard) 20 g." From these terse phrases it is evident that Cornelis Jansen Bongaert was returned to Midwout for burial and that his demise was simply noted at Bergen, where he was presumably still a church member. His widow evidently did not long survive him for another Flatbush Church note reads "August 3, 1683 children of deceased widow of Cornelis Bongaert for use of shroud 8 g."

1482, and is buried in St. Peter's Church in Leyden, beneath a stone surmounted by a copper plate, on which is engraved an inscription which sets forth his fame. That church, built in 1315, is a monument to a Boerhave, the first physician, and in here were buried some of Holland's most distinguished sons.

Adam Bougaert, a son of Jacob Bougaert, became the first physician of the city of Antwerp, and was also rector of the academy in Leyden. Harman Bougaert, son of Mynderlie Bougaert, came to New Amsterdam (New York) in 1629, and is believed to have been the first comer of the family. In 1634 Rev. Ewardes Bogardus (as he spelled the name), a son of William Bougaert, came to New Amsterdam, he being the first regularly ordained minister of the gospel in what is now Manhattan. Rev. Bogardus married Anneke Jans, and through her came the "Anneke Jans" claim against Trinity Church, New York City.

(I) The American ancestor of this branch, Cornelius Jansen Bogaert (as he spelled the name), was born in Holland, and about 1660 settled on a lot in Flatbush, Long Island, which he soon sold. In 1677 he was one of the proprietors of the Flatbush patent, and there died in 1684. He was accompanied from Holland by his wife, whose maiden name was Geesie Williams. Their children were: Wyntie, Jan Cornelise; Guilliam, of whom further; Classie, Roeloff, Maritie, and Peter.

(II) Guilliam Bogert (as the name finally became) was born in Holland and came to New Amsterdam with his parents. When grown he settled in the "Wallabout" section of Brooklyn. He married a widow, Mrs. Bergen, and they were the parents of seven sons and three daughters, among them a son, Guilliam (2).

(III) Guilliam (2) Bogert, in 1697, settled in New Jersey, at what is now Teaneck, Englewood township, Bergen county. He built a stone house on Teaneck road, which was standing as late as 1840. He married and had sons: John; Jacob G., through whom this branch descends; Cornelius, Henry, Stephen.

(IV) Jacob G. Bogert lived in Teaneck, on a farm near that of his father. He married Sarah Van Voorhees, and their children were: Maria; and Albert J., of whom further.

(V) Albert J. Bogert was born at the home farm in Teaneck, July 29, 1765, and passed his life there. He married Sophia Westervelt, and they were the parents of: Sarah, Jacob, Albert, Jane; Gilliam, head of the sixth generation; Henry, Belinda.

(VI) Gilliam Bogert was born March 3, 1797, at the homestead in Teaneck, and in later life bought the farm first owned by his grandfather, Jacob G. Bogert. Gilliam Bogert married Maria Demarest, of ancient family, Huguenots. Their children were: Albert G., Sarah, Sophia; Daniel G., head of the seventh generation; John G., Hannah D., Maria B., Andrew D., Belinda, Jacob G., and Elsie.

(VII) Daniel G. Bogert was born at the home farm in Teaneck, October 12, 1825, and there spent his life a farmer. He served the township of Englewood as assessor, county freeholder, deputy sheriff and census enumerator. He married Sarah A. Bogert, of Paramus, New Jersey, and they were the parents of: Gilliam D.; John A., head of the eighth generation; Mary Emma, Cecelia, Daniel, Lillian, Estelle, Arthur, and Edith.

(VIII) John A. Bogert was born in Teaneck, Englewood township, Bergen county, New Jersey, October 12, 1850, and in later life engaged in the lumber business in the borough of Englewood. He married Emily Hopper, daughter of Stephen G. Hopper, of Hackensack, New Jersey. Mr. and Mrs. Bogert were the parents of two sons: Charles Albert, head of the ninth generation; and Stephen Hopper.

(IX) Charles Albert Bogert, eldest son of John A. and Emily (Hopper) Bogert, was born in Teaneck, New Jersey, December 14, 1876. He attended the public schools of Englewood, finishing the full course, primary, grammar and high, with graduation. He was his father's assistant in the lumber business in Englewood, his present business, building and contracting.

He is a member of the Holland Society of New York, Bergen County Historical Society of Hackensack, Community Club of Englewood, and with his family attends St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Englewood.

Charles Albert Bogert married, in Englewood, New Jersey, October 12, 1904, Grace B. Secor, and they are the parents of a son, Charles A. (2), born March 5, 1915, he of the tenth generation of this family in this country, and all except the first two generations residents of the Teaneck section of Bergen county, New Jersey.

WARNER WESLEY WESTERVELT, JR.—One of the well known members of the legal profession of Bergen county is Mr. Westervelt, who has for the past fifteen years been active in the practice of law in Hackensack, and has won his way to marked success. He comes of early Colonial antecedents, his immigrant ancestor having coming from Holland in 1647. The family have been represented in the civic, industrial and professional progress of the eastern States, and the name is a familiar one in New Jersey.

Warner Wesley Westervelt, Sr., Mr. Westervelt's father, is a resident of Woodcliff Lake, Bergen county, this State, and for many years has been a prominent counsellor-at-law of New York State, with offices in New York City, in the Havemeyer building, on Church street. He married Mary Amelia Beach, who died July 31, 1914, at Woodcliff Lake.

Warner Wesley Westervelt, Jr., was born at Watsessing, Essex county, New Jersey, January 29, 1883. His early education was acquired in the grammar school of Woodcliff Lake. His high school course was covered at Hackensack, with graduation in the class of 1902, after which he entered Columbia University School of Law, where he received the degree of Bachelor of Laws with the class of 1905. Admitted to the bar of New Jersey as attorney and solicitor in June, 1907, Mr. Westervelt immediately began practice in Hackensack, where he continued his practice for some years independently, and was admitted to the bar as counsellor-at-law of New Jersey, in November, 1912. In 1913 he became a member of the firm of Demarest, De Baun & Westervelt, his two associates being the late Judge Milton Demarest and Abram De Baun. This partnership continued until the decease of Judge Demarest in October, 1921, from which time Mr. De Baun and Mr. Westervelt continued under the firm name of De Baun & Westervelt, with offices at No. 78 Main street, Hackensack, until the death of of Mr. De Baun in April, 1922, left Mr. Westervelt the sole surviving member of the firm.

In the public affairs of the State and Nation, he supports the Republican party, but is interested in political matters only from the view-point of the progressive citizen. Fraternally he holds membership in Pioneer Lodge, No. 70, Free and Accepted Masons, and Bergen Chapter, No. 40, Royal Arch Masons. He is a member of the American Bar Association, of the New Jersey State Bar Association, and of the Bergen County Bar Association, of which latter named body he has been secretary for some time. Mr. Westervelt and his wife are both members of the First Baptist Church of Hackensack.

Dear Carol,

Many thanks for your letter of 4 February and enclosures. I am especially glad to have the information about Claesie Boomgaert b 1642 and her parents. Is there any further data about her mother, Geesje Willems?

You mentioned a Brinkerhoff book. May I ask where to get one and the price? There is a book up in the Los Angeles Library "The Family of Joris Dircksen Brinkerhoff" published by Richard Brinkerhoff. I have photo copies of a few of the pages, but it would be nice to have the whole thing. In it, on page 46, it lists IV-XIII Joris Brinkerhoff and gives his wife as Baeltie Demarest. This is in error. Baeltie was the wife of his son V-XVII Rolif (see page 48).

On a separate sheet, I'll show what I have found about Martyntje Bogert, wife of IV-XIII Joris Brinkerhoff. It is my hope that with this data you may be able to find some trace of her in your Bogert files and so be able to clue me in on her parentage & family. I have almost nothing on this name, and regret I cannot help you with your Cathys Boogaert w/o Peter Haring.

I do own the Demarest books and have photocopies of the Banta Genealogy, so if I can look up anything in them for you, I'll be happy to do so. I'll enclose an abbreviated pedigree chart so you can see what surnames are of interest to me. We seem to have others in common. Do you know anything about the Van Houten family early on?

The SASE is appreciated. I'll enclose one this time too, but please, there is no need to send one in the future. Again, my thanks for writing.

Sincerely,

Dear Edna;

Received your letter and been looking over what I have. No, I don't have any further data on Geesje Willems.

We borrowed "The Family of Joris Dircksen Brinckerhoff" published 1887 Richard Brinckerhoff and I typed it (before copy machines) but at least I have it. "The Brin(c)kerhoff's of America 1641 – 1981 compiled by Theodore Brinkerhoff. I got mine from Donald E Brinkerhoff – 3020 Dellwood Drive, Kokomo, Indiana 46902. The deadline for pre publication price was August 15, 1984 – and it was $33.00 plus 2.00 postage. I don't know what the price is now.

Tracing your line to Joris (George) Brinkerhoff 1719-1810 I find on page 150 (Brin(c)kerhoff book) married Martina Bogart d/o Roelof & Elizabeth (Bertholf) Bogart. Page 247 Roeliff Brinkerhoff m. Isabella (Belitie) Demarest and Margreta (same page) 2942-4 lists her marriage and lists her children. It doesn't carry it on down, at least, I don't think so. Enclosed is about all I can find on Bertholfs. Looks like Elizabeth was married twice.

I copied the chart from the Banta book because of the early names. It was torn and I lost part of it in tape. Do you have a copy of the chart?

Van Houten? – Yea, have quite a bit but can't find your Geesie Van Houten. I got out some old "The Archivist" the

Dear Carol,

What a gem you are! I really appreciate the information in your letter of 13 Feb. It is rewarding to have Martyntie Bogert placed at last. I always felt there was a connection with Claasie Bogert, but had no idea how close it would turn out to be! (The aunt is also the grandmother-in-law!) These early inter-relationships make for some fascinating pedigree charts.

Thank you for the information about the new Brin(c)kerhoff book. I have written to Donald B. to see if I can order a copy. If it is unavailable, I'll take you up on the offer to copy some pages for me.

I plan to write to Mr. Minke soon. I appreciate the lead and am now wondering where I got the Van Houton for Geesie Roelofse, w/o Lubbert Westervelt. So far, have not been able to track down my source.

Re: Banta Genealogy. Months ago I requested the book on inter-library loan from Sutro (California State Library). It finally came a few weeks ago and I could have it for 10 days. The copy was very old (pages brittle) and had obviously been rebound. There was no chart. I took it to the copy center & spent 1½ hours at the machine. Copied the whole book. Aren't those machines wonderful?

You have been so generous to me, I do wish there were some way I could help you. Obviously you have been interested in genealogy for quite some time, so I am sure you know that Rachel Demarest (your Gen. VII) was a descendant of Rachel Cresson who was the second wife of #412 Jan Durie on my chart. Isn't it fun to find these connections?

Once again, my thanks for your help. Happy hunting.

Sincerely,

Enc.

P.S. Do you have any interest in the Low Dutch Colony of Conewago? I have lots of data on it.

Dear Edna;

Heres a Banta chart I had extra. I can't find Hudson & Bergen Counties, New Jersey by Lake but I'll keep looking. Can't remember where I found it before. I don't have it, copied some of it from a Library somewhere. Sorry for being so slow in answering but thought sure I'll get a chance of finding it before now.

How you doing on your research?

Been running around a lot lately and have a lot to catch up on.

Dear Carol,

My copy of the Brin(c)kerhoff book arrived last week (how is that for fast service?) and I am very pleased with it. Many thanks for telling me about it.

Finally tracked down my source for Geesie Roelofse Van Houten w/o Lubbert Westervelt. It is in the Demarest Family books (Gen 3 #8) Leah Demarest m Roelof Westervelt s/o above couple.

Do you have access to the "Genealogical History of Hudson & Bergen Counties, New Jersey" by Harvey S. Lake? You kindly sent me a photocopy of the entry for Bergholfs. I have never been able to locate this book. It is supposed to have an entry on the PARSELL family that I would dearly love to see. This is an extremely hard line to follow, partly because of the many variations in spelling. So far, I have more than 25 including Pers, Pessel, Possel, Parcil, etc., etc., etc., down to Pearsall & even Powell!

If you are so fortunate as to have access, I have a big favor to ask. Would you consider checking for these names (taking into consideration the variations in spelling) and making photocopies of any entries? I will, of course, reimburse you for the cost of the copies and postage. The PARSELL line is the most important to me.

Dear Carol,

How nice to hear from you again. Thank you for the BANTA chart. It is good to have it to put with the copy of the book.

Getting to see books that are "out there somewhere" is one of the most frustrating aspects of this hobby. Perhaps someday I'll be fortunate enough to locate "Hudson & Bergen Counties, NJ" by Lake!

Thanks to you, I now know which BOGERT/BOGART lines to look for, and recently found the enclosed information. Quite possibly you already have it, but if not, it may be of interest to you.

Have heard nothing further from Sue McLane. I do hope she will let us know when her book is published. It should be an interesting addition to our files.

Your help has been greatly appreciated, and I do hope we can continue to keep in touch.

SINCERELY,

Dear Mrs. Diller;

Recently I wrote Sue N McLane of Cawker City, Kansas and her reply gave me your name and address for an inquiry about Martyntjen (?) Bogert and Claasie Boomgaert wife of Hendrick Brinkerhoff. This is my line and I also have a line from Jan Cornelise Boomgaert and Angenietje Strycker. - I am enclosing two papers on these families. I am looking forward to her book - I have mixed up for so long on the Boomgaert/Bogert lines.

Did you ever hear of a Cathys Boogaert who married Peter Haring? - I have found in Salt Lake City a Haring book which says they are grandparents of Jan Pieter Haring - everywhere else says parents.

I recently got the Brinkerhoff book that was published with Theodore Brinkerhoffs records.

Can you add to my information? If I can I would be glad to help with anything you are stuck on, if I can!

I am enclosing a self addressed stamped envelope for your reply.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Charles Ingrim

Dear Ms. McLane:

In response to your ad on page 106 of the Genealogical Helper for Sept-Oct 1984, I am trying to learn the progenitors of:

1. Martyntjen BOGERT (spelling variable)
   wife of Joris BRINKERHOFF (1719-1810)

2. Claasie BOOMGAERT (spelling variable)
   wife of Hendrick BRINKERHOFF (1630-)

If your files contain any information to help me verify their ancestry, I will be happy to supply our line of descent for inclusion in your book.

A self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed for your convenience, and I will be looking forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Dear Sue,

Thank you for your letter of 25 October. I'll certainly try to locate that LDS film containing information about the BOGART family. It may contain much of interest to me.

Your book sounds like a tremendous undertaking. I am sure many family researchers will be looking forward to its publication. Please keep me in mind when it is ready for distribution.

I will be pleased to have you include, along with my name and address:

1. Martyntjen BOGERT (spelling ?)
   wife of Joris BRINKERHOFF (1719-1810)
2. Claasie BOOMGAERT (spelling ?)
   wife of Hendrick BRINKERHOFF (1630-)

I will be glad to correspond with interested persons.

It is good to know you have had such fine response to your ad, and I wish you success with your project.

Sincerely,

Hi! I'm a Genealogy Nut.

Dear Edna:

Thank you for writing in response to my ad on Bogaert in the Helper.

I cannot give you exactly what you want, but I may be able to help you.

The names Martynjen Bogert and Classie Boomgaert do not exactly start the bells clanging. But the name Brinkerhoff does.

There were a number of Bogaerts (spelled however) who married into the Brinkerhoff line. at the time. I had opportunity to pursue this I was so new at genealogy and knew so little about my forebears as to pass up this information which at that time was completely irrelevant. But I will give you what I have in my notes.

I was researching in the Mesa, Arizona, LDS Branch Library, and I found this: "FILM M1180 Bogart Family Data. Brinkerhoff genealogy. Check Index in front of part I Families marrying into the Brinkerhoff Line."

Hendrick Boogaert m. (1) Janetye Martense Essyltine. She was the daughter of Martine Essylstine. Hendrick m. (2) Ruth (Waldron) Delamater widow of Jan De La Maetre. Both Hendrick and Ruth had children from their first marriage but they had no children of the second marriage. Several of their children married each other.

Cornelius, son of Hendrick married Cornelia Delamater daughter of Ruth. They had a number of children. I descend from their son, Marten, named for his gr grand father, Marten Esselstine. It is possible that your Maritynjen may have come down in that line somewhere, or in one of the other lines represented in the Boogaert - Esselstine -Delameter complex.

In the same vein It is reasonable to assume, but not conclusive proof, that Claasie was in a line with a Nicholas in it. But of course the Nicholas may not have been a Bogart. There is a line from an ancestor named Claas Bogert, Son of Nicholas.

I cannot put all of these lines in my book, but I hope to put in the direct lines of my correspondents with their names and addresses, the object being so that anyone interested in that line may contact the researcher and perhaps put together a broader study for another generation of researchers to use as a basis for their work.

I hope that you will send me your direct line back to Maritje and Claasie so that I can include it. Otherwise I should like to put in their names and your name and address. It might help you later to hook up with somebody who could help you.

Thanks again. I'll keep on the lookout.

Love
Lee N. McLane

P.S. I have had good response to my ad.

Dear Sue,

Thank you for the additional hint regardi ing Martyntjen BOOGERT & Joris BLINDERHOF.

When things settle down (maybe about the end of January(I'll be able to get back to some genealogical research. I'm really anxious to see that film you mentioned about the BOGART family.

Hope you had a pleasant holiday season and wish you "happy hunting" in the New Year.

Dear Mrs. Diller:

Just a quickie to tell you I found something for you.

Bogert Martyntjen + Joris Blinkerhof
1745 Oct 19

Mabe that will give you a lead where to look.

Dear Sue,

Just a line to thank you for giving my name & address to Carol Ingrim of Shenandoah, IA. She has been kind enough to write, and according to her:

Claasie Boomgaert (sp?) was the daughter of Cornelis Janse Boomgaert & Geesje Willemse, as you had indicated.

Martyntje Bogert (sp?) was the daughter of Roelof Cornelise Boomgaert and his second wife, Elizabeth Bartholf. Said Roelof being a son of Above Cornelis Janse Boomgaert & Geesje Willemse & younger brother of Claasie.

I'm so glad to have these Brinkerhoff wives placed at last, thanks to you and Carol.

Looking forward to your book, so please let me know when it is available.

Sincerely,

Re: BOGART

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Thornton:

Recently I contacted the Yates Publishing Co. in Ozark, Mo regarding the above surname. Your line was included in the sheets they sent me, and I wonder if you have anything in your files that can help me. I am trying to learn about two women who married into the BRINKERHOFF family:

#1 - CLAASIE, daughter of Cornelius BOOMGAERT
married Hendrick Joerisen BRINKERHOFF
(@ 1630-@1710)

#2 - MARTYNTJEN (BONGERT ?) born in Hackensack
married Joris BRINKERHOFF (1719-1810)

Any help, information or suggestions will be much appreciated. A self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed for your convenience, and I will be looking forward to hearing from you.

Dear Mrs. Diller:

I have searched my Bogart file, but did not find any Brinkerhoff married to a Bogart-at least in our line.

However I looked at my thick DAR index and found your Joris b 9 Oct 1719, d 3 Jan 1810 m to Martina Bogart. Joris had PS after his name - Patriot Service, Pa.

Perhaps by writing to the DAR in Washington D.C. and obtaining the application for Joris - it might reveal something more than you have. They ask $4 for a copy. I have had good luck with this on others.

Also in large libraries there are a number of volumes on the Dutch families of New York-wills, deeds, etc.

Also write to Archive Div., State Library in Harrisburg, Pa for more information.

I am sorry not to be or more help. I keep getting these requests from the Yates file. I was a subscriber to the Ridge Runner many years ago and they asked for our charts then. However I am always glad to help a fellow genealogist as I have been helped many times by others too.

Did you know how the Bogart name was originally spelled? I am sending a line chart of them. These are my husbands ancestors.

And thanks for the S.A.S.E.

Sincerely,
Garnie Thornton

Re: BOGERT

Dear Mr. Strader:

Recently the Yates Publishing Company sent me copies of your family sheets on the above name. I am seeking help with the following and wonder if by chance your files contain information about them.

1. Claasie BOOMGAERT (spelling variable)
   wife of Hendrick BRINKERHOFF (1630-)
   Thought to be daughter of Cornelise Jan
   BOGAERT & Geesje WILLEMSE.

2. Martyntje BONGERT (spelling variable)
   wife of Joris BRINKERHOFF (1719-1810)

Any hints or help with the progenitors of these women will be much appreciated. A self-addressed, stamped evnelope is enclosed for your convenience, and I will be looking forward to hearing from you soon.

BOGART FAMILY NOTES.

Contributed by James W. T. Scott,
Philadelphia, Pa.

These Bogart notes were translated and compiled from an original manuscript written in the Dutch language. The marriage, birth and death records in the original were in each instance prefaced by the wording "in the year of our Lord Jesus Christ," which prefatory phrase for purposes of brevity has been omitted. Both the christian names and the family surnames are variously spelled in the original and such variations have been standardized in this compilation. Prior to the Revolutionary War and subsequent thereto members of this Bogart family lived at Fishkill and on Long Island, near New Utrecht, N. Y., and also in New York City.

1. Adrian Bogart was born Dec. 1, 1720, and buried Jan. 7, 1799, in the Dutch Reformed Church grounds, New York.

2. Madalena Schenk was born Feb. 26, 1725 and buried Nov. 27, 1801.
(1) Adrian Bogart and (2) Madalena Schenk married Nov. 18, 1748 and had the following children:—

3. Theunis, their first, born Sunday, Oct. 15, 1749, about 4 P. M. [bapt. in Reformed Dutch Church, N. Y. City, Oct. 25, 1749*(1)].
4. Eliesabeht, their second, born Thursday, April 2, 1752, about evening and baptized in the Reformed Dutch Church, April 22(2) [1752].
5. Peter, their third, Sunday, March 24, 1754, baptized March 31 [1754]. He is sometimes mentioned as Peter P. Bogart. [Baptized Dec. 27, 1754, according to Dutch Church records(3)].
6. Adrian, their fourth, Thursday, Oct. 28, 1756, baptized(4) Nov. 7, [1756]; died Sunday, July 17, 1757.
7. Catryna, their fifth, Monday, April 9, 1759, baptized(5) April 22 [1759].
8. Magdalena, their sixth, Wednesday, Jan. 6, 1762, baptized(6) February 3 [1762].
9. Janettie, their seventh, Friday, Feb. 3, 1764; baptized(7) Feb. 19 [1764].
10. Adrian, their eighth, Friday, Nov. 20, 1767; baptized(8) Dec. 20, [1767].

3. Tunis Bogart married (9) Aaltje Simonson, Wednesday, April 26, 1774, at 4 o'clock, P. M. She was born Oct. 9, 1739.

The original record in reference to this marriage thus states what the minister, Dominie Archibald Laidlie said at the beginning of this ceremony of marriage:—

"In the name of the Lord who made Heaven and Earth, looking down on you and trusting in Him for the effusion of many of his best blessings that we with true love, a long time (a length of days) may stay with one another, loving God; in misfortune trusting in Him, hoping when we have served out His service, the Lord Jesus Christ will come to take us up into the eternal and happy glory, Amen."

5. Peter (P.) Bogart, farmer, and Margaret Bennet, spinster, both then of Kings County, married June 27, 1773, Theunis Bogart, merchant of New York, being bondsman. She died Aug. 31, 1811; he July 12, 1830. Their children were:—

i. Adrian, born Sept. 26, 1774.
ii. Charity, born May 6, 1776.
iii. Magdalene, born Feb. 17, 1778, married Schuyler Baxter at Flatbush, May 22, 1800.
iv. Winant, born Feb. 6, 1780.
v. Elizabeth, born May 17, 1782, married a Mr. Clark of New York City. She died in 1862 and was buried in New Utrecht, Kings County.
vi. Sarah, born May 17, 1785.
vii. Peter, born Oct. 12, 1788, with a twin sister, who died Nov. 14, 1788. He married Miss Annie Furman who died in Sept. 1840. He died Oct. 26, 1868 and was buried in New Utrecht, now called Van Pelt Manor.
viii. Margaret, born May 29, 1793.

Peter (P.) Bogart signed the "Articles of Association" at Jacob Griffen's tavern, Swartwoutville, Dutchess County, August 15, 1775. In the list of New York soldiers in the Revolutionary War he is registered as being in Captain Van Wyck's Company, Colonel Brinckerhoff's regiment of Dutchess County. He is said to have fought at Bunker Hill and a British officer is said to have cut off his coat-tail as he was jumping over a fence. As there were no New Yorkers in the Boston battle of Bunker Hill, the battle here referred to must be that one in the vicinity of the Bunker Hill redoubt, which was built on Bayard's mount, which was located in the space now bounded by Grand, Broome, Center, Mulberry and Mott Streets in New York City. On September 15, 1776, the British landed at Kip's Bay, now 34th Street, and marching to the Incleberg, located in the Murray Hill—Fifth Avenue neighborhood, nearly cut off the American retreat to the north from the lower part of Manhattan Island. The Bunker Hill redoubt garrison was preparing to resist the attack, when they were ordered to evacuate. A detachment of British Light Infantry overtook the American rear guard and skirmished with it at the present location of Eighth Avenue and One Hundredth Street. (See Lossing's Field Book of the Revolution, Vol. II, pp. 593-611).

7. Catryna Bogart married John Ross of Fishkill. She died in the Lord, May 3, 1789.

9. Janettie Bogart married Lewis Kniffen, Feb. 11, 1784. He died in Sept., 1807 in Fishkill; she at the residence of her son-in-law Isaac B. Baxter, Philadelphia, July 12, 1830.

It was a one-morgen lot, like others in this range, but having been divided and each part built upon, was called two lots. McGown sold the whole, June 1, 1758, to John Livingston, and it has since made a part of the Brady plot. See note p. 191.* Capt. McGown was lost at sea some years before the Revolution, and his wid. soon after bought from Jacob Dyckman, Jr., a few acres on the hill back of the old Benson farm, at what became known as McGown's Pass, where she and her son Andrew kept a public house (in part the identical building in Central Park since known as Stetson's Hotel), her house being a favorite resort, before and during the war, of gentlemen coming from the city with their hounds to indulge in the sport of fox-hunting. Mr. Andrew McGown, who d. Oct. 16, 1820, æ. 78 years, was the fa. of the late Major Andrew McGown, b. 1786, d. Mar. 2, 1870, and of Ald. Samson B. McGown, b. 1797, who still occupies the ancestral seat of the Bensons. A few years since he removed the venerable stone farm-house, erected by his gt-gd-fa., Benj. Benson, on the south shore of the Mill Pond, and built upon its site his present residence, 106th Street, south side, between 3d and 4th Avenues.

BOGERT.

JAN LOUWE BOGERT, otherwise, from the place of his nativity, called Jan Louwe from Schoonderwoerd, claims a place among the patentees, for reasons given in the annexed note.* Many references to him will be found in the preceding pages. Having spent nine years at Bedford, Long Island, he came to H., in 1672, as proprietor of the Montanye farm, the history of which, up to its purchase by Bogert, has also been given. He was chosen a magistrate in 1675, was re-elected in 1676, and on Nov. 30th of this year, with his wife, Cornelia Everts, was received at N. Y. as a mem. of the H. chh. In 1677 Bogert drew lot No. 6, on Hoorn's Hook, but sold it Dec. 9, 1679, to Joost van Oblinus. He drew, in 1691, lot No. 25, adjoining his farm on the south side; and which in the deed from the town, Mar. 21, 1701, is thus described:

> "There is set off for Jan Louwe Bogert, for the right of sixteen morgen of land and an erf right; a piece of land lying in the bend of Hellgate, beginning from the southwest corner of the Hop Garden, by a birch tree, till to a white oak tree which stands by a small swamp (creupelbosje,) marked I L B and I D L, thence towards the River, past a rock marked I L B and I D L, and so on to the beach, till to the end of a meadow, north of a rocky hill; as it is at present fenced in." The initials (I for J), are those of Jan Louwe Bogert and Jan De Lamater.

Bogert having spent 35 years at H., sold his farm to Capt. Joh. Benson, Sept. 21, 1706, for £650, and the next spring removed to N. Y.; with his w. uniting with the chh. there by certificate from H., on May 27, 1707. His chn. were Peter,

* JOHN LIVINGSTON, b. 1714, d. 1788, and whose country seat was at H. from 1758 to 1780, was an eminent merchant of N. Y., the uncle of Col. Peter R. Livingston, named in note on p. 485, and son of Philip Livingston, second proprietor of the Livingston Manor. John Livingston was an asst. ald. from 1750 to 1755. He took a principal part in the proceedings for settling the division line of the N. Y. and Harlem Commons, in the years 1772 to 1775. His w. was Catharine De Peyster. See Holgate's Am. Gen.

* PETER PARMENTIER was one of the Mannheim refugees who came out in company with Jan Louwe Bogert, in 1663, as heretofore noticed. He and his w., Antoinette Terrin, bringing letters from Mannheim, were received to the Brooklyn chh., Sept. 23, of that year. Parmentier and Bogert lived neighbors at Bedford for some years, and the former was one of four named as trustees for the inhabitants at large, to whom the Indians, in 1670, sold lands in that vicinity. Parmentier became the owner of a farm and grist mill in Bushwick, where in 1675, one other excepted, he paid the largest tax on land and stock. Selling his farm to his only son Michiel, he kept the mill and eight morgen of land, but these he also conveyed to Michiel some time after, and probably when he sold, (May 31, 1684,) certain lots in Brooklyn to Jacques Lazillere. He soon came to H., and assuredly took Bogert's place in Dongan's patent; for which there seems no accounting, except on the ground of a contract to buy Bogert's farm, whose mill-

Peter was the fa. of Cornelius, James, and Henry K. Bogert, and their sisters. Cornelius J., lawyer (see Thompson's L. I., 2 : 127), was fa. to the late John G. Bogert, Russian Consul at N. Y. (fa. of Dr. Cornelius R. Bogert, Mrs. Gerardus Clark, and Mrs. Henry Kneeland), and of his sister Abigail, who m. Robert I. Thurston. Jacobus Bogert, b. 1738, son of John Bogert, Jr., m. 1756 Elizabeth Peacock, of a French Huguenot family. He d. in 1811, having had two sons, viz., John and James, Jr., as also six drs. Said James Bogert, Jr., b. in 1767, was m. thrice ; in 1795 to Miss Elizabeth Benezet,* who was the mo. of all his chn. Mr. Bogert eventually came to H., and after two or three years' residence bought (by two purchases in 1811 and 1812) the farm on Van Keulen's Hook before owned by his gd-fa., John Bogert, Jr. In 1816 he joined the Reformed Dutch chh. at H., to whose interests his hands and purse were devoted. After living here some years, his house being burned, he sold his farm, in 1825, to Morris Randell. Highly respected during a useful life protracted to his 91st yr., Mr. Bogert d. in N. Y., Mar. 31, 1858. He had four sons and four drs. ; two sons and a dr. surviving him ; the latter, an estimable lady, now deceased, was the wife of Dr. Edward L. Beadle, of Poughkeepsie, but formerly of N. Y., to whom I am indebted for some of these details.

BREVOORT.

John Hendricks Brevoort, of humble origin, but attaining to wealth and honorable station, presents one of many instances among our early colonists of similar rewards meted out to honesty and industry. When Harlem village was first settled, Brevoort was a boy of fourteen years, and living at Bushwick, with Hendrick Jansen van Brevoort, his father, we assume, who had leased a farm from Reyer Moll, owned later by Jean Mesurolle, and from an eminence called the Kyckuyt, or Lookout, known as the Kyckuyt Farm. Hence its occupant, living there from 1659 to 1665, came to be distinguished as Hendrick Jansen Kyckuyt. Though Brevoort in Guelderland has hitherto had the credit of giving name to our Brevoort family, the ancestor really came from "Brevoort in the diocese of Utrecht." It was a hamlet to the north-west of Amersfoort, and but little over a mile from its walls, and here Hendrick Jansen was born —in 1630, taking his own statement as to his age, made at various times. Before leaving the Kyckuyt farm he got land at Dutch Kills, in Newtown, "which was laid out for him by Jacques Cortelyou, the surveyor, by order of Gov. Stuyvesant." This became his home, and was confirmed to him by Gov. Lovelace, May 20, 1672, the main tract lying between lands then of Jan Hendricks and Frans Hendricks.

About this time John Hendricks Brevoort, or Jan Hendricks Kyckuyt, as he was then called, removed to N. Y., where his wife's parents were living, for he was now m. Hendrick Jansen Kyckuyt followed him, and bought property in the city Feb. 24, 1680, having, in or after 1675, sold his farm in Newtown to one Laurens Cornelisz, who soon conveyed it to a neighboring owner, Joris Stevens van Alst, whose dr. was w. of Hendricks' son, Frans Hendricks.* Hendrick's dr. Marritie had m. in 1673 Hendrick Bastiaens, of N. Y., br. to Annetie Bastiaens, Jan Hendricks' wife. Metje Bastiaens, wife of Cornelis Jansen, of H., being a sr. of Annetie, this may account for Jan Hendricks' going to Harlem, as he soon did. The three Bastiaenses

*This lady was of the Benezet family of Philadelphia, whose anc., Jean Benezet, d. at Abbeville, France, Aug. 15, 1710. A MS. account of the family, yet preserved, opens with this entry made by Jean Benezet.

"Le 16ce Aoust, 1682, Je mesiers marie avec Marie Madelaine Testart, fille de M. Pierre Testart et de defunte Rachel Cromelin, de la ville de St. Quentin, en Vermandois." See also Bartow Genealogy, p. 53.

*Doubts have arisen as to the relationship between Hendrick Jansen and Jan Hendricks Brevoort, because of a too close approximation in their ages (only fourteen years intervening, as shown by their own statements), and an apparent difference of birthplace ; for Hendrick and his chn. Frans and Marritie were born at Brevoort, while Jan Hendricks' marriage registration names him as "from Amersfoort." As against the last discrepancy, we should say it would be quite as natural for Jan, in stating where he came from, to name a well-known city, near which he was born, as the obscure village (Brevoort) in its suburbs ; and we judge this the explanation, for while in the one instance only is Jan called "van Amersfoort," he is many times called "van Brevoort." The difficulty arising from his being so nearly of an age with Hendrick is relieved by the record of many similar and well-attested cases. We premise, for reasons deemed sufficient, that neither Hendrick nor Jan had fallen into an error regarding his age, however common this is, as we know, especially with the uneducated. But it may be urged further in favor of the blood paternity in Hendrick, that the almost imperative custom of that day would require the eldest son of Hendrick Jansen to be called Jan Hendricksen ; while the birthplace of the father and younger children being the same (indicating a fixed residence), we should look for his to correspond therewith. But if (as has been suggested, by way of solving this problem) our Jan were only an adopted son of Hendrick, we should not expect to find, as we do in his case, the three requirements—birthplace, name, and priority as eldest son—to be all exactly met.

These difficulties obviated, all doubt as to the paternity of Jan Hendricks Brevoort, must be dispelled by the direct testimony of the Newtown court records of 1669, where on two separate occasions Hendrick and Jan are named as father and son.

HERMANS.—EPHRAIM AUGUSTINE HERMAN, son of Casparus and Anna (Reyniers) Hermans, and grandson of Augustyn Hermans, of Bohemia Manor, and his wife Jannetje, daughter of Casper and Judith Varleth, of New Netherlands, was married about 1712 to Isabella, daughter of Maurice Trent, by his wife Mary, daughter of James Sandelands, by his wife Ann, daughter of Jöran Kyn, or Keen of Sweden, the founder of Upland, New Sweden, afterwards Chester, Pennsylvania. Is it known whether there was issue by this marriage? Mr. Herman is described in a Deed recorded at West Chester, Pa., as "of Cecil County in the Province of Maryland, Gentleman," July 29, 1724, and he was a member of the Legislature of Maryland, from Cecil County, in 1715, 1716, 1728, and 1731. NOTES AND CORRECTIONS FOR THE HOLLAND FAMILY, vide RECORD, VOL. ix., p. 129.—Capt. Henry Holland, of New York, gent., purchased a lot in that city, on the east side of Broadway, in March, 1717, (Lib. xxviii, p. 376). His son, Henry Holland, Jr., bound himself an apprentice, Sept. 4, 1719, for seven years, to Thomas Kearney, of New York, merchant. In 1756 he was a part-owner of the brigantine Johnson, Capt. John Grigg, which in the fall of that year captured and carried into Basseterre the Spanish ship N. Senora de la Conception, etc. According to his will, some of his real estate, including a tract on the Mohawk, was sold for the benefit of his grandchildren; the purchaser being Alida, wife of Cornelius C. Roosevelt, of New York. The sale took place in Sept. 1786, at which time one of the executors, Frances Holland, the widow of Mayor Edward Holland, was living in Bethlehem, Albany Co., N. Y.

INDEXES.—"They have an Index Society in England, the object of which is to prepare indexes in different departments of literature. The latest benefaction of the Society is an index to Kemble's Anglo-Saxons in England, which will appear during the present year. They have in hand a student's guide to the literature of political economy, and a similar list for the students of botany."—New York Times, Feb. 22, 1878.

It would be a gratifying fact if the authors of local and family histories in this country, the editors of the collections of our Historical Societies generally, and the compilers of town, county, and state records, possessed more of the spirit which has resulted in the organization of this English Society. Nine-tenths of our American historical publications are merely works of reference, and, to be available as such, should have an index of every name mentioned. "Art is long and Time is fleeting," and no one, except he be an enthusiast with abundant leisure, would attempt to dig out the facts hid away in many of our town and county histories, with their imperfect indexes.

We regret that Vol. XII. of the Documents Relating to the Colonial History of the State of New York, recently published, is a sample of that old style of book-making (table of contents only, without page references), which requires the reader to con over each page to become acquainted with its contents. A good index requires much labor in making, but is the most important part of a publication and "indispensably necessary to manifest the treasures of any multifarious collection, facilitate the knowledge to those who seek it, and invite them to make application thereof." P.

RECORD OF THE BOGERTS AND RITZEMAS.—(Contributed by Rev. William Hall).—For the materials of the imperfectly arranged memoranda here presented, we are wholly indebted to the gathering hand and historical taste of Miss Alice Bogert, of Hackensack, N. J., a great-granddaughter of Dominie Ritzema, the ancient pastor of the D. R. Church in New York.

Preliminarily to the strictly genealogical particulars, we here give the substance of a note extracted by a member of the American family from Balen's "Description of Dort," p. 204.

ADAM BOGAARDT was born at Dordrecht from an ancient noble race. He was a son of William Bogaardt, Schout of the city in 1423. Adam was Professor of Medicine and Rector of the Academy at Leuven, where he died in 1482, and was buried in St. Peter's church, under a grave-stone surmounted with copper plate.—Jacob Bogaardt, his son, was first physician to Antwerp then Professor of the healing art at Leuven thirty-six years, also Rector of the Academy. He died July 27, 1520. He published a work on the practice of medicine in five parts. His MSS. may be seen in the Public Library at Antwerp.

The first New York ancestor of the family represented by our correspondent, was JOHN BOGERT. He was a miller, owned and lived at the Mills called "Bensons," in Harlem. He also owned the Rutger's farm in New York city, the stone house with court-yard before the door near the Tea-Water Pump, and the brick house opposite the sign of "The Harrow" and near the old Jews' burying-ground. He married Anabella, an English woman, called in the Dutch language, then commonly used, Beeletje. His son Nicholas, whose mother was Anatje Peck—probably a second wife—was born in New York, April 2, O. S., 1725. He married (1st) Maria Quick, April 27, 1747, by whom he had eight children. His second wife was Alida Ritzema, daughter of the Rev. Johannes Ritzema, and Hilletye, his wife, who was born at Collum, East Friesland, Holland, February 19, 1742, and to whom he was married Feb. 2, 1762.

Their children were thirteen, viz.:

1. DAVID RITZEMA BOGERT, b. Feb. 3, 1763.
2. HELENA RITZEMA BOGERT, b. July 19, 1764; d. Aug. 19, 1765.
3. RUDOLPHUS BOGERT, b. Feb. 16, 1766.
4. HELENA STRACHAN BOGERT, b. Feb. 7, 1768; d. June 28, 1799, at Beekman, N. Y.

6. ALIDA BOGERT, b. April 9, 1772.
7. CORNELIUS BOGERT, b. Aug. 4, 1774; d. Oct. 10, 1774.
8. CORNELIUS BOGERT, b. Aug 14, 1775.
9. MARGARETTA BOGERT, b. (at Hackensack, N. J.) May 26, 1777; baptized by Dominie Kuypers in old Dutch church there.
10. WILLEM BOGERT, b. (at Hackensack, N. J.) Sept. 7, 1779; baptized by Dominie Romeyn in Hackensack church.
11. NICHOLAS BOGERT, b. April 23, 1782, at Preakness, N. J.
12. JOHANNES BOGERT, b. Sept. 19, 1784, in New York; d. at Savannah, Ga. Buried there, and a marble monument placed over his grave.
13. JACOBUS BOGERT, b. Sept. 6, 1786.

NECROLOGY.—NICHOLAS BOGERT, senr., died at his residence, in Beekman, Dutchess Co., N. Y., Jan. 28, 1814.

Maria Quick, his first wife, died Oct. 1, 1761, aged 35 years, 6 months.

Alida Ritzema, his second wife, d. March 26, 1813, at Beekmantown, and was buried in Hopewell churchyard. Her husband buried in the same grave, and a marble monumental stone over it.

Boyd Family Records

by Shirley F. Kinney, Conributing Editor

The following family records were found in an envelope among the effects of Sarah Margaret Webb Kinney after her death in 1971. The envelope was inscribed to me, Shirley Kinney, her daughter-in-law. At the top of the first sheet was noted: "for Annie." Obviously, this Annie was the mother of Sarah Kinney. A note on the last sheet read: "Above was taken from the family Bible of Wm. B. Boyd, now the property of Mrs. K. B. Boyd, of Goldsboro, N. C." Katie Boylan Barren was the second wife of Wm. Birch Boyd, father of Annie Boyd.

Wm. Birch Boyd - b. Nov. 6, 1830, d. May 13, 1896.

Sarah Elizabeth Matthews, daughter of John D. & Jane Matthews - b. May 10, 1836, d. Feb. 14, 1880.

Annie Elizabeth Boyd - b. in Petersburg, Va., Nov. 16, 1861.

Wm. Churchill Gibson Boyd - b. Apr. 28, 1866, in Petersburg, Va.

Janita Winfield Boyd - b. Oct. 26, 1868, in New Bern (N.C.), d. Aug. 26, 1869. Remains taken to Petersburg at time of James' death and placed in Blanford Cemetery.

James Matthews Forbes Boyd - b. Nov. 10, 1870, in New Bern, N. C., d. July 7, 1871. Remains taken to Petersburg, buried in Blanford Cemetery.

John Boyd Webb, son of John W. & Annie Boyd Webb, - b. Apr. 29, 1886, in New Bern, d. Feb. 10, 1908, Athens, Ga. Boyd Family Records

by Shirley F. Kinney, Contributing Editor

. The following family records were found in an envelope among the effects of Sarah Margaret Webb Kinney after her death in 1974. The envelope was inscribed to me, Shirley Kinney, her daughter-in-law. At the top of the first sheet was noted: "For Annie." Obviously, this Annie was the mother of Sarah Kinney. A note on the last sheet read: "Above was taken from the family Bible of Wm. B. Boyd, now the property of Mrs. W. B. Boyd, of Goldsboro, N. C." Katie Boylan Barren was the second wife of Wm. Birch Boyd, father of Annie Boyd.

Wm. Birch Boyd - b. Nov. 6, 1830, d. Nov 11, 1898.

BOYD

My great-great-great grandparents, James Boyd and Nancy Wier Boyd, came from Ireland and settled in Laurens in the latter 1700's and had lots of descendants raised there. I am writing you a short synopsis of the history of this family, hoping you will pass it on to your readers, as some of them may be descendants.

James Boyd and wife Nancy Wier Boyd with their children and Thomas Wier (brother to Nancy Wier Boyd) and his family came from Co. Tyrone, Northern Ireland and landed at Charleston in the year 1795 on St. Patrick's Day morning.

They soon moved inland to Laurens and settled there and raised their families. James Boyd and wife Nancy had five children, three sons, Thomas, Samuel, William, and two daughters, Mary (Ann) and Margaret. Margaret, the youngest, was born aboard ship on the voyage to America.

According to a transcript of a letter written by James Wier, a cousin to the family, in the year 1878: Thomas Boyd, the eldest son, died around 1815 or 1816 leaving a widow and three children, all girls, and Samuel died unmarried. The eldest daughter, Mary Ann married a man of Laurens by the name of Thomas Norris and had 13 children when last heard from. The youngest daughter, Margaret, married a factor of that area (name unknown) and had several children.

My great-great-grandfather, William Boyd, the youngest son, was 10 years old when he came to Laurens. He grew up here and was a private in the War of 1812. He married a lady from Laurens by the name of Elizabeth Burton. They later moved to Hall County, Ga., where my great-grandfather, Samuel N. Boyd, was born in 1818. They had four children: James, Samuel, Wier and Rachel.

Samuel N. Boyd married Priscilla Woods in Forsythe County, Ga. and came to Missouri in 1844 where he became one of the first county judges of Wright County at Hartsville. He later settled in Ozark, Mo., Christian County, and became a county judge there.

Wier Boyd was Col. Wier Boyd of the 52nd Regiment Georgia Volunteers during the Civil War. He and his family are noted in the "History of Lumpkin County For The First Hundred Years" by Andrew W. Cain. He was later elected to the Georgia Senate twice from his district. He lived and raised a large family in Dahlonega, Ga.

On James and Rachel I have not found anything.

If there are any descendants of this family still living in Laurens I would be very pleased to hear from them. My address is listed below.

Boyds and Hulseys settled in Arkansas

By SYBIL McRay

A group of Hall Countians left the area for Arkansas sometime around 1832 or 1833 and settled near Carrollton. Included in the group were Boyds and Hulseys and most were kin through intermarriages.

Adler Husley left a will recorded in Hall County dated April 21, 1845. He names wife, Mary, believed to have been second or third wife, who is to receive a feather bed and twenty-five dollars. This could be the Adley Hulsey who was married to Mary Phillips in Hall County on January 24, 1839.

Mrs. McRay is a Hall County genealogist.

Adler Hulsey names in his will his sons: Armsted, Elijah, James J. Charles, and William Hulsey, and sons-in-law Bruise Boyd, Lex Boyd; grandchildren, children of young Adler probably deceased and wife Sarah: Mary, Elijah, William, Rolan, and Sarah; Thomas Bearden, a son-in-law; Lydia Holdings children, wife of John Holding, her being a granddaughter; and Mary Wiley's children, her being a granddaughter and wife of George Wiley.

Bruce Boyd, a son-in-law named in the will, was married in Hall County to Tempy Hulsey on January 10, 1820. Bruce ws born in North Carolina in 1792, and it not known when he moved to Georgia, but was in Hall County by 1820. Bruce Boyd's brother, Alexander, also married a daughter of Adler Husley and is the Lex Boyd named in the will as a son-in-law. The record of the marriage of Alexander Boyd and the daughter of Adler Husley has not been located.

Elijah Husley was a brother to the wives of both Bruce and Alexander Boyd and was married to Frances Boyd of Virginia.

Sybil McRay, Librarian at Chestatie Regional Library
127 N. [illegible]
Gainesville, GA [illegible]505

Bruce and Alexander Boyd and families along with Elijah Hulsey's family first settled at Crowley's Ridge near Helena, Arkansas, but about 1832 or 1833 they moved on and settled on Long Creek below Carrollton, Arkansas.

Bruce Boyd sold by deed 100 acres in Hall County, lot No. 157 in tenth district, which was recorded on September 29, 1831. The property was sold to Henry Emmerson. (Bk. "C" Deeds & Mortgages, Hall County, Ga.) Also, recorded in Hall County Deeds & Mortgages (Bk. "E") is an interesting transaction:

Arkansas, Carroll County. 19 February 1835. Adler Hulsey Senr. for sum of $100 sold to William Hulsey a tract of land in tenth district of Hall County being lot number 171 and part of lot number 170 on Chattahoochee River. Witnesses were Hiram Hulsey and Wiley Boyd. The sale was recorded May 14, 1839.

Thus it seems that Adler Husley moved to Arkansas to join his children and families and later returned to Hall County where he died and was buried. It is possible that his wife died in Arkansas and after returning to Hall County he was remarried.

The 1840 census of Carroll County, Arkansas enumerates Bruce Boyd, Wiley Boyd and his wife Cynthia, both born in Georgia, a Nancy Boyd with two young children, and John Boyd. It is not known as to the relationship of John, Bruce and Alexander Boyd. John was somewhat older than Bruce but lived near him.

John Boyd built a mill on Long Creek in Carroll County, Arkansas about 1836. In 1847, he received a Federal Patent to some land where the town of Alpena, Arkansas, now stand but later sold the land to Bruce Boyd's daughter and son-in-law, Bailey and Dulcenia Stone. Bruce Boyd obtained land before 1850 near old Carrollton, Arkansas, a town that was destroyed during the Civil War. The town was never rebuilt but the old cemetery is still in use today, according to Boyd descendants, but headstones for Alexander and Bruce Boyd have not been found; however, several members of the family are buried in the cemetery.

Boyds and Elijah Hulsey were among some of the first white settlers in north Arkansas and lived there before any roads were built. The Boyds and Sneeds helped build the Old Dubuque Road in the area and John Boyd is generally given the distinction of having been the first white man to drive a wagon through the area while the Indians inhabited it.

Bruce and Tempy Hulsey Boyd obtained land in Arkansas before 1850 and raised a family of at least four children. They were Dulcenis, Eugene D., John B., and Loduskey P. Tempy Boyd did not appear on the federal census after 1850 so it is assumed that she died between 1850 and 1860. Bruce Boyd remained in or near Carrollton and on November 6, 1876, at the age of 84, was married to Lydia Crews. Bruce had died by 1883.

Nothing more is known of Bruce and Tempy Boyd's children except Dulcenia. She was the only one of their children born in Hall County (before 1830) and moved to Arkansas with her parents when she was a few years old. She married Bailey Stone in Boone County, Arkansas, and had the following children: Tempa, Sarah, Minerva, Mary, Elizabeth, Pink, Olive, Susan, and Flint. The Bailey family lived in Arkansas where all their children were born and then moved to the Territory of New Mexico, Socorro County, by 1887, where they lived until their deaths.

DAHLONEGA SOLDIER AUGUSTUS BOYD TOLD OF WAR in letters to family and area friends

Confederate so

By DAVID RALSTON
Times Staff Writer

Hall County and most of Northeast Georgia escaped the destruction of battle during the War Between the States. Many soldiers from the area signed up to fight for the Confederacy and through their correspondence the folks on the homefront followed the human suffering of the war.

Five Confederate companies were organized in and around Hall County for the war effort. One of those who enlisted for service early was a Dahlonega youth, Augustus F. Boyd. Boyd wrote to his family and friends of the war and his life in the Southern Army.

Boyd's correspondence, now preserved in a collection by Mrs. J.D. Anthony of Murrayville, gives a first-person experience of the Civil War and one young Northeast Georgian's participation in it.

Boyd enlisted in the Army just before his 16th birthday in July of 1861. He was assigned to the Blue Ridge Rifles Corps of the Phillips Legion. He was sent first to Northwest Virginia. Later in the war he was assigned to the company of Northeast Georgians organized for the fight by his father, Weir Boyd, a Dahlonega lawyer.

One of Boyd's first letters was written to his sister, Fannie, on July 14, 1861, not long after he got to Camp McDonald, Georgia. He reported to her that all of the company was well except for "a few cases of diarier." He told her that his company was "expecting orders to March to Virginia in a short time. We have the Rifles, they air the Mississippi Rifels, they air good for a Yanke at six hundred yards. We hav plenty to eat, good tents and we drill four hours a day."

Fannie Boyd wrote her brother back one week later asking for news of the war. "We have not got much news from the seat of war about the last we heard is that the Confederates forces at Laurel Hill have been defeated but I do not believe the report is true for the news came from Cincinnati and you know those Lincoln editors were never known to tell the truth."

Fannie was an ardent supporter of the Southern cause. She wrote her that he thought he had got all his dead the night before. He also asked our colonel to come and see him when the war was over. It made me feel sorry for the poor fellows to see them lying there cold and dead in the mud and water. They fought bravely and charged up to our breast works three or four times so close that we could see the fire flash out of the muzzle of their guns. All night Monday the wail of the wounded and groans of the dying and continued raging of the storm all mingled together made such a roar and fuss that no one could sleep and it seemed that every man's attention was called to the horrors of the night. No one could tell or imagine the horror of war without he remains on the battlefield some stormy night when nature itself tells the tale of what so lately has happened on that field."

On May 12 Augustus Boyd wrote his father that his outfit was camped near the Big Black River below Vicksburg, Miss. There was not much news to report and he asked to "give all my love to the family, relatives and all enquiring friends. Write soon."

It was Boyd's last known letter. He was killed on May 16 in fighting at Baker's Creek. Federal soldiers buried him on the battlefield. The young north Georgian was 18 years old.

Weir Boyd

Weir Boyd was the father of Confederate Army Captain Augustus Boyd who told of the horrors of the Civil War in letters sent home to Dahlonega. Boyd was a leading citizen of Lumpkin County during the period, and his letters tell of a law practice that took him to Dawsonville and Ellijay. Weir Boyd left his law practice later in the war to organize a company of soldiers around the Northeast Georgia area. The Quillian and Rudolph families of Hall County are direct descendants of Boyd.

the Southern cause. She wrote her brother that "I think the government will need all the men it can get for the policy of the Abolishion government is to conquer the south not by the justness of the cause for I don't believe the father of abolishionment would call that a just cause not because his satanic majesty is too good to do such a thing, no, no, but because there is a just God who rules over the Universe who would stop the mouth of the devil if he were to utter words so destitute of the truth. The north means to crush us by superior numbers but they can't do it."

Augustus Boyd wrote his father in the fall when he had been sent to the Virginia mountains. He told of sickness in camp and a bit grimmer story than the early letters. "I have not written since I left Lynchburg. The reason why is that I have had no time for I have been marching ever since I left that place. I left Lynchburg some 14 days ago in company of those who left there sick. I am now enjoying good health. This is very cold country and mountains I have never seen the like before."

Confederate fortunes were turning even more when Augustus wrote Fannie in late November. "We have now stopped to take some rest after having been in a retreat for some two weeks. We were nearly broke down and we have stopped at last. I can't give you a history of our retreat from Cotton Hill or it would take a sheet of paper but I will tell you that we had a very bad time of it. We went through mud knee deep night and day. I am as well as common with the exception of the wen that is on my face. It pains me a great deal and gets larger every day. We have not yet got our winter clothing. It is time they were here. We need them very much for it is cold. The snow is on the ground now."

Boyd later wrote to his mother that "the wen that was on my face I had it split open there was a right smart of corruption in it. The Dr. said that is was a bad any by splitting it open it probably would get well but I fear it will rise again. The reason that it grew so was that I got it hurt by a log falling off a bench on me while sleeping in the camp."

Weir Boyd wrote to his son in February of 1862 of his plans to organize another company of soldiers in the area. "And I have concluded the best way to bring it to a close is to convince the Lincoln Government that we are all ready to fly to arms in defence of the country."

Boyd was stationed in Beaufort, S.C. for a time during the Winter of 1861-62. He wrote his sister on February 17, 1862: "We have been working very hard building breastworks for several days. I have not enjoyed a Sabbath Day's rest for two weeks. Sunday before last I worked on the battery; if it broke the Sabbath it was not my fault. We received bad news from Ft.

Dear Mr. Perry;

I was very pleased to hear from you and that you read my family breakdown in the Georgia Genealogical Mag.,I also agree with you that one never knows where the next bit of information is going to come from, in regards to research of ones family. I have also been researching my BOYD and Allied families for quite some time.

I have been looking back through a lot of my notes and papers for some hook up with the PERRY family, but have not come up with anything, except the BOYD & HULSEY connection, I noticed in your family lineup that one of them married a HULSEY back down the line somewhere, but this Boyd family connected to the Hulsey family, is a differant branch of the BOYD family than my BOYDS, although they were also from Hall Co. Ga., as were the HULSEYS, in other words this BOYD family was not related to COL. WIER BOYD, But of course they could have been related back in ancient Scotland, as the BOYDS descended from the ancient BOYD family of Scotland, the WIER family was also a very ancient family of Scotland who descended from the Danes.

My G. Grandfather SAMUEL BOYD was born in Hall Co. Ga. IN 1818 and his brother WIER BOYD was born there also, in 1820, their family moved to the lower end of Lumpkin Co. in about 1835, their grandparents, JAMES & NANCY BOYD also moved there about the same time, NANCY died there in 1843 age 100 and JAMES died there in 1845 age 105, their father, WILLIAM died there in 1855 age 70 and they are all three buried somewhere in Dawson Co. Ga. So as you have described your PERRY ancestors as having lived in that same area, it is possible they were very close friends and as COL. WIER BOYD was a very well known MAN of his day, it is possible they could have named a son after him, although this is strictly speculation.

I also checked out ELVIRA WHITTEN and CYNTHIA BRYANT but did not come up with anything, the reason for this was that WIER BOYD had 4 daughters and three sons and these women could have been granddaughters or g. granddaughters

I entend to keep checking on this and if I find anything I will let you Know.

Sincerely yours; Bill

Dear Mr. Boyd:

I noticed your inquiry while reading the GA. GEN. MAG. for Spring 1983, and realize this is rather far out, but one never knows where the next bit of family history will come forth.... I have been researching the Perry and allied families for several years.

Green Perry was an older brother of my grandfather Evan Perry. Green's son, Nathaniel Lewis Perry & wife Cynthia (Bryant) named a son Wier Boyd Perry b 16 Apr 1885 d 15 Nov 1967 m Sarah Irena Spence, and they had a Wier Boyd Perry, Jr. I also have a great deal of curiosity over names, especially of my ancestors since they were often named after relatives.

Do you know of a Perry connection? Could, you suppose, they have named their son after Col. Wier Boyd of the 52d Regmt. GA Vols.? The Perrys lived in Lumpkin, Gilmer, Dawson Cos., of GA. Nath'l Lewis Perry family removed to Pickens Co., GA. My grandfather left GA 1865 removed to Lawrence Co., MO along with his father-in-law, Nath'l H. Goss for whom Goss Cemetery in Phelps area named. Some of their descendants even live in Independence, MO.

Very truly yours,

Eugene R. Perry

I am like you I think Weir Boyd Perry was named after the Col. I guess you notice I am used to using the spelling of "Wier" instead of Weir - as "Wier" is the ancient Scottish spelling of the name and actually Col. Wier's grandmother Nancy "Wier" Boyd was spelled that way, but some of the Wier/Weir Family changed the spelling to Weir after they were in America for quite a while.

Thanks again for the material

Sincerely
Bill Boyd

My dear Father:

Yourletter to Bud, Mattie and myself has been recieved, Mattie was much pleased to get a letter from you. We are all well and getting along slowly we are going to school yet and I will go all the year, if you wish me to, but I dont have much to do when I go, only of weeks when we have to write compositions then I help some of my friends and the little girls write thier compositions, I write my own in a copy book which I will show you when you come home. Mattie is very smart at school but dreadfuly lazy at home, she can beat Bud reading and her class spelling is composed of about 15 little urchins all older than herself and she stands head of them nearly all the time.

Your fruit trees are doing very well, there was one storm here in which the hail was nearly large enough to knock it all off. I recieved a letter from aunt Emily yesterday, she had seen Mr. Hullsy, he had moved to your farm, he told her that your wheat was coming out, the hogs and mallards were doing very well and the cow has had no calf, our cow here does not give any milk so we have to do without this summer. Have knoway of hearing from Dawson, only when aunt E. writes. she did not say anything about your trees.

I recieved a letter from Uncle Marion last week, he is Chattanooga Assistant Quartermaster in Col. Skid Harris's Regt., was well pleased, thought he would like that better than the old 1st Ga. Mrs. Capt. Parker is distracted, I dont think it will do her much good if her husband does come home though it may.

This old town is very dull now, none but Charlie Besser and Dr. Stephanson and Mr. Wimpy to rejoice over our victories and blame our Generals when we happen to be defeated. We dont get our confederacies now, have you quit coming now ? what is Billy doing ? have you sold him ? or given him to Gus ?, I have recieved yours and Gus's letter of the 12th,--This will do you and him both, I have a great many leters to write to different parts of the confederacie. I would write him a long letter if I had time, I will say to him that Miss Mary still goes to school, she comes to see me a great deal.

You must write soon, the family all sends thier love to you and Gus.

Yours Affectionally
Fannie Boyd

P.S. Old MR.Williams came out here this evening to hear from you , he made me promise to send you and Gus his best wishes and love in every letter I write to you here after.

BOYD

From a newspaper of the time, issue of 11-10-1893

COL. WEIR BOYD dropped dead on Clarkesville street at about eleven o'clock on Wednesday, November 8, 1893. He, in company with his son, M.G. BOYD, was returning from an inspection trip to the Colonel's rich gold mine in the outskirts of town. When in front of the residence of E. E. Crisson (at present the home of John Dockery), Col. Boyd suddenly exclaimed that he was very sick; and as he spoke these words he fell to rise no more. Doctors Howard and Jones were quickly summoned to the spot but the spirit had already taken its flight.

Col. Boyd was born in Hall county, September 14, 1820. He came to Lumpkin county with his parents in 1835, while the gold fever was at its height and the red man still in our midst. He married to MISS SARAH J. SITTON, February 9, 1843. Upon being elected Clerk of the Superior Court in 1850 he moved to Dahlonega. Early in life he joined the Methodist church.

Col. Boyd was admitted to the bar in 1856 and was a prominent attorney of this section during the remainder of his life. He represented this county and district in both branches of the Georgia legislature.

At the outbreak of the 6ivil War Col. Boyd volunteered for the Confederate service and was unanimously chosen Colonel of the 52nd Georgia Regiment, which he faithfully served until an attack of typhoid fever compelled him to resign. After the war he was chosen a member of the Georgia Constitutional Convention which drafted the present state constitution in 1877.

Burial services were conducted by the Masons, the funeral sermon being preached at the Methodist church, Friday, November 10, by Rev. F. P. Spencer, the pastor.

BOYD

James Boyd & Nancy Wier Boyd came from Ireland & settled in Laurens (SC) in the latter 1700's; they with Thomas Wier (bro. to Nancy) and their families came from Co. Tyrone Northern Ireland and landed at Charleston in year 1795 on St. Patrick's Day morning.

They soon moved inland to Laurens and settled there and raised their families. James Boyd and wife Nancy had five children, three sons - Thomas, Samuel, William, and two daughters - Mary (Ann) and Margaret. Margaret, youngest, was born on ship enroute to America.

According to a transcript of a letter written by James Wier, a cousin, 1878: Thomas Boyd, the eldest son, died around 1815-16 leaving a widow and 3 children, all girls, and Samuel d. unmarried. The eldest daughter, Mary Ann, md. a man of Laurens named Thomas Norris and had 13 children. The youngest daughter, Margaret, md. a factor of that area, name unknown, and had several children.

William Boyd (G-G-GF of William R. Boyd of MO), the youngest son, was 10 when he came to Laurens. Private in War of 1812; md. a lady from Laurens named Elizabeth Burton; later moved to Hall County, Georgia, where Samuel N. Boyd was born in 1818 (G-GF of below Wm.) Four children: James, Samuel, Wier and Rachel.

Samuel N. Boyd md. Priscilla Woods in Forsythe Co., GA., and came to Missouri in 1844 where he became one of the first county judges of Wright Co. at Hartsville; later settled in Ozark, MO., Christian Co. and became a county judge there.

Wier Boyd was Col. Wier Boyd of the 52d Regiment, Georgia Volunteers during the Civil War. "History of Lumpkin County For the First Hundred Years" by Andrew W. Cain. Wier Boyd was later elected to the GA. Senate twice from his district. He lived and raised a large family in Dahlonega, GA.

Birth date for Elizabeth DILLER 2 May 1905 taken from Bible record of her father Francis DILLER.

Joseph M. DARR was third cousin once removed to his wife Fanny SEITZ.

Were there two David DARRs, one married to Mary DRAWBAUGH and one married to Sarah _____?, or was David married twice?

So many deaths in same year? Epidemics? Whole BRIM family wiped out?

If John DARR (1790-1832) had a son John H. (1813-1871) by a first wife, why did he name his 4th son by Eliz. DILLER John?

Why is John DARR listed under DARRON, and what does the (MILLER) after his name mean?

Supposedly Nancy "Annie" DARR did not marry. Who was Minnie CORNROY? Neither the given name "Minnie" nor the surname "CORNROY" shows up in any of my information regarding the grandchildren of Elizabeth DILLER DARR.

SAFETY PAPER

John, and George, to share, and share alike, except my three old slaves, viz.: Sam, Nick, and Poll; I give them their liberty and freedom from slavery, and allow them their beds and bedding, their clothes, and their household furniture.

"7. 'Lastly, I do nominate and constitute my sons Guilbert, John, and Henry Brinkerhoff, to be the executors of this my last will and testament, hereby revoking all other wills, legacies, and bequests by me heretofore made, and declare this, and no other, to be my last will and testament.

"'In witness whereunto I set my hand and seal this twenty-second day of June, 1807.

"GEORGE BRINKERHOFF.*

"'Witnesses present,
"'JOHN SCHRIVER,
"'DAVID HERMON.'"

* NOTE.—It will be noticed that in the later documents the name is written George instead of Joris, and the l is dropped, and the final f is doubled in the surname.

So with the sons: Jacobus is written James; Guilbert, Gilbert; Hendrick, Henry, etc. It was the transition period with all Dutch names.

In his will his son Henry is named as one of the executors, and also as one of the legatees, and yet the settlement papers seem to show that Henry, the eldest son of James, acted as executor, and the traditions of the family are that Henry, the son of Joris, died shortly after the close of the Revolutionary war.

THE NEW YORK COLONY.

TO many of the emigrants from New Jersey to Conewago the change evidently was not satisfactory, for, in a few years, one part of them removed to Kentucky (none of them Brinkerhoffs), and a few years later, in 1793, another part moved northward to Central New York, and the result was that the colony was so depleted that the Dutch families remaining were not sufficiently numerous to keep up their church organization.

Rev. George G. Brinkerhoff was the last pastor, and after his resignation, the few Dutch families still on the ground became affiliated with the Presbyterian Church at Hunterstown, which, in its faith and organization, was substantialy the same as that of the Dutch Reformed Church.

The circumstances under which the emigration to Central New York (Cayuga County) was made are worthy of notice.

The aborigines of the north, as is well known, possessed more vigor than those of the south. From 1775 to 1794 the most powerful confederacy of Indians in America was that of the Six Nations, who occupied what is now Ohio, together with large portions of Northern Pennsylvania and Western New York. The districts indicated continued inaccessible to white settlers even after Kentucky had become a State.

The massacre of Wyoming, of bitter memory, was by the Six Nations, at the instigation of the tories in 1778.

Successes against this confederacy were few and of small consequence until after the massacre just mentioned; but that awakened a widespread and fierce indignation, which could only be satisfied with such just retribution as was inflicted on the Indians by General Sullivan. He fought the bloody battle of the Chemung, about where the city of Elmira now stands, in 1779, and at the same time burned nearly fifty of their villages in the Genesee valley; but not until the famous crushing victory of "Mad Anthony Wayne," as the people called him, in 1794, was the red man's power, even so far east as the Susquehanna, finally and forever destroyed.

These two victories made the country about the lakes of New York safe, and hardly was the way to it open before some adventurous spirits of the Conewago colony hastened to make use of it. They were among the very first to seek homes in that direction, and the eventful century which has now almost intervened between us and them has justified their wisdom and foresight.

This pioneer colony consisted of ten families, and their journey "through the wilderness to the promised land" is graphically described in a recent letter from the venerable and honored John I. Brinkerhoff, the son of one of the leaders of this colony, and who still resides (1886) upon lands there located. He says: "Your grandfather, Roeliff Brinkerhoff, and my father, his brother, Jacob Brinkerhoff, left Gettysburg, Pa., April 30, 1793, with their families, in company with eight other families, for (as it was called) the Genesee, or lake country, in New York."

Among these eight families there was a Luke Brinkerhoff and his family. He was a cousin of Roeliff and Jacob, and came with them from Bergen County, N. J. His father was Jacob, a younger brother of Joris.

He settled in Wayne County, N. Y., and left a daughter, but no male descendants.

My father and mother had with them seven children, and my uncle Roeliff and my aunt Isabel (his wife) had eight children. Altogether there must have been a pretty large company. They came in tented wagons, and brought with them as much as they could of provisions and household stuff, such as they would need by the way and on their arrival here.

They got to this county (Cayuga) the fourth of July, having been two months and four days on the way. I will give a short narrative of their long journey, as I have often heard it related by my parents and others.

The State of Pennsylvania had been for some time engaged in opening a road through the wilderness to the Genesee or lake country. Gangs of men were employed on different sections, and this was their road to travel. Of course it was a rough road, the trees cut down, and logs got out of the way, with corduroy bridges over swampy places, so that wagons could pass. Sometimes they would come to the end of the road, that is, they would come up to a company of men who had not finished their section, and they would send a few men with axes and help them through to the next open section. There were no commodious hotels on this highway, but every settler who had got up a log house would take in all his little house would hold, so, when near night, if they came to one of these houses they would carry in bedding enough out of the wagons to cover the floor, and the women and children would sleep in the house, and the men in the wagons. If, when night overtook them, which often happened, and there was no house in sight, the women and children would sleep in the wagons, and the men on the ground under the wagons.

So they came on until they reached the Susquehanna river, near its junction with the Chemung river. Here they were held about two weeks, on account of high water, until the water was low enough to ford the river. From there they came to the head of Cayuga lake, where the village of Ithaca now stands, and so down the east side of the Cayuga lake to the south end of the county of Cayuga (in the town of Genoa, I think), and here they found some cleared land (or Indian fields, as they were called), and here they concluded to stop and take time to look around and decide where to make a permanent settlement. They put up some cabins for shelter, and although it was late, they put in some seed to raise some grain for the next year.

They remained here nearly two years, and in that time they explored the country, and finally purchased lands, and made their settlement near the foot of the Owasco lake, and most of them on the east side.

My father and uncle Roeliff purchased and settled on what has ever since been called Brinkerhoff's Point, on the east side of the lake, and about two and a half miles from the foot. They took possession in the spring of 1795.

As soon as they were fairly located they organized a religious society in connection with the Dutch Reformed Church, with my father and uncle two of its officers. The society took its corporate form and title at a meeting held in the house of Col. John L. Hardenbergh, at Hardenbergh's Corners (now the city of Auburn).

I think there were four settlers within the limits of the present town of Owasco when our people came here.

When the Gettysburg colony came here in 1793 there was but one house (that of Col. John L. Hardenbergh) where the city of Auburn now stands.

From 1795 and onwards emigrants came in rapidly, and in 1797 they erected a log meeting house, the first church edifice in Cayuga county. It stood about fifteen rods south of the bridge on our farm, on the east side of the road, and was in use until 1815, when the new church, erected in Owasco village, was occupied.

Provisions were somewhat scarce the first two or three years, especially grain, as hardly enough was raised to supply the incoming emigrants, so they had to economize pretty close.

They did not suffer for want of meat, as the game in the woods, and fish in the lake and creeks, supplied that. So they were never in a starving condition.

Two years after their settlement on the Owasco (1796), they were joined by James Brinkerhoff, and still later (1808) by the Rev. George G. Brinkerhoff and his family.

The three pioneer Brinkerhoffs, James, Roeliff, and Jacob, were all their lives among the leading men of the county, in the church, and in business, and none were more respected or worthy.

The Brinkerhoff lands extended perhaps half a mile north and south of Brinkerhoff point on the lake, and is one of the most beautiful, as well as one of the most fertile locations in Central New York, and the farms carved out of these lands are still among the most valuable in that region. The Hon. John I. Brinkerhoff (son of Jacob), and David Brinkerhoff (grandson of Roelef), still reside here with several of their children. Brinkerhoff Point is about five miles south of the city of Auburn.

The Owasco Lake, which is about twelve miles long, with an average width of one mile, is one of the most beautiful sheets of water in America, and its shores are now largely occupied by summer villas of wealthy city owners.

Here, along the eastern shore of the Owasco, the Brinkerhoff's took root, and here many of their descendants still remain, good men and women, and worthy citizens of the State.

GENEALOGICAL RECORD.

FIRST, SECOND, THIRD AND FOURTH GENERATIONS.

At the death of Joris Brinkerhoff, in 1810, there were living of his descendants six sons and forty-nine grandchildren. Of these grandchildren twenty-seven were males and twenty-two females. Only two of them are now living: John I. Brinkerhoff of Owasco, N. Y.,* and Lucretia, widow of David Schreiver, of Hunterstown, Pa.

The following genealogical record will show their distribution, and their line of descent from Joris Dircksen, the founder of the family in America. It will also give an outline of subsequent additions to these families, as an aid to those of the present generation in preserving and furnishing the necessary family records for the compilation of the larger history of the family to be published hereafter.

Brief biographical sketches of a few heads of families are also given, and it is hoped that every family which has been omitted will at once make up a complete record on the plan we have adopted, in a direct line from Joris Brinkerhoff, who settled in Pennsylvania in 1770, together with biographical sketches, and forward to address of General R. Brinkerhoff, Mansfield, Ohio, and preserve a copy for themselves.

As soon as all the descendants are thus presented, a complete history can be published. Errors in the present publication (and doubtless there are some) should also be noted for correction.

I-I.—Joris Dircksen Brinkerhoff, the founder of the American branch of the Brinkerhoff family, came from the Province of Drenthe, in the Netherlands, and having lived for some time at Flushing, in the Province of Zealand, emigrated to the New Netherlands (now New York) in 1638, and settled upon a farm within the present limits of the city of Brooklyn, where he resided until his death, January 16, 1661. ticulars of his career in the New World see ante, pages 13 to 16.

He married Susannah Dubbels, and all his children were born in Holland.

In a book entitled "The Early Settlers of Kings County" it is stated that "Joris Dircksen Brinckerhoef arrived in 1638. He settled on Staten Island, and entered into a contract with Cornelius Melyn, the owner of the island, to reside there; but owing to the murder of some of the neighboring planters by the Indians, in 1641, he obtained a release from the contract August 15, 1641. He went to Long Island, and settled in Brooklyn. He died January 16, 1661."

From other sources it would seem that the Cornelius Melyn mentioned above was the son-in-law of Joris, and the first husband of Altie. After his death she married William Covenhoven.

CHILDREN.

2-2.—Dirck: killed by Indians on Staten Island.
2-3.—Hendrick: born about 1630; died about 1710.
2-4.—Abraham: born 1632; died about 1714.
2-5.—Altie: married William Covenhoven.

II-III.—Hendrick Joerisen Brinkerhoff married Claasie, daughter of Cornelius Boomgaert, and settled in Hempstead, Long Island, where he remained until his removal to New Jersey during the Revolutionary War.

In 1677 he purchased a tract of land in Bergen, now a part of Jersey City, which, after his death, became the residence of his widow and his son Cornelius, and on this tract some of his descendants still reside.

In 1679 he joined with a few other Dutchmen from Bergen and purchased the Indian title to the site of what is now Passaic City, but soon afterwards disposed of his interest there, and subsequently purchased of Hendrick Epske Banta, by deed bearing date June 17, 1685, the farm upon the Hackensack, just below the present Ridgefield Park Station, on the West Shore Railroad, and formerly known as old Hackensack, upon which he resided until his death, and which remained in the family until 1878.

In "The Early Settlers of Kings County," page 49, it is stated as follows: "Hendrick Jorise married Claasie Cornelise Boomgaert or Bougoert, of Middlewout (Flushing). Name on Indian deed of Flushing of 1670, and on Assembly roll of 1675. Member of the Hempstead Assembly of 1665, from Flushing, and a magistrate of said town in 1662–'63 and '73. Removed from Flushing to the eastern branch of the Hackensack River, N. J., where he bought land June 17, 1685. His descendants in New Jersey sometimes write their names Blinckerhoff. Issue: Susanna; baptized January, 1661; married Roelof Von Der Linde, of Hackensack. Cornelius married Algie Vreeland, and resided at Hackensack. Dirck, of Hackensack, married Margaret Siba Banta; and Jacobus, of Hackensack, baptized March 29, 1685, married Angenietye Banta."

In a book entitled "Hudson County (N. J.) Land Titles," page 136, it is stated "The Dutch West India Company deeded (Lot No. 13 on map) to Jan Evertse Bout, and he to Michael Jansen. Jansen's widow, Fitjie Hartmans, sold to Claes Jansen De Bocker, December 20, 1667. De Bocker conveyed the same, May 30, 1667, to Hendrick Jorise Van Blinkerhoef; he conveyed it to his son Cornelius, February 24, 1708."

This seems to have been his first purchase in New Jersey, and to this property his widow and his son Cornelius removed after his death. He had five children, of whom we have historic record, but some accounts name a sixth child, a daughter named Gertie, born February 20, 1670, which is probably correct, and that the child died in infancy.

CHILDREN.

3-6.—Margrietje: born June 13, 1671.
3-7.—Cornelius: born 1673; died September 1, 1770.
3-8.—Joris: born 1673; died February 5, 1692.
3-9.—Dirck.
3-10.—Jacobus: baptized March 29, 1685; died 1770.

III-VI.—Margrietje Brinkerhoff married Mattys De Mott, of Kingston, May 6, 1705; united with the Hackensack Church October 5, 1701.

III.-VII.—Cornelius Brinkerhoff: born in Middlewout, L. I.; married Aegie Vreeland May 24, 1708: died September 1, 1770, aged 97 years. He was sometimes called Cornelius Hendricksen Van Blinkerhoff. He united with the Hackensack Church April 8, 1699.

III-IX.—Dirck Brinkerhoff united with the Hackensack Church April 8, 1699; married, first, Margrietje Sibese Banta, October 31, 1702; second, Abigal Ackerman, October, 1733.

III-X.—Jacobus Brinkerhoff, like his father, Hendrick, and his grandfather, Joris, was a man of high character and standing in the community in which he lived. At the death of his father he and his brother Dirck took the paternal homestead upon the Hackensack, where he resided until his death. He was a county magistrate, an elder of the church (of which all his family were members), and a man of mark in all the relations of life. In a stone, in the corner of the church at Hackensack, his name is cut in bold letters as one of its early founders.

He married Agnitie Banta, daughter of Hendrick Banta, April 17, 1708, by whom he had five

CHILDREN.

4-11.—Hartman: born May 1, 1709.
4-12.—Hendrick: born November 1, 1710; died 1760.
4-13.—Joris: born October 9, 1719; died January 3, 1810.
4-14.—Jacob: born November 19, 1721.
4-15.—Martje (Maria): born October 22, 1724.

IV-XII.—Hendrick Brinkerhoff had five children, viz.: (1) Cobus, who had two sons and a daughter (Hendrick and Garret), and a son of one of them (Garret) was the Rev. James G. Brinkerhoff; (2) Nicoussie, who had one son, who died a youth, and three daughters; (3) George, who had four sons (Hendrick, Jacob, Cobus, and Cornelius), and a son of one of them (Hendrick) was sheriff; George Brinkerhoff; (4) Hendrick; (5) Ann.

IV-XIII.—Joris Brinkerhoff, the common ancestor of the Pennsylvania, Central New York, and Western Brinkerhoff's, married Baeltie Demarest, daughter of David Demarest, in November, 1745, and settled upon a farm about a mile south of the present railroad station at Demarest. Here he resided until his removal to Pennsylvania in 1770, and here all his children were born.

In 1770 he emigrated to York County (now Adams), Pa., and settled upon a farm of five hundred and twenty acres, about four miles northeast of the present city of Gettysburg, and between what are now known as the Harrisburg State Road and the York Pike.

The house he built and lived in all his life remained until a few years ago, when it was taken down to give place for a modern structure. It was built of concrete, and the walls were two feet thick. The work was done by his slaves, and two or three summers were taken for its completion.

CHILDREN.

5-16.—James: born November 23, 1746; died May, 1813.
5-17.—Roelef; born November 10, 1748; died February 28, 1830.
5-18.—Henry; born July 4, 1751; died unmarried.
5-19.—Gilbert; born February 22, 1753.
5-20—Jacob; born February 22, 1756; died November 13, 1829.
5-21.—John; born April 6, 1759; died May 13, 1838.
5-22.—George; born February 28, 1761; died May 29, 1813.

IV-XIV.—Jacob Brinkerhoff, son of Jacobus, had six children, viz.: (1) Agnitie, married to David Haring; (2) Lucas, who emigrated with his uncle Joris to Pennsylvania, and thence to Cayuga County, N. Y.; (3) Nautie (Hannah), who married John Christie; (4) Cobus; (5) Hendrick, who died unmarried; (6) Albert, who left two sons (Jacob and Albert) and a daughter (Ann), who married David Christie.

V-XVI.—James (Cobus, or Jacobus in Dutch) Brinkerhoff was born in Bergen County, New Jersey, November 23, 1746. He married Catrintie (Catharine) Voorhees, and remained in Bergen County until his removal to Pennsylvania.

When his father (Joris) removed to Pennsylvania in 1770, he purchased farms for all his married sons. The land assigned to James consisted of two hundred and thirty-six acres, near his father's (now owned by David Sunrigner), and here he settled, and remained until his removal to New York.

In 1796 he followed his brothers to New York with all his family, except his eldest son, Henry.

He settled upon a farm about two miles south of Brinkerhoff's Point, in the town of Niles, near the Owasco Lake, where he remained until his death, in 1813, and where his grandson James still resides.

Like his brothers, he was a man of sterling integrity, an active member of the Dutch Church, and a worthy citizen in all the relations of life.

He had six

6-24.—Luke.
6-25.—Jacob V.
6-26.—George.
6-27.—Albert.
6-28.—James.

V-XVII.—Roelif (Ralph in English), the second son of Joris, was born in Bergen County, N. J., November 10, 1748, and remained with his father until the family emigrated to Pennsylvania in 1770.

In the autumn of that year he returned to New Jersey, and married Baeltie (Isabella) Demarest, a daughter of David Demarest, of Bergen County.

The Demarest family was of Huguenot extraction, and dates back to David Demarest, who landed in New York April 16, 1663, in company with the other French refugees who came over from Amsterdam in the ship "Brindled Cow," fleeing from religious persecution in their native land.

It would seem that Roelif and his wife remained in Bergen County for a year or two, for their first child, Martyntie (Martina), is recorded in the records of the Schraalenburg church as baptized September 13, 1772.

However, in 1773 we find him upon a farm of two hundred and forty-four acres in his father's neighborhood in Adams County, Pa., which is now owned by Rufus A. Eichelberger.

Here he resided until his removal to New York in 1793, when he located upon a farm on the north side of Brinkerhoff's Point, on the Owasco Lake, on what is known as Lot 84, and where he remained until his death, February 28, 1830. His wife survived him several years.

Roelif Brinkerhoff was the master spirit of the colony from Conewago, and was a man every way entitled to leadership; and his wife was in every respect a helpmeet for him.

The following description of this worthy couple, by his oldest grandson now living, Peter S. Brinkerhoff (a worthy representative of his grandfather, and of the same commanding height), who resides at Compton, California, presents a graphic picture, which is fully confirmed by all other accounts we have of him. He says:

"When grandfather died, at the age of eighty two years one month and eighteen days, I was but a mere boy, yet I remember him very well. In appearance he was of commanding figure, tall, about six feet four inches, straight, of compact form, possessing much physical strength and much endurance, though in later years age and much physical labor inclined his form somewhat forward.

"In character he was a positive man. For many continuous years he was an elder, or deacon, in the Dutch Reformed Church in Owasco, a prominent man in all church and religious movements, and, what is of more importance, an honest Christian at home. His daily life was permeated with the principles of his religion, and he practised at home what he professed abroad. In manner he was a plain, blunt man, but very affable, pleasant, agreeable and generous.

"As to his habits, in an eminent degree he was temperate, industrious, and economical, and possessing much energy of character.

"An anecdote, one of many I could relate, will illustrate his character for decision and promptness, from which people had learned that what he said he meant to perform.

"On account of the doctrines preached by Domine Ten Eyck, minister in the old Dutch Reformed Church at Owasco, a very respectable part of the membership withdrew, because, as they claimed, Ten Eyck did not preach in their purity the doctrines of the church. Thereupon, Ten Eyck was called to an account by the Church Consistory, and promised to preach no more Hopkinsian tenets, but in a short time he preached again the same offensive doctrines. After considerable remonstrance he persisted in his course. Finding they were not accomplishing anything, grandfather exclaimed: "To your tents, O Israel!" and left. The seceders went and held their services in the schoolhouse near the old church building.

"The seceders, having contributed largely to the erection of the old church edifice, claimed the right to occupy it a part of the time. The other party claimed the right of occupying it all the time, and, having the key in their possession, kept the doors of the church locked, so that the seceders could not gain entrance. Grandfather thought this state of things unendurable, that his rights—in common with the rights of other seceders—were trampled upon. So, accordingly, he gave the opposing party to understand that if the church doors were locked on the next Sabbath morning he would open them. Accordingly, on the next Saturday evening he went to the saw-mill and got the heavy iron bar with which logs were moved, brought it up to the house, put it in the wagon, and on Sunday morning went to church, and, whilst my father was tying the horses, grandfather shouldered the iron bar, and went direct to the church doors, but found them unlocked, and he passed in.

"If the doors had been locked he would have battered them down instantly. The opposing party, knowing him to be equal to the emergency, and that he was always as good as his word, unlocked the doors.

"Our grandmother was also of marked decision and energy of character. It required much mental heroism to leave the refined society of friends and home to meet the vicissitudes, trials and privations incident to early pioneer life in the then unbroken wilderness.

"Grandmother was a woman of strong convictions and of decidedly religious characteristics, rearing her children to the practice of integrity, virtue, and the nobler qualities of the human soul, and she met all the trials of the wilderness with cheerfulness, contentment and courage.

"Such was the early life of our pioneer sires, all honor to their names."

Another account of Roelif describes him as "a man over six feet tall, of strong, muscular form, light complexion, light hair, nose large and inclined to Roman, not much of a talker, grave and sedate. He was a very pious man, and his conversation was largely confined to religious subjects; was an officer in the Dutch Church, and a leading man in all local affairs."

The religious temper of his mind is fully indicated by the following letter to his brother, written in Dutch, with faultless chirography.

OWASCO, June 17.

VERY DEAR BROTHER:

I let you know on this occasion that we are still enjoying good health. So I wish you the same. I was glad to hear from you that you were again restored, in part, through the goodness of the Lord.

I would desire very much to see you once. I have desired to see you now more for a time than ever before. I thought if the Lord will, and we live, we may possibly come next fall, but it is but a perhaps.

We have had a letter from Conewago recently, that they were still well. Further, I let you know with gladness with regard to the state of the church. It looks still, thus far, very well. The new converts are yet very zealous. Oh, what are we, or what is our Father's house, that the Lord has thought of us. I wish not to glory but in the Lord. We had celebration of the Lord's Supper of late, and there were ninety persons who participated. Oh, that the Lord might grant us to continue unto the end, to make us walk in the fear of God, and also I wish myself for you the blessing of the Lord.

The greeting to you all of

ROELIF BRINKERHOFF;

Thus he lived and thus he died, an earnest Christian, a kind husband and father, a good citizen, and a true man in all the relations of life.

6-33.—Joris R.: born February 19, 1785; died November 7, 1849.

6-34.—Hendrick R.: born September 23, 1787; died April 30, 1844.

6-35.—Maria: baptized June, 1770; died unmarried.

V-XVIII.—Hendrick Brinkerhoff, third son of Joris, was born in Bergen County, New Jersey, July 4, 1751. He went with his father to Adams County, Pennsylvania, and lived there until his death. He was a soldier in the Revolution during the entire war, and died soon after its close from diseases contracted in the army. He was named in his father's will as

County, Pa., and thence in 1793 to Cayuga County, N. Y. At that time the lands now constituting the site of the City of Auburn was owned by Col. John S. Hardenbergh, who had been a government surveyor, and from his knowledge of the country had selected these lands on the water power upon the stream running through them, and which is now used so largely for manufacturing purposes. His house was the only one in that region when the Conewago Colony arrived, and there the first church was organized. Colonel Hardenbergh very soon became acquainted with the families of the colony, and, on the nineteenth of January, 1796, married Martina Brinkerhoff.

They resided all their lives in Auburn, and as the hamlet grew into a city, Colonel Hardenbergh's lands became very valuable, and his family became wealthy.

Martina survived her husband many years, and died May, 1843.

Their son, John H. Hardenbergh, with his mother, inherited the property, and resided at Auburn until his death, June 11, 1862. He left daughters only, one of whom (Maria) married Rev. Milton Waldo, and resides at Amherst, Mass. Another (Catharine) married Rev. Herrick Johnson, and resides at Chicago, Ill.

VI–XXIX.—David Brinkerhoff, eldest son of Roelif, married and settled upon a farm upon the Owasco Lake, but upon the death of his brother-in-law, Col. Hardenbergh, he became his executor, and removed to Auburn, where he resided until his death.

He was one of the leading men in Auburn, and held many responsible positions in church and state. He was a paymaster in the army during the war of 1812, and a member of the constitutional convention of the State of New York.

He married Catharine Van Middlesworth December 12, 1804. They had three children, Sarah B., Roeliff, and Isabel. Roeliff died in infancy. Isabel died unmarried. Sarah B. married Henry Ivison, who for many years was the head of the great publishing house of Ivison, Phinney & Co., now Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co., of which his son David is the head.

✓ VI–XXXI.—Margareta Brinkerhoff married Richard Parsell, of Owasco, and resided all her life upon a farm about a mile southeast of the old homestead of her father, and died at the advanced age of eighty-seven years. She was a most excellent Christian woman, and was beloved by all who knew her. She left several children, and many grandchildren. One of her daughters married Rev. E. Hammond, who resides with her family at Closter, Bergen Co., N. J.

VI–XXXII.—Annatie (Hannah) Brinkerhoff married Dr. Josiah Bevier, who was one of the most eminent physicians of his day. She left three sons, one of whom, Dr. Roelif Bevier, died recently at Plymouth, Ohio, and was the leading physician there.

VI–XXXIII.—George R. Brinkerhoff, youngest son of Roeliff, was born in Adams County, Pa., February 19, 1785, and came to Owasco, N. Y. with his parents. He received a good academic education. He learned surveying and practiced it largely. In the war of 1812 he was a quartermaster in the army, and for a time was stationed at Fort George.

In 1814, at the close of the war, he married Jacomyntie Bevier, who was born in Ulster Co., N. Y., in 1794, and commenced farming on lot eleven in the town of Sempronius, now Niles. He removed thence, after about seven years, to the town of Owasco, to the farm now owned by his son David, situated on lot eighty-four, on the lake road, where he continued to reside till his death, which occurred on the street in the city of Auburn, from heart disease, November 7, 1849. His wife died July 4, 1830.

George R. Brinkerhoff was a prominent man in his town. He was a Democrat in politics, and was honored by his party with many offices of trust and responsibility, among them that of Supervisor several terms, Justice of the Peace a long time, and Assessor. He was a member of the Dutch Reformed Church of Owasco, in which, for a long time, he held the office of elder.

His nephew, the Hon. John I. Brinkerhoff, who knew him all his active life, says of him: "George R. Brinkerhoff I always regarded as one of our best men, a kind and obliging neighbor, and faithful friend. He was unassuming in his habits, a leading member and elder of his church, and always consulted in matters pertaining to it; and his counsel and advice was often sought upon other matters by his neighbors."

Family history is bound for posterity

By
Slater

An exploration into a family history is like the comic character Cathy leaving two memos on her desk when she leaves for the weekend — it grows and grows and grows.

Don and Marge Brinkerhoff of Kokomo found this out when they took on the incompleted project of publishing a history of Don's family begun by another relative.

Ruth and Theodore Brinkerhoff, in frame, started project

Don became marginally interested in his family's history when his brother was given a book about the Brinkerhoffs in 1972.

The book was called "The Family of Joris Dirksen Brinkerhoff," and was published in 1887 as a souvenir of a family reunion.

"I found another copy of the book in Boston," he said. "Then I got interested in tying us into this," he indicated the book. The cover was loose on the old book and although he handled it carefully, he was quick to point out that it contains a few mistakes.

As he was trying to locate distant members of his family, Don ran across the name of Theodore Brinkerhoff in Beacon, N.Y., and contacted him. The can of worms was opened.

Beginnings

Theodore had been working for quite some time on a Brinkerhoff family history, Don said, and was planning to publish. They corresponded.

Then, Theodore died and his widow, Ruth, didn't know how to continue with the project of publishing the history, Don said.

"I told her, 'Bring it to Kokomo,'" Don said. And Ruth did. The volumes and volumes of Theodore's material filled up her car until there barely was room enough left for her in it, he added.

"Theodore did much of the work," Don went on. "I'd seen his whole file cabinet full of notebooks before; there were 38 of them."

Within these 38 notebooks was an address list of about 700 Brinkerhoff descendants. However, some of the addresses were about 10 years old, so Don said he knew he had to work fast at getting the book published before more of his family moved.

"We had to get the book out before the addresses got even older," he said. "We typed for three weeks." Marge, Ruth and he had card tables set up and papers spread everywhere as they worked on the immense project.

Checking names

When the book was finished, his job was to find out how many published copies he should order. To do this, he sent a letter to the Brinkerhoffs on the address lists he had, comparing Theodore's list with a more recent one listing all the Brinkerhoff names and addresses found in telephone books in the United States.

"We thought, that way, if we sold 200 books, we'll be in the clear," Don said. "And, surprisingly enough, the letters started coming back." He tells how one woman he had never met before, a trusting soul, sent him a blank check and asked him to fill in the amount for a book and postage.

By June 30, the deadline for requesting a specific number of books from the publisher, Don, who retired from Delco Electronics in May, had 170 ordered from relatives.

"My son said, 'Go for it,' so we ordered 500," he said. Currently, more than 260 books have been sold at $33 each plus postage.

The Brinkerhoff volumes have been sent to 33 states, Don said, as well as to the following organizations: Adams County (Pa.) Historical Society, Wood Ridge Memorial Library in Ridgefield Park, N.J.; the Allen County (Ind.) Public Library, the library of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in Salt Lake City; the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society; and Rutgers University. He is planning to send one to the Royal Library in The Hague, Netherlands.

According to Don, the Wood Ridge Memorial Library called the Brinkerhoff book "one of the most complete genealogies of a founding family of Amsterdam" it had seen.

Despite all their work in the area of family history, Marge explained that they do not belong to Kokomo's Family History Society any longer because Don teaches a class at IU-K in electronics at the same time the group meets.

Anecdotes

Besides the names of living Brinkerhoffs all over the United States, the family book includes stories — some long, some short — of Brinkerhoffs of the past.

One interesting ancestor practiced the Mormon religion, Don said, and had three wives and many children.

"The book is about a quarter of an inch thicker because of him," he said. "He was the most prolific."

Now that the volumes have been ordered, received and sent, does the story end? Once you've started ...

"These people correspond with me now," Don said. "They write and say, 'I have a new grandson,' and suggest we do a supplement."

"Marge says, 'Over my dead body,'" he added. "I'm ready to move on to something else; we've completed the job we started to do ...

" ... Of course, if Theodore was around, he'd jump right into it."

County, Pa., and thence in 1793 to Cayuga County, N. Y. At that time the lands now constituting the site of the City of Auburn was owned by Col. John S. Hardenbergh, who had been a government surveyor, and from his knowledge of the country had selected these lands on the water power upon the stream running through them, and which is now used so largely for manufacturing purposes. His house was the only one in that region when the Conewago Colony arrived, and there the first church was organized. Colonel Hardenbergh very soon became acquainted with the families of the colony, and, on the nineteenth of January, 1796, married Martina Brinkerhoff.

They resided all their lives in Auburn, and as the hamlet grew into a city, Colonel Hardenbergh's lands became very valuable, and his family became wealthy.

Martina survived her husband many years, and died May, 1843.

Their son, John H. Hardenbergh, with his mother, inherited the property, and resided at Auburn until his death, June 11, 1862. He left daughters only, one of whom (Maria) married Rev. Milton Waldo, and resides at Amherst, Mass. Another (Catharine) married Rev. Herrick Johnson, and resides at Chicago, Ill.

VI-XXIX.—David Brinkerhoff, eldest son of Roelif, married and settled upon a farm upon the Owasco Lake, but upon the death of his brother-in-law, Col. Hardenbergh, he became his executor, and removed to Auburn, where he resided until his death.

He was one of the leading men in Auburn, and held many responsible positions in church and state. He was a paymaster in the army during the war of 1812, and a member of the constitutional convention of the State of New York.

He married Catharine Van Middlesworth December 12, 1804. They had three children, Sarah B., Roeliff, and Isabel. Roeliff died in infancy. Isabel died unmarried. Sarah B. married Henry Ivison, who for many years was the head of the great publishing house of Ivison, Phinney & Co., now Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co., of which his son David is the head.

VI-XXXI.—Margareta Brinkerhoff married Richard Parsell, of Owasco, and resided all her life upon a farm about a mile southeast of the old homestead of her father, and died at the advanced age of eighty-seven years. She was a most excellent Christian woman, and was beloved by all who knew her. She left several children, and many grandchildren. One of her daughters married Rev. E. Hammond, who resides with her family at Closter, Bergen Co., N. J.

VI-XXXII.—Annatie (Hannah) Brinkerhoff married Dr. Josiah Bevier, who was one of the most eminent physicians of his day. She left three sons, one of whom, Dr. Roelif Bevier, died recently at Plymouth, Ohio, and was the leading physician there.

VI-XXXIII.—George R. Brinkerhoff, youngest son of Roeliff, was born in Adams County, Pa., February 19, 1785, and came to Owasco, N. Y. with his parents. He received a good academic education. He learned surveying and practiced it largely. In the war of 1812 he was a quartermaster in the army, and for a time was stationed at Fort George.

In 1814, at the close of the war, he married Jacomyntie Bevier, who was born in Ulster Co., N. Y., in 1794, and commenced farming on lot eleven in the town of Sempronius, now Niles. He removed thence, after about seven years, to the town of Owasco, to the farm now owned by his son David, situated on lot eighty-four, on the lake road, where he continued to reside till his death, which occurred on the street in the city of Auburn, from heart disease, November 7, 1849. His wife died July 4, 1830.

George R. Brinkerhoff was a prominent man in his town. He was a Democrat in politics, and was honored by his party with many offices of trust and responsibility, among them that of Supervisor several terms, Justice of the Peace a long time, and Assessor. He was a member of the Dutch Reformed Church of Owasco, in which, for a long time, he held the office of elder.

His nephew, the Hon. John I. Brinkerhoff, who knew him all his active life, says of him: "George R. Brinkerhoff I always regarded as one of our best men, a kind and obliging neighbor, and faithful friend. He was unassuming in his habits, a leading member and elder of his church, and always consulted in matters pertaining to it; and his counsel and advice was often sought upon other matters by his neighbors."

resentative of his grandfather, and of the same commanding height), who resides at Compton, California, presents a graphic picture, which is fully confirmed by all other accounts we have of him. He says:

"When grandfather died, at the age of eighty two years one month and eighteen days, I was but a mere boy, yet I remember him very well. In appearance he was of commanding figure, tall, about six feet four inches, straight, of compact form, possessing much physical strength and much endurance, though in later years age and much physical labor inclined his form somewhat forward.

"In character he was a positive man. For many continuous years he was an elder, or deacon, in the Dutch Reformed Church in Owasco, a prominent man in all church and religious movements, and, what is of more importance, an honest Christian at home. His daily life was permeated with the principles of his religion, and he practised at home what he professed abroad. In manner he was a plain, blunt man, but very affable, pleasant, agreeable and generous.

"As to his habits, in an eminent degree he was temperate, industrious, and economical, and possessing much energy of character.

"An anecdote, one of many I could relate, will illustrate his character for decision and promptness, from which people had learned that what he said he meant to perform.

"On account of the doctrines preached by Domine Ten Eyck, minister in the old Dutch Reformed Church at Owasco, a very respectable part of the membership withdrew, because, as they claimed, Ten Eyck did not preach in their purity the doctrines of the church. Thereupon, Ten Eyck was called to an account by the Church Consistory, and promised to preach no more Hopkinsian tenets, but in a short time he preached again the same offensive doctrines. After considerable remonstrance he persisted in his course. Finding they were not accomplishing anything, grandfather exclaimed: "To your tents, O Israel!" and left. The seceders went and held their services in the schoolhouse near the old church building.

"The seceders, having contributed largely to the erection of the old church edifice, claimed the right to occupy it a part of the time. The other party claimed the right of occupying it all the time, and, having the key in their possession, kept the mention: Miranda, born April 23, 1847, is the wife of John Parsons, a farmer, living in Moravia. Mary, born February 1, 1849, married David Folts, of Moravia. Frances, born May 17, 1851, is the wife of David Anthony, of Venice. Sarah, born February 25, 1854, is the wife of Fred Hunt, a farmer living in Moravia. George N., born February 25, 1856, is a farmer, and resides in Moravia. Julia, born November 12, 1859, lives at home. John W., a farmer, born August 15, 1864, lives in Moravia. Simeon Kelly is, politically, a zealous advocate of the principles of the Republican party, and in all respects is fulfilling the obligations of a good citizen. Both he and his worthy wife are conscientious members of the Methodist Episcopal church.

JOSIAH B. BRINKERHOFF, of Owasco, Cayuga County, N.Y., was born in that town on May 21, 1840. His father, John I. Brinkerhoff, son of Jacob, was born in Owasco on February 17, 1803, and resided in the old family homestead on Owasco Lake, six miles south of Auburn. He was married on March 6, 1830, to Mary Ann Shepard, by whom he had seven children — Maria, Trueman, Jacob, John I., Josiah, Alfred, and Warren. The grandfather was born in Bergen County, New Jersey, on February 25, 1756, and some years afterward removed to Pennsylvania with his father, Joris D. Brinkerhoff. He was married on February 25, 1779, to Annatie Demarest, of New Jersey. He had a farm of two hundred and seventy acres in Pennsylvania, but moved to Cayuga County in 1793, settling near Owasco Lake. He was the magistrate of the county and an officer in the church. During the Revolutionary War Jacob held a Captain's commission, serving bravely under General Washington. He was the father of eleven children — George B., Margaret, David, Henry I., Martha, Isabel, James, Jacob, Peter, Maria, and John.

The great-grandfather, Joris D. Brinkerhoff, above named, was born October 9, 1719, in New Jersey, and was married to Betty Demarest, daughter of David Demarest, in November, 1745. He moved to Pennsylvania in 1770, where he purchased a large farm of five hundred and twenty acres. The house which he built and lived in all his life remained until a few years ago. It was a substantial building composed principally of concrete, the walls being two feet thick. His father, the great-great-grandfather of Josiah B., was Jacobus Brinkerhoff, who was born in March, 1685, and resided at the paternal home in New Jersey, on the Hackensack. He was married on April 17, 1708, to Agnitie Banta, daughter of Hendrick Banta, and had five children — Hartman, Hendrick, Joris, Jacob, and Martje. His father, Hendrick Joerisen Brinkerhoff, who was born in the Netherlands in 1631, was married to Claasie, daughter of Cornelius Boomgaert, and settled in Hempstead, L.I., afterward removing to New Jersey. The children of Hendrick J. were Margrietje, Cornelius, Joris, Dirck, and Jacobus. The founder of the American branch of the Brinkerhoff family was the father of Hendrick J., Joris Dircksen Brinkerhoff, a native of the Province of Drenthe, in the Netherlands, born in 1609, who emigrated to New York in 1638, and settled on a farm within the present limits of the city of Brooklyn, where he resided until his death in 1661. He married Susannah Dubbels, and all his children were born in Holland. They were as follows: Derck, Hendrick, Abraham, and Altie.

Josiah B. Brinkerhoff, the worthy descendant of this long line of worthy ancestors, was educated in the district schools of his neighborhood and the high school of Auburn. He taught school for one winter, and in 1864, when he was twenty-four years of age, enlisted in Battery A, Third New York Artillery, being sent to Kingston, N.C. He came back in the spring of 1865, having been honorably discharged from the army with the rank of Corporal. He has since turned his attention to agricultural pursuits, and lived with his father-in-law from 1866 to 1880, when he bought the old homestead of his wife's grandfather.

He was married in 1865 to Lillias, daughter of David and Harriet (Benson) Brinkerhoff, of Skaneateles, three children being the fruit of the union; namely, Alfred, Alanson, and Walter. Alanson died at the age of sixteen. Alfred married Marrilla Mosher, of Auburn. Mr. and Mrs. Brinkerhoff are members of the Presbyterian church of Owasco. In politics he is an advocate of the Republican party. He was elected Justice of the Peace in 1884, an office he held eight years. He is also a great temperance worker. The Brinkerhoffs have ever been active in enterprises calculated to promote the welfare of their native town. They were largely instrumental in the building of the first church in these parts, it being a log church, situated on Lake Owasco. Mr. Brinkerhoff has earned the reputation of being a good neighbor and public-spirited citizen.

DAVID S. KELLOGG, a respected citizen of the town of Ira, now distinguished as being the oldest resident of this locality, is the son of an honored pioneer of Cayuga County, the Kellogg families having been among the first who set their faces toward the West with the purpose of establishing for themselves homes in the wild and uncultivated frontier lands of this part of the Empire State. Mr. Kellogg has spent his entire life within the boundaries of this county, having first seen the light in the town of Victory on January 27, 1813. His parents were Silas and Martha (Simpson) Kellogg, both of whom were natives of New York, Saratoga County having been the father's birthplace, and Washington County the mother's.

Frederick Kellogg, the father of Silas, removed from Galway, Saratoga County, to the town of Brutus in this county, in 1795, being one of the original settlers of the place. This part of the country was then a wilderness in which the Indians roamed, hunting

The street is two blocks southwest of State Street, an easy walk or a short trolley ride from Stearns Wharf.

Originally, this was a country lane. But in 1857, Samuel Brinkerhoff developed it as a full-fledged street. Houses—some almost mansions, others simply cottages—began springing up in the 1880s. This mix of excess and modesty gives the street its lively character.

Each shop defines "antique" differently. Hours are generally 11 to 5 daily.

Start at Robert Livernois Art & Antiques (533 Brinkerhoff; open by appointment, 805/962-4606). Livernois and his wife came to the street almost 20 years ago, when it was a jumble of rundown buildings. The Antique Gallery (509) gleams with wood surfaces and smells of furniture polish. Carl Hightower's (528) includes 12 dealers offering jewelry, pottery, and small furniture. At L. Scott and Company (502), true antiques mix with contemporary crafts.

Catch a trolley, stay overnight

The Brinkerhoff Inn (523) opened last summer in an 1887 house. The six rooms (shared baths) have fancy window dressings that hint of the innkeeper's other business, costume making. She serves cheeses and nuts in the evening, fresh fruits and breads in the morning. Rates are $45 to $98 double. To reserve, call (805) 963-7844.

To get to the street from U.S. 101, exit northwest on State. Go left at Haley Street, then 1½ blocks to Brinkerhoff; park on the street. Or take the shuttle, which leaves Stearns Wharf daily at 9, 11, 1:45, 3:45, and 5, and heads up State to Los Olivos Street. On its return, it stops on Brinkerhoff. Fare is $1. □

SACRAMENTO — Progress ontinues toward getting vastly improved history-social science textooks into California's elementary chools, said Susie Lange, spokesvoman for the State Department of ducation.

On July 20, the Curriculum Deelopment and Supplemental Mateials Commission voted to recomnend "Houghton Mifflin Social tudies" for kindergarten through rade eight and Holt, Rinehart and Vinston's "The Story of America," rade eight, for state adoption.

"These are the finest materials vailable yet in the nation," said Dr. Charlotte Crabtree, director of the Science Subject Matter Committee, which reviewed and approved the texts.

The materials were selected after months of review by an advisory panel, hundreds of written public comments, and several hours of public testimony, Lange said.

The Curriculum Commission selected the materials based on a new set of standards contained in the nationally recognized California History-Social Science Framework.

Lange said state evaluators and national scholars agree that these publishers made significant progress toward meeting the framework criteria, including:

women whose triumphs and tragedies compel the students' attention;

- Building each topic clearly on the preceding one in a systematic manner that deepens students' understandings; and,
- Giving students challenging opportunities to examine issues from more than one point of view.

In addition, the materials include perspectives of different racial, religious and ethnic groups; give attention to ethical issues at every grade level through events and issues throughout history; and give significant attention to patriotic emphases which inspire understanding of and commitment to the best principles in

19th-century Santa Barbara on Brinkerhoff Avenue

Brinkerhoff Avenue in Santa Barbara may be only a block long, but that block is packed. It's the city's antique center, with 11 dealers. On an afternoon, you can prowl among the armoires and quilts, then follow the sidewalk to see the flourishing gardens. And if the street's throwback charm entrances you, you can spend the night at a new inn.

Dear Paul: 21 January, 1987

While perusing a copy of Sunset Magazine from some time last year, Mom ran across the enclosed article containing the name Brinkerhoff. This is one of the names she is sensitized to, it being in our genealogical background. As you will see, it refers to Brinkerhoff Avenue in Santa Barbara, a street that was developed by one Samuel Brinkerhoff, and he turns out to have been your first cousin, four times removed. Even I have developed some interest in the story, and that is not really typical of my reaction to the usual accounts of who begat whom that Mom is so fond of relating.

I have put together a small package illustrating the relationship and giving some background on old Sam, thinking you might also have some interest in it.

The text below is excerpted from the book The Brin(c)kerhoffs of America, 1641-1981.

"SAMUEL B. BRINKERHOFF, M. D. (1823-1880)

" 'Dr. Sam', as he was affectionately known, studied medicine with his cousin, Dr. Isaac Parsell, graduated from the Medical College at Buffalo, N. Y. and practiced for a time in Jefferson and Mansfield, Ohio.

"His health was frail, so at the age of 29 he moved to California. While his ship was in port at Santa Barbara, he went ashore and learned that the town had no resident doctor.

"While he was busy treating the victims of a recent gun battle between the sheriff's posse and a gang of outlaws, his ship sailed without him. He soon had all the medical practice he could handle.

"He became active in business affairs, was a bank director, dabbled in real estate and took part in local politics. He was a prime mover in building Santa Barbara's first pier, and was instrumental in bringing the railroad to Santa Barbara.

"He was owner of a city block, and the street which intersects that block today is named Brinkerhoff Avenue in his honor. It is fronted by 1890 period houses designed by Peter J. Barber and is now devoted to antique shops and similar enterprises.

"Dr. Sam made house calls and gave to poor Mexicans the same service he gave to the affluent. He never billed a patient who had no money. As a result, he was bankrupt when he died. It is said that half the population of Santa Barbara marched in his funeral procession."

The relationship between you and Samuel Bevier Brinkerhoff, M. D. is shown by the chart tracing descent from your common ancestor, Roeliff (Ralph) Brinkerhoff and his wife Belitie (Isabella)

Demarest, through their children Margareta Brinkerhoff and her brother Joris Brinkerhoff. Margareta married Richard Parsell, while Joris married Jacomyntie Bevier, and their children, respectively, were Isaac Parsell and Sam Brinkerhoff, who were first cousins. You are descended from Isaac Parsell, M. D. and his wife, Sophronia Kendrick, through their child Egbert Parsell (my maternal grandfather). The rest is, of course, well known to you.

So, according to one of your mother's handy charts, you and Dr. Sam are first cousins four times removed, which may make Brinkerhoff Avenue of more than passing interest to you.

The book on the Brinkerhoffs also contains the following biographical information on common ancestor Roeliff Brinkerhoff:

"ROELIFF BRINKERHOFF (1748-1830)

"Born in Bergen county, New Jersey, he migrated with his father and brothers to Adams County, Pennsylvania in 1770. In the fall of that year he returned to New Jersey to marry and stayed there for two years. He then moved back to Conowago, Pennsylvania, and located on a farm of 137 acres near that of his father.

"During the Revolution he served as a lieutenant in Swope's Flying Camp, which was recruited in Adams County.

"In 1793 he moved with his brother Jacob to Owasco Lake, N. Y. There he settled on a farm on the north side of Brinkerhoff Point, Where he remained for the rest of his life. He was a master spirit in Conowago and continued to be so in Owasco.

"His grandson, Peter S. Brinkerhoff, presents this picture of Roeliff which is confirmed by other accounts:

'In appearance he was a commanding figure, six feet, four inches tall, erect, of compact[?] form, possessing much endurance. He was a positive man. For many years he was an officer of the Dutch Reformed Church in Owasco and was prominent in church and community affairs.

'His daily life was permeated by the principles of his religion, and he practiced what he professed. In manner he was plain and blunt, but affable, pleasant and generous. He was temperate in his habits, industrious and economical.

'One anecdote will illustrate that he meant to perform what he said. Because of the doctrines preached by the minister of the Owasco Church, a respectable part of the congregation withdrew, of whom Roeliff was a leader. The minister promised to changer his ways, but soon was again preaching the offensive doctrines.

'Finding that they were not accomplishing anything, Roeliff exclaimed 'To your tents, O Israel!' and left. The seceders held services in the schoolhouse. But, having contributed largely to the erection of the church building, they claimed the right to occupy it part of the time. The other party claimed the right to occupy it all of the time, and having the key, kept the church door locked against the seceders.

'Roeliff thought that his rights and those of the other seceders were being trampled upon. So he gave the opposing party to understand that if the church doors were locked the following Sunday, he would open them.

'Accordingly, the next Saturday evening he got from the sawmill the heavy iron bar with which logs were moved, and put it on his wagon. The next morning he shouldered the iron bar and went directly to the church door. He found it unlocked and passed in. The opposing party, knowing that he was always as good as his word, had unlocked the door.' "

His grandson, Peter S. Brinkerhoff, presents this picture of Roeliff which is confirmed by other accounts:

"In appearance he was a commanding figure, six feet, four inches tall, erect, of compact form, possessing much endurance. He was a positive man. For many years he was an officer of the Dutch Reformed Church in Owasco and was prominent in church and community affairs.

"His daily life was permeated by the principles of his religion, and he practiced what he professed. In manner he was plain and blunt, but affable, pleasant and generous. He was temperate in his habits, industrious and economical.

"One anecdote will illustrate that he meant to perform what he said. Because of the doctrines preached by the minister of the Owasco Church, a respectable part of the congregation withdrew, of whom Roeliff was a leader. The minister promised to change his ways, but soon was again preaching the offensive doctrines.

"Finding that they were not accomplishing anything, Roeliff exclaimed, 'To your tents, O Israel!'and left. The seceders held services in the schoolhouse. But, having contributed largely to the erection of the church building, they claimed the right to occupy it part of the time. The other party claimed the right to occupy it all of the time, and having the key, kept the church door locked against the seceders.

"Roeliff thought that his rights and those of the other seceders, were being trampled upon. So he gave the opposing party to understand that if the church doors were locked the following Sunday, he would open them."

Accordingly the next Saturday evening he got from the saw-mill the heavy iron bar with which logs were moved, and put it on his wagon. The next morning he shouldered the iron bar and went directly to the church door. He found it unlocked and passed in. The opposing party, knowing that he was always as good as his word, had unlocked the door."

DAVID R. BRINKERHOFF (1776-1822)

He was one of the first trustees of a Literary Association which was formed in Auburn, N. Y. in 1812.

When the City of Auburn was incorporated in 1815 he was made one of three assessors. He was also one of the first directors of the National Bank of Auburn.

GEORGE R. BRINKERHOFF (1785-1849)

Born in Adams County, Pennsylvania, he moved to Owasco, N. Y. with his parents and received a good academic education. He learned surveying and practiced it as opportunity offered. He was Quartermaster of a company in the War of 1812, of which his brother, Henry R. (2942 7) was captain.

At the close of the War, he married and started farming in the town of Sempronius (now Niles). After seven years he moved to Owasco and operated the family farm on Lake Road until his death in 1849, from a heart attack on a street in Auburn.

He held many offices of trust and responsibility. He was Town Supervisor for several terms, Justice of the Peace and assessor, and an Elder in the Church.

DAVID BRINKERHOFF (1815-1892)

He attended the district schools in Owasco, N. Y. until 18 years old, working on his father's farm. He attended the Academy in Aurora and the Seminary in Lima, Livingston County.

He farmed in Michigan the summers of 1842 and 1843, returning to Owasco to teach school and to marry Harriet Benson.

He went to Michigan again, returning to Owasco in 1845 to assist his father on the homestead farm which he inherited.

He was known for strict integrity and public service characterized by singular fidelity, ability and uprightness.

2942 66
SAMUEL B. BRINKERHOFF, M. D.
(1823-1880)

"Dr. Sam", as he was affectionately known, studied medicine with his cousin, Dr. Isaac Parsell, graduated from the Medical College at Buffalo, N. Y. and practiced for a time in Jefferson and Mansfield, Ohio.

His health was frail, so at the age of 29 he moved to California. While his ship was in port at Santa Barbara he went ashore and learned that the town had no resident doctor.

While he was busy treating the victims of a recent gun battle between the sheriff's posse and a gang of outlaws his ship sailed without him. He soon had all the medical practice he could handle.

He became active in business affairs, was a bank director, dabbled in Real Estate and took part in local politics. He was a prime mover in building Santa Barbara's first pier and was instrumental in bringing the Railroad to Santa Barbara.

He was owner of a city block and the street which intersects that block today is named Brinkerhoff Avenue in his honor. It is fronted by 1890 period houses

Henry R. Brinkerhoff

To the Surrogate of the County of Cayuga.

The Petition of Henry R. Brinkerhoff of the town of Owasco respectfully represents that Roeliff Brinkerhoff late of the town of Owasco in said County, now deceased, died on the twenty eighth day of December last past, in the said town of Owasco, of which he was an inhabitant at the time, that he made a last Will and testament and also Codicils to said Will, and appointed your petitioner & his brother George R. Brinkerhoff two of the executors thereof, and that they are the only surviving Executors named in said will. That the said testator left the following heirs at law, his children & grand children. to wit; Martha Vanderburgh of Auburn, ~~Richard~~ Margaret Parsell wife of Richard Parsell of Owasco, your petitioner & the said George R. Brinkerhoff his children now alive and above the age of twenty one years. Also Sarah Brinkerhoff & Isabel Brinkerhoff the children of David Brinkerhoff now deceased, who was a son of the said testator. That the said Sarah is of the age of twenty one years and the said Isabel is a minor. Also, Andrew Brown, George Brown, Roeliff Brown, Isabel Brown, & Jane Brown, the children of Hannah Brown, deceased, who was a daughter of the said testator; that the said Andrew, George & Isabel are of the age of twenty one years, & the said Roeliff & Jane are minors. That the said grand children all reside in the County of Cayuga, except Andrew Brown, who now resides in the County of Ulster.

That it is the wish of the said Executors to prove the said Will & codicils, that the same may be recorded, and also that probate may be granted of the same. That David Brinkerhoff who is named as one of the executors of said last Will & Testament, is now deceased. That the said deceased left Isabel Brinkerhoff his widow.

Your petitioners therefore pray that citations may issue to the said widow & to such of the heirs and next of whom ~~three~~ are of the age of twenty one years, and to the guardians of such as are minors, whenever they shall be appointed, to attend the probate of said will Roeliff Brinkerhoff, Baeltie (Isabella) Demarest, his wife.

Roeliff Brinkerhoff, with his five brothers, enlisted from York County/Pennsylvania in Swope's Flying Battalion for service during the Revolution. He belonged to a family of patriots, for the father (Joris Dirckson Brinkerhoff) who was too old to serve, had six sons in the army and all but one survived the war. Roeliff died in Cayuga County, New York in 1830 at the age of 82.

outlet, form the west boundary. It is bounded on the north by Sennett, on the east by the town of Skaneateles in Onondaga county, and on the south by the town of Niles.

The surface is rolling, and has an inclination toward the north-west. It ascends gradually from the lake, above which the highest elevations are about five hundred feet. Aside from the lake and its outlet its waters are inconsiderable. Two small streams drain it and empty into the lake. The principal one is Owasco Creek or Dutch Hollow Brook, which enters the town in the south-east corner, by two branches, and flows in a north-westerly direction across the south part. Miller's Brook, in the north part, rises near the east border of the town and flows in a north-westerly direction to near the north line, when it deflects to the west and again to the south, discharging its waters at the foot of the lake.

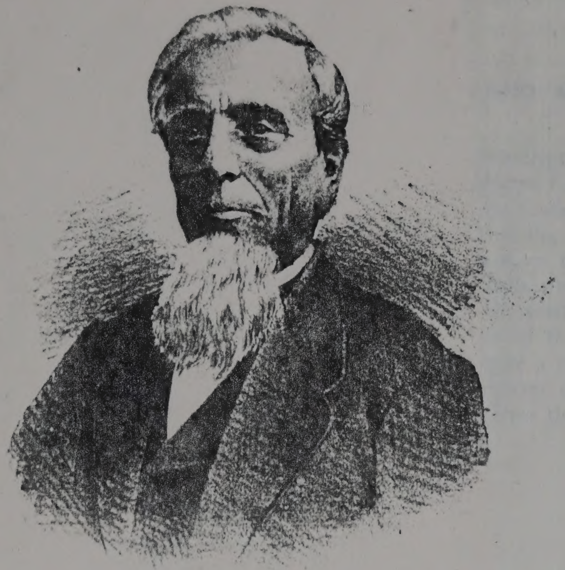
The soil is of excellent quality, rich and fertile. Clay predominates along the lake; clayey loam intermixed with sand in the central portions, and muck in the east.

The population of the town in 1875 was 1,286; of whom 1,100 were native; 186 foreign; 1,259 white; and 27 colored. Its area was 13,262 acres; of which 11,112 were improved; 1,606 woodland; and 544 otherwise unimproved.

The first settlement in Owasco was made in 1792, ten years prior to the organization of the town, when it formed a part of the old military township of Aurelius. The pioneers were Samuel and Benjamin DePuy and Moses Cortright, from Orange county, Jacob and Roeliff Brinkerhoff, from Harrisburg, Penn., and Cornelius Delamater, all of whom settled in that year. Samuel DePuy located where J. N. Chamberlain now lives, on lot 86, two and a half miles north-west of Owasco, where he lived till his death, about 1821. His children are all dead, likewise most of his grand-children. Benjamin DePuy settled in the north-east part of the town, on what is known as the Decker farm, which is now occupied by Michael Welch, and on which he died. Cortright settled on lot 76, about two and a half miles north-west of Owasco, where Cyrus Baker now lives, and where he died. His children are all dead. Some of his grand-children are living, but none of them in this town. The Brinkerhoffs came in company with their brothers, James and George, the latter of whom was a minister of the Dutch Reformed Church, and both of whom settled in Niles. Jacob settled on lot 84, and died there; and Roeliff, on the farm joining his on the north, where he also died. John I., a son of Jacob, and the only one of his children living, and Jacob, a grandson, now occupy the old homestead. Roeliff's homestead and a part of the farm is owned by the heirs of Henry VanEtten. A part of the farm is owned by David Brinkerhoff, a grandson. None of Roeliff's children are living. Cornelius Delamater settled in Owasco village, or on the site of the village, where he is believed to have been the first settler. He kept there, in 1800, the first tavern, which stood near the site of the present one. He left the town at an early day.

Samuel Gumaer came in from Orange county soon after the DePuys, and married a daughter of Samuel DePuy. He settled on lot 72, where the widow of Harvey Gumaer, his son, now lives. He died there about 1836 or '7. James, another son, is living in Cato, and Samuel, in the west edge of Skaneateles.

Hon. Elijah Price came in from Rensselaer county in 1794, with his wife and family, (having married Beulah Howard in Stephentown in that county, January 18th, 1781,) and settled near Baptist Corners. His loghouse stood on the site of John Stoner's brick house. He took up a large tract of land in that locality, including that on which the church stands. He served in the militia of this State and Pennsylvania from 1781 to the close of the war, and was present at the surrender of Burgoyne. He was foreman of the grand-jury which indicted Indian John at Aurora for murder. He was a Member of the Assembly in 1808, and was elected with reference to the location of the County seat at Auburn, in securing which he was instrumental. He died in Owasco, December 13th, 1820. Alexander Price, his son, was a Major in the war of 1812, and was made prisoner at Lundy's Lane. William, another son, was a lawyer. He studied with Daniel Kellogg of Skaneateles, and was admitted in the same class as Freeborn G. Jewett, of that village. He had four other children, all of whom are dead. Among his grand-children are, Dr. Elijah Price Baker of Aurora; E. Darwin Baker, a graduate of Yale College, who was State Engineer in Louisiana at the breaking out of the late war, and who is now a civil engineer



DAVID BRINKERHOFF.

DAVID BRINKERHOFF, son of George R. and Jacomyntie [Bevier] Brinkerhoff, was born in the town of Sempronius, now Niles, September 19th, 1815.

Roeliff Brinkerhoff, grandfather of David, was born in Adams county, Pa., in 1748, and settled in the town of Owasco, on lot 84, about 1794. He died December 28th, 1830; and his wife, Isabella, who was born in 1753, June 28th, 1836. Roeliff and Isabella had seven children, four sons and three daughters. The sons were David, George R., James and Henry R. The eldest daughter, Martina, became the wife of Col. John L. Hardenbergh, the founder of the village which bore his name, now grown to a city and designated by the classic name of Auburn. The youngest daughter became the wife of Dr. Josiah Bevier of Owasco; and the third, Margaret, married Richard Parsell of that town.

George R. Brinkerhoff, son of Roeliff and Isabella, and father of David, the subject of this sketch, was born in Adams county, Pa., February 19th, 1785, came to Owasco with his parents, and received a good academic education. He learned surveying and practiced it as opportunity offered. He was quarter-master, and his brother, Henry R., captain of a company in the army during the War of 1812. The latter was a general of militia after the close of the war.

In 1814, at the close of the war, George R. married Jacomyntie Bevier, who was born in Ulster Co., N. Y., in 1794, and commenced farming on lot 11 in the town of Sempronius, now Niles. He removed thence, after about seven years, to the town of Owasco, to the farm now owned by his son David, situated on lot 84, on the lake road, where he continued to reside till his death, which occurred on the street in the city of Auburn, from heart disease, November 7th, 1849. His wife died July 4th, 1830.

George R. Brinkerhoff was a prominent man in his town. He was a Democrat in politics and was honored by his party with many offices of trust and responsibility, among them that of supervisor several terms, justice of the peace a long time, and assessor. He was a member of the Dutch Reformed Church of Owasco, in which, for a long time, he held the office of elder.

George R. and Jacomyntie Brinkerhoff were the parents of eight children, named as follows: David, Elizabeth, who married Derrick Hornbeck and is now living in Plymouth, Ohio, James, who died at the age of eight years, Maria, who died at the age of six years, Hannah, who married Wm. W. Drennan and is now living in Plymouth, Ohio, Samuel B., who is now living in Santa Barbara, California, and Roeliff, now living in Mansfield, Ohio.

David attended the district schools until eighteen years of age, working summers after he was ten years old on his father's farm. He attended the Academy at Aurora seven months in 1836-'7; and the Seminary at Lima, Livingston county, two terms, in 1840 and '41. In the spring of 1841 he went to Michigan and engaged in farming. He returned in the fall and taught school in the town of Skaneateles, in Onondaga county. The following spring he again went to Michigan and remained until the fall, when he returned to Owasco and married Harriet, daughter of Alanson and Harriet [Austin] Benson of Skaneateles, who was born January 18th, 1821. He then went to Michigan, where he remained, engaged in farming till the spring of 1845, when he returned to Owasco and settled with his father, whom he assisted in carrying on the homestead farm, which, on the death of his father, came into his possession by will.

By his wife Harriet, who died May 4th, 1868, David had seven children, viz.: Lillias E., who was born in Michigan, January 31st, 1844; Alma M., who was born July 21st, 1846; George R., who was born September 23d, 1848; Sarah I., who was born January 14th, 1855; Mary L., who was born October 28th, 1858; Jennie H., who was born June 9th, 1860; and Samuel A., who was born April 2d, 1862.

April 15th, 1869, Mr. Brinkerhoff was again married to Margaret, daughter of Simeon and Alsie [Westfall] Swartwout, of Owasco, who was born December 22d, 1832. Mrs. Brinkerhoff's parents were among the early settlers of Owasco. Mr. Brinkerhoff, by his second wife, has two children, Mortimer S., born May 11th, 1870, and Charles D., born August 10th, 1873.

In politics, Mr. Brinkerhoff is a Democrat, and has been honored by his party with the offices of assessor and town clerk, and the nomination for supervisor, but owing to the strength of the Republican party in the town it is impossible to elect a Democrat to that office. Though not a member of any church he is an attendant at the Reformed Church in Owasco village.

In the autumn of life, now that the struggles and trials of life have been measurably compassed, he has the satisfaction of reviewing a business career marked by strict integrity and a public service characterized by singular fidelity, ability and uprightness. His too is the consoling reflection that while he has reached a high social eminence he also retains the respect and esteem of his townsmen.

EARLY DUTCH MIGRANTS FROM SOMERSET AND ADJOINING COUNTIES

THERE HAS recently come to the QUARTERLY a copy of a subscription list of the building fund for the "Meeting House of the United Congregation of the Reformed Low Dutch church at the Owasco Outlet," N. Y., dated Mar. 10, 1807. This was the original name of the organization now known as the Sand Beach church, which is about two miles from Auburn, Cayuga co., N. Y. The names of the subscribers to this fund are said to have been largely those of Dutch settlers from Somerset county, although it is apparent that some of them went from Bergen county. This list of subscribers may give a clue to the place of settlement of a number of heads of Somerset and Bergen, and possibly Middlesex families, which searchers after them have been unable to trace. * NOTE.—It will be noticed that in the later documents the name is written George instead of Joris, and the l is dropped, and the final f is doubled in the surname.

So with the sons: Jacobus is written James; Guilbert, Gilbert; Hendrick, Henry, etc. It was the transition period with all Dutch names.

In his will his son Henry is named as one of the executors, and also as one of the legatees, and yet the settlement papers seem to show that Henry, the eldest son of James, acted as executor, and the traditions of the family are that Henry, the son of Joris, died shortly after the close of the Revolutionary war.

THE NEW YORK COLONY.

TO many of the emigrants from New Jersey to Conewago the change evidently was not satisfactory, for, in a few years, one part of them removed to Kentucky (none of them Brinkerhoffs), and a few years later, in 1793, another part moved northward to Central New York, and the result was that the colony was so depleted that the Dutch families remaining were not sufficiently numerous to keep up their church organization.

Rev. George G. Brinkerhoff was the last pastor, and after his resignation, the few Dutch families still on the ground became affiliated with the Presbyterian Church at Hunterstown, which, in its faith and organization, was substantialy the same as that of the Dutch Reformed Church.

The circumstances under which the emigration to Central New York (Cayuga County) was made are worthy of notice.

The aborigines of the north, as is well known, possessed more vigor than those of the south. From 1775 to 1794 the most powerful confederacy of Indians in America was that of the Six Nations, who occupied what is now Ohio, together with large portions of Northern Pennsylvania and Western New York. The districts indicated continued inaccessible to white settlers even after Kentucky had become a State.

The massacre of Wyoming, of bitter memory, was by the Six Nations, at the instigation of the tories in 1778.

Successes against this confederacy were few and of small consequence until after the massacre just mentioned; but that awakened a widespread and fierce indignation, which could only be satisfied with such just retribution as was inflicted on the Indians by General Sullivan. He fought the bloody battle of the Chemung, about where the city of Elmira now stands, in 1779, and at the same time burned nearly fifty of their villages in the Genesee valley; but not until the famous crushing victory of "Mad Anthony Wayne," as the people called him, in 1794, was the red man's power, even so far east as the Susquehanna, finally and forever destroyed.

These two victories made the country about the lakes of New York safe, and hardly was the way to it open before some adventurous spirits of the Conewago colony hastened to make use of it. They were among the very first to seek homes in that direction, and the eventful century which has now almost intervened between us and them has justified their wisdom and foresight.

This pioneer colony consisted of ten families, and their journey "through the wilderness to the promised land" is graphically described in a recent letter from the venerable and honored John I. Brinkerhoff, the son of one of the leaders of this colony, and who still resides (1886) upon lands there located. He says: "Your grandfather, Roeliff Brinkerhoff, and my father, his brother, Jacob Brinkerhoff, left Gettysburg, Pa., April 30, 1793, with their families, in company with eight other families, for (as it was called) the Genesee, or lake country, in New York."

Among these eight families there was a Luke Brinkerhoff and his family. He was a cousin of Roeliff and Jacob, and came with them from Bergen County, N. J. His father was Jacob, a younger brother of Joris.

He settled in Wayne County, N. Y., and left a daughter, but no male descendants.

My father and mother had with them seven children, and my uncle Roeliff and my aunt Isabel (his wife) had eight children. Altogether there must have been a pretty large company. They came in tented wagons, and brought with them as much as they could of provisions and household stuff, such as they would need by the way and on their arrival here.

They got to this county (Cayuga) the fourth of July, having been two months and four days on the way. I will give a short narrative of their long journey, as I have often heard it related by my parents and others.

The State of Pennsylvania had been for some time engaged in opening a road through the wilderness to the Genesee or lake country. Gangs of men were employed on different sections, and this was their road to travel. Of course it was a rough road, the trees cut down, and logs got out of the way, with corduroy bridges over swampy places, so that wagons could pass. Sometimes they would come to the end of the road, that is, they would come up to a company of men who had not finished their section, and they would send a few men with axes and help them through to the next open section. There were no commodious hotels on this highway, but every settler who had got up a log house would take in all his little house would hold, so, when near night, if they came to one of these houses they would carry in bedding enough out of the wagons to cover the floor, and the women and children would sleep in the house, and the men in the wagons. If, when night overtook them, which often happened, and there was no house in sight, the women and children would sleep in the wagons, and the men on the ground under the wagons.

So they came on until they reached the Susquehanna river, near its junction with the Chemung river. Here they were held about two weeks, on account of high water, until the water was low enough to ford the river. From there they came to the head of Cayuga lake, where the village of Ithaca now stands, and so down the east side of the Cayuga lake to the south end of the county of Cayuga (in the town of Genoa, I think), and here they found some cleared land (or Indian fields, as they were called), and here they concluded to stop and take time to look around and decide where to make a permanent settlement. They put up some cabins for shelter, and although it was late, they put in some seed to raise some grain for the next year.

They remained here nearly two years, and in that time they explored the country, and finally purchased lands, and made their settlement near the foot of the Owasco lake, and most of them on the east side.

My father and uncle Roeliff purchased and settled on what has ever since been called Brinkerhoff's Point, on the east side of the lake, and about two and a half miles from the foot. They took possession in the spring of 1795.

As soon as they were fairly located they organized a religious society in connection with the Dutch Reformed Church, with my father and uncle two of its officers. The society took its corporate form and title at a meeting held in the house of Col. John L. Hardenbergh, at Hardenbergh's Corners (now the city of Auburn).

I think there were four settlers within the limits of the present town of Owasco when our people came here.

When the Gettysburg colony came here in 1793 there was but one house (that of Col. John L. Hardenbergh) where the city of Auburn now stands.

From 1795 and onwards emigrants came in rapidly, and in 1797 they erected a log meeting house, the first church edifice in Cayuga county. It stood about fifteen rods south of the bridge on our farm, on the east side of the road, and was in use until 1815, when the new church, erected in Owasco village, was occupied.

Provisions were somewhat scarce the first two or three years, especially grain, as hardly enough was raised to supply the incoming emigrants, so they had to economize pretty close.

They did not suffer for want of meat, as the game in the woods, and fish in the lake and creeks, supplied that. So they were never in a starving condition.

Two years after their settlement on the Owasco (1796), they were joined by James Brinkerhoff, and still later (1808) by the Rev. George G. Brinkerhoff and his family.

The three pioneer Brinkerhoffs, James, Roeliff, and Jacob, were all their lives among the leading men of the county, in the church, and in business, and none were more respected or worthy.

The Brinkerhoff lands extended perhaps half a mile north and south of Brinkerhoff point on the lake, and is one of the most beautiful, as well as one of the most fertile locations in Central New York, and the farms carved out of these lands are still among the most valuable in that region. The Hon. John I. Brinkerhoff (son of Jacob), and David Brinkerhoff (grandson of Roelef), still reside here with several of their children. Brinkerhoff Point is about five miles south of the city of Auburn.

The Owasco Lake, which is about twelve miles long, with an average width of one mile, is one of the most beautiful sheets of water in America, and its shores are now largely occupied by summer villas of wealthy city owners.

Here, along the eastern shore of the Owasco, the Brinkerhoff's took root, and here many of their descendants still remain, good men and women, and worthy citizens of the State.

GENEALOGICAL RECORD.

FIRST, SECOND, THIRD AND FOURTH GENERATIONS.

At the death of Joris Brinkerhoff, in 1810, there were living of his descendants six sons and forty-nine grandchildren. Of these grandchildren twenty-seven were males and twenty-two females. Only two of them are now living: John I. Brinkerhoff of Owasco, N. Y.,* and Lucretia, widow of David Schreiver, of Hunterstown, Pa.

The following genealogical record will show their distribution, and their line of descent from Joris Dircksen, the founder of the family in America. It will also give an outline of subsequent additions to these families, as an aid to those of the present generation in preserving and furnishing the necessary family records for the compilation of the larger history of the family to be published hereafter.

Brief biographical sketches of a few heads of families are also given, and it is hoped that every family which has been omitted will at once make up a complete record on the plan we have adopted, in a direct line from Joris Brinkerhoff, who settled in Pennsylvania in 1770, together with biographical sketches, and forward to address of General R. Brinkerhoff, Mansfield, Ohio, and preserve a copy for themselves.

As soon as all the descendants are thus presented, a complete history can be published. Errors in the present publication (and doubtless there are some) should also be noted for correction.

I-I.—Joris Dircksen Brinkerhoff, the founder of the American branch of the Brinkerhoff family, came from the Province of Drenthe, in the Netherlands, and having lived for some time at Flushing, in the Province of Zealand, emigrated to the New Netherlands (now New York) in 1638, and settled upon a farm within the present limits of the city of Brooklyn, where he resided until his death, January 16, 1061. As soon as all the descendants are thus presented, a complete history can be published. Errors in the present publication (and doubtless there are some) should also be noted for correction.

I-1.—Joris Dircksen Brinckerhoff, the founder of the American branch of the Brinckerhoff family, came from the Province of Drenthe, in the Netherlands, and having lived for some time at Flushing, in the Province of Zealand, emigrated to the New Netherlands (now New York) in 1638, and settled upon a farm within the present limits of the city of Brooklyn, where he resided until his death, January 16, 1661. For particulars of his career in the New World see ante, pages 13 to 16.

* John I. Brinkerhoff died June 1899, 1896.

Here there were four settlers within the limits of the present town of Fleming when our people came here.

When the Conewago colony came here in 1793 there was but one house (that of Col. John L. Hardenbergh) where the city of Auburn now stands.

From 1793 and onwards emigrants came in rapidly, and in 1797 they erected a log meeting house, the first church edifice in Cayuga county. It stood about fifteen rods south of the bridge on our farm, on the east side of the road, and was in use until 1815, when the new church, erected in Owasco village, was occupied.

Provisions were somewhat scarce the first two or three years, especially grain, as barely enough was raised to supply the incoming emigrants, as they had to accumulate pretty often. They did not suffer for want of meat, as the game in the woods, and fish in the lake and creeks, supplied that. So they were never in a starving condition.

Two years after their settlement on the Owasco (1795), they were joined by James Brinkerhoff, and still later (1800) by the Rev. George G. Brinkerhoff and his family.

The three pioneer Brinkerhoffs, James, Roelif, and Jacob, were all their lives among the leading men of the county, in the church, and in business, and none were more respected or worthy.

The Brinkerhoff lands extended perhaps half a mile north and south of Brinkerhoff point on the lake, and is one of the most beautiful, as well as one of the most fertile locations in Central New York, and the farms carved out of these lands are still among the most valuable in that region. The Hon. John I. Brinkerhoff (son of Jacob), and David Brinkerhoff (grandson of Roelif), still reside here with several of their children. Brinkerhoff Point is about five miles south of the city of Auburn.

The Owasco Lake, which is about twelve miles long, with an average width of one mile, is one of the most beautiful sheets of water in America, and its shores are now largely occupied by summer villas of wealthy city owners.

Here, along the eastern shore of the Owasco, the Brinkerhoff's took root, and here many of their descendants still remain, good men and women, and worthy citizens of the State.

He married Susannah Dubbels, and all his children were born in Holland.

In a book entitled "The Early Settlers of Kings County" it is stated that "Joris Dircksen Brinckerhoef arrived in 1638. He settled on Staten Island, and entered into a contract with Cornelius Melyn, the owner of the island, to reside there; but owing to the murder of some of the neighboring planters by the Indians, in 1641, he obtained a release from the contract August 15, 1641. He went to Long Island, and settled in Brooklyn. He died January 16, 1661."

From other sources it would seem that the Cornelius Melyn mentioned above was the son-in-law of Joris, and the first husband of Altie. After his death she married William Covenhoven.

CHILDREN.

2-2.—Dirck: killed by Indians on Staten Island.
2-3.—Hendrick: born about 1630; died about 1710.
2-4.—Abraham: born 1632; died about 1714.
2-5.—Altie: married William Covenhoven.

II-III.—Hendrick Joerisen Brinkerhoff married Claasie, daughter of Cornelius Boomgaert, and settled in Hempstead, Long Island, where he remained until his removal to New Jersey during the Revolutionary War.

In 1677 he purchased a tract of land in Bergen, now a part of Jersey City, which, after his death, became the residence of his widow and his son Cornelius, and on this tract some of his descendants still reside.

In 1679 he joined with a few other Dutchmen from Bergen and purchased the Indian title to the site of what is now Passaic City, but soon afterwards disposed of his interest there, and subsequently purchased of Hendrick Epske Banta, by deed bearing date June 17, 1685, the farm upon the Hackensack, just below the present Ridgefield Park Station, on the West Shore Railroad, and formerly known as old Hackensack, upon which he resided until his death, and which remained in the family until 1878.

In "The Early Settlers of Kings County," page 49, it is stated as follows: "Hendrick Jorise married Claasie Cornelise Boomgaert or Bougoert, of Middlewout (Flushing). Name on Indian deed of Flushing of 1670, and on Assembly roll of 1675. Member of the Hempstead Assembly of 1665, from Flushing, and a magistrate of said town in 1662–'63 and '73. Removed from Flushing to the eastern branch of the Hackensack River, N. J., where he bought land June 17, 1685. His descendants in New Jersey sometimes write their names Blinckerhoff. Issue: Susanna; baptized January, 1661; married Roelof Von Der Linde, of Hackensack. Cornelius married Algie Vreeland, and resided at Hackensack. Dirck, of Hackensack, married Margaret Siba Banta; and Jacobus, of Hackensack, baptized March 29, 1685, married Angenietye Banta."

In a book entitled "Hudson County (N. J.) Land Titles," page 136, it is stated "The Dutch West India Company deeded (Lot No. 13 on map) to Jan Evertse Bout, and he to Michael Jansen. Jansen's widow, Fitjie Hartmans, sold to Claes Jansen De Bocker, December 20, 1667. De Bocker conveyed the same, May 30, 1667, to Hendrick Jorise Van Blinkerhoef; he conveyed it to his son Cornelius, February 24, 1708."

This seems to have been his first purchase in New Jersey, and to this property his widow and his son Cornelius removed after his death. He had five children, of whom we have historic record, but some accounts name a sixth child, a daughter named Gertie, born February 20, 1670, which is probably correct, and that the child died in infancy.

CHILDREN.

3-6.—Margrietje: born June 13, 1671.
3-7.—Cornelius: born 1673; died September 1, 1770.
3-8.—Joris: born 1673; died February 5, 1692.
3-9.—Dirck.
3-10.—Jacobus: baptized March 29, 1685; died 1770.

III-VI.—Margrietje Brinkerhoff married Mattys De Mott, of Kingston, May 6, 1705; united with the Hackensack Church October 5, 1701.

III.-VII.—Cornelius Brinkerhoff: born in Middlewout, L. I.; married Aegie Vreeland May 24, 1708: died September 1, 1770, aged 97 years. He was sometimes called Cornelius Hendricksen Van Blinkerhoff. He united with the Hackensack Church April 8, 1699.

III-IX.—Dirck Brinkerhoff united with the Hackensack Church April 8, 1699; married, first, Margrietje Sibese Banta, October 31, 1702; second, Abigal Ackerman, October, 1733.

III-X.—Jacobus Brinkerhoff, like his father, Hendrick, and his grandfather, Joris, was a man of high character and standing in the community in which he lived. At the death of his father he and his brother Dirck took the paternal homestead upon the Hackensack, where he resided until his death. He was a county magistrate, an elder of the church (of which all his family were members), and a man of mark in all the relations of life. In a stone, in the corner of the church at Hackensack, his name is cut in bold letters as one of its early founders.

He married Agnitie Banta, daughter of Hendrick Banta, April 17, 1708, by whom he had five

CHILDREN.

4-11.—Hartman: born May 1, 1709.
4-12.—Hendrick: born November 1, 1710; died 1760.
4-13.—Joris: born October 9, 1719; died January 3, 1810.
4-14.—Jacob: born November 19, 1721.
4-15.—Martje (Maria): born October 22, 1724.

IV-XII.—Hendrick Brinkerhoff had five children, viz.: (1) Cobus, who had two sons and a daughter (Hendrick and Garret), and a son of one of them (Garret) was the Rev. James G. Brinkerhoff; (2) Nicoussie, who had one son, who died a youth, and three daughters; (3) George, who had four sons (Hendrick, Jacob, Cobus, and Cornelius), and a son of one of them (Hendrick) was sheriff; George Brinkerhoff; (4) Hendrick; (5) Ann.

IV-XIII.—Joris Brinkerhoff, the common ancestor of the Pennsylvania, Central New York, and Western Brinkerhoff's, wrong married ~~Baeltie Demarest~~, daughter of David Demarest, in November, 1745, and settled upon a farm about a mile south of the present railroad station at Demarest. Here he resided until his removal to Pennsylvania in 1770, and here all his children were born.

In 1770 he emigrated to York County (now Adams), Pa., and settled upon a farm of five hundred and twenty acres, about four miles northeast of the present city of Gettysburg, and between what are now known as the Harrisburg State Road and the York Pike.

The house he built and lived in all his life remained until a few years ago, when it was taken down to give place for a modern structure. It was built of concrete, and the walls were two feet thick. The work was done by his slaves, and two or three summers were taken for its completion.

CHILDREN.

5-16.—James: born November 23, 1746; died May, 1813.
5-17.—Roelof; born November 10, 1748; died February 28, 1830.
5-18.—Henry; born July 4, 1751; died unmarried.
5-19.—Gilbert; born February 22, 1753.
5-20—Jacob; born February 22, 1756; died November 13, 1829.
5-21.—John; born April 6, 1759; died May 13, 1838.
5-22.—George; born February 28, 1761; died May 29, 1813.

IV-XIV.—Jacob Brinkerhoff, son of Jacobus, had six children, viz.: (1) Agnitie, married to David Haring; (2) Lucas, who emigrated with his uncle Joris to Pennsylvania, and thence to Cayuga County, N. Y.; (3) Nautie (Hannah), who married John Christie; (4) Cobus; (5) Hendrick, who died unmarried; (6) Albert, who left two sons (Jacob and Albert) and a daughter (Ann), who married David Christie.

V-XVI.—James (Cobus, or Jacobus in Dutch) Brinkerhoff was born in Bergen County, New Jersey, November 23, 1746. He married Catrintie (Catharine) Voorhees, and remained in Bergen County until his removal to Pennsylvania.

When his father (Joris) removed to Pennsylvania in 1770, he purchased farms for all his married sons. The land assigned to James consisted of two hundred and thirty-six acres, near his father's (now owned by David Sunrigner), and here he settled, and remained until his removal to New York.

In 1796 he followed his brothers to New York with all his family, except his eldest son, Henry.

He settled upon a farm about two miles south of Brinkerhoff's Point, in the town of Niles, near the Owasco Lake, where he remained until his death, in 1813, and where his grandson James still resides.

Like his brothers, he was a man of sterling integrity, an active member of the Dutch Church, and a worthy citizen in all the relations of life.

He had six

CHILDREN.

6-23.—Henry, born August 9, 1770; died October 1, 1847.
6-24.—Luke.
6-25.—Jacob V.
6-26.—George.
6-27.—Albert.
6-28.—James.

V-XVII.—Roelif (Ralph in English), the second son of Joris, was born in Bergen County, N. J., November 10, 1748, and remained with his father until the family emigrated to Pennsylvania in 1770.

In the autumn of that year he returned to New Jersey, and married Baeltie (Isabella) Demarest, a daughter of David Demarest, of Bergen County.

The Demarest family was of Huguenot extraction, and dates back to David Demarest, who landed in New York April 16, 1663, in company with the other French refugees who came over from Amsterdam in the ship "Brindled Cow," fleeing from religious persecution in their native land.

It would seem that Roelif and his wife remained in Bergen County for a year or two, for their first child, Martyntie (Martina), is recorded in the records of the Schraalenburg church as baptized September 13, 1772.

However, in 1773 we find him upon a farm of two hundred and forty-four acres in his father's neighborhood in Adams County, Pa., which is now owned by Rufus A. Eichelberger.

Here he resided until his removal to New York in 1793, when he located upon a farm on the north side of Brinkerhoff's Point, on the Owasco Lake, on what is known as Lot 84, and where he remained until his death, February 28, 1830.

His wife survived him several years.

Roelif Brinkerhoff was the master spirit of the colony from Conewago, and was a man every way entitled to leadership; and his wife was in every respect a helpmeet for him.

The following description of this worthy couple, by his oldest grandson now living, Peter S. Brinkerhoff (a worthy representative of his grandfather, and of the same commanding height), who resides at Compton, California, presents a graphic picture, which is fully confirmed by all other accounts we have of him. He says:

"When grandfather died, at the age of eighty two years one month and eighteen days, I was but a mere boy, yet I remember him very well. In appearance he was of commanding figure, tall, about six feet four inches, straight, of compact form, possessing much physical strength and much endurance, though in later years age and much physical labor inclined his form somewhat forward.

"In character he was a positive man. For many continuous years he was an elder, or deacon, in the Dutch Reformed Church in Owasco, a prominent man in all church and religious movements, and, what is of more importance, an honest Christian at home. His daily life was permeated with the principles of his religion, and he practised at home what he professed abroad. In manner he was a plain, blunt man, but very affable, pleasant, agreeable and generous.

"As to his habits, in an eminent degree he was temperate, industrious, and economical, and possessing much energy of character.

"An anecdote, one of many I could relate, will illustrate his character for decision and promptness, from which people had learned that what he said he meant to perform.

"On account of the doctrines preached by Domine Ten Eyck, minister in the old Dutch Reformed Church at Owasco, a very respectable part of the membership withdrew, because, as they claimed, Ten Eyck did not preach in their purity the doctrines of the church. Thereupon, Ten Eyck was called to an account by the Church Consistory, and promised to preach no more Hopkinsian tenets, but in a short time he preached again the same offensive doctrines. After considerable remonstrance he persisted in his course. Finding they were not accomplishing anything, grandfather exclaimed: "To your tents, O Israel!" and left. The seceders went and held their services in the schoolhouse near the old church building.

"The seceders, having contributed largely to the erection of the old church edifice, claimed the right to occupy it a part of the time. The other party claimed the right of occupying it all the time, and, having the key in their possession, kept the doors of the church locked, so that the seceders could not gain entrance. Grandfather thought this state of things unendurable, that his rights—in common with the rights of other seceders—were trampled upon. So, accordingly, he gave the opposing party to understand that if the church doors were locked on the next Sabbath morning he would open them. Accordingly, on the next Saturday evening he went to the saw-mill and got the heavy iron bar with which logs were moved, brought it up to the house, put it in the wagon, and on Sunday morning went to church, and, whilst my father was tying the horses, grandfather shouldered the iron bar, and went direct to the church doors, but found them unlocked, and he passed in.

"If the doors had been locked he would have battered them down instantly. The opposing party, knowing him to be equal to the emergency, and that he was always as good as his word, unlocked the doors.

"Our grandmother was also of marked decision and energy of character. It required much mental heroism to leave the refined society of friends and home to meet the vicissitudes, trials and privations incident to early pioneer life in the then unbroken wilderness.

"Grandmother was a woman of strong convictions and of decidedly religious characteristics, rearing her children to the practice of integrity, virtue, and the nobler qualities of the human soul, and she met all the trials of the wilderness with cheerfulness, contentment and courage.

"Such was the early life of our pioneer sires, all honor to their names."

Another account of Roelif describes him as "a man over six feet tall, of strong, muscular form, light complexion, light hair, nose large and inclined to Roman, not much of a talker, grave and sedate. He was a very pious man, and his conversation was largely confined to religious subjects; was an officer in the Dutch Church, and a leading man in all local affairs."

The religious temper of his mind is fully indicated by the following letter to his brother, written in Dutch, with faultless chirography.

Owasco, June 17.

Very Dear Brother:

I let you know on this occasion that we are still enjoying good health. So I wish you the same. I was glad to hear from you that you were again restored, in part, through the goodness of the Lord.

I would desire very much to see you once. I have desired to see you now more for a time than ever before. I thought if the Lord will, and we live, we may possibly come next fall, but it is but a perhaps.

We have had a letter from Conewago recently, that they were still well. Further, I let you know with gladness with regard to the state of the church. It looks still, thus far, very well. The new converts are yet very zealous. Oh, what are we, or what is our Father's house, that the Lord has thought of us. I wish not to glory but in the Lord. We had celebration of the Lord's Supper of late, and there were ninety persons who participated. Oh, that the Lord might grant us to continue unto the end, to make us walk in the fear of God, and also I wish myself for you the blessing of the Lord.

The greeting to you all of

Roelif Brinkerhoff;

Thus he lived and thus he died, an earnest Christian, a kind husband and father, a good citizen, and a true man in all the relations of life.

CHILDREN.

6-28.—Martyntie: born August 20, 1772; died May, 1843.

6-29.—David R.: baptized March 17, 1776; died September 15, 1822.

6-30.—James: baptized June 14, 1778; died unmarried.

6-31.—Margreta: baptized June 4, 1780; died 1867.

6-32.—Annatie; baptized November 8, 1782.

6-33.—Joris R.: born February 19, 1785; died November 7, 1849.

6-34.—Hendrick R.: born September 23, 1787; died April 30, 1844.

6-35.—Maria: baptized June, 1770; died unmarried.

V-XVIII.—Hendrick Brinkerhoff, third son of Joris, was born in Bergen County, New Jersey, July 4, 1751. He went with his father to Adams County, Pennsylvania, and lived there until his death. He was a soldier in the Revolution during the entire war, and died soon after its close from diseases contracted in the army. He was named in his father's will as

County, Pa., and thence in 1793 to Cayuga County, N. Y. At that time the lands now constituting the site of the City of Auburn was owned by Col. John S. Hardenbergh, who had been a government surveyor, and from his knowledge of the country had selected these lands on the water power upon the stream running through them, and which is now used so largely for manufacturing purposes. His house was the only one in that region when the Conewago Colony arrived, and there the first church was organized. Colonel Hardenbergh very soon became acquainted with the families of the colony, and, on the nineteenth of January, 1796, married Martina Brinkerhoff.

They resided all their lives in Auburn, and as the hamlet grew into a city, Colonel Hardenbergh's lands became very valuable, and his family became wealthy.

Martina survived her husband many years, and died May, 1843.

Their son, John H. Hardenbergh, with his mother, inherited the property, and resided at Auburn until his death, June 11, 1862. He left daughters only, one of whom (Maria) married Rev. Milton Waldo, and resides at Amherst, Mass. Another (Catharine) married Rev. Herrick Johnson, and resides at Chicago, Ill.

VI-XXIX.—David Brinkerhoff, eldest son of Roelif, married and settled upon a farm upon the Owasco Lake, but upon the death of his brother-in-law, Col. Hardenbergh, he became his executor, and removed to Auburn, where he resided until his death.

He was one of the leading men in Auburn, and held many responsible positions in church and state. He was a paymaster in the army during the war of 1812, and a member of the constitutional convention of the State of New York.

He married Catharine Van Middlesworth December 12, 1804. They had three children, Sarah B., Roeliff, and Isabel. Roeliff died in infancy. Isabel died unmarried. Sarah B. married Henry Ivison, who for many years was the head of the great publishing house of Ivison, Phinney & Co., now Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co., of which his son David is the head.

VI-XXXI.—Margareta Brinkerhoff married Richard Parsell, of Owasco, and resided all her life upon a farm about a mile southeast of the old homestead of her father, and died at the advanced age of eighty-seven years. She was a most excellent Christian woman, and was beloved by all who knew her. She left several children, and many grandchildren. One of her daughters married Rev. E. Hammond, who resides with her family at Closter, Bergen Co., N. J.

VI-XXXII.—Annatie (Hannah) Brinkerhoff married Dr. Josiah Bevier, who was one of the most eminent physicians of his day. She left three sons, one of whom, Dr. Roelif Bevier, died recently at Plymouth, Ohio, and was the leading physician there.

VI-XXXIII.—George R. Brinkerhoff, youngest son of Roeliff, was born in Adams County, Pa., February 19, 1785, and came to Owasco, N. Y. with his parents. He received a good academic education. He learned surveying and practiced it largely. In the war of 1812 he was a quartermaster in the army, and for a time was stationed at Fort George.

In 1814, at the close of the war, he married Jacomyntie Bevier, who was born in Ulster Co., N. Y., in 1794, and commenced farming on lot eleven in the town of Sempronius, now Niles. He removed thence, after about seven years, to the town of Owasco, to the farm now owned by his son David, situated on lot eighty-four, on the lake road, where he continued to reside till his death, which occurred on the street in the city of Auburn, from heart disease, November 7, 1849. His wife died July 4, 1830.

George R. Brinkerhoff was a prominent man in his town. He was a Democrat in politics, and was honored by his party with many offices of trust and responsibility, among them that of Supervisor several terms, Justice of the Peace a long time, and Assessor. He was a member of the Dutch Reformed Church of Owasco, in which, for a long time, he held the office of elder.

His nephew, the Hon. John I. Brinkerhoff, who knew him all his active life, says of him: "George R. Brinkerhoff I always regarded as one of our best men, a kind and obliging neighbor, and faithful friend. He was unassuming in his habits, a leading member and elder of his church, and always consulted in matters pertaining to it; and his counsel and advice was often sought upon other matters by his neighbors."

* NOTE.—It will be noticed that in the later documents the name is written George instead of Joris, and the l is dropped, and the final f is doubled in the surname.

So with the sons: Jacobus is written James; Guilbert, Gilbert; Hendrick, Henry, etc. It was the transition period with all Dutch names.

In his will his son Henry is named as one of the executors, and also as one of the legatees, and yet the settlement papers seem to show that Henry, the eldest son of James, acted as executor, and the traditions of the family are that Henry, the son of Joris, died shortly after the close of the Revolutionary war.

THE NEW YORK COLONY.

TO many of the emigrants from New Jersey to Conewago the change evidently was not satisfactory, for, in a few years, one part of them removed to Kentucky (none of them Brinkerhoffs), and a few years later, in 1793, another part moved northward to Central New York, and the result was that the colony was so depleted that the Dutch families remaining were not sufficiently numerous to keep up their church organization.

Rev. George G. Brinkerhoff was the last pastor, and after his resignation, the few Dutch families still on the ground became affiliated with the Presbyterian Church at Hunterstown, which, in its faith and organization, was substantialy the same as that of the Dutch Reformed Church.

The circumstances under which the emigration to Central New York (Cayuga County) was made are worthy of notice.

The aborigines of the north, as is well known, possessed more vigor than those of the south. From 1775 to 1794 the most powerful confederacy of Indians in America was that of the Six Nations, who occupied what is now Ohio, together with large portions of Northern Pennsylvania and Western New York. The districts indicated continued inaccessible to white settlers even after Kentucky had become a State.

The massacre of Wyoming, of bitter memory, was by the Six Nations, at the instigation of the tories in 1778.

Successes against this confederacy were few and of small consequence until after the massacre just mentioned; but that awakened a widespread and fierce indignation, which could only be satisfied with such just retribution as was inflicted on the Indians by General Sullivan. He fought the bloody battle of the Chemung, about where the city of Elmira now stands, in 1779, and at the same time burned nearly fifty of their villages in the Genesee valley; but not until the famous crushing victory of "Mad Anthony Wayne," as the people called him, in 1794, was the red man's power, even so far east as the Susquehanna, finally and forever destroyed.

These two victories made the country about the lakes of New York safe, and hardly was the way to it open before some adventurous spirits of the Conewago colony hastened to make use of it. They were among the very first to seek homes in that direction, and the eventful century which has now almost intervened between us and them has justified their wisdom and foresight.

This pioneer colony consisted of ten families, and their journey "through the wilderness to the promised land" is graphically described in a recent letter from the venerable and honored John I. Brinkerhoff, the son of one of the leaders of this colony, and who still resides (1886) upon lands there located. He says: "Your grandfather, Roeliff Brinkerhoff, and my father, his brother, Jacob Brinkerhoff, left Gettysburg, Pa., April 30, 1793, with their families, in company with eight other families, for (as it was called) the Genesee, or lake country, in New York."

Among these eight families there was a Luke Brinkerhoff and his family. He was a cousin of Roeliff and Jacob, and came with them from Bergen County, N. J. His father was Jacob, a younger brother of Joris.

He settled in Wayne County, N. Y., and left a daughter, but no male descendants.

My father and mother had with them seven children, and my uncle Roeliff and my aunt Isabel (his wife) had eight children. Altogether there must have been a pretty large company. They came in tented wagons, and brought with them as much as they could of provisions and household stuff, such as they would need by the way and on their arrival here.

They got to this county (Cayuga) the fourth of July, having been two months and four days on the way. I will give a short narrative of their long journey, as I have often heard it related by my parents and others.

The State of Pennsylvania had been for some time engaged in opening a road through the wilderness to the Genesee or lake country. Gangs of men were employed on different sections, and this was their road to travel. Of course it was a rough road, the trees cut down, and logs got out of the way, with corduroy bridges over swampy places, so that wagons could pass. Sometimes they would come to the end of the road, that is, they would come up to a company of men who had not finished their section, and they would send a few men with axes and help them through to the next open section. There were no commodious hotels on this highway, but every settler who had got up a log house would take in all his little house would hold, so, when near night, if they came to one of these houses they would carry in bedding enough out of the wagons to cover the floor, and the women and children would sleep in the house, and the men in the wagons. If, when night overtook them, which often happened, and there was no house in sight, the women and children would sleep in the wagons, and the men on the ground under the wagons.

So they came on until they reached the Susquehanna river, near its junction with the Chemung river. Here they were held about two weeks, on account of high water, until the water was low enough to ford the river. From there they came to the head of Cayuga lake, where the village of Ithaca now stands, and so down the east side of the Cayuga lake to the south end of the county of Cayuga (in the town of Genoa, I think), and here they found some cleared land (or Indian fields, as they were called), and here they concluded to stop and take time to look around and decide where to make a permanent settlement. They put up some cabins for shelter, and although it was late, they put in some seed to raise some grain for the next year.

They remained here nearly two years, and in that time they explored the country, and finally purchased lands, and made their settlement near the foot of the Owasco lake, and most of them on the east side.

My father and uncle Roeliff purchased and settled on what has ever since been called Brinkerhoff's Point, on the east side of the lake, and about two and a half miles from the foot. They took possession in the spring of 1795.

As soon as they were fairly located they organized a religious society in connection with the Dutch Reformed Church, with my father and uncle two of its officers. The society took its corporate form and title at a meeting held in the house of Col. John L. Hardenbergh, at Hardenbergh's Corners (now the city of Auburn).

I think there were four settlers within the limits of the present town of Owasco when our people came here.

When the Gettysburg colony came here in 1793 there was but one house (that of Col. John L. Hardenbergh) where the city of Auburn now stands.

From 1795 and onwards emigrants came in rapidly, and in 1797 they erected a log meeting house, the first church edifice in Cayuga county. It stood about fifteen rods south of the bridge on our farm, on the east side of the road, and was in use until 1815, when the new church, erected in Owasco village, was occupied.

Provisions were somewhat scarce the first two or three years, especially grain, as hardly enough was raised to supply the incoming emigrants, so they had to economize pretty close.

They did not suffer for want of meat, as the game in the woods, and fish in the lake and creeks, supplied that. So they were never in a starving condition.

Two years after their settlement on the Owasco (1796), they were joined by James Brinkerhoff, and still later (1808) by the Rev. George G. Brinkerhoff and his family.

The three pioneer Brinkerhoffs, James, Roeliff, and Jacob, were all their lives among the leading men of the county, in the church, and in business, and none were more respected or worthy.

The Brinkerhoff lands extended perhaps half a mile north and south of Brinkerhoff point on the lake, and is one of the most beautiful, as well as one of the most fertile locations in Central New York, and the farms carved out of these lands are still among the most valuable in that region. The Hon. John I. Brinkerhoff (son of Jacob), and David Brinkerhoff (grandson of Roelef), still reside here with several of their children. Brinkerhoff Point is about five miles south of the city of Auburn.

The Owasco Lake, which is about twelve miles long, with an average width of one mile, is one of the most beautiful sheets of water in America, and its shores are now largely occupied by summer villas of wealthy city owners.

Here, along the eastern shore of the Owasco, the Brinkerhoff's took root, and here many of their descendants still remain, good men and women, and worthy citizens of the State.

GENEALOGICAL RECORD.

FIRST, SECOND, THIRD AND FOURTH GENERATIONS.

AT the death of Joris Brinkerhoff, in 1810, there were living of his descendants six sons and forty-nine grandchildren. Of these grandchildren twenty-seven were males and twenty-two females. Only two of them are now living: John I. Brinkerhoff of Owasco, N. Y.,* and Lucretia, widow of David Schreiver, of Hunterstown, Pa.

The following genealogical record will show their distribution, and their line of descent from Joris Dircksen, the founder of the family in America. It will also give an outline of subsequent additions to these families, as an aid to those of the present generation in preserving and furnishing the necessary family records for the compilation of the larger history of the family to be published hereafter.

Brief biographical sketches of a few heads of families are also given, and it is hoped that every family which has been omitted will at once make up a complete record on the plan we have adopted, in a direct line from Joris Brinkerhoff, who settled in Pennsylvania in 1770, together with biographical sketches, and forward to address of General R. Brinkerhoff, Mansfield, Ohio, and preserve a copy for themselves.

As soon as all the descendants are thus presented, a complete history can be published. Errors in the present publication (and doubtless there are some) should also be noted for correction.

I-I.—Joris Dircksen Brinkerhoff, the founder of the American branch of the Brinkerhoff family, came from the Province of Drenthe, in the Netherlands, and having lived for some time at Flushing, in the Province of Zealand, emigrated to the New Netherlands (now New York) in 1638, and settled upon a farm within the present limits of the city of Brooklyn, where he resided until his death, January 16, 1661. ticulars of his career in the New World see ante, pages 13 to 16.

He married Susannah Dubbels, and all his children were born in Holland.

In a book entitled "The Early Settlers of Kings County" it is stated that "Joris Dircksen Brinckerhoef arrived in 1638. He settled on Staten Island, and entered into a contract with Cornelius Melyn, the owner of the island, to reside there; but owing to the murder of some of the neighboring planters by the Indians, in 1641, he obtained a release from the contract August 15, 1641. He went to Long Island, and settled in Brooklyn. He died January 16, 1661."

From other sources it would seem that the Cornelius Melyn mentioned above was the son-in-law of Joris, and the first husband of Altie. After his death she married William Covenhoven.

CHILDREN.

2–2.—Dirck: killed by Indians on Staten Island.
2–3.—Hendrick: born about 1630; died about 1710.
2–4.—Abraham: born 1632; died about 1714.
2–5.—Altie: married William Covenhoven.

II–III.—Hendrick Joerisen Brinkerhoff married Claasie, daughter of Cornelius Boomgaert, and settled in Hempstead, Long Island, where he remained until his removal to New Jersey during the Revolutionary War.

In 1677 he purchased a tract of land in Bergen, now a part of Jersey City, which, after his death, became the residence of his widow and his son Cornelius, and on this tract some of his descendants still reside.

In 1679 he joined with a few other Dutchmen from Bergen and purchased the Indian title to the site of what is now Passaic City, but soon afterwards disposed of his interest there, and subsequently purchased of Hendrick Epske Banta, by deed bearing date June 17, 1685, the farm upon the Hackensack, just below the present Ridgefield Park Station, on the West Shore Railroad, and formerly known as old Hackensack, upon which he resided until his death, and which remained in the family until 1878.

In "The Early Settlers of Kings County," page 49, it is stated as follows: "Hendrick Jorise married Claasie Cornelise Boomgaert or Bougoert, of Middlewout (Flushing). Name on Indian deed of Flushing of 1670, and on Assembly roll of 1675. Member of the Hempstead Assembly of 1665, from Flushing, and a magistrate of said town in 1662–'63 and '73. Removed from Flushing to the eastern branch of the Hackensack River, N. J., where he bought land June 17, 1685. His descendants in New Jersey sometimes write their names Blinckerhoff. Issue: Susanna; baptized January, 1661; married Roelof Von Der Linde, of Hackensack. Cornelius married Algie Vreeland, and resided at Hackensack. Dirck, of Hackensack, married Margaret Siba Banta; and Jacobus, of Hackensack, baptized March 29, 1685, married Angenietye Banta."

In a book entitled "Hudson County (N. J.) Land Titles," page 136, it is stated "The Dutch West India Company deeded (Lot No. 13 on map) to Jan Evertse Bout, and he to Michael Jansen. Jansen's widow, Fitjie Hartmans, sold to Claes Jansen De Bocker, December 20, 1667. De Bocker conveyed the same, May 30, 1667, to Hendrick Jorise Van Blinkerhoef; he conveyed it to his son Cornelius, February 24, 1708."

This seems to have been his first purchase in New Jersey, and to this property his widow and his son Cornelius removed after his death. He had five children, of whom we have historic record, but some accounts name a sixth child, a daughter named Gertie, born February 20, 1670, which is probably correct, and that the child died in infancy.

CHILDREN.

3–6.—Margrietje: born June 13, 1671.
3–7.—Cornelius: born 1673; died September 1, 1770.
3–8.—Joris: born 1673; died February 5, 1692.
3–9.—Dirck.
3–10.—Jacobus: baptized March 29, 1685; died 1770.

III–VI.—Margrietje Brinkerhoff married Mattys De Mott, of Kingston, May 6, 1705; united with the Hackensack Church October 5, 1701.

III.–VII.—Cornelius Brinkerhoff: born in Middlewout, L. I.; married Aegie Vreeland May 24, 1708: died September 1, 1770, aged 97 years. He was sometimes called Cornelius Hendricksen Van Blinkerhoff. He united with the Hackensack Church April 8, 1699.

III-IX.—Dirck Brinkerhoff united with the Hackensack Church April 8, 1699; married, first, Margrietje Sibese Banta, October 31, 1702; second, Abigal Ackerman, October, 1733.

III-X.—Jacobus Brinkerhoff, like his father, Hendrick, and his grandfather, Joris, was a man of high character and standing in the community in which he lived. At the death of his father he and his brother Dirck took the paternal homestead upon the Hackensack, where he resided until his death. He was a county magistrate, an elder of the church (of which all his family were members), and a man of mark in all the relations of life. In a stone, in the corner of the church at Hackensack, his name is cut in bold letters as one of its early founders.

He married Agnitie Banta, daughter of Hendrick Banta, April 17, 1708, by whom he had five

CHILDREN.

4-11.—Hartman: born May 1, 1709.
4-12.—Hendrick: born November 1, 1710; died 1760.
4-13.—Joris: born October 9, 1719; died January 3, 1810.
4-14.—Jacob: born November 19, 1721.
4-15.—Martje (Maria): born October 22, 1724.

IV-XII.—Hendrick Brinkerhoff had five children, viz.: (1) Cobus, who had two sons and a daughter (Hendrick and Garret), and a son of one of them (Garret) was the Rev. James G. Brinkerhoff; (2) Nicoussie, who had one son, who died a youth, and three daughters; (3) George, who had four sons (Hendrick, Jacob, Cobus, and Cornelius), and a son of one of them (Hendrick) was sheriff; George Brinkerhoff; (4) Hendrick; (5) Ann.

IV-XIII.—Joris Brinkerhoff, the common ancestor of the Pennsylvania, Central New York, and Western Brinkerhoff's, married Baeltie Demarest, daughter of David Demarest, in November, 1745, and settled upon a farm about a mile south of the present railroad station at Demarest. Here he resided until his removal to Pennsylvania in 1770, and here all his children were born.

In 1770 he emigrated to York County (now Adams), Pa., and settled upon a farm of five hundred and twenty acres, about four miles northeast of the present city of Gettysburg, and between what are now known as the Harrisburg State Road and the York Pike.

The house he built and lived in all his life remained until a few years ago, when it was taken down to give place for a modern structure. It was built of concrete, and the walls were two feet thick. The work was done by his slaves, and two or three summers were taken for its completion.

CHILDREN.

5-16.—James: born November 23, 1746; died May, 1813.
5-17.—Roelef; born November 10, 1748; died February 28, 1830.
5-18.—Henry; born July 4, 1751; died unmarried.
5-19.—Gilbert; born February 22, 1753.
5-20—Jacob; born February 22, 1756; died November 13, 1829.
5-21.—John; born April 6, 1759; died May 13, 1838.
5-22.—George; born February 28, 1761; died May 29, 1813.

IV-XIV.—Jacob Brinkerhoff, son of Jacobus, had six children, viz.: (1) Agnitie, married to David Haring; (2) Lucas, who emigrated with his uncle Joris to Pennsylvania, and thence to Cayuga County, N. Y.; (3) Nautie (Hannah), who married John Christie; (4) Cobus; (5) Hendrick, who died unmarried; (6) Albert, who left two sons (Jacob and Albert) and a daughter (Ann), who married David Christie.

V-XVI.—James (Cobus, or Jacobus in Dutch) Brinkerhoff was born in Bergen County, New Jersey, November 23, 1746. He married Catrintie (Catharine) Voorhees, and remained in Bergen County until his removal to Pennsylvania.

When his father (Joris) removed to Pennsylvania in 1770, he purchased farms for all his married sons. The land assigned to James consisted of two hundred and thirty-six acres, near his father's (now owned by David Sunrigner), and here he settled, and remained until his removal to New York.

In 1796 he followed his brothers to New York with all his family, except his eldest son, Henry.

He settled upon a farm about two miles south of Brinkerhoff's Point, in the town of Niles, near the Owasco Lake, where he remained until his death, in 1813, and where his grandson James still resides.

Like his brothers, he was a man of sterling integrity, an active member of the Dutch Church, and a worthy citizen in all the relations of life.

He had six

CHILDREN.

6-23.—Henry, born August 9, 1770; died October 1, 1847.
6-24.—Luke.
6-25.—Jacob V.
6-26.—George.
6-27.—Albert.
6-28.—James.

V-XVII.—Roelif (Ralph in English), the second son of Joris, was born in Bergen County, N. J., November 10, 1748, and remained with his father until the family emigrated to Pennsylvania in 1770.

In the autumn of that year he returned to New Jersey, and married Baeltie (Isabella) Demarest, a daughter of David Demarest, of Bergen County.

The Demarest family was of Huguenot extraction, and dates back to David Demarest, who landed in New York April 16, 1663, in company with the other French refugees who came over from Amsterdam in the ship "Brindled Cow," fleeing from religious persecution in their native land.

It would seem that Roelif and his wife remained in Bergen County for a year or two, for their first child, Martyntie (Martina), is recorded in the records of the Schraalenburg church as baptized September 13, 1772.

However, in 1773 we find him upon a farm of two hundred and forty-four acres in his father's neighborhood in Adams County, Pa., which is now owned by Rufus A. Eichelberger.

Here he resided until his removal to New York in 1793, when he located upon a farm on the north side of Brinkerhoff's Point, on the Owasco Lake, on what is known as Lot 84, and where he remained until his death, February 28, 1830. His wife survived him several years.

Roelif Brinkerhoff was the master spirit of the colony from Conewago, and was a man every way entitled to leadership; and his wife was in every respect a helpmeet for him.

The following description of this worthy couple, by his oldest grandson now living, Peter S. Brinkerhoff (a worthy representative of his grandfather, and of the same commanding height), who resides at Compton, California, presents a graphic picture, which is fully confirmed by all other accounts we have of him. He says:

"When grandfather died, at the age of eighty two years one month and eighteen days, I was but a mere boy, yet I remember him very well. In appearance he was of commanding figure, tall, about six feet four inches, straight, of compact form, possessing much physical strength and much endurance, though in later years age and much physical labor inclined his form somewhat forward.

"In character he was a positive man. For many continuous years he was an elder, or deacon, in the Dutch Reformed Church in Owasco, a prominent man in all church and religious movements, and, what is of more importance, an honest Christian at home. His daily life was permeated with the principles of his religion, and he practised at home what he professed abroad. In manner he was a plain, blunt man, but very affable, pleasant, agreeable and generous.

"As to his habits, in an eminent degree he was temperate, industrious, and economical, and possessing much energy of character.

"An anecdote, one of many I could relate, will illustrate his character for decision and promptness, from which people had learned that what he said he meant to perform.

"On account of the doctrines preached by Domine Ten Eyck, minister in the old Dutch Reformed Church at Owasco, a very respectable part of the membership withdrew, because, as they claimed, Ten Eyck did not preach in their purity the doctrines of the church. Thereupon, Ten Eyck was called to an account by the Church Consistory, and promised to preach no more Hopkinsian tenets, but in a short time he preached again the same offensive doctrines. After considerable remonstrance he persisted in his course. Finding they were not accomplishing anything, grandfather exclaimed: "To your tents, O Israel!" and left. The seceders went and held their services in the schoolhouse near the old church building.

"The seceders, having contributed largely to the erection of the old church edifice, claimed the right to occupy it a part of the time. The other party claimed the right of occupying it all the time, and, having the key in their possession, kept the doors of the church locked, so that the seceders could not gain entrance. Grandfather thought this state of things unendurable, that his rights—in common with the rights of other seceders—were trampled upon. So, accordingly, he gave the opposing party to understand that if the church doors were locked on the next Sabbath morning he would open them. Accordingly, on the next Saturday evening he went to the saw-mill and got the heavy iron bar with which logs were moved, brought it up to the house, put it in the wagon, and on Sunday morning went to church, and, whilst my father was tying the horses, grandfather shouldered the iron bar, and went direct to the church doors, but found them unlocked, and he passed in.

"If the doors had been locked he would have battered them down instantly. The opposing party, knowing him to be equal to the emergency, and that he was always as good as his word, unlocked the doors.

"Our grandmother was also of marked decision and energy of character. It required much mental heroism to leave the refined society of friends and home to meet the vicissitudes, trials and privations incident to early pioneer life in the then unbroken wilderness.

"Grandmother was a woman of strong convictions and of decidedly religious characteristics, rearing her children to the practice of integrity, virtue, and the nobler qualities of the human soul, and she met all the trials of the wilderness with cheerfulness, contentment and courage.

"Such was the early life of our pioneer sires, all honor to their names."

Another account of Roelif describes him as "a man over six feet tall, of strong, muscular form, light complexion, light hair, nose large and inclined to Roman, not much of a talker, grave and sedate. He was a very pious man, and his conversation was largely confined to religious subjects; was an officer in the Dutch Church, and a leading man in all local affairs."

The religious temper of his mind is fully indicated by the following letter to his brother, written in Dutch, with faultless chirography.

OWASCO, June 17.

VERY DEAR BROTHER:

I let you know on this occasion that we are still enjoying good health. So I wish you the same. I was glad to hear from you that you were again restored, in part, through the goodness of the Lord.

I would desire very much to see you once. I have desired to see you now more for a time than ever before. I thought if the Lord will, and we live, we may possibly come next fall, but it is but a perhaps.

We have had a letter from Conewago recently, that they were still well. Further, I let you know with gladness with regard to the state of the church. It looks still, thus far, very well. The new converts are yet very zealous. Oh, what are we, or what is our Father's house, that the Lord has thought of us. I wish not to glory but in the Lord. We had celebration of the Lord's Supper of late, and there were ninety persons who participated. Oh, that the Lord might grant us to continue unto the end, to make us walk in the fear of God, and also I wish myself for you the blessing of the Lord.

The greeting to you all of

ROELIF BRINKERHOFF,

Thus he lived and thus he died, an earnest Christian, a kind husband and father, a good citizen, and a true man in all the relations of life.

6-34.—Hendrick R.: born September 23, 1787; died April 30, 1844.

6-35.—Maria: baptized June, 1770; died unmarried.

V-XVIII.—Hendrick Brinkerhoff, third son of Joris, was born in Bergen County, New Jersey, July 4, 1751. He went with his father to Adams County, Pennsylvania, and lived there until his death. He was a soldier in the Revolution during the entire war, and died soon after its close from diseases contracted in the army. He was named in his father's will as

County, Pa., and thence in 1793 to Cayuga County, N. Y. At that time the lands now constituting the site of the City of Auburn was owned by Col. John S. Hardenbergh, who had been a government surveyor, and from his knowledge of the country had selected these lands on the water power upon the stream running through them, and which is now used so largely for manufacturing purposes. His house was the only one in that region when the Conewago Colony arrived, and there the first church was organized. Colonel Hardenbergh very soon became acquainted with the families of the colony, and, on the nineteenth of January, 1796, married Martina Brinkerhoff.

They resided all their lives in Auburn, and as the hamlet grew into a city, Colonel Hardenbergh's lands became very valuable, and his family became wealthy.

Martina survived her husband many years, and died May, 1843.

Their son, John H. Hardenbergh, with his mother, inherited the property, and resided at Auburn until his death, June 11, 1862. He left daughters only, ~~one of whom~~ (Maria) married Rev. Milton Waldo, and resides at Amherst, Mass. Another (Catharine) married Rev. Herrick Johnson, and resides at Chicago, Ill.

VI-XXIX.—David Brinkerhoff, eldest son of Roelif, married and settled upon a farm upon the Owasco Lake, but upon the death of his brother-in-law, Col. Hardenbergh, he became his executor, and removed to Auburn, where he resided until his death.

He was one of the leading men in Auburn, and held many responsible positions in church and state. He was a paymaster in the army during the war of 1812, and a member of the constitutional convention of the State of New York.

He married Catharine Van Middlesworth December 12, 1804. They had three children, Sarah B., Roeliff, and Isabel. Roeliff died in infancy. Isabel died unmarried. Sarah B. married Henry Ivison, who for many years was the head of the great publishing house of Ivison, Phinney & Co., now Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co., of which his son David is the head.

VI-XXXI.—Margareta Brinkerhoff married Richard Parsell, of Owasco, and resided all her life upon a farm about a mile southeast of the old homestead of her father, and died at the advanced age of eighty-seven years. She was a most excellent Christian woman, and was beloved by all who knew her. She left several children, and many grandchildren. One of her daughters married Rev. E. Hammond, who resides with her family at Closter, Bergen Co., N. J.

VI-XXXII.—Annatie (Hannah) Brinkerhoff married Dr. Josiah Bevier, who was one of the most eminent physicians of his day. She left three sons, one of whom, Dr. Roelif Bevier, died recently at Plymouth, Ohio, and was the leading physician there.

VI-XXXIII.—George R. Brinkerhoff, youngest son of Roeliff, was born in Adams County, Pa., February 19, 1785, and came to Owasco, N. Y. with his parents. He received a good academic education. He learned surveying and practiced it largely. In the war of 1812 he was a quartermaster in the army, and for a time was stationed at Fort George.

In 1814, at the close of the war, he married Jacomyntie Bevier, who was born in Ulster Co., N. Y., in 1794, and commenced farming on lot eleven in the town of Sempronius, now Niles. He removed thence, after about seven years, to the town of Owasco, to the farm now owned by his son David, situated on lot eighty-four, on the lake road, where he continued to reside till his death, which occurred on the street in the city of Auburn, from heart disease, November 7, 1849. His wife died July 4, 1830.

George R. Brinkerhoff was a prominent man in his town. He was a Democrat in politics, and was honored by his party with many offices of trust and responsibility, among them that of Supervisor several terms, Justice of the Peace a long time, and Assessor. He was a member of the Dutch Reformed Church of Owasco, in which, for a long time, he held the office of elder.

His nephew, the Hon. John I. Brinkerhoff, who knew him all his active life, says of him: "George R. Brinkerhoff I always regarded as one of our best men, a kind and obliging neighbor, and faithful friend. He was unassuming in his habits, a leading member and elder of his church, and always consulted in matters pertaining to it; and his counsel and advice was often sought upon other matters by his neighbors."

* NOTE.—It will be noticed that in the later documents the name is written George instead of Joris, and the l is dropped, and the final f is doubled in the surname.

So with the sons: Jacobus is written James; Guilbert, Gilbert; Hendrick, Henry, etc. It was the transition period with all Dutch names.

In his will his son Henry is named as one of the executors, and also as one of the legatees, and yet the settlement papers seem to show that Henry, the eldest son of James, acted as executor, and the traditions of the family are that Henry, the son of Joris, died shortly after the close of the Revolutionary war.

THE NEW YORK COLONY.

TO many of the emigrants from New Jersey to Conewago the change evidently was not satisfactory, for, in a few years, one part of them removed to Kentucky (none of them Brinkerhoffs), and a few years later, in 1793, another part moved northward to Central New York, and the result was that the colony was so depleted that the Dutch families remaining were not sufficiently numerous to keep up their church organization.

Rev. George G. Brinkerhoff was the last pastor, and after his resignation, the few Dutch families still on the ground became affiliated with the Presbyterian Church at Hunterstown, which, in its faith and organization, was substantialy the same as that of the Dutch Reformed Church.

The circumstances under which the emigration to Central New York (Cayuga County) was made are worthy of notice.

The aborigines of the north, as is well known, possessed more vigor than those of the south. From 1775 to 1794 the most powerful confederacy of Indians in America was that of the Six Nations, who occupied what is now Ohio, together with large portions of Northern Pennsylvania and Western New York. The districts indicated continued inaccessible to white settlers even after Kentucky had become a State.

The massacre of Wyoming, of bitter memory, was by the Six-Nations, at the instigation of the tories in 1778.

Successes against this confederacy were few and of small consequence until after the massacre just mentioned; but that awakened a widespread and fierce indignation, which could only be satisfied with such just retribution as was inflicted on the Indians by General Sullivan. He fought the bloody battle of the Chemung, about where the city of Elmira now stands, in 1779, and at the same time burned nearly fifty of their villages in the Genesee valley; but not until the famous crushing victory of "Mad Anthony Wayne," as the people called him, in 1794, was the red man's power, even so far east as the Susquehanna, finally and forever destroyed.

These two victories made the country about the lakes of New York safe, and hardly was the way to it open before some adventurous spirits of the Conewago colony hastened to make use of it. They were among the very first to seek homes in that direction, and the eventful century which has now almost intervened between us and them has justified their wisdom and foresight.

This pioneer colony consisted of ten families, and their journey "through the wilderness to the promised land" is graphically described in a recent letter from the venerable and honored John I. Brinkerhoff, the son of one of the leaders of this colony, and who still resides (1886) upon lands there located. He says: "Your grandfather, Roeliff Brinkerhoff, and my father, his brother, Jacob Brinkerhoff, left Gettysburg, Pa., April 30, 1793, with their families, in company with eight other families, for (as it was called) the Genesee, or lake country, in New York."

Among these eight families there was a Luke Brinkerhoff and his family. He was a cousin of Roeliff and Jacob, and came with them from Bergen County, N. J. His father was Jacob, a younger brother of Joris.

He settled in Wayne County, N. Y., and left a daughter, but no male descendants.

My father and mother had with them seven children, and my uncle Roeliff and my aunt Isabel (his wife) had eight children. Altogether there must have been a pretty large company. They came in tented wagons, and brought with them as much as they could of provisions and household stuff, such as they would need by the way and on their arrival here.

They got to this county (Cayuga) the fourth of July, having been two months and four days on the way. I will give a short narrative of their long journey, as I have often heard it related by my parents and others.

The State of Pennsylvania had been for some time engaged in opening a road through the wilderness to the Genesee or lake country. Gangs of men were employed on different sections, and this was their road to travel. Of course it was a rough road, the trees cut down, and logs got out of the way, with corduroy bridges over swampy places, so that wagons could pass. Sometimes they would come to the end of the road, that is, they would come up to a company of men who had not finished their section, and they would send a few men with axes and help them through to the next open section. There were no commodious hotels on this highway, but every settler who had got up a log house would take in all his little house would hold, so, when near night, if they came to one of these houses they would carry in bedding enough out of the wagons to cover the floor, and the women and children would sleep in the house, and the men in the wagons. If, when night overtook them, which often happened, and there was no house in sight, the women and children would sleep in the wagons, and the men on the ground under the wagons.

So they came on until they reached the Susquehanna river, near its junction with the Chemung river. Here they were held about two weeks, on account of high water, until the water was low enough to ford the river. From there they came to the head of Cayuga lake, where the village of Ithaca now stands, and so down the east side of the Cayuga lake to the south end of the county of Cayuga (in the town of Genoa, I think), and here they found some cleared land (or Indian fields, as they were called), and here they concluded to stop and take time to look around and decide where to make a permanent settlement. They put up some cabins for shelter, and although it was late, they put in some seed to raise some grain for the next year.

They remained here nearly two years, and in that time they explored the country, and finally purchased lands, and made their settlement near the foot of the Owasco lake, and most of them on the east side.

My father and uncle Roeliff purchased and settled on what has ever since been called Brinkerhoff's Point, on the east side of the lake, and about two and a half miles from the foot. They took possession in the spring of 1795.

As soon as they were fairly located they organized a religious society in connection with the Dutch Reformed Church, with my father and uncle two of its officers. The society took its corporate form and title at a meeting held in the house of Col. John L. Hardenbergh, at Hardenbergh's Corners (now the city of Auburn).

I think there were four settlers within the limits of the present town of Owasco when our people came here.

When the Gettysburg colony came here in 1793 there was but one house (that of Col. John L. Hardenbergh) where the city of Auburn now stands.

From 1795 and onwards emigrants came in rapidly, and in 1797 they erected a log meeting house, the first church edifice in Cayuga county. It stood about fifteen rods south of the bridge on our farm, on the east side of the road, and was in use until 1815, when the new church, erected in Owasco village, was occupied.

Provisions were somewhat scarce the first two or three years, especially grain, as hardly enough was raised to supply the incoming emigrants, so they had to economize pretty close.

They did not suffer for want of meat, as the game in the woods, and fish in the lake and creeks, supplied that. So they were never in a starving condition.

Two years after their settlement on the Owasco (1796), they were joined by James Brinkerhoff, and still later (1808) by the Rev. George G. Brinkerhoff and his family.

The three pioneer Brinkerhoffs, James, Roeliff, and Jacob, were all their lives among the leading men of the county, in the church, and in business, and none were more respected or worthy.

The Brinkerhoff lands extended perhaps half a mile north and south of Brinkerhoff point on the lake, and is one of the most beautiful, as well as one of the most fertile locations in Central New York, and the farms carved out of these lands are still among the most valuable in that region. The Hon. John I. Brinkerhoff (son of Jacob), and David Brinkerhoff (grandson of Roelef), still reside here with several of their children. Brinkerhoff Point is about five miles south of the city of Auburn.

The Owasco Lake, which is about twelve miles long, with an average width of one mile, is one of the most beautiful sheets of water in America, and its shores are now largely occupied by summer villas of wealthy city owners.

Here, along the eastern shore of the Owasco, the Brinkerhoff's took root, and here many of their descendants still remain, good men and women, and worthy citizens of the State.

GENEALOGICAL RECORD.

FIRST, SECOND, THIRD AND FOURTH GENERATIONS.

At the death of Joris Brinkerhoff, in 1810, there were living of his descendants six sons and forty-nine grandchildren. Of these grandchildren twenty-seven were males and twenty-two females. Only two of them are now living: John I. Brinkerhoff of Owasco, N. Y.,* and Lucretia, widow of David Schreiver, of Hunterstown, Pa.

The following genealogical record will show their distribution, and their line of descent from Joris Dircksen, the founder of the family in America. It will also give an outline of subsequent additions to these families, as an aid to those of the present generation in preserving and furnishing the necessary family records for the compilation of the larger history of the family to be published hereafter.

Brief biographical sketches of a few heads of families are also given, and it is hoped that every family which has been omitted will at once make up a complete record on the plan we have adopted, in a direct line from Joris Brinkerhoff, who settled in Pennsylvania in 1770, together with biographical sketches, and forward to address of General R. Brinkerhoff, Mansfield, Ohio, and preserve a copy for themselves.

As soon as all the descendants are thus presented, a complete history can be published. Errors in the present publication (and doubtless there are some) should also be noted for correction.

I-I.—Joris Dircksen Brinkerhoff, the founder of the American branch of the Brinkerhoff family, came from the Province of Drenthe, in the Netherlands, and having lived for some time at Flushing, in the Province of Zealand, emigrated to the New Netherlands (now New York) in 1638, and settled upon a farm within the present limits of the city of Brooklyn, where he resided until his death, January 16, 1661. ticulars of his career in the New World see ante, pages 13 to 16.

He married Susannah Dubbels, and all his children were born in Holland.

In a book entitled "The Early Settlers of Kings County" it is stated that "Joris Dircksen Brinckerhoef arrived in 1638. He settled on Staten Island, and entered into a contract with Cornelius Melyn, the owner of the island, to reside there; but owing to the murder of some of the neighboring planters by the Indians, in 1641, he obtained a release from the contract August 15, 1641. He went to Long Island, and settled in Brooklyn. He died January 16, 1661."

From other sources it would seem that the Cornelius Melyn mentioned above was the son-in-law of Joris, and the first husband of Altie. After his death she married William Covenhoven.

CHILDREN.

2-2.—Dirck: killed by Indians on Staten Island.
2-3.—Hendrick: born about 1630; died about 1710.
2-4.—Abraham: born 1632; died about 1714.
2-5.—Altie: married William Covenhoven.

II-III.—Hendrick Joerisen Brinkerhoff married Claasie, daughter of Cornelius Boomgaert, and settled in Hempstead, Long Island, where he remained until his removal to New Jersey during the Revolutionary War.

In 1677 he purchased a tract of land in Bergen, now a part of Jersey City, which, after his death, became the residence of his widow and his son Cornelius, and on this tract some of his descendants still reside.

In 1679 he joined with a few other Dutchmen from Bergen and purchased the Indian title to the site of what is now Passaic City, but soon afterwards disposed of his interest there, and subsequently purchased of Hendrick Epske Banta, by deed bearing date June 17, 1685, the farm upon the Hackensack, just below the present Ridgefield Park Station, on the West Shore Railroad, and formerly known as old Hackensack, upon which he resided until his death, and which remained in the family until 1878.

In "The Early Settlers of Kings County," page 49, it is stated as follows: "Hendrick Jorise married Claasie Cornelise Boomgaert or Bougoert, of Middlewout (Flushing). Name on Indian deed of Flushing of 1670, and on Assembly roll of 1675. Member of the Hempstead Assembly of 1665, from Flushing, and a magistrate of said town in 1662-'63 and '73. Removed from Flushing to the eastern branch of the Hackensack River, N. J., where he bought land June 17, 1685. His descendants in New Jersey sometimes write their names Blinckerhoff. Issue: Susanna; baptized January, 1661; married Roelof Von Der Linde, of Hackensack. Cornelius married Algie Vreeland, and resided at Hackensack. Dirck, of Hackensack, married Margaret Siba Banta; and Jacobus, of Hackensack, baptized March 29, 1685, married Angenietye Banta."

In a book entitled "Hudson County (N. J.) Land Titles," page 136, it is stated "The Dutch West India Company deeded (Lot No. 13 on map) to Jan Evertse Bout, and he to Michael Jansen. Jansen's widow, Fitjie Hartmans, sold to Claes Jansen De Bocker, December 20, 1667. De Bocker conveyed the same, May 30, 1667, to Hendrick Jorise Van Blinkerhoef; he conveyed it to his son Cornelius, February 24, 1708."

This seems to have been his first purchase in New Jersey, and to this property his widow and his son Cornelius removed after his death. He had five children, of whom we have historic record, but some accounts name a sixth child, a daughter named Gertie, born February 20, 1670, which is probably correct, and that the child died in infancy.

CHILDREN.

3-6.—Margrietje: born June 13, 1671.
3-7.—Cornelius: born 1673; died September 1, 1770.
3-8.—Joris: born 1673; died February 5, 1692.
3-9.—Dirck.
3-10.—Jacobus: baptized March 29, 1685; died 1770.

III-VI.—Margrietje Brinkerhoff married Mattys De Mott, of Kingston, May 6, 1705; united with the Hackensack Church October 5, 1701.

III.-VII.—Cornelius Brinkerhoff: born in Middlewout, L. I.; married Aegie Vreeland May 24, 1708: died September 1, 1770, aged 97 years. He was sometimes called Cornelius Hendricksen Van Blinkerhoff. He united with the Hackensack Church April 8, 1699.

III-IX.—Dirck Brinkerhoff united with the Hackensack Church April 8, 1699; married, first, Margrietje Sibese Banta, October 31, 1702; second, Abigal Ackerman, October, 1733.

III-X.—Jacobus Brinkerhoff, like his father, Hendrick, and his grandfather, Joris, was a man of high character and standing in the community in which he lived. At the death of his father he and his brother Dirck took the paternal homestead upon the Hackensack, where he resided until his death. He was a county magistrate, an elder of the church (of which all his family were members), and a man of mark in all the relations of life. In a stone, in the corner of the church at Hackensack, his name is cut in bold letters as one of its early founders.

He married Agnitie Banta, daughter of Hendrick Banta, April 17, 1708, by whom he had five

CHILDREN.

4-11.—Hartman: born May 1, 1709.
4-12.—Hendrick: born November 1, 1710; died 1760.
4-13.—Joris: born October 9, 1719; died January 3, 1810.
4-14.—Jacob: born November 19, 1721.
4-15.—Martje (Maria): born October 22, 1724.

IV-XII.—Hendrick Brinkerhoff had five children, viz.: (1) Cobus, who had two sons and a daughter (Hendrick and Garret), and a son of one of them (Garret) was the Rev. James G. Brinkerhoff; (2) Nicoussie, who had one son, who died a youth, and three daughters; (3) George, who had four sons (Hendrick, Jacob, Cobus, and Cornelius), and a son of one of them (Hendrick) was sheriff; George Brinkerhoff; (4) Hendrick; (5) Ann.

IV-XIII.—Joris Brinkerhoff, the common ancestor of the Pennsylvania, Central New York, and Western Brinkerhoff's, married Baeltie Demarest, daughter of David Demarest, in November, 1745, and settled upon a farm about a mile south of the present railroad station at Demarest. Here he resided until his removal to Pennsylvania in 1770, and here all his children were born.

In 1770 he emigrated to York County (now Adams), Pa., and settled upon a farm of five hundred and twenty acres, about four miles northeast of the present city of Gettysburg, and between what are now known as the Harrisburg State Road and the York Pike.

The house he built and lived in all his life remained until a few years ago, when it was taken down to give place for a modern structure. It was built of concrete, and the walls were two feet thick. The work was done by his slaves, and two or three summers were taken for its completion.

CHILDREN.

5-16.—James: born November 23, 1746; died May, 1813.
5-17.—Roelef; born November 10, 1748; died February 28, 1830.
5-18.—Henry; born July 4, 1751; died unmarried.
5-19.—Gilbert; born February 22, 1753.
5-20—Jacob; born February 22, 1756; died November 13, 1829.
5-21.—John; born April 6, 1759; died May 13, 1838.
5-22.—George; born February 28, 1761; died May 29, 1813.

IV-XIV.—Jacob Brinkerhoff, son of Jacobus, had six children, viz.: (1) Agnitie, married to David Haring; (2) Lucas, who emigrated with his uncle Joris to Pennsylvania, and thence to Cayuga County, N. Y.; (3) Nautie (Hannah), who married John Christie; (4) Cobus; (5) Hendrick, who died unmarried; (6) Albert, who left two sons (Jacob and Albert) and a daughter (Ann), who married David Christie.

V-XVI.—James (Cobus, or Jacobus in Dutch) Brinkerhoff was born in Bergen County, New Jersey, November 23, 1746. He married Catrintie (Catharine) Voorhees, and remained in Bergen County until his removal to Pennsylvania.

When his father (Joris) removed to Pennsylvania in 1770, he purchased farms for all his married sons. The land assigned to James consisted of two hundred and thirty-six acres, near his father's (now owned by David Sunrigner), and here he settled, and remained until his removal to New York.

In 1796 he followed his brothers to New York with all his family, except his eldest son, Henry.

He settled upon a farm about two miles south of Brinkerhoff's Point, in the town of Niles, near the Owasco Lake, where he remained until his death, in 1813, and where his grandson James still resides.

Like his brothers, he was a man of sterling integrity, an active member of the Dutch Church, and a worthy citizen in all the relations of life.

He had six

6-28.—James.

V-XVII.—Roelif (Ralph in English), the second son of Joris, was born in Bergen County, N. J., November 10, 1748, and remained with his father until the family emigrated to Pennsylvania in 1770.

In the autumn of that year he returned to New Jersey, and married Baeltie (Isabella) Demarest, a daughter of David Demarest, of Bergen County.

The Demarest family was of Huguenot extraction, and dates back to David Demarest, who landed in New York April 16, 1663, in company with the other French refugees who came over from Amsterdam in the ship "Brindled Cow," fleeing from religious persecution in their native land.

It would seem that Roelif and his wife remained in Bergen County for a year or two, for their first child, Martyntie (Martina), is recorded in the records of the Schraalenburg church as baptized September 13, 1772.

However, in 1773 we find him upon a farm of two hundred and forty-four acres in his father's neighborhood in Adams County, Pa., which is now owned by Rufus A. Eichelberger.

Here he resided until his removal to New York in 1793, when he located upon a farm on the north side of Brinkerhoff's Point, on the Owasco Lake, on what is known as Lot 84, and where he remained until his death, February 28, 1830. His wife survived him several years.

Roelif Brinkerhoff was the master spirit of the colony from Conewago, and was a man every way entitled to leadership; and his wife was in every respect a helpmeet for him.

The following description of this worthy couple, by his oldest grandson now living, Peter S. Brinkerhoff (a worthy representative of his grandfather, and of the same commanding height), who resides at Compton, California, presents a graphic picture, which is fully confirmed by all other accounts we have of him. He says:

"When grandfather died, at the age of eighty two years one month and eighteen days, I was but a mere boy, yet I remember him very well. In appearance he was of commanding figure, tall, about six feet four inches, straight, of compact form, possessing much physical strength and much endurance, though in later years age and much physical labor inclined his form somewhat forward.

"In character he was a positive man. For many continuous years he was an elder, or deacon, in the Dutch Reformed Church in Owasco, a prominent man in all church and religious movements, and, what is of more importance, an honest Christian at home. His daily life was permeated with the principles of his religion, and he practised at home what he professed abroad. In manner he was a plain, blunt man, but very affable, pleasant, agreeable and generous.

"As to his habits, in an eminent degree he was temperate, industrious, and economical, and possessing much energy of character.

"An anecdote, one of many I could relate, will illustrate his character for decision and promptness, from which people had learned that what he said he meant to perform.

"On account of the doctrines preached by Domine Ten Eyck, minister in the old Dutch Reformed Church at Owasco, a very respectable part of the membership withdrew, because, as they claimed, Ten Eyck did not preach in their purity the doctrines of the church. Thereupon, Ten Eyck was called to an account by the Church Consistory, and promised to preach no more Hopkinsian tenets, but in a short time he preached again the same offensive doctrines. After considerable remonstrance he persisted in his course. Finding they were not accomplishing anything, grandfather exclaimed: "To your tents, O Israel!" and left. The seceders went and held their services in the schoolhouse near the old church building.

"The seceders, having contributed largely to the erection of the old church edifice, claimed the right to occupy it a part of the time. The other party claimed the right of occupying it all the time, and, having the key in their possession, kept the doors of the church locked, so that the seceders could not gain entrance. Grandfather thought this state of things unendurable, that his rights—in common with the rights of other seceders—were trampled upon. So, accordingly, he gave the opposing party to understand that if the church doors were locked on the next Sabbath morning he would open them. Accordingly, on the next Saturday evening he went to the saw-mill and got the heavy iron bar with which logs were moved, brought it up to the house, put it in the wagon, and on Sunday morning went to church, and, whilst my father was tying the horses, grandfather shouldered the iron bar, and went direct to the church doors, but found them unlocked, and he passed in.

"If the doors had been locked he would have battered them down instantly. The opposing party, knowing him to be equal to the emergency, and that he was always as good as his word, unlocked the doors.

"Our grandmother was also of marked decision and energy of character. It required much mental heroism to leave the refined society of friends and home to meet the vicissitudes, trials and privations incident to early pioneer life in the then unbroken wilderness.

"Grandmother was a woman of strong convictions and of decidedly religious characteristics, rearing her children to the practice of integrity, virtue, and the nobler qualities of the human soul, and she met all the trials of the wilderness with cheerfulness, contentment and courage.

"Such was the early life of our pioneer sires, all honor to their names."

Another account of Roelif describes him as "a man over six feet tall, of strong, muscular form, light complexion, light hair, nose large and inclined to Roman, not much of a talker, grave and sedate. He was a very pious man, and his conversation was largely confined to religious subjects; was an officer in the Dutch Church, and a leading man in all local affairs."

The religious temper of his mind is fully indicated by the following letter to his brother, written in Dutch, with faultless chirography.

Owasco, June 17.

Very Dear Brother:

I let you know on this occasion that we are still enjoying good health. So I wish you the same. I was glad to hear from you that you were again restored, in part, through the goodness of the Lord.

I would desire very much to see you once. I have desired to see you now more for a time than ever before. I thought if the Lord will, and we live, we may possibly come next fall, but it is but a perhaps.

We have had a letter from Conewago recently, that they were still well. Further, I let you know with gladness with regard to the state of the church. It looks still, thus far, very well. The new converts are yet very zealous. Oh, what are we, or what is our Father's house, that the Lord has thought of us. I wish not to glory but in the Lord. We had celebration of the Lord's Supper of late, and there were ninety persons who participated. Oh, that the Lord might grant us to continue unto the end, to make us walk in the fear of God, and also I wish myself for you the blessing of the Lord.

The greeting to you all of

Roelif Brinkerhoff,

Thus he lived and thus he died, an earnest Christian, a kind husband and father, a good citizen, and a true man in all the relations of life.

CHILDREN.

6-29.—David R.: baptized March 17, 1776; died September 15, 1822.
6-30.—James: baptized June 14, 1778; died unmarried.
6-31.—Margreta: baptized June 4, 1780; died 1867.
6-32.—Annatie; baptized November 8, 1782.
6-33.—Joris R.: born February 19, 1785; died November 7, 1849.
6-34.—Hendrick R.: born September 23, 1787; died April 30, 1844.
6-35.—Maria: baptized June, 1770; died unmarried.

V-XVIII.—Hendrick Brinkerhoff, third son of Joris, was born in Bergen County, New Jersey, July 4, 1751. He went with his father to Adams County, Pennsylvania, and lived there until his death. He was a soldier in the Revolution during the entire war, and died soon after its close from diseases contracted in the army. He was named in his father's will as

County, Pa., and thence in 1793 to Cayuga County, N. Y. At that time the lands now constituting the site of the City of Auburn was owned by Col. John S. Hardenbergh, who had been a government surveyor, and from his knowledge of the country had selected these lands on the water power upon the stream running through them, and which is now used so largely for manufacturing purposes. His house was the only one in that region when the Conewago Colony arrived, and there the first church was organized. Colonel Hardenbergh very soon became acquainted with the families of the colony, and, on the nineteenth of January, 1796, married Martina Brinkerhoff.

They resided all their lives in Auburn, and as the hamlet grew into a city, Colonel Hardenbergh's lands became very valuable, and his family became wealthy.

Martina survived her husband many years, and died May, 1843.

Their son, John H. Hardenbergh, with his mother, inherited the property, and resided at Auburn until his death, June 11, 1862. He left daughters only, one of whom (Maria) married Rev. Milton Waldo, and resides at Amherst, Mass. Another (Catharine) married Rev. Herrick Johnson, and resides at Chicago, Ill.

VI-XXIX.—David Brinkerhoff, eldest son of Roelif, married and settled upon a farm upon the Owasco Lake, but upon the death of his brother-in-law, Col. Hardenbergh, he became his executor, and removed to Auburn, where he resided until his death.

He was one of the leading men in Auburn, and held many responsible positions in church and state. He was a paymaster in the army during the war of 1812, and a member of the constitutional convention of the State of New York.

He married Catharine Van Middlesworth December 12, 1804. They had three children, Sarah B., Roeliff, and Isabel. Roeliff died in infancy. Isabel died unmarried. Sarah B. married Henry Ivison, who for many years was the head of the great publishing house of Ivison, Phinney & Co., now Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co., of which his son David is the head.

VI-XXXI.—Margareta Brinkerhoff married Richard Parsell, of Owasco, and resided all her life upon a farm about a mile southeast of the old homestead of her father, and died at the advanced age of eighty-seven years. She was a most excellent Christian woman, and was beloved by all who knew her. She left several children, and many grandchildren. One of her daughters married Rev. E. Hammond, who resides with her family at Closter, Bergen Co., N. J.

VI-XXXII.—Annatie (Hannah) Brinkerhoff married Dr. Josiah Bevier, who was one of the most eminent physicians of his day. She left three sons, one of whom, Dr. Roelif Bevier, died recently at Plymouth, Ohio, and was the leading physician there.

VI-XXXIII.—George R. Brinkerhoff, youngest son of Roeliff, was born in Adams County, Pa., February 19, 1785, and came to Owasco, N. Y. with his parents. He received a good academic education. He learned surveying and practiced it largely. In the war of 1812 he was a quartermaster in the army, and for a time was stationed at Fort George.

In 1814, at the close of the war, he married Jacomyntie Bevier, who was born in Ulster Co., N. Y., in 1794, and commenced farming on lot eleven in the town of Sempronius, now Niles. He removed thence, after about seven years, to the town of Owasco, to the farm now owned by his son David, situated on lot eighty-four, on the lake road, where he continued to reside till his death, which occurred on the street in the city of Auburn, from heart disease, November 7, 1849. His wife died July 4, 1830.

George R. Brinkerhoff was a prominent man in his town. He was a Democrat in politics, and was honored by his party with many offices of trust and responsibility, among them that of Supervisor several terms, Justice of the Peace a long time, and Assessor. He was a member of the Dutch Reformed Church of Owasco, in which, for a long time, he held the office of elder.

His nephew, the Hon. John I. Brinkerhoff, who knew him all his active life, says of him: "George R. Brinkerhoff I always regarded as one of our best men, a kind and obliging neighbor, and faithful friend. He was unassuming in his habits, a leading member and elder of his church, and always consulted in matters pertaining to it; and his counsel and advice was often sought upon other matters by his neighbors."

ROELIFF BRINKERHOFF

COAT-OF-ARMS.

It is not proposed that we enter deeply into the science of Heraldry, but a few facts relating to the subject may prove interesting, and help to a better understanding of our family coat-of-arms.

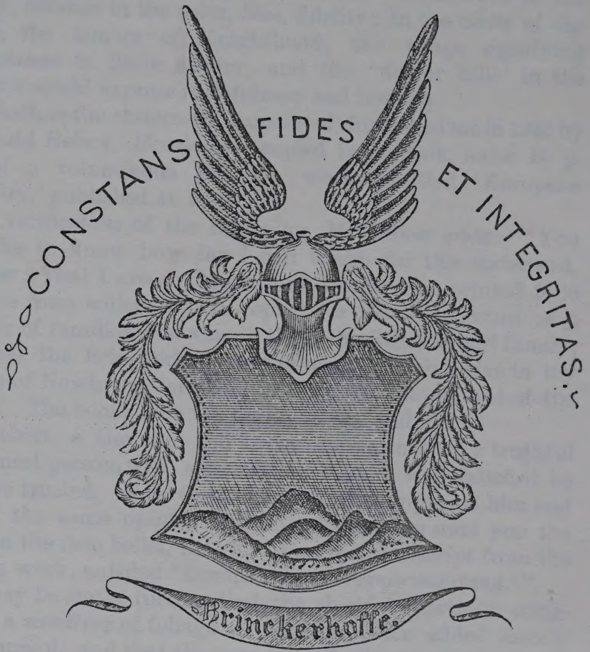
The origin of armorial bearings seems lost in the obscurity of past ages, but that they were used at a most remote period is proven by the Bible (see Numbers ii, 2); and do we not also read of the "Lion of the tribe of Judah?"

It has been thought that the Egyptian hieroglyphics have some analogy to the modern coat-of-arms, while it is well known that, among the Indians, the various tribes and families were distinguished by devices called "totems." Among the ancient Mexicans, Greeks, Romans, Germans, French, and English, indeed, among all nations, can be traced the armorial bearings, both of the individual and the State.

Heraldry, as such, seems to have had no positive existence until about the middle of the twelfth century, nor was it deemed of importance until the time of the wars of the Crusades, as so many of the coats-of-arms of ancient families denote, from their variety of crosses and escallop shells, that they were adopted in commemoration of a pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

The mottoes, as seen on the coats-of-arms are not a necessity. It is optional with the recipient whether he assumes one or more, or none. In early times they were often the war cry with which a leader called his followers to battle. The Scotch, in many instances, use two mottoes—one above the crest, the other under the arms.

Crests and arms are often spoken of indiscriminately. They are, however, two distinct branches of heraldry. The first approach to a crest is seen in the barrel-shaped helmet of King Richard I of England, and it was not until the shield was so burdened and overloaded with figures as to render it difficult to decipher, that the crest was adopted as a relief, and a more ready way to distinguish families.



Mr. James Riker, a well-known antiquarian, and an authority in matters appertaining to heraldry, furnishes the following description of the Brinckerhoff coat-of-arms:

"The armorial bearings, the original escutcheon of the family, denotes in the color, blue, fidelity; in the white of the shield, the honors of Knighthood; the wings signifying promptness in State affairs; and the 'flower hills' in the knight's shield express faithfulness and honesty.

"Such is the statement (translated) furnished me in 1848 by Theobald Robert, Heraldiker, copied from book, letter B, p. 129, of a voluminous German work entitled 'European Heraldry,' published at Vienna."

In verification of the foregoing, Mr. Riker adds: "You will like to know how far I can vouch for this statement. This far: That I saw and examined the several printed folio volumes from which Robert copied for me an account of a number of families, and among them the Brinckerhoff family; and that the Brinckerhoff coat-of-arms, which I give in my Annals of Newtown, formed a heading to that account of the family. The books bore the marks of age and use.

"Robert, a German, had every appearance of a truthful and honest person, and, after sifting him, I was satisfied he could be trusted. Rev. G. C. Schanck also employed him and formed the same opinion of him. I therefore send you the above in the firm belief, that it is a correct transcript from the German work, entitled 'Europaischen Wappensamlung.'"

It may be stated further that the shield is partially encircled by a mantling of foliage or feathers, often added merely for ornament; and that the open-barred visor denotes that the family was of patrician rank. Also the year in which the coat-of-arms was given, as obtained from authentic sources, is 1307.

John, and George, to share, and share alike, except my three old slaves, viz.: Sam, Nick, and Poll; I give them their liberty and freedom from slavery, and allow them their beds and bedding, their clothes, and their household furniture.

“7. ‘Lastly, I do nominate and constitute my sons Guilbert, John, and Henry Brinkerhoff, to be the executors of this my last will and testament, hereby revoking all other wills, legacies, and bequests by me heretofore made, and declare this, and no other, to be my last will and testament.

“‘JOHN SCHRIVER,
“‘DAVID HERMON.”’

* NOTE.—It will be noticed that in the later documents the name is written George instead of Joris, and the l is dropped, and the final f is doubled in the surname.

So with the sons: Jacobus is written James; Guilbert, Gilbert; Hendrick, Henry, etc. It was the transition period with all Dutch names.

In his will his son Henry is named as one of the executors, and also as one of the legatees, and yet the settlement papers seem to show that Henry, the eldest son of James, acted as executor, and the traditions of the family are that Henry, the son of Joris, died shortly after the close of the Revolutionary war.

THE NEW YORK COLONY.

TO many of the emigrants from New Jersey to Conewago the change evidently was not satisfactory, for, in a few years, one part of them removed to Kentucky (none of them Brinkerhoffs), and a few years later, in 1793, another part moved northward to Central New York, and the result was that the colony was so depleted that the Dutch families remaining were not sufficiently numerous to keep up their church organization.

Rev. George G. Brinkerhoff was the last pastor, and after his resignation, the few Dutch families still on the ground became affiliated with the Presbyterian Church at Hunterstown, which, in its faith and organization, was substantialy the same as that of the Dutch Reformed Church.

The circumstances under which the emigration to Central New York (Cayuga County) was made are worthy of notice.

The aborigines of the north, as is well known, possessed more vigor than those of the south. From 1775 to 1794 the most powerful confederacy of Indians in America was that of the Six Nations, who occupied what is now Ohio, together with large portions of Northern Pennsylvania and Western New York. The districts indicated continued inaccessible to white settlers even after Kentucky had become a State.

The massacre of Wyoming, of bitter memory, was by the Six Nations, at the instigation of the tories in 1778.

Successes against this confederacy were few and of small consequence until after the massacre just mentioned; but that awakened a widespread and fierce indignation, which could only be satisfied with such just retribution as was inflicted on the Indians by General Sullivan. He fought the bloody battle of the Chemung, about where the city of Elmira now stands, in 1779, and at the same time burned nearly fifty of their villages in the Genesee valley; but not until the famous crushing victory of “Mad Anthony Wayne,” as the people called him, in 1794, was the red man's power, even so far east as the Susquehanna, finally and forever destroyed.

These two victories made the country about the lakes of New York safe, and hardly was the way to it open before some adventurous spirits of the Conewago colony hastened to make use of it. They were among the very first to seek homes in that direction, and the eventful century which has now almost intervened between us and them has justified their wisdom and foresight.

This pioneer colony consisted of ten families, and their journey "through the wilderness to the promised land" is graphically described in a recent letter from the venerable and honored John I. Brinkerhoff, the son of one of the leaders of this colony, and who still resides (1886) upon lands there located. He says: "Your grandfather, Roeliff Brinkerhoff, and my father, his brother, Jacob Brinkerhoff, left Gettysburg, Pa., April 30, 1793, with their families, in company with eight other families, for (as it was called) the Genesee, or lake country, in New York."

Among these eight families there was a Luke Brinkerhoff and his family. He was a cousin of Roeliff and Jacob, and came with them from Bergen County, N. J. His father was Jacob, a younger brother of Joris.

He settled in Wayne County, N. Y., and left a daughter, but no male descendants.

My father and mother had with them seven children, and my uncle Roeliff and my aunt Isabel (his wife) had eight children. Altogether there must have been a pretty large company. They came in tented wagons, and brought with them as much as they could of provisions and household stuff, such as they would need by the way and on their arrival here.

They got to this county (Cayuga) the fourth of July, having been two months and four days on the way. I will give a short narrative of their long journey, as I have often heard it related by my parents and others.

The State of Pennsylvania had been for some time engaged in opening a road through the wilderness to the Genesee or lake country. Gangs of men were employed on different sections, and this was their road to travel. Of course it was a rough road, the trees cut down, and logs got out of the way, with corduroy bridges over swampy places, so that wagons could pass. Sometimes they would come to the end of the road, that is, they would come up to a company of men who had not finished their section, and they would send a few men with axes and help them through to the next open section. There were no commodious hotels on this highway, but every settler who had got up a log house would take in all his little house would hold, so, when near night, if they came to one of these houses they would carry in bedding enough out of the wagons to cover the floor, and the women and children would sleep in the house, and the men in the wagons. If, when night overtook them, which often happened, and there was no house in sight, the women and children would sleep in the wagons, and the men on the ground under the wagons.

So they came on until they reached the Susquehanna river, near its junction with the Chemung river. Here they were held about two weeks, on account of high water, until the water was low enough to ford the river. From there they came to the head of Cayuga lake, where the village of Ithaca now stands, and so down the east side of the Cayuga lake to the south end of the county of Cayuga (in the town of Genoa, I think), and here they found some cleared land (or Indian fields, as they were called), and here they concluded to stop and take time to look around and decide where to make a permanent settlement. They put up some cabins for shelter, and although it was late, they put in some seed to raise some grain for the next year.

They remained here nearly two years, and in that time they explored the country, and finally purchased lands, and made their settlement near the foot of the Owasco lake, and most of them on the east side.

My father and uncle Roeliff purchased and settled on what has ever since been called Brinkerhoff's Point, on the east side of the lake, and about two and a half miles from the foot. They took possession in the spring of 1795.

As soon as they were fairly located they organized a religious society in connection with the Dutch Reformed Church, with my father and uncle two of its officers. The society took its corporate form and title at a meeting held in the house of Col. John L. Hardenbergh, at Hardenbergh's Corners (now the city of Auburn).

I think there were four settlers within the limits of the present town of Owasco when our people came here.

When the Gettysburg colony came here in 1793 there was but one house (that of Col. John L. Hardenbergh) where the city of Auburn now stands.

From 1795 and onwards emigrants came in rapidly, and in 1797 they erected a log meeting house, the first church edifice in Cayuga county. It stood about fifteen rods south of the bridge on our farm, on the east side of the road, and was in use until 1815, when the new church, erected in Owasco village, was occupied.

Provisions were somewhat scarce the first two or three years, especially grain, as hardly enough was raised to supply the incoming emigrants, so they had to economize pretty close.

They did not suffer for want of meat, as the game in the woods, and fish in the lake and creeks, supplied that. So they were never in a starving condition.

Two years after their settlement on the Owasco (1796), they were joined by James Brinkerhoff, and still later (1808) by the Rev. George G. Brinkerhoff and his family.

The three pioneer Brinkerhoffs, James, Roeliff, and Jacob, were all their lives among the leading men of the county, in the church, and in business, and none were more respected or worthy.

The Brinkerhoff lands extended perhaps half a mile north and south of Brinkerhoff point on the lake, and is one of the most beautiful, as well as one of the most fertile locations in Central New York, and the farms carved out of these lands are still among the most valuable in that region. The Hon. John I. Brinkerhoff (son of Jacob), and David Brinkerhoff (grandson of Roelef), still reside here with several of their children. Brinkerhoff Point is about five miles south of the city of Auburn.

The Owasco Lake, which is about twelve miles long, with an average width of one mile, is one of the most beautiful sheets of water in America, and its shores are now largely occupied by summer villas of wealthy city owners.

Here, along the eastern shore of the Owasco, the Brinkerhoff's took root, and here many of their descendants still remain, good men and women, and worthy citizens of the State.

GENEALOGICAL RECORD.

FIRST, SECOND, THIRD AND FOURTH GENERATIONS.

AT the death of Joris Brinkerhoff, in 1810, there were living of his descendants six sons and forty-nine grandchildren. Of these grandchildren twenty-seven were males and twenty-two females. Only two of them are now living: John I. Brinkerhoff of Owasco, N. Y.,* and Lucretia, widow of David Schreiver, of Hunterstown, Pa.

The following genealogical record will show their distribution, and their line of descent from Joris Dircksen, the founder of the family in America. It will also give an outline of subsequent additions to these families, as an aid to those of the present generation in preserving and furnishing the necessary family records for the compilation of the larger history of the family to be published hereafter.

Brief biographical sketches of a few heads of families are also given, and it is hoped that every family which has been omitted will at once make up a complete record on the plan we have adopted, in a direct line from Joris Brinkerhoff, who settled in Pennsylvania in 1770, together with biographical sketches, and forward to address of General R. Brinkerhoff, Mansfield, Ohio, and preserve a copy for themselves.

As soon as all the descendants are thus presented, a complete history can be published. Errors in the present publication (and doubtless there are some) should also be noted for correction.

I-I.—Joris Dircksen Brinkerhoff, the founder of the American branch of the Brinkerhoff family, came from the Province of Drenthe, in the Netherlands, and having lived for some time at Flushing, in the Province of Zealand, emigrated to the New Netherlands (now New York) in 1638, and settled upon a farm within the present limits of the city of Brooklyn, where he resided until his death, January 16, 1661. For particulars of his career in the New World see ante, pages 13 to 16.

He married Susannah Dubbels, and all his children were born in Holland.

In a book entitled "The Early Settlers of Kings County" it is stated that "Joris Dircksen Brinckerhoef arrived in 1638. He settled on Staten Island, and entered into a contract with Cornelius Melyn, the owner of the island, to reside there; but owing to the murder of some of the neighboring planters by the Indians, in 1641, he obtained a release from the contract August 15, 1641. He went to Long Island, and settled in Brooklyn. He died January 16, 1661."

From other sources it would seem that the Cornelius Melyn mentioned above was the son-in-law of Joris, and the first husband of Altie. After his death she married William Covenhoven.

CHILDREN.

2-2.—Dirck: killed by Indians on Staten Island.
2-3.—Hendrick: born about 1630; died about 1710.
2-4.—Abraham: born 1632; died about 1714.
2-5.—Altie: married William Covenhoven.

II-III.—Hendrick Joerisen Brinkerhoff married Claasie, daughter of Cornelius Boomgaert, and settled in Hempstead, Long Island, where he remained until his removal to New Jersey during the Revolutionary War.

In 1677 he purchased a tract of land in Bergen, now a part of Jersey City, which, after his death, became the residence of his widow and his son Cornelius, and on this tract some of his descendants still reside.

In 1679 he joined with a few other Dutchmen from Bergen and purchased the Indian title to the site of what is now Passaic City, but soon afterwards disposed of his interest there, and subsequently purchased of Hendrick Epske Banta, by deed bearing date June 17, 1685, the farm upon the Hackensack, just below the present Ridgefield Park Station, on the West Shore Railroad, and formerly known as old Hackensack, upon which he resided until his death, and which remained in the family until 1878.

In "The Early Settlers of Kings County," page 49, it is stated as follows: "Hendrick Jorise married Claasie Cornelise Boomgaert or Bougoert, of Middlewout (Flushing). Name on Indian deed of Flushing of 1670, and on Assembly roll of 1675. Member of the Hempstead Assembly of 1665, from Flushing, and a magistrate of said town in 1662-'63 and '73. Removed from Flushing to the eastern branch of the Hackensack River, N. J., where he bought land June 17, 1685. His descendants in New Jersey sometimes write their names Blinckerhoff. Issue: Susanna; baptized January, 1661; married Roelof Von Der Linde, of Hackensack. Cornelius married Algie Vreeland, and resided at Hackensack. Dirck, of Hackensack, married Margaret Siba Banta; and Jacobus, of Hackensack, baptized March 29, 1685, married Angenietye Banta."

In a book entitled "Hudson County (N. J.) Land Titles," page 136, it is stated "The Dutch West India Company deeded (Lot No. 13 on map) to Jan Evertse Bout, and he to Michael Jansen. Jansen's widow, Fitjie Hartmans, sold to Claes Jansen De Bocker, December 20, 1667. De Bocker conveyed the same, May 30, 1667, to Hendrick Jorise Van Blinkerhoef; he conveyed it to his son Cornelius, February 24, 1708."

This seems to have been his first purchase in New Jersey, and to this property his widow and his son Cornelius removed after his death. He had five children, of whom we have historic record, but some accounts name a sixth child, a daughter named Gertie, born February 20, 1670, which is probably correct, and that the child died in infancy.

CHILDREN.

3-6.—Margrietje: born June 13, 1671.
3-7.—Cornelius: born 1673; died September 1, 1770.
3-8.—Joris: born 1673; died February 5, 1692.
3-9.—Dirck.
3-10.—Jacobus: baptized March 29, 1685; died 1770.

III-VI.—Margrietje Brinkerhoff married Mattys De Mott, of Kingston, May 6, 1705; united with the Hackensack Church October 5, 1701.

III.-VII.—Cornelius Brinkerhoff: born in Middlewout, L. I.; married Aegie Vreeland May 24, 1708: died September 1, 1770, aged 97 years. He was sometimes called Cornelius Hendricksen Van Blinkerhoff. He united with the Hackensack Church April 8, 1699.

III–IX.—Dirck Brinkerhoff united with the Hackensack Church April 8, 1699; married, first, Margrietje Sibese Banta, October 31, 1702; second, Abigal Ackerman, October, 1733.

III–X.—Jacobus Brinkerhoff, like his father, Hendrick, and his grandfather, Joris, was a man of high character and standing in the community in which he lived. At the death of his father he and his brother Dirck took the paternal homestead upon the Hackensack, where he resided until his death. He was a county magistrate, an elder of the church (of which all his family were members), and a man of mark in all the relations of life. In a stone, in the corner of the church at Hackensack, his name is cut in bold letters as one of its early founders.

He married Agnitie Banta, daughter of Hendrick Banta, April 17, 1708, by whom he had five

CHILDREN.

4–11.—Hartman: born May 1, 1709.
4–12.—Hendrick: born November 1, 1710; died 1760.
4–13.—Joris: born October 9, 1719; died January 3, 1810.
4–14.—Jacob: born November 19, 1721.
4–15.—Martje (Maria): born October 22, 1724.

IV–XII.—Hendrick Brinkerhoff had five children, viz.: (1) Cobus, who had two sons and a daughter (Hendrick and Garret), and a son of one of them (Garret) was the Rev. James G. Brinkerhoff; (2) Nicoussie, who had one son, who died a youth, and three daughters; (3) George, who had four sons (Hendrick, Jacob, Cobus, and Cornelius), and a son of one of them (Hendrick) was sheriff; George Brinkerhoff; (4) Hendrick; (5) Ann.

IV–XIII.—Joris Brinkerhoff, the common ancestor of the Pennsylvania, Central New York, and Western Brinkerhoff's, married Baeltie Demarest, daughter of David Demarest, in November, 1745, and settled upon a farm about a mile south of the present railroad station at Demarest. Here he resided until his removal to Pennsylvania in 1770, and here all his children were born.

In 1770 he emigrated to York County (now Adams), Pa., and settled upon a farm of five hundred and twenty acres, about four miles northeast of the present city of Gettysburg, and between what are now known as the Harrisburg State Road and the York Pike.

The house he built and lived in all his life remained until a few years ago, when it was taken down to give place for a modern structure. It was built of concrete, and the walls were two feet thick. The work was done by his slaves, and two or three summers were taken for its completion.

CHILDREN.

5–16.—James: born November 23, 1746; died May, 1813.
5–17.—Roelef; born November 10, 1748; died February 28, 1830.
5–18.—Henry; born July 4, 1751; died unmarried.
5–19.—Gilbert; born February 22, 1753.
5–20—Jacob; born February 22, 1756; died November 13, 1829.
5–21.—John; born April 6, 1759; died May 13, 1838.
5–22.—George; born February 28, 1761; died May 29, 1813.

IV–XIV.—Jacob Brinkerhoff, son of Jacobus, had six children, viz.: (1) Agnitie, married to David Haring; (2) Lucas, who emigrated with his uncle Joris to Pennsylvania, and thence to Cayuga County, N. Y.; (3) Nautie (Hannah), who married John Christie; (4) Cobus; (5) Hendrick, who died unmarried; (6) Albert, who left two sons (Jacob and Albert) and a daughter (Ann), who married David Christie.

V–XVI.—James (Cobus, or Jacobus in Dutch) Brinkerhoff was born in Bergen County, New Jersey, November 23, 1746. He married Catrintie (Catharine) Voorhees, and remained in Bergen County until his removal to Pennsylvania.

When his father (Joris) removed to Pennsylvania in 1770, he purchased farms for all his married sons. The land assigned to James consisted of two hundred and thirty-six acres, near his father's (now owned by David Sunrigner), and here he settled, and remained until his removal to New York.

In 1796 he followed his brothers to New York with all his family, except his eldest son, Henry.

He settled upon a farm about two miles south of Brinkerhoff's Point, in the town of Niles, near the Owasco Lake, where he remained until his death, in 1813, and where his grandson James still resides.

Like his brothers, he was a man of sterling integrity, an active member of the Dutch Church, and a worthy citizen in all the relations of life.

He had six

CHILDREN.

6-23.—Henry, born August 9, 1770; died October 1, 1847.
6-24.—Luke.
6-25.—Jacob V.
6-26.—George.
6-27.—Albert.
6-28.—James.

V-XVII.—Roelif (Ralph in English), the second son of Joris, was born in Bergen County, N. J., November 10, 1748, and remained with his father until the family emigrated to Pennsylvania in 1770.

In the autumn of that year he returned to New Jersey, and married Baeltie (Isabella) Demarest, a daughter of David Demarest, of Bergen County.

The Demarest family was of Huguenot extraction, and dates back to David Demarest, who landed in New York April 16, 1663, in company with the other French refugees who came over from Amsterdam in the ship "Brindled Cow," fleeing from religious persecution in their native land.

It would seem that Roelif and his wife remained in Bergen County for a year or two, for their first child, Martyntie (Martina), is recorded in the records of the Schraalenburg church as baptized September 13, 1772.

However, in 1773 we find him upon a farm of two hundred and forty-four acres in his father's neighborhood in Adams County, Pa., which is now owned by Rufus A. Eichelberger.

Here he resided until his removal to New York in 1793, when he located upon a farm on the north side of Brinkerhoff's Point, on the Owasco Lake, on what is known as Lot 84, and where he remained until his death, February 28, 1830. His wife survived him several years.

Roelif Brinkerhoff was the master spirit of the colony from Conewago, and was a man every way entitled to leadership; and his wife was in every respect a helpmeet for him.

The following description of this worthy couple, by his oldest grandson now living, Peter S. Brinkerhoff (a worthy representative of his grandfather, and of the same commanding height), who resides at Compton, California, presents a graphic picture, which is fully confirmed by all other accounts we have of him. He says:

"When grandfather died, at the age of eighty two years one month and eighteen days, I was but a mere boy, yet I remember him very well. In appearance he was of commanding figure, tall, about six feet four inches, straight, of compact form, possessing much physical strength and much endurance, though in later years age and much physical labor inclined his form somewhat forward.

"In character he was a positive man. For many continuous years he was an elder, or deacon, in the Dutch Reformed Church in Owasco, a prominent man in all church and religious movements, and, what is of more importance, an honest Christian at home. His daily life was permeated with the principles of his religion, and he practised at home what he professed abroad. In manner he was a plain, blunt man, but very affable, pleasant, agreeable and generous.

"As to his habits, in an eminent degree he was temperate, industrious, and economical, and possessing much energy of character.

"An anecdote, one of many I could relate, will illustrate his character for decision and promptness, from which people had learned that what he said he meant to perform.

"On account of the doctrines preached by Domine Ten Eyck, minister in the old Dutch Reformed Church at Owasco, a very respectable part of the membership withdrew, because, as they claimed, Ten Eyck did not preach in their purity the doctrines of the church. Thereupon, Ten Eyck was called to an account by the Church Consistory, and promised to preach no more Hopkinsian tenets, but in a short time he preached again the same offensive doctrines. After considerable remonstrance he persisted in his course. Finding they were not accomplishing anything, grandfather exclaimed: "To your tents, O Israel!" and left. The seceders went and held their services in the schoolhouse near the old church building.

"The seceders, having contributed largely to the erection of the old church edifice, claimed the right to occupy it a part of the time. The other party claimed the right of occupying it all the time, and, having the key in their possession, kept the doors of the church locked, so that the seceders could not gain entrance. Grandfather thought this state of things unendurable, that his rights—in common with the rights of other seceders—were trampled upon. So, accordingly, he gave the opposing party to understand that if the church doors were locked on the next Sabbath morning he would open them. Accordingly, on the next Saturday evening he went to the saw-mill and got the heavy iron bar with which logs were moved, brought it up to the house, put it in the wagon, and on Sunday morning went to church, and, whilst my father was tying the horses, grandfather shouldered the iron bar, and went direct to the church doors, but found them unlocked, and he passed in.

"If the doors had been locked he would have battered them down instantly. The opposing party, knowing him to be equal to the emergency, and that he was always as good as his word, unlocked the doors.

"Our grandmother was also of marked decision and energy of character. It required much mental heroism to leave the refined society of friends and home to meet the vicissitudes, trials and privations incident to early pioneer life in the then unbroken wilderness.

"Grandmother was a woman of strong convictions and of decidedly religious characteristics, rearing her children to the practice of integrity, virtue, and the nobler qualities of the human soul, and she met all the trials of the wilderness with cheerfulness, contentment and courage.

"Such was the early life of our pioneer sires, all honor to their names."

Another account of Roelif describes him as " a man over six feet tall, of strong, muscular form, light complexion, light hair, nose large and inclined to Roman, not much of a talker, grave and sedate. He was a very pious man, and his conversation was largely confined to religious subjects; was an officer in the Dutch Church, and a leading man in all local affairs."

The religious temper of his mind is fully indicated by the following letter to his brother, written in Dutch, with faultless chirography.

OWASCO, June 17.

VERY DEAR BROTHER:

I let you know on this occasion that we are still enjoying good health. So I wish you the same. I was glad to hear from you that you were again restored, in part, through the goodness of the Lord.

I would desire very much to see you once. I have desired to see you now more for a time than ever before. I thought if the Lord will, and we live, we may possibly come next fall, but it is but a perhaps.

We have had a letter from Conewago recently, that they were still well. Further, I let you know with gladness with regard to the state of the church. It looks still, thus far, very well. The new converts are yet very zealous. Oh, what are we, or what is our Father's house, that the Lord has thought of us. I wish not to glory but in the Lord. We had celebration of the Lord's Supper of late, and there were ninety persons who participated. Oh, that the Lord might grant us to continue unto the end, to make us walk in the fear of God, and also I wish myself for you the blessing of the Lord.

The greeting to you all of

ROELIF BRINKERHOFF;

Thus he lived and thus he died, an earnest Christian, a kind husband and father, a good citizen, and a true man in all the relations of life.

6–35.—Maria: baptized June, 1770; died unmarried.

V–XVIII.—Hendrick Brinkerhoff, third son of Joris, was born in Bergen County, New Jersey, July 4, 1751. He went with his father to Adams County, Pennsylvania, and lived there until his death. He was a soldier in the Revolution during the entire war, and died soon after its close from diseases contracted in the army. He was named in his father's will as

County, Pa., and thence in 1793 to Cayuga County, N. Y. At that time the lands now constituting the site of the City of Auburn was owned by Col. John S. Hardenbergh, who had been a government surveyor, and from his knowledge of the country had selected these lands on the water power upon the stream running through them, and which is now used so largely for manufacturing purposes. His house was the only one in that region when the Conewago Colony arrived, and there the first church was organized. Colonel Hardenbergh very soon became acquainted with the families of the colony, and, on the nineteenth of January, 1796, married Martina Brinkerhoff.

They resided all their lives in Auburn, and as the hamlet grew into a city, Colonel Hardenbergh's lands became very valuable, and his family became wealthy.

Martina survived her husband many years, and died May, 1843.

Their son, John H. Hardenbergh, with his mother, inherited the property, and resided at Auburn until his death, June 11, 1862. He left daughters only, one of whom (Maria) married Rev. Milton Waldo, and resides at Amherst, Mass. Another (Catharine) married Rev. Herrick Johnson, and resides at Chicago, Ill.

VI-XXIX.—David Brinkerhoff, eldest son of Roelif, married and settled upon a farm upon the Owasco Lake, but upon the death of his brother-in-law, Col. Hardenbergh, he became his executor, and removed to Auburn, where he resided until his death.

He was one of the leading men in Auburn, and held many responsible positions in church and state. He was a paymaster in the army during the war of 1812, and a member of the constitutional convention of the State of New York.

He married Catharine Van Middlesworth December 12, 1804. They had three children, Sarah B., Roeliff, and Isabel. Roeliff died in infancy. Isabel died unmarried. Sarah B. married Henry Ivison, who for many years was the head of the great publishing house of Ivison, Phinney & Co., now Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Co., of which his son David is the head.

VI-XXXI.—Margareta Brinkerhoff married Richard Parsell, of Owasco, and resided all her life upon a farm about a mile southeast of the old homestead of her father, and died at the advanced age of eighty-seven years. She was a most excellent Christian woman, and was beloved by all who knew her. She left several children, and many grandchildren. One of her daughters married Rev. E. Hammond, who resides with her family at Closter, Bergen Co., N. J.

VI-XXXII.—Annatie (Hannah) Brinkerhoff married Dr. Josiah Bevier, who was one of the most eminent physicians of his day. She left three sons, one of whom, Dr. Roelif Bevier, died recently at Plymouth, Ohio, and was the leading physician there.

VI-XXXIII.—George R. Brinkerhoff, youngest son of Roeliff, was born in Adams County, Pa., February 19, 1785, and came to Owasco, N. Y. with his parents. He received a good academic education. He learned surveying and practiced it largely. In the war of 1812 he was a quartermaster in the army, and for a time was stationed at Fort George.

In 1814, at the close of the war, he married Jacomyntie Bevier, who was born in Ulster Co., N. Y., in 1794, and commenced farming on lot eleven in the town of Sempronius, now Niles. He removed thence, after about seven years, to the town of Owasco, to the farm now owned by his son David, situated on lot eighty-four, on the lake road, where he continued to reside till his death, which occurred on the street in the city of Auburn, from heart disease, November 7, 1849. His wife died July 4, 1830.

George R. Brinkerhoff was a prominent man in his town. He was a Democrat in politics, and was honored by his party with many offices of trust and responsibility, among them that of Supervisor several terms, Justice of the Peace a long time, and Assessor. He was a member of the Dutch Reformed Church of Owasco, in which, for a long time, he held the office of elder.

His nephew, the Hon. John I. Brinkerhoff, who knew him all his active life, says of him: "George R. Brinkerhoff I always regarded as one of our best men, a kind and obliging neighbor, and faithful friend. He was unassuming in his habits, a leading member and elder of his church, and always consulted in matters pertaining to it; and his counsel and advice was often sought upon other matters by his neighbors."

Sorry this was somewhat delayed. My husband took the Brokaw book to work to make copies and kept forgetting to bring it home. Also, in the meantime, we have made a hurried trip to Aurelia, Iowa, where I have just discovered descendants of my grandfather's brother - and I didn't know that he even had a brother!! Had a wonderful time!! Visited the farm my grandfather had in Peterson, Iowa, in 1870 before he took the family to Oregon. In addition, our son, Erik, and his wife and baby daughter came up from Kansas City to spend Thanksgiving with us. I know you've probably been waiting anxiously for this material -- just hope it helps in some small way.

Mrs. Donald E. Diller

Laguna Hills, CA 92653

Dear Mrs. Diller:

Perhaps Mr. Demarest mentioned to you that I am heavily involved in tracking my family history (Sitz), with the hope that someday I will be able to publish a book on all those with that surname. Therefore, I feel a great deal of empathy for those in the same boat -- sometimes it is so frustrating to try to extract just one more little bit of information!

First of all, the Brokaw book contains 830 pages, so I would imagine the cost of photocopying could be prohibitive. We have only the one copy. However, while I know that the compiler, Mrs. Elsie E. Foster, is now deceased, there is a member of the Brokaw Family Committee I am aware of. Her name is Miss Margaret Brokaw, 6164 Kenwood, Independence, MO. Her telephone number is 816-444-6682. I have had no contact with her (perhaps Mr. Demarest has) and therefore do not know if there are available copies of the book from her or possibly from some other member of the Committee.

We also have the eight issues of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record detailing the Brokaw family. I note that the Parsell surname first appears in connection with Hilletje Broucard (Bragaw) and her brother, Peter. They were children of Isaac Broucard. I have begun to Xerox on page 1, continuing through the third generation, and on into the fourth generation, as I noted on page 33 under Benjamin Brokaw several references to Parsell. Now if you will look on page 3, to the left of Hilletje, you will see "X-24-3." A number was assigned to each child, and the X indicates that, if one goes to the next generation, under that number one will find a paragraph detailing whatever information was gathered as to that child's marriage and children. So, proceeding to page 9, you will find Hilletje, who married Richard Parcell. Then on page 11, Peter's family is shown, and he married Jannetje Parsell. Note on page 9 that there are no X's in front of either of the children of Hilletje, indicating no subsequent information was available. However, on Peter, page 11, and page 12, two children are X'd, Peter and Isaac. Turning to page 24, one finds the information on Peter Bragaw. However, since no children are X'd, that means the information on this family stops with what is shown on pages 24 and 25. For the other child, Isaac Bragaw, page 25, again, no children are X'd, meaning the same thing. While apparently Mrs. Foster, as she indicates, used the material from the NYG & B, the rest of this she obviously had to dig for herself, as she indicates no person as supplying this information to her. If she was in touch with descendants of these families, they apparently chose not to cooperate by giving her what information they had on the families. I am encountering the same attitudes in my research -- sort of dog in the manger. Or worse yet, "we" are not related to "them."

As I mentioned to Mr. Demarest, the Brokaw book contains only a half-hearted attempt at an index. It is not alphabetical, and contains only Brokaws. And those persons who are mentioned in the narrations under family groups are not included in the index at all. (Therefore, for Mr. Demarest I searched through generations four, five and six.) I believe the last references to the Parsell surname are on page 33 -- but I've Xeroxed a few pages beyond that just in case I might have missed some -- they are awfully hard to pull up in the narrations. If you have reason to believe that there was later involvement between the Parsells and the Brokaws, I'll be glad to look through subsequent generations.

A source that has been helpful to me is the International Genealogical Index which is available at the Mormon Libraries. Have you knowledge of it? It is so easy -- much easier than getting at census information. If you have a Mormon Library near you, I'd suggest you try this index to locate Isaac Parsell and his family. This index is on microfiche (small plastic sheets) and one just slaps them into the readers there and begins to search. In addition, one doesn't have to convert the name to a number. You just begin with the name of the state or country and proceed directly to the surname, alphabetically. I am enclosing a copy of one of the sheets so you can see what is available. Note they have data on christenings, births, deaths, marriages, and census. The five columns to the right you can just ignore, as that has to do with the proxy baptisms that the Mormon Church is so heavily involved in. While the sheets show that the last update on this index was April, 1984, apparently not all the census information has been incorporated into it as yet. I don't know when the next update will be. While there is a ton of material in this index, I am more than a little disappointed that I have not as yet been able to turn up my grandfather -- but one just presses on.

It does occur to me that Mrs. Foster had to make a determination at some point as to just how far she was going to carry the family line down on female Brokaws -- inclusion of all would certainly have been very cumbersome and would have made the book even larger than it is. This might account for no further material on Hilletje's children, but would not account for the fact that no further information is available on Peter's family.

I assume you have probably searched through census film to locate Isaac. Have you written to the Town Clerk or County Clerk of Cayuga County, New York, to try to obtain information on Isaac's death? This might indicate place and date of birth. Here's something else you might try: John "D" and E. Diane Stemmons, P. O. Box 20531, 3527 West 4650 South, Salt Lake City, Utah 84119, have compiled "The Cemetery Record Compendium", published by The Everton Publishers, Inc., P. O. Box 368, Logan, Utah 84321. It lists, by state, and then by county, all cemeteries located in each county. You could write to the cemeteries in Cayuga County, New York, and ask if they have a record on Isaac Parsell.

Something else: I note there is a genealogical Society fairly close to Cayuga County. It is Twin Tiers Genealogical Society, 230 Devonshire Drive, Elmira, NY 14903. Perhaps a letter to them might at least give you some leads or direction. If you've a full-range library close to you -- up to L.A.? - they would undoubtedly have a large genealogy section and staff who could give you some help and suggestions as to how to proceed.

Hope that some of this will be helpful to you. If there's anything else we can do, just let us know.

Sincerely,

Betty

Re: BROKAW/BRAGAW

Dear Mr. Cloonan:

It was a pleasure to receive your recent telephone call, and I thank you for your generous offer to keep my quest in mind when you are doing research on your B/B ancestors.

It would be of interest to me to know your line of descent from immigrant Bourgon BROUCARD, as I have a modest library and rather considerable amount of data on related families, and may be able to be of help to you.

H. Minot Pitman in his, "The B/B Family" lists:

> "Hilletje bap. June 27 1704, in the Jamaica Dutch Church; d Oct 8 1760. Abt 1724 she mar. Richard PARCELL, prob. a son of John and Maria PARCELL and had at least two children who were bap. in the New York Dutch Church:
> a- John PARCELL bap. Mar 2 1726; sponsors Isaac Broekard & Maris PERSALL
> b- Roelof PARCELL bap Nov 22 1749; sponsors John PARSELL & Enbelgge Ntkka."

Elsie E. Forster in her, " Our B/B Heritage" states:

> "Richard PARCELL was prabably a son of John and Maria PARCELL, and he and Hilletje were probably married about 1724. ------- This couple may have had other children between these two sons, being as they were baptized so far apart."

Enclosed are FGR for Isaac & Richard PARSELL. (Please be advised that I have found more than thirty (30) variations for the spelling of this surname including PERCEL, PASSEL, PURSEL, ad infinitum, ad nauseum!)

My question is, was Isaac PARSELL (m Maria SMOCK) the son of the Richard & Hilletje BRAGAW PARCELL mentioned in the above genealogies?

Any help you may be able to offer will be greatly appreciated.

Once again, my thanks for your call and interest.

Sincerely,

EBD

Dear Mrs. Brokaw,

Mr. James V. Demarest of DeLand, FL has kindly given me your name and address as someone who might help me. I would like to buy, rent or perhaps obtain a photocopy of the BROKAW Family History circa 1960.

According to a series of articles by H. Minot Pitman (NY Gen. & Bio. Rec. 1955-56) and various other sources, the BROKAWs intermarried a number of times with PARSELLs (various spellings) and I wonder if the 1960 BROKAW book has more data on the descendants of these unions.

I am trying to learn the parents and other ancestors of Isaac PARSELL, born ? , died @ 1824 in Cayuga County NY. He and his wife, Maria SMOCK, had the following children baptised at the Conewago Colony in PA: Isaac, Helletic, Maria, Richard, Annatie, John.

Do you think there is a connection? Your help and suggestions will be greatly appreciated. A self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed for your convenience, and I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Donald E. Diller

Dear Betty,

Many thanks for your kind, helpful letter of 17 Nov. and copies of so many pages from the BROKAW Book. Please accept the enclosed to help a little toward the cost of copies and postage.

I have not yet had time to study the material (wanted to get this off to you promptly), but did quickly note, to my disappointment, that this later book listed no additional children for Hilletje BRAGAW (24-3) and Richard PARSELL.

I have considerable data on the immigrant PARSELL and one or two generations thereafter, then have only sketchy material until I come to Isaac married to Maria SMOCK. Am missing definite information on a generation or two. So frustrating! I have exhausted many of the sources you suggest, but there are some that are new to me, and I thank you for mentioning all of them. After the hectic holiday season I'll really study all material carefully and review what I have and try, try again.

Some other Dutch Reformed and Huguenot names in which we are interested and on which I have various degrees of information are: BANTA, BERTHOLF, BOGERT, BRINKERHOFF, SMOCK, VANDERBURG, VANDERSTRAATEN, VAN HORN, VAN HOUTEN, VERWEY, WESTERVELT; de HERVILLE, de RUINE, DURIE, FONTAINE, DEMAREST. If you think I might have anything of interest to you, I'll gladly share.

Sorry, nothing on SITZ, but I wish you success with your family history project. I have a lenghty list of German names in Bavaria and Westphalia, but unfortunately that is not one of them.

Thank you again for your gracious letter, and I wish you and yours a pleasant holiday season and "good hunting" in the coming year.

Sincerely,

Enc

Dear Mr. O'Brien:

Thank you for your letter of Oct 26the responding to the Bramlett information I sent you, & sorry it has taken me so long.

I have a William Jefferson Perry, b. 8 May 1888 Habersham Co, GA., m. 26 Feb 1908 to Ola O'Kelly who was a d/o Thomas Lemuel O'Kelley who was a brother of James Wilburn O'Kelley whose granddau. is Mrs. Helen Hunt, 11 Berea Drive, Greenville, SC 29611. Thomas Lemuel O'Kelley s/o Hugh O'Kelly & Martha Harbin; Fredrick Garland Perry m. SC to Uneeda Savannah O'Kelly b. 1942 d/o Randolph Courtney O'Kelley. Emma Davis O'Kelley d. age 109 in Westminster, SC, 1987. Lois O'Kelly, deceased, a descendant of Elizabeth Perry & John Owen (Alab.) wrote a book in 1977 on Siniards - she (Lois) m. Joseph Fred O'Kelly in AR - his parents were Benjamin O'Kelly & Rebecca Dyer Bushart. They lived in MS.

William & Elizabeth Massey came from VA & settled in Lancaster Co, SC, m. some of my Perry ancestors. Have some Massey cemetery records for Lancaster.

Delois Kelley Youngblood wrote a book on descendants, etc., of John Tyler Youngblood & Eliza Perry, available from Dekey Publishers, PO Box 11671, Charlotte, NC 28220 for $32.95 when I last heard. D.K. Youngblood lived at 2726 Sunset Dr., Charlotte, NC 28209. I didn't get the book.

I'm Navy retired, in early 70s. We wish you a good holiday season.

Very truly yours,

E. R. PERRY

Dear Mr. Perry:

Thank you very much for your printout on the Bramletts. Although we have had the 1860 census of Gilmer, in which John Bramlett and Nancy Allen Bramlett appeared, for years, there is much in your printout on the Bramletts that we did not have concerning the Ga. Bramletts (we have the Va. material from the DAR Library on the Bramletts, including a couple of books by descendants of the Ill.-Ind.-Va. line.)

Actually, my wife is the Bramlett descendant as follows:
John Bramlett and Nancy Allen
Nancy Matilda Bramlett Worthington, wife of Jeff W. b. Bartow Co. Ga.
Elizabeth Worthington, wife of Joel T. O'Kelley
Cecil C. O'Kelley, 1st wife Esther Jacks → in 1903.
Neoma O'Kelley O'Brien b. in Claiborne Parish, La. in 1928.
near Arcadia, La. which is in Bienville Parish.

My wife is presently visiting her father, Cecil O'Kelley, in Arcadia, who has recently had cancer surgery. She will be home tomorrow. As time permits, we will continue our Bramlett research. We will glad to share anything we find with you if you wish, although I am not sure just what would be helpful to you.

We have been doing genealogical research off and on since about 1961, some nine years after we came here from Louisiana (of which I also am a native). And like a lot of other people, when we hit a "snag" on one line we would turn to another that might prove easier. Since then we have accumulated a veritable treasure trove on many of our lines and are now turning back to the "hard ones" like the Bramletts. Incidentally, when we have visited in Europe we have often looked at telephone books to see if we see the name Bramlett. Although we have been over much of the British Isles, we still haven't seen the name Bramlett or any variation of it. Bramley, yes. Bramlett, no. Still, we think it's origin was probably in either Britain or Ireland with a remote French origin (in which I would include Walloon Belgium and the French-speaking part of Switzerland). It is possible that Bramley and Bramlett were once the same name as the "t" is often silent in French. I always proceed from the premise that "anything is possible".

I never miss the chance when writing to someone interested in genealogy and with probable Southern roots to list the other names we have explored or are exploring: Neoma has established Revolutionary War veterans in the following lines: Charles O'Kelley of Mecklenburg Co., Va. and Oglethorpe Co., Ga.; Thomas Johnson and Timothy Stamps also of Oglethorpe; George Crowder of Mecklenburg Co., Va.

(Pat. Svc.); Robert Means and Drury Smith of Rockingham Co., N. C.; Britain Meeks of Pitt Co., N. C. and Meriwether Co., Ga.; Richard Haile (Heale) of Bedford Co., Va.

Her Huguenot Society lines are David and Morisett of old Manakin-town Va.. She is President of the Daughters of Colonial Wars for the State of Maryland; and vice pres. of her Huguenot chapter and of her Col. Dames of the XVII Cent. She is a former Regent, DAR Chap. and has held both State and National Chairmanships in that organization. Other lines she has explored or is exploring are Pritchard, Frizzell, Rose, Gaines (her maternal grandmother), Stewart (maternal great grandmother--her great great grandparents are buried only a few miles from where she was brought up but she has never been able to trace them beyond Carroll Co., Ga. where they appeared in the 1840 census). She has recently traced her Cheatham line of Oglethorpe and Madison Cos., Ga. through discovery of an unindexed deed in Oglethorpe Co., crossed through by the Clerk because it was a deed to land in Chesterfield Co., Va. and the several articles on the Cheathams of Chesterfield Co., Va. written by one of your fellow San Diegoans, Mrs. Alberta Majorie Dennstedt, for the Virginia Genealogist, whose editor is the nationally known genealogist, Fred Dorman, who was also editor of the 1987 edition of Adventurers of Purse and Person. We see him at quite a few of these functions. Anyway, we are now able to trace her Cheathams to Thomas Osborne, Sr. and Jr. who came to Va. in 1619 and 1620, respectively.

My grandfather O'Brien was an immigrant. My other primary lines are: Knott (my paternal grandmother whose family came from Bedford Co., Tn. as did the Knotts of Knotts' Berry Farm); Massey (2 greatgrandmothers unrelated in America); Fletcher; Youngblood (my mother) lines which include McNeil, Skinner, Ray, Coale of Md.; and the numerous lines of my grandmother, born Shackelford, including one of the Masseys, of course, Hickman and Pullen of what is now Birmingham, Ala. both families having now been traced to some of their English origins (Hickman, Taylor, Gascoigne), Nation, Haynes, Everett, Adams, Shipp, Stott. The latter two were early Va. Justices. Gascoignes are of royal ancestry. I have only joined Sons and Daughters of the Pilgrims but have been recommended for the Order of the Crown of Charlemagne by two cousins sharing Gascoigne line.

I am a retired lawyer. Practiced first in Lake Charles, La.; trial attorney for Tax Div. of Dept. of Justice, retiring in 1978 as Deputy Assistant Attorney General and then private practice as counsel for Washington law firms. Published book on my lines last fall, entitled Our Colonial Ancestors, with a listing of major family names. We were in L. A. in Sept. visiting our sons, one of whom is a lawyer for firm Hill, Winn, etc. Wilshire Blvd. Many thanks!

Random Notes on John and Nancy Allen Bramlett and some descendants from files of Neoma O'Kelley O'Brien.

John Bramlett and Nancy Allen were married in Gilmer Co., Ga. on Dec. 15, 1843. Source: 37,000 Early Ga. Mar. p. 78, by Maddox & Carter (NSDAR Lib.) They are next found on the 1850 census of Cass Co., Ga. (now Bartow Co.) p. 197 with children Rebecca 5, John 3, and Agnes 1. That this is the same family that appeared in 1860 census in Fannin Co., Ga. is show by the coincidence of some names and ages although the 1850 census shows John b. in S. C. and there is some discrepancy in the names of children and age of wife. However, daughter Agnes is 1 in 1850 in Cass and 11 in 1860 in Fannin as she should be and the Allen on the 1860 census is John Allen Bramlett who was well-known to the family and his son, Van Bramlett, moved to Arcadia, La. near his cousin, Cecil C. O'Kelley. The children of Van Bramlett went to Arcadia High School as did Neoma O'Kelley O'Brien.

One son of Nancy Matilda Bramlett Worthington, Wm. Worthington (Uncle Bud), also moved to the Arcadia, La. area. However, he was not interviewed about lineage until after he had had a stroke and it is not certain how reliable his memory was but it is generally corroborated by that of his sister, Pearalie, who still lives (in her nineties) in Talledega Co., Ala. where Nancy Matilda Bramlett Worthington and her husband, Jeff, moved prior to 1880. C. C. O'Kelley says that his mother, Elizabeth Worthington, always told him they came from Ga. to Ala. when she was a small child. She and her above-named siblings always mentioned Rome (Floyd Co.) and the small community of Adairsville in Bartow Co., Ga.

John Bramlett was probably the one in Co. F., 11th Regt. Ga. Inf. whose file in U. S. Archives (Confederate forces) has the remark: "From residence Fannin Co. to Cartersville, Cass Co., Ga. 80 miles....absent on recruiting." "Uncle Bud" Worthington says that his Bramlett grandfather came through the War o.k. although wounded; that his Worthington grandfather was killed. (There is some evidence that the Worthington name may originally have been Wetherington or Wethington according to Ga. pension records and to census records both in Ga. and S. C. (Edgefield Co., S. C. if that is the same family).

Nancy Allen Bramlett was almost certainly the daughter of John Allen, b. ca. 1805 N. C. and his wife Rebecca, b. ca. 1806 N. C. This conclusion is based on the fact that John Allen and family were 2 dwelling numbers from John Bramlett and family on the 1850 Cass Co. Ga. census; that the names Agnes and Rebecca appear in both families and that the son was named John Allen Bramlett. The census and other data

One son of Nancy Matilda Bramlett Worthington, Wm. Worthington (Uncle Bud), also moved to the Arcadia, La. area. However, he was not interviewed about lineage until after he had had a stroke and it is not certain how reliable his memory was but it is generally corroborated by that of his sister, Pearlie, who still lives (in her nineties) in Talladega Co., Ala. where Nancy Matilda Bramlett Worthington and her husband, Jeff, moved prior to 1880. C. C. O'Kelley says that his mother, Elizabeth Worthington, always told him they came from Ga. to Ala. when she was a small child. She and her above-named siblings always mentioned Rome (Floyd Co.) and the small community of Adairsville in Bartow Co., Ga.

John Bramlett was probably the one in Co. F., 11th Regt. Ga. Inf. whose file in U. S. Archives (Confederate forces) has the remark: "From residence Fannin Co. to Cartersville, Cass Co., Ga. 80 miles....absent on recruiting." "Uncle Bud" Worthington says that his Bramlett grandfather came through the War o.k. although wounded; that his Worthington grandfather was killed. (There is some evidence that the Worthington name may originally have been Wetherington or Wethington according to Ga. pension records and to census records both in Ga. and S. C. Edgefield Co., S. C. if that is the same family).

Nancy Allen Bramlett was almost certainly the daughter of John Allen, b. ca. 1805 N. C. and his wife Rebecca, b. ca. 1806 N. C. This conclusion is based on the fact that John Allen and family were 2 dwelling numbers from John Bramlett and family on the 1850 Cass Co. Ga. census; that the names Agnes and Rebecca appear in both families and that the son was named John Allen Bramlett. The census and other data suggest that the Allens came to Ga. between 1836 and 1842 (birth places of children); that they first came to Gilmer where John married Nancy and on to Cass (now Bartow Co.) with the young couple following them. Then John and Nancy Bramlett returned to Fannin (created partly out of Gilmer in 1854) where they were on the 1860 census. They probably moved later back to Cass (Bartow) as that is where, from all accounts, the older children of Nancy Matilda Bramlett Worthington and her husband, Jeff, were born. No marriage record has been found for this latter couple. Jeff Worthington was a charcoal maker in those early days and his was something of an itinerant business.

BROCK

This is a collection of data and information including census records, marriages, and miscellaneous notes and items collected over the years from sources too numerous to mention, and may contain some errors, repetition, and contradictions. I am grateful for information received.

No claim or responsibility is made as to the accuracy of the enclosed information. It is simply a compilation of what I have collected on this surname. It is not copyrighted and you may use it anyway you desire. I hope it will be helpful in your research.

Much knowledge is lost forever of our ancestors, including their burial sites, because the records and stories were not recorded, or discarded or lost. If not for our pioneer ancestors, we would not be here.

I would be pleased to hear from anyone with an interest in this file.

An Anderson Co., SC., Death Notice as listed in "Upper South Carolina Genealogy and History," Vol. VI, #1, March 1988. (Page 14)

Mrs. ELEANOR CAROLINE BROCK, wife of Mr. J. A. BROCK, died at her home, at the corner of Reed and South McDuffie streets, this morning (Dec. 31, 1909) at 3:20 o'clock, after an illness extending over several months. Death was due to a hardening of the arteries, producing paralysis, and this was the immediate cause of death. The funeral services will be held at the home tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by Rev. R.C. Jeter of Aiken, former rector of Grace Episcopal church here, of which Mrs. Brock had for years been a member. Interment will be * made in Silver Brook Cemetery.

Mrs. Brock was a daughter of the late Judge J.P. Reed of this city. She had been twice married, her first husband being Mr. W.C. Davis of Charleston. For ten years she had made her home in Charleston, and after the death of Mr. Davis, returned to Anderson. About 29 years ago she was married to Mr. J.A. BROCK, who with one child, Miss ALBERTA BROCK, survives her. Mrs. BROCK was a sister of Mr. C.A. Reed, Mrs. B.F. Mauldin, Mrs. C.S. Ligon, of Spartanburg. Mrs. Brock was always active in church work, entering with whole heart into all good works. In charity she was possibly most active, giving liberally and constantly to all good and deserving causes and ever ready to lend a helping hand to any in distress or need, though all of the while working in the quiet unassuming manner that characterizes the true Samaritans.

Active in all good work and with a genial, sunny disposition, Mrs. BROCK was loved and esteemed ny all of the people of this city and surrounding country, and the announcement of her death was a heavy shock to hosts of friends and acquaintances as well as the immediate family and relatives..

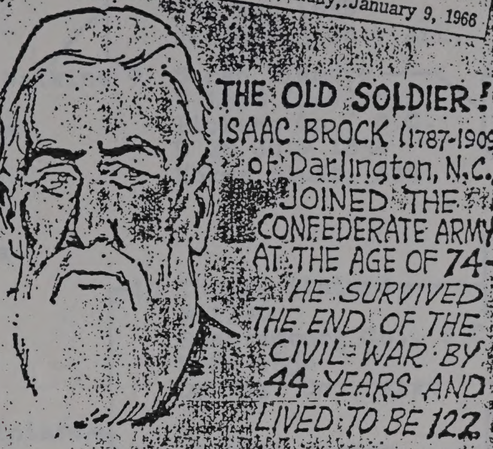
BROCK (6)

I have traced the oldest Isaac Brock from Pendleton District, SC (1790, 1800 Censuses) to Roane Co, TN (Land Records) to Buncombe Co, NC (1830 census, application for Pension, Land Records). He died before most of his family moved to DeKalb Co, Al in the 1830 (mid).

2—The Gadsden Times, Sunday, January 9, 1966



THE OLD SOLDIER!
ISAAC BROCK (1787-1909)
of Darlington, N.C.,
JOINED THE CONFEDERATE ARMY AT THE AGE OF 74-
HE SURVIVED THE END OF THE CIVIL WAR BY 44 YEARS AND LIVED TO BE 122

DeKalb Resident Lived To Be 122 Years Old

Recently in the "Believe It or Not" column in The Times there appeared the picture and story of "The Old Soldier," Isaac Brock, 1787-1909 who lived to be 122 years old.

He is believed to have lived longer than any other person in the United States.

Brock was living in DeKalb County at the time the census for 1850 was taken and had moved to Marshall County in 1860. Sometime after 1860 Brock and his family moved to Texas.

Family legend says that two brothers Isaac and Lloyd Brock came from Germany and settled in the area of Buncombe Count, N.C. This Isaac was the son of the Isaac from Germany. It is known that Brock was married at least three times and could have had other wives.

He married first Addie Siniard and had three children. His oldest son Isaac is said to have married a sister to Red-Head-Will, the half-breed chief of the Cherokee for which Little Wills Valley and Little Wills Creek derived their names. I have been unable to prove this but I am sure that there was a connection between the families of Big Will and the Brocks and Siniards.

Brock married second, Lucinda Carolyne Hill and had four children and third in about 1939, Sarah Sparks and had 11 children making a total of at least 19 children.

It is said that Brock was a blacksmith by trade and that he celebrated his 100th birthday shoeing a kicking mule. After it was learned that he was the oldest resident of McLennan County, Tex., Brock became the center of attraction wherever he went and spent many hours recalling the events in his life which included service in all the wars save the Revolution and as a Texas Ranger.

By the skillful use of the pen and constant apparance of his picture in the newspaper (to advertise the "Cure-All" remedy of the makers of a certain proprietary medicine) a sort of romance was thrown around old Isaac.

But in the summer of 1909, he was brought into court, old and blind, and was said to be off his mental balance. He was tried for lunacy but the court declared him sane but recommended his being placed in the county home for the poor. He died there on Sept. 3, 1909 and was buried by the county as none of his family claimed his body.

A tombstone marks his grave in the China Springs Cemetery in McLennan County, Tex., and bears the inscription — Isaac Brock, born March 1, 1787, died Sept. 3, 1909—Age 122 years, 6 months, 2 days. "He died as he lived, a Christian."

Brock has many relatives in this area as his sister Unisy married her cousin, Hiram Brock and settled in DeKalb County. Their son Josiah Brock lived on Lookout Mountain and owned land where Etowah, DeKalb, and Cherokee Counties join. Some of his descendants still own a part of this farm.

Josiah Brock's son, Harvey Marion, became the first circuit clerk when Etowah County was formed. Other families connected with the Brocks are Siniard, Harris, Hill, Overstreet, Bullard, Smith, Dantzler, Lackey, Redman, Scott and many others who have intermarried with these families.

GREEN - BROCK
Mrs. H.M. Davis, 1230 Old Oak Road, Birmingham, AL, wants info on -
FRANCIS (Frank) GREEN, b. 1826 GA, m. CHARLOTTE EMILY BROCK, b. 1828. In 1860 in Coweta Co., GA; m. 1849, 7 children, one of whom was -
JAMES WILLIAM GREEN.
Family moved to Sebastian Co, AR, about 1871 after Emily died about 1870 in MS.

Note: This is from the BROCK file of Eugene R. Perry, 6835 Cowles Mountain Blvd., San Diego, California 92119. My interest is basically that Brocks were entermarried with families that were related to me. As indicated below, this is from "The Georgia Genealogist" that no longer is in publication. This portion came with Number 45 Winter 1982.

I have not been in contact with Mr. O'Kelley, but noted below he was willing to share additional information.

REUBEN LEE BLACKWELL LEDGER

Mr. Harold E. O'Kelley, 300 Geneseo Road, San Antonio, TX 78209 has sent a typescript and index to a ledger book kept by Reuben Lee Blackwell. Blackwell was b. Hall Co., GA, and lived at various locations in north Georgia, keeping a journal of birth dates, marriages and deaths of family members. All the families are southern families from SC, GA, TN and FL. The index refers to the page in the journal, not this transcription. Notations in parentheses have been added by Mr. O'Kelley for additional information or clarity. "I will be pleased to trade information with any reader who has an interest in families who are mentioned in Reuben Lee Blackwell's ledger," he offered.

Dear John,

My connection to the PERRY family is tenuous at this time. My unsolved mystery is to locate prove the ancestry of WALTER BRUCE, b. 1798 in VA, died Madison County, GA. His father is believed to be a THOMAS BRUCE. The following facts provide clues as to the connection between the BRUCES and the PERRYS.

1. Other WALTER BRUCE'S appear in the Charles County, MD BRUCE family in the mid 1700's.
2. There is a THOMAS BRUCE (b.in MD or VA) in Greenville County, SC that may be WALTER'S father. He is believed to have married JENNIE PERRY. Do you have a record of any JENNIE PERRY?
3. There is an AUSTIN BRUCE in Greenville County, SC.
4. The name PERRY is used as a first and middle name of some descendants of CHARLES BRUCE in SC. There is no proven connection between CHARLES BRUCE and THOMAS BRUCE.
5. The information I have on JAMES PERRY in connection with WILLIAMSON BRUCE is in the enquiry you answered.

I have recently ordered a copy of the will of JAMES PERRY who witnessed the WILLIAMSON BRUCE documents. He died in 1771 in Frederick County, MD. I have made a list of PERRY deeds in Frederick and Montgomery Co, MD, but it is not typed yet. Enclosed is a list of colonial estate records for the PERRY family in Maryland. As you can see there is a large PERRY family in Maryland. Maryland will loan microfilm of records through interlibrary loan at no charge. You may wish to start researching the Maryland PERRYS. If you do so please check with me so we don't duplicate our efforts.

I have a few ideas for your research. You mentioned that your ancestor was linked to Greenville Co., SC. Have you searched the deeds records of Greenville Co. and all other counties that you are working on? I have found deed records often contain many wonderful surprises. Enclosed is a sample of a letter to SC that I used to obtain copy of the deed index by mail. Also, I have enclosed a sample of a letter requesting a copy of the statewide COM index and the state plat index. These might help you locate your branch.

Sincerely,

David H. Robertson

Deed Bk. E, Pendleton SCo, SC, 1799, Pages 133-134. 28 Dec 1792
Benjamin Perry to Jonas Hill for t 30 etc..... on Eoolf Creek of 12 Miles
River bounded by SE Francis Bradley, NWby JAMES BRUCE..... Rec 1 Jan 1800

Nath'l's brother BENJAMIN PERRY m. NANCY FOSTER, d/o John Foster.

MOSES PERRY was b. 7-28-1719 at Sherborne, MA, d. there 3-18-1809. He was a s/o Nathaniel Perry who m. 12-22-1714 in Sherborn to Abigail Adams, a relative of John Adams, future president. (John Quincy Adams)

His son Benjamin Perry was b. 9-15-1761 Sherburne, Middlesex Co., MS, d. 11-21-1842 in Pickens Dist, SC, bur. Terrell-Perry Cemetery in Oconee Co., SC, m. 1798 in Greenville to Nancy Anna Foster b. 9-5-1777 Union Dst, SC, d. 9-12-1848 bur. by husband.

His son Benj. Franklin Perry was born 11-20-1805 SC, d. 12-3-1886 bur. Christ Episcopal Churchyard, Greenville, SC, m. 4-27-1837 Elizabeth Frances McCall, b. 10-28-1818 SC, d. 9-24-1891, also bur. Christ Ep. He was appted Gov. of SC in 1865 - many books on him and he did a lot of writing. He fought and killed his opponent in the last duel in SC. Benjamin also in Rev. War in MA. Nancy Ann Foster d/o John Foster & Eleanor Collins of VA.

These are very interesting Perrys and I'd like to be related to them. Old obituarys claim a relationship but don't spell it out. Many Benjamin Franklin Perrys including a brother of my Father who died as an infant in Dawson Co., GA.

I don't know where Miles & Allen Perry got their given names, but did note Allen & Miles families in areas where they lived.

There were several Perry heads of families in Lancaster Co., SC, in 1800 census, and I read a research on them that is in the Lancaster Co. library and apparently "my" Phillip not related to any of them - in fact he isn't even mentioned.

Lancaster records say it is believed Benjamin Perry immigrated from NC about 1875-6 had m. 1744-53 to 1st Mary 2nd Sarah & ch. were Zadock, Benjamin, Regdon, Mary Sarah, Elizabeth, Wineford, prob. Alice. Descs went to MS.

I think a lot of these people were related by enter-marriages in the early days of our country, but finding proof is something else.

I've got you on file in case I run across something - do the same for me.

Sincerely,

F.R. PERRY

Dear Mr. Bruce:

My subscription to Family Puzzlers ran out at least a year ago, and I did not renew because my inquiries were not being published. Apparently they are now getting around to them, but I have pretty well forgotten what I queried.

BRUCE is not a surname I have researched, nor do I recall it from researching Perry or other names.

I think my 2g-gf Phillip Perry came to Lancaster Co, SC, by 1800 census with his Horton in-laws from NC. I have found other Phillip Perrys in NC & VA.

I acquired a 1932 FGS on my Phillip Perry from descendants of his son R.B. Perry of Ellijay, Gilmer Co., GA., that named his father as Nathaniel Perry and his mother as Susannah Hooper. My researched proved this could not be. Nathaniel was an uncle of Gov. B.F. Perry of SC. In my research I did acquire information on these Perrys from old Boston area.

NATHANIEL JAMES PERRY b. 16 Sep 1757, probably in Massachusetts, died 27 Nov 1808 & bur. in Perry Cemetery in Oconee Co., SC. DAR has a Rev. War plaque on his grave. Cemetery survey has his wife Susannah buried there unmarked also but that was a guess, and I learned after his death she and grown adult children families moved to AL. Nathaniel Perry entered Rev. War in Roxbury, MA.

Nathaniels parents were Moses Perry & Deborah Ivory. Md. 12 June 1766, m2d Susannah Child from Newton, MA. Moses had 16 children. Nathaniel & his brother Benjamin by his first wife. He was with Washington at Valley Forge. After the Rev. Nath'l went to Charleston, SC, worked for a mercantile firm of Wadsworth & Surpin who later suggested Nath'l & bro. Benjn open a store in the "back country" which they did, at Ruff's in Newberry Co., GA. Later the Perrys moved to Old Ninety-Six District which soon became Greenville County, and opened a store about 6 miles from the present city of Greenville.

Nath'l m. Susannah Hooper, d/o Obediah Hooper, Sr. Many records on these families, land deeds, etc. He was in the 1790, 1800 census of 96th & Pendleton Dist, SC. Susannah wasin 1810. Hooper a fairly well known name in early GA.

In looking through my file, I find a Greenville Co, SC, Deed Bk B Pages 280-281, 19 July 1790 Esther Thomas of Greenville to Benjamin Perry of Pendleton Co. for T20 sterling, 400 acres on the long branch of Reedy River, granted said Esther Thomas 7 Nov 1785 Wit: John Thomas, CHARLES BRUCE, Nathaniel Perry. Recorded 9 May 1791.

Dear Mr. Perry,

Your query in Family Puzzlers has been noted. I am interested in the Perry family because it appears there was an early (17th - 18th cent.) BRUCE/PERRY alliance.

The name "Perry" was used frequently among an early branch of the Bruce family which later settled in upper South Carolina. I have noted your "P PERRY" living in close proximity to Charles Bruce in the 1810 Greenville census.

I am also intrigued by the name of Philip Perry's son, "Allen". The Bruce family was closely associated with the Allen family at Lunenburg co., Va. and later at Granville and Wake co.'s N.C. Some of these Allens removed to Spartanburg and Greenville counties.

Perhaps you are aware that Benjamin Perry of old Pendleton district, S.C. lived adj. William Bruce there. There is evidence suggesting the old Pendleton Bruce family migrated from Surry co., N.C. from Albemarle co., Va. and the Culpeper/Orange co. area.

One of the problems I have been working on is the identification of Benjamin Perry who is found in the early Spotsylvania co., Va. records. "Benjamin Perry Bruce" is a name found among our Greenville co. Bruce family. Also, I have seen references wherein it is stated that Benjamin Perry of old Pendleton dist., S.C. (father of S.C. governor of same name), was born at Sherborne, Mass. in the 1750's. I have been unable to find any source of this birthplace. It is also stated that this Benjamin Perry married a Foster from Va. The Bruce family of Spotsylvania co. was allied with the Foster family there. And, the Bruce family of Spotsylvania was connected with the Benjamin Perry family there.

Mr. Perry, perhaps we may be able to help each other.

Sincerely,

Michael Bruce

P.S. My ancestor, Thomas H. Bruce m. Jenny (Jane) Perry in 1792 at Caswell co., N.C. Thomas settled in Greenville co. before 1810. His son Bailey named a dau. "Jane" and a son "Benjamin Perry". A Benjamin Bruce m. Mary Edwards at Culpeper co., Va. (1780's) and settled in Greenville co., S.C. He named a son "Perry".

The Bruce Family Historical Society

The Royal Bruce Society

Member: Federation of Genealogical Societies

You are cordially invited to submit your application for membership in one of the most important genealogical and hereditary societies in America. Membership is open to all of the surname (Bruce) and their descendants, including all female lines. No discrimination as to surname. The Society does not discriminate as to descendants of ancient Bruce ancestors or more recent American lines. All are Bruces!

The Society was founded by Michael Layne Middleton Bruce, Editor of the The Bruce Journal. Mr. Bruce is a descendant of Robert de Brus, Lord of Skelton, ancestor of the Bruce Kings of Scotland, and William De Braose, Baron of Gower. Mr. Bruce is descended from one of the earliest Bruce families of colonial America and is a dedicated family genealogist.

The Bruce Family Historical Society / The Royal Bruce Society is the first Bruce family society in America entirely dedicated to serving the genealogical interests and needs of its members. The Society offers one of the most advanced and sophisticated computer search programs available. Members of the Society receive valuable benefits designed to assist them in their own genealogical research as well as other important items including:

Annual Roster of Society Members

The annual Roster lists each member with their address, telephone (optional), their earliest known Bruce ancestor and their straight-line descent from that ancestor (American ancestry only).

Semi-Annual Society Newsletter

Society members receive the semi-annual Society Newsletter where they will read about their own specific ancestors and other items of special interest. The Society Newsletter will feature news about the many programs the Society offers as well as up to the minute genealogical news.

Family Roots* Computer Search Program

The Society is particularly pleased to offer this state-of-the-art genealogical program to its members. The highly touted Family Roots , by Quinsept, is the latest in advanced genealogical programs designed for the Society's own Macintosh SE Super Drive computer system. The Bruce Family Historical Society is engaged in the historic work of collecting genealogy for the many branches of the Bruce family as well as other European royal families. This information is entered into the Society's Family Roots program. Society members are given free access to the program when they submit up to ten ancestors for computer searches to link their own ancestors to other Bruce families as well as the royal families of Europe and Great Britain. Very few hereditary societies offer a program as sophisticated as Family Roots computer search.

Society Publications Discounts

Society members will receive an automatic discount on all Society publications including The Bruce Journal. Members receive a free 50 word query in The Bruce Journal each year their membership is active.Scheduled for release in November 1990, is the first in the Historical Papers series. The Historical Papers is another of the Society's numerous projects designed to promote Bruce family genealogical research in America. Historical Papers will feature important Bruce family records, genealogical research, and lineages coming down from the ancient and royal Bruce families to the present dates. Material for publication is now being accepted for these 120 page volumes scheduled for release approximately every nine months beginning November 1990. You do not have to be a member of the Society to submit material for publication. For further information write to the Society.

Date of Admission

Society Membership Certificate

The Bruce Family Historical Society / Royal Bruce Society issues a beautiful certificate (11" X 17") in color, to all of its members. Each certificate bears the Coat of Arms of the Bruce family of Clackmannon from which all existing Bruce families descend, as well as the royal heraldic devices of King David I of Scotland, ancestor of the Bruces of Clackmannon and the existing Bruce families. The membership certificate bears the official Seal of The Royal Bruce Society. Also, members will receive exclusive seals from the Society indicating their descent from those royal and noble ancestors from whom the individual member descends. All members of the Bruce family in America and their descendants are recognized by the Society as descendants of King David I and Sir Thomas Bruce of Clackmannon (brother of King Robert Bruce I).

Society Registration and Introduction Package

Each new member receives the Registration form requesting information about their own family descending from their earliest known Bruce ancestor. The Registration form is used to enter the new member and their ancestors into the Society's Family Roots computer program. The Introduction Package addresses the mission and programs of the Society and informs the member of the many ways they may benefit from participation in the various programs.

Free FGS (Federation of Genealogical Societies) Subscription

As a member of FGS, the Society is able to offer each member a complimentary subscription to The Forum, the quarterly genealogical publication of FGS. This offer is free to members through 1990. After 1990 FGS will charge a nominal fee for the annual subscription. This is an optional program for Society members.

More To Come

As the Society grows it will continue to offer additional programs to its members.

Dear Mr. Perry,

I've just read your ad in Family Puzzlers.

Although I do not have the answer to your query I may be able to offer a few ideas. I am a "Perry" family watcher. My family - Bruce - appears to have married into the PERRY family at an early date, poss. in Virginia. The name "Benjamin Perry Bruce" is perhaps the most often repeated name combination in our early Va - S.C. family. Benjamin Perry Bruce & other "Perry" Bruces are found in Greenville Co., S.C, where my branch of Bruces began settling by 1780's.

Benjamin Perry - father of S.C. Governor by same name lived adjacent to William or James Bruce in old Pendleton District S.C. ca. 1780's - 1790's. However, this Benj. Perry was supposedly born 1750's at Sherborne, Mass. He married a FOSTER from Va. My Bruce Va. family was closely associated with ~~the~~ a Foster family in Spotsylvania/Orange Counties.

Also - there is a Holcomb connection with our S.C. Bruce's which appears to pre-date S.C. Also - the Allen family was closely associated with my same Bruce family in Va. & N.C.!

So... looks like there may well be a connection between your own Perry family & my Bruce family.

I am publisher/Editor of The Bruce Journal & Chairman of The Bruce Fam. Historical Society so I am engaged full-time in genealogy. I could probably be of some assistance if you could forward land records or other court records showing your Perry & other individuals - I am familiar with many of the names associated with these families.

Sincerely,

M. Bruce

The Bruce Journal

Dedicated to the study of family relationships

Dear Friends,

It is my great pleasure to report the success of the first two issues of The Bruce Journal. In the absence of a Bruce Family Association, dedicated to Bruce family research, it is my hope that The Bruce Journal will continue to fill a very real need in collecting and publishing the research and pedigrees of family genealogists from every corner of our country. We are off to a very good start in this direction!

The Bruce Journal will continue to collect and publish genealogical information related to the noble and royal families of de Brus, de Braose, and Bruce. The first two issues include the first two part in the on-going House of Bruce series.The second issue includes an exclusive lineage chart (11" X 17") illustrating selected lines descending from Robert de Brus, Lord of Skelton (1066); Baron Braose of Gower; William de Braose, Lord of Braose (Normandy); King David I; the Bruce's of Annandale; Baron Edward Bruce of Kinloss; and others, down to the current date. Future articles will address the royal House of Bruce in great depth.

The Bruce Journal will continue to publish the lineages of our subscribers in the on-going House of Bruce series. In addition, other royal lines are planned for future issues of The Bruce Journal, and should prove to be very helpful in establishing these descents.

The next issue of The Bruce Journal will be the first of our new magazine format. It will include a special article on the royal House of Bruce featuring some descendants of Sir Thomas Bruce, brother of King Robert Bruce I, and the descendants of Sir Thomas which include the existing families of Bruce. Also planned for the coming issue is an on-going analysis of the early Bruce families of America. The next issue will examine a previously unidentified branch of the Bruce family in 18th century Virginia. Anyone descended from an early Virginia Bruce family will want to read this on-going analysis.

I could go on and on telling you about the many reasons you will find The Bruce Journal to be an indispensible aid in your own genealogical research - instead, read for yourself what others are saying about The Bruce Journal from the many letters we have received:

"You did a great job on The Bruce Journal which I am working and studying...I learned something new...Thank You!" Mrs. Nettie Lay Gore, Glencoe, Al.

"I agree with your Bruce family society conclusions. I am very glad that you started The Bruce Journal. It fills a very definate need." Mr. R.B.H., Titusville, Fl.

"The Bruce Journal is impressive. I am impressed with your scholarly approach. I intend to gather everything I can find and forward it to you." Mr. Wm. Bruce, Charlotte, N.C.

"...time to stop long enough to ponder over all the material you provided in The Bruce Journal. It is a wonderful resource, carefully and thoughtfully assembled, and I'm delighted that you've undertaken the time-consuming job of collecting and editing the material. A check is enclosed for subscriptions to the four libraries below." Dr. Thomas A. Bruce, author of The Bruce Web.

The Bruce Journal has been endorsed by The Family of Bruce Society (see page "C", Article XII, in the 1990 Roster.)

Also, among our many subscribers is Mr. Duncan Bruce, the personal representative of Lord Bruce, Earl of Elgin (Scotland).

Michael Layne Middleton Bruce, Editor
Descendant of: David & Martha (Bush) Bruce (1700 Virginia)
Robert de Brus, Lord of Skelton
William de Braose, Lord of Braose (Normandy)
Baron Braose of Gower

PERRY

P. PERRY in the 1810 Greenville Co., SC., census was in close proximity to Charles Bruce.

Bruce family was closely associated with the Allen family in Lunenburg Co., VA., and later at Granville & Wake Cos. N.C. Some Allens moved to Spartanburg and Greenville Cos., SC. Phillip Perry named a son Allen.

Benjamin Perry of Old Pendleton Dist, SC, lived adjacent to William Bruce there. This Bruce family probably migrated from Surry Co., NC., from Albemarle Co., VA, & the Culpeper/Orange Co., VA., area.

BENJAMIN PERRY BRUCE is a name found among the Greenville Co., SC., Bruce family. A Benjamin Perry is found in the early Spotsylvania Co., VA., records.

Thomas H. Bruce m. Jenny (Jane) Perry 1792 Caswell Co., NC; settled in Greenville Co., SC., before 1810; son Bailey named a dau. Jane and a son Benjamin Perry. A Benjamin Bruce m. Mary Edwards at Culpeper Co., VA (1780s) & settled in Greenville Co., SC., named a son Perry.

Clarence Kincaid

Jan. 25, 1917 - Aug. 29, 1997

DAWSONVILLE – Bearden Funeral Home of Dawsonville announces the death and funeral services for Clarence Kincaid, 80, of Dawsonville.

Mr. Kincaid passed away Friday, Aug. 29, 1997 at the Columbia Lanier Park Hospital in Gainesville following an extended illness.

A native of Gilmer County, Mr. Kincaid lived most of his life in Dawson County. Along with his wife of 50 years, he owned and operated Kincaid's Grocery at the entrance of Amicalola Falls State Park over 50 years. Mr. Kincaid was a member of the Goshen Baptist Church where he served as church treasurer for 23 years. He was preceded in death by his daughter, Nancy Kincaid.

Funeral services were held Sunday, Aug. 31 at 2 p.m. at Goshen Baptist Church with Rev. Hugh Fields and Rev. Don Covington officiating and interment in the church cemetery.

Survivors include his wife, Lavern C. Kincaid, Dawsonville; nieces and nephews also survive.

E.R. Perry Notes: DENSMORE/BURT/PADGETT

13 June 1874 entry in the Goshen Church Minutes of Dawson Co., GA (was Gilmer) states that DAVID DENSMORE departed this life on the 13th May 1874, aged 67 years 3 months and 17 days; entry signed by D.J. Burt, Moderator, and Sam'l M. Densmore, Clerk.

Malinda M. Birt (Burt) in the David Densmore Bible, listed after David Densmore & Rhoda (Burt) Densmore. Malinda b. 8/16/1825. She could not be a d/o David & Rhoda - would have been about 5 yrs old when they m. 6/7/1831.
Malinda M. Burt m. BERRY P. (POSEY) PADGETT 5/16/1844 in Cherokee Co., GA.

Several Padgett's in the 1860 Pickens Co., GA., Census:
474

BERRY V. PADGETT	37	Farmer	N.C.	(Middle initial is P for Posey)
MALINDA (Birt?)	35		GA	(date checks out to b. 1825)
Cicero	14		GA
Eliza	09		GA
Levi	05		GA	Note: This census from Cain's history of Pickens Co.
Alvin	07		GA
Jesse	02		GA

1870 Census, Pickens Co., GA
Isaac Padget, 58, has William Paget, 83, b. NC, im home. Many Padgetts in census.
26-196-196:
PADGET, Berry T. 48 Farmer $1000/$350 GA (I copied T, but said to be P)
Malinda 45 GA - b. date still checks out to 1825.
Elarra 19F, Alvin 16, Levi, Jess, John H. 9, Mary C. 7 & Geo. W. 1, all b. GA
(Eliza) (11)
No. 190 - Joseph Padget; 192 Kimsay Paget; 194 Doctor W. Padget, 197 - Wm. E. Padget - quite a community of Padgetts, and others not far away, on census.

Densmore Bible Record, as published in Family Puzzlers 384 on 27 Feb 1975:
Malinda M.Birt b. 16 Aug 1825 said by JoAnn McFarland (a highly accurate researcher) to be a d/o Rhoda Burt by a previous marriage.
David Densmore b. 26 Jan 1807; Rhoda 7 Nov 1808.
David & Rhoda m. 6-7-1831.

If Malinda M. Birt a d/o Rhoda Burt by a previous marriage, then to which Burt was Rhoda married, and what was Rhoda's maiden name?

If Malinda M. Burt a d/o Rhoda (Burt) Densmore, then Rhoda was 16 yrs 9 mos. old when Malinda was born.
Rhoda Burt m. Densmore when she was 22 yrs 7 months of age.

I think based on ages, Malinda could be a d/o Rhoda Burt by a prior marriage.

Much knowledge of our ancestors is lost because the records and stories of our ancestors has not been recorded. They were the pioneers who settled America, and they did it without automobiles, freeways, television, or welfare.

I would be pleased to hear from anyone who can add to this pamphlet. Family tradition stories are also welcome.

Ralph Burt of Canton, active in community activities and a vice president and director of Cherokee Federal Savings and Loan, died Thursday in a head-on collision while driving to Hilton Head, S.C., for an annual convention of the Georgia Savings and Loan League.

Ralph B. Burt

Burt was driving a 1985 Lincoln Continental eastbound on U.S. 278 in Jasper County, S.C., about 16 miles outside Hilton Head, at 3 p.m., when a 1986 Toyota driven by Reginald Raymond Johnson, age 22, of Ridgeland, S.C., drifted across the center line striking the Burt vehicle head-on, according to South Carolina State Patrolman R.J. Priester.

Priester said there was no alcohol involved, and why Johnson's car crossed the center line has not been determined.

Skid marks indicated Burt tried to avoid the accident by getting off on the shoulder, Priester added. Both drivers were pronounced dead at the scene.

Mrs. Jessie Burt, traveling with her husband, was examined and released from Ridgeland Hospital.

Bridgett Murdaugh, 22, Johnson's passenger from Ridgeland, S.C., also survived but remains in Memorial Hospital. Information about her condition was unavailable at press time.

Ralph Burt was best known in Canton for his organizing efforts each year of the Cherokee Federal Golf Tournament which benefits Reinhardt College.

Burt was one of the original directors of Cherokee Federal Savings and Loan, and retired as sales manager after 35 years with the Ralston Purina Company.

He was currently an associate broker with Landmaster Realty Company, and an active member of the Canton Merchants Association, the Cherokee County Chamber of Commerce, and the Game and Fish Club.

Burt was a past commander of the Canton Veterans of Foreign Wars, and was this year's service officer. A past member of the Canton Kiwanis Club, he was a charter member of the Pinetree Country Club and a member of the Canton Country Club.

A retired U.S. Army Major, he is a World War II veteran who earned the Purple Heart and Bronze Star.

Burt was an active member of Canton First Baptist Church where funeral services will be held at 4 p.m. Sunday with Dr. Randall Perry officiating.

Pallbearers will be members of the Board of Directors of Cherokee Federal Savings and Loan. Interment will follow in Cherokee Memorial Park, with Huey Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

He is survived by his wife, Jessie Harrison Burt; a son, John Burt of Atlanta; a daughter, Mrs. Harris (Frances) Bagley of Rome; a brother, Edwin Burt of Dawsonville; seven grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

DREAM HOUSE—George and Marie David have worked very hard to see this century-old house restored. Even before the finishing touches, the house is becoming a showplace of beauty and charm in downtown Dawsonville.

Restoring Old House Adds Beauty To City

By: Jeanne Martin — The Advertiser

Determination, hard work, and a real appreciation for historical value is what it takes to restore a century-old house, according to Dawson County residents George and Marie David. Through all the labor and construction rubble, a dream begins to take shape for Marie. “I’ve always wanted to restore an older house and open a business,” she said. That dream will become a reality when the “Vandiviere House” opens this fall, she said.

For more than a century, the old house stood near the town square just past the Gulf station. Originally built by a local physician, Dr. William Burt, it served as home for the Burt family, and office where Dr. Burt’s patients could come for treatment, said George who researched court records and documents to bring the house’s history to light. “The house was later occupied by the Andrew Bearden family for 27 years, and for 47 years by Col. Henry Grady Vandiviere and his family.” George said the house became known as the Vandiviere house possibly because Col. Vandiviere was well known as a politician and bank president.

Dawson County Bank bought the property and wanted the house moved. The Davids were put on a list with others who wanted to buy the house. “The first obstacle was moving the two-story house across town. Looper’s House Moving Company was hired, and the old house was given a new resting place and a new face-lift. There were huge 12”x12” hand hewn timbers put together with pegs under the floor. The house was so heavy, it bent the huge metal rails it rested on,” Marie said. “The house was moved in 1984. In 1985, we started to work on the kudzu covered yards,” she said.

The Davids wanted to leave the house much the same as it was, but decided to dress it up a little. Victorian style gingerbread trim and rails were added as well as a basement. Marie plans to install stained-glass window and door panels that she will make herself. A gazebo was built on a hill behind the house, and flower beds of colorful iris dress up the yards. Marie said she plans to add more old-fashioned plants and furnish the house with antiques.

The Vandiviere house will come to life again, this time as a center for parties, receptions, and showers, with catering services provided by Marie who will put her famous cooking skills to use.

The Davids have six children and eight grandchildren.

The data in this paper contains only Archives data plus a few random notes from other family papers in my file....One needs to have a further search made in the county records of deeds, equity files, and intestate estates which were settled by administrations.

Colonial papers.
Up until 1782/85 all wills, deeds, administrations and other legal papers were recorded and probated in Charleston, S.C. The only county seat in S.C. up to 1782/85 was Charleston S.C. and up to that date, one has to work the records in Charleston.....The four colonial counties of Granville...Colleton...Berkeley...Craven all stretched from the Atlantic Ocean completely across the state to the N.C. line...The counties while called counties, were in fact four townships with Charleston as the county seat of all four.

Mrs. Temperance M. Marvin Bird, after she moved from Edgefield Co. continued to receive until 1863, an income from property or an Estate in Edgefield Co. S.C.

SUSAN BURT EVANS was also known as SUSANNAH....It is felt by Miss Dickey that the mother of Susan Burt Evans was a Miss BURT or else a grandmother on either maternal or paternal side was a Miss BURT..........Remarks by Andrea : Seldom at that date was a middle name used.........Susan BURT Evans to me indicates that the middle name of BURT was given for a damily surname.

Note by E.R. Perry: Leonardo Andrea deceased. His sister Connie was handling these, but also now deceased, and last I heard, these records were no longer available. 19 July 1997

6 Daughter #4

8 South Carolina Archives Data.

I will now begin the result of my search in the S.C. State Archives.

9 Lands from the Lord Proprietors

FRANCIS BERT....Had a warrant for 400a land dated 17th day of August 1701.....Later he shows as Francis Burt.

10 Land Grants from the King.

The King allotted the land according to the size of the family....Usually 50a (Some years 100a) to the head of the household and then 50a additional for the wife and for each child under the age of 16 years....Often a settler who wanted land where the free land had already been taken up, would buy land, rather than take a grant in some area where he did not want to settle.

Royal Grants

John Bert, 100a on Long Cane Creek, Granville Co. 5 Mar. 1770
Moody Burts, 77a on Long Creek Craven Co. 16 July 1765
Nathaniel Burts, 300a on Welch Neck Craven Co. ..He applied for 300a in 1745 as head of a family..No grant
Nathaniel Burts, 150a Welch Neck Craven Co. 29 Nov. 1750
Nathaniel Burts, 150a on Pee Dee River Welch Neck 1 June 1750
Nathaniel Burts, 250a Welch Neck Craven Co. 29 Nov. 1750.

Comment

Nathaniel Burts came down from Pennsylvania and Deleware with a Welsh Colony of Baptists....His grants do not show in the Memorial Tax Books due to the fact that the book for 1741-51 has benn lost.

11 Memorials

Each owner of a grant from the King whether originally granted to him, or whether the land was bought or heired from the original owner, had to go or send by a friend, to Charleston and make a Memorial Tax return on the land (See Comment in #10)

John Bert 1 Elizabeth Burt 1 Moody Burt 1

I have abstracted two of these memorials.....John Bert was in present county of Abbeville which adjoined Edgefield.

12 Book 6 page 527...Aee #10

MOODY BURT...A memorial for 77a land on Santee River on south side by a creek called Congaree (This is in present Lexington Co) by a survey of land owned by John Hemelton....By lands claimed by John Brown....By lands of Frederick Kisser...said land surveyed for me by John Hamelton 2 April 1765 and granted to me 16 July 1765...Return made in Charleston 1 Aug. 1765 by Francis Goodwyn for Moody Burt.

Comment by Andrea

Moody Burt likely was allowed more than 77a, but since this land was located where he wanted it, and all sides by land which had been granted, he likely took the 77a.

13

This MOODY BURT had lands in Georgia and was living in Georgia at the time of the Revolution...He was a neighbor of the BETTIS Family in Georgia and later the same Burt and Bettis Families were neighbors in what is now Edgefield Co. S.C.

14 3-42

Mrs. ELIZABETH BURT, widow....A Memorial Tax return made by her in person on 8th March 1732..........A tract of 400a land on John Island in St. Paul Parish of Colleton Co and bordering on Bohicket Creek...The land of the widow of William Westlong... Land of John Edinborough....Land of Francis Wearsley (Perhaps intended for Wormsley who owned land in that area)........The said tract of land was an original grant to JONATHAN EVANS who by a deed sold same on the 26th day of July 1720 to JAMES BURT, planter.........The said James Burt died intestate and said land by inheritance descended to his daughter, SARAH BURT, a minor and Mrs. Elizabeth Burt, widow, is her mother and guardian.

Comment

Here we find Burt and Evans together in 1720.....Note that many people came from this area of Colleton further up into what was still Colleton Co. until the Revolution (Now Edgefield)...One person who came up was AQUILLA MILES who was a Judge of the County Court of Edgefield after the Revolution.......Aquilla Miles wed a widow Strobert as recorded in St. Helena Episcopal Church in Granville Co. S.C....I have much on Miles.

15 Edgefield County...Equity Court File 415

AQUILLA MILES died in October 1801...He left a will which was signed 2 March 1797.......His widow, Henrietta Miles has continued to reside on the home plantation and use the slaves ect. The Equity Suit for division was dated 18 June 1830...Heirs of Aquilla Miles as listed in the Equity Suit for division.

Mrs. Henriatta Miles, the widow.

The children.

Rebecca Miles who married PHILLIP BURT and she died before her father and left no issue.
Catherine Miles the wife of FRANCIS BURT
Susannah Miles the widow of HARWOOD BURT.
John Miles.
Permelia Miles the wife of David Holland (Perhaps Daniel not plain
Amelia Miles the wife of Martin Palmer
Aquilla Miles Jr..now aged 50 years and blind and single.
Thomas Miles..now deceased and left no widow or children.
Lewis Miles, deceased and left a widow, Sarah Miles and the following children who are his legal heirs :

Lewis Miles Jr.
Mary Miles
Sara Miles
Rebecca Miles
Aquilla Miles
Harrietta Miles or Harriet.

End of Equity Data.

EVANS-BURT....Descendents of Jonathan Evans came to Edgefield with the Burts and Miles from lower Colleton, St. Paul Parish. They organized just before the Revolution an Episcopal Church which stood on the Edisto River and not far from Trenton, S.C. This church has long since been extinct....They named this church on upper Edisto River St. Paul after the older church noted in #14....The site of this later St. Paul Episcopal Church is even lost but it was near Shaw Creek...The Miles Family were members. The present Trinity Episcopal Church organized circa 1830 at the Village of Edgefield and the Episcopal Church of ~~xxx~~ Our Saviour (Founder mainly by Hatcher descendents circa 1865) at Trenton, S.C. are outgrowths of the older St. Paul Church which was near Shaw Creek...The present St. Paul Episcopal Church at Batesburg in Lexington Co. (See Lexington in #12) was named for the first St. Paul in Edgefield which was laid out to serve Edgefield and Lexingto

Comment

I have never done an Evans paper...However I am now organizing a Kittypot of work on Evans to be done next summer in 1952...Mr. John E. Ladson Jr., 1212 Sixth St. S.E., Moultrie, Ga. is a client of mine. He and I have checked much Evans data.....They were early in Granville and Colleton Counties (See #14) and some crossed over into Georgia and some were at Midway...They continually crossed and recrossed the Savannah River up to 1800 into Georgia and South Carolina....Some were early with the Miles and Burt families in what is now Edgefield.

17 Land Grants after the Revolution.

Asa Burt, 417a in Abbeville Co. on Cattail Creek 3 Sept. 1810
Burke Burt, 480a on Spencer Creek in Barnwell Co. 2 Jan. 1804
Phillip Burt, 145a on 96 Creek Edgefield Co. 5 Feb. 1810
Phillip Burt, 1000a in Edgefield Co. 2 Feb. 1818
William Burt, 365a on Oldfield Cr. Barnwell Co. 4 Aug. 1806

Burts

Michael Burts, 210a on Beaverdam Creek Newberry Co. 5 Sept. 1814
Susannah Burts, 103a on Turkey Creek Edgefield Co. 7 Sept. 1818
John Birt also as John Burt, 150a on Cedar Shoals Creek in 96 Dist...(Now Union Co) 4 Dec. 1786.

The old law of land allotment was not in effect after the Revolution.

18 Land Plats after the Revolution

John Birt 1
John Burt 2
Phillip Burt 2
Michael Burtz 1
Asa Burt 1
Michael Burt 2
Susannah Burt 1
William Burt 1

These plats can be abstracted or photostated..however some are missing from files while they show in Index.

19 Revolutionary Index

The following names show in the S.C. Revolutionary Index...The name may be for service....for supplies furnished...or merely as a witness to some other paper...I abstracted most of them.

Francis Burt
Thomas Burt
Michael Burtz
Moody Burt
William Burt
Hannah Burtz.

Those who had a separate file, I abstracted..These follow.

20

THOMAS BURT...service as a Private in the South Carolina Continental Regiments...........No further data abstracted by me for the Continental Regts. are hard to find the data....I can abstract however if you desire it.

21

MICHAEL BURTZ.....His file...He stated that he never applied for nor was paid for his service in the Revolution for 6 years and mainly as a scout under Capt. Jacob Wannamaker....Col. Jacob Rumph and in old Orangeburg Co.......He applied for this from his residence in in Barnwell Co. S.C. on 3rd Nov. 1827....The following men signed his application they they either served with him or knew that he had served :

W.W. Williams
John Cook
Stephen A. Arthur.
John Randall
Jacob Cook

Michael Burtz swore to this claim before John Randall J.P.....The claim was examined and was allowed and he was paid 7 June ~~1830~~ 1830.....He died soon after....A paper date missing and from Barhwell Co.....Mrs. HANNAH BURTZ of Barnwell Dist. S.C. stated in a letter that she was aged between 60 and 70 years and that her husband, Michael Burtz died 1st day of August last.....Her children were all married and had moved to their own homes...She had the 200a of land her husband owned and a nephew (Not named) of her husband was farming the land for her.....She asked for a state pension.

22

FREDERICK BURTZ appears circa 1820 in Newberry and ~~Eax~~ Laurens Counties...He states his father (Not named) was a soldier in the Revolution in Orangeburg Dist.......He was of German descent...This German Family of Burtz later began to spell as BURTS.

23

WILLIAM BURT of Charleston...His estate was confiscated due to the fact that he was a TORY.......17 Dec. 1783...it stated that when Charleston was occupied by the British that William Burt took Protection from them.......Wm. Burt proved that he was no Tory and his estate was returned to him....He places his Revolutionary record to prove he was no Tory and served the American Cause.

23-a

WILLIAM BURT...His account for supplies furnished and also for his service in the American Navy as Commander of the Schooner Nancy...His service as commnader of the Nancy was certified by Maj. Cochran and Robert Bruce....William Burt paid out of his own funds 1000 Ls for the Nancy from Miss Molly Darling who owned the boat by her inheritance.......William Burt also states he was Clerk of the S.C. Navy from 1 March 1779 to 1 April 1780.....He also placed several bills of supplies and swore to one bill 1 Oct. 1783 before William Mason J.P....He swore to the other bill 18 May 1786 before Daniel Smith J.P.......After the Tory mess was cleared up, WILLIAM BURT was allowed payment for his service and for his supplies and an Indent was issued for the same... Edward Blake and Josiah Smith both certified as to his claims as being true and just and unpaid............WILLIAM BURT after he got his affairs straigt and his indents were issued, wrote an order to WALTER HALL to receice for him his indents.....The indent interest payments were endorsed at various times by :

George James
John Loviday
Charles Hart
Felix Worley of Orangeburg Dist.
William Freeman
John Calvert.

This ends the file of the unjustly accused Tory.

24 See #18

Moody Burt and Francis Burt have no file of their own.....I did not check their names since they appear in a cross Index in the file of some other person...I can check however.

Census 1790 SC 25

25 S.C. Census for 1790

The 1st number indicates all males over age of 16 and includes the husband, if any......2nd number indicates all boys under age of 16 years......3rd number indicates all females and includes the wife, if any.

William Burt 2-1-6 in City of Charleston...see #23
Moody Burt 3-0-0 in Edgefield of 96 Dist.
Francis Burt 0-2-2 in Edgefield of 96 Dist...(Likely Frances)
Frederick Burt 1-3-4 Laurens Col of 96 Dist...see #22

The Georgia Census for 1790 has been destroyed but I know some of the Edgefield Burts were living across the Savannah River in Ga.

26 Baptist Church Records up to 1805

I have the published data on S.C. Baptists from 1680 to 1805 and no BURT-BURTS names show.

27 Catholic Church Records.

I know from personal knowledge that scores of BURT entries show in the Parish Record of the Roman Catholic Church of the Immaculate Conception of the Virgin Mary at Edgefield.....I lived for ten years in Trenton, S.C. in Edgefield County and heard mass each Sunday in the Church at Edgefield....I once wrote a sketch of this church for publication and noted the many BURT names.

Dr. HARWOOD BURT and Dr. WILLIAM BURT were mainly instrumental in organizing the present church...I have been told they were Protestants and later became Catholic...However in my investigation, I found in Charleston that in 1785 the Catholic Congregation at Clearwater in 96 Dist . (Edgefield Co) bought a tract of land on which to build a church from the Gallman Family...I also find mention in the Historical Commission of mention of this Catholic Church at Clearwater Plantation as early as 1820 and some of the Burts were listed.....The present church building was erected at Edgefield Village (Begun in 1850) and dedicated on 8th December 1854...The architect of the State Capitol in Columbia was engaged to draw the plans...The stone was quarried from an old quarry back of the church.....There is a Catholic Cemetery of the Sacred Heart in Edgefield, but few of the Burts are buried there (Save later generations).....The older church was on land some two miles from Trenton, S.C. at Clearwater Plantation, one of the Burt palatial houses which is not owned by the heirs of Mr. Julius Marshall Vann of Trenton, S.C.......There is a fairly large cemetery at the site of the old Catholic Church at Clearwater and scores of Burt graves there....I have never copied any inscriptions. When I lived at Trenton, I was not interested in genealogy and now see how much I missed by not copying many old tombstone inscriptions.

Error

The Edgefield Historical Society lists the organization on the Catholic Church as in 1850...This is in error....The Society states that Dr. Harwood Burt was the main person to give funds in 1850...See #15 where in 1830 Dr. Harwood Burt was dead....I am at times very provoked by historians and genealogists who blithly and completely ignore dates....At a meeting of the Edgefield Historical Society two years ago, I called to their attention that the Society was in error...The Dr. Harwood Burt on the building Committe in 1850 was not the same Dr. Harwood Burt in 1820 who signed a paper Re. the Catholic Church at Clearwater Plantation and was dead before 1830 could not be the same man as on building Committe in ~~182~~ 1850...However some genealogists and historians do not seem to want to hue to facts and dates...I am presenting a photostat of the Catholic Church at Clearwater Plantation in 1820 with the name of Dr. Harwood Burt Sr. as well as other Burts in 1820, to the Society.

28 Cast your Bread upon the Waters.

The wealthy and srtong Catholic Church in Edgefield circa 1860 started a mission for some farmers who were Catholic at St. William in what is now Saluda Co......The Edgeield Church paid all expenses of the mission....Today St. William is a strong and large Catholic Parish...In turn Edgefield is small weak congregation...The parish at St. William now sends its pastor to Edgefield each Sunday to say mass for the weak congregation in Edgefield.

During the War Between the States, the Edgefield Catholic Church lost 37 men by death due to sickness or being killed in Battle for the Cause of the South.....It was a church of widows and orphaned children......Many families moved on and left the present church weak and poor...Today in the Catholic Church in Edgefield is no member by name of BURT and in the county, as far as I know is no person by name of Burt....However in the Church today and also in the county are Burt descendents, and they are still the leading families of old Edgefield.

b A story

One of the Burt Families of old Edgefield moved to what is now Anderson Co. S.C....This Family was not Catholic but were at first, I understand, Presbyterian. In later years they all became Baptist. This Anderson Co. of Burt furnished four leading Baptist educators and ministers.........I knew personally two of these Baptists Burts.....Dr. Edmund Burts, a famous Baptist minister once told me of his going to Edgefield soon after 1900 as pastor of the historic old Baptist Church in Edgefield (Said church an outgrowth of old Horn Creek Baptist Church)...Dr. Burts told me that as soon as he and his family were settled in Edgefield in the parsonage, and before he had visited all his new flock, that he called on his Catholic cousins in Edgefield....Judge and Mrs. Devore (She was nee Sarah Dozier and her mother a Burt) had Dr. and Mrs. Burt over for dinner soon after they arrived in Edgefield and since they were cousins, he often stopped by to see them and they were constantly stopping by at the Baptist Parsonage along with many others of his Catholic cousins.....Dr. Burts said before he knew it, his church was ready to call him on the carpet for neglecting his flock of Baptists to cater to the Catholics of Edgefield...The story had a happy endeing however, for when Dr. Burts left his pastorate at Edgefield, the Baptist Church voted him the best paster they had ever had.....Today in the Edgefield Baptist Church the name of Dr. Burts is revered........Dr. Burts also told me that all the Baptist and Protestant Burt families used a fiaal "s" and left the Catholic branch with the plain Irish BURT.

SEVEN BURT men or descendents of Burt women in the Catholic Church of Edgefield, became territorial judges, commissioners or governors of the new western territories.......I did have the names of all seven from my article on the history of the Edgefield Catholic Church...One was FRANCIS BURT, I recall and was named as Territorial gov. of Nebraska....He was born 1809 in Edgefield at Clearwater Plantation...He arrived in Bellevue, Nebraska7th Oct. 1854..he became the first Gov. 16th Oct. 1854 and died two days later on 18 Oct. 1854

d

Miss Dickey, when I am next in Edgefield, I can check the old Catholic Church Register to see if your SUSAN BURT EVANS is listed. It is possible that she was of the Protestant Family of Burt in Edgefield...However all were the same family....I have been told they were clannish and while they woud dispute religion among themselves, they would all instantly arise in the same body to avenge any insult to the family, Catholic or Prostestant.

32

MOODY BURT died sometime between 1790 and 1791...He died intestate as shown by #31.....I do not have a list of his children. The records of Richmond Co. Ga. and of Edgefield Co. S.C. may show the names of his children.

32-a

The late Miss Allene Dozier of Edgefield S.C., who until her death about five years ago was Librarian of the South Carolina Supreme Court, is a Burt descendent.......Miss Allene told me that she had worked on this Burt Family of hers for many years. She was inclined to think that Moody Burt married Frances (Fanny) Williamson, but did not know for sure (Note #30-f) a deed of gift to Lucy Williamson Evans........Miss Allene told me she know some of the sons of Moody Burt were the following :

Matthew Burt   Francis Burt
Moody Burt Jr.

She said that Moody Burt also had a brother named Matthew Burt.

Comment

Miss Charlton Dozier of Edgefield is aged nearly 100 years and is the oldest living member of the Edgefield Catholic Church and is the last member of her family alive.....She got all the papers of her late sister, Miss Allene Dozier...She may have some data in her files i.e. Miss Charlton may have........However when I was working last year on the BETTIS Family, we went to see Miss Charlton Dozier and she was far too feeble to talk coherently and we were unable to see the papers since Miss Charlton was in no condition to be worried unduly.......Miss Charlton Dozier lives in a lovely old house which she has willed to her great niece, Mrs. Bessie Dozier Rainsford Yarborough, with whom Miss Charlton lives....I saw Bessie recently at a Catholic Convocation at Batesburg S.C. for the women of the district....I asked Bessie, (Mrs. Yarborough) about the old papers of Miss Allene...She told me when her great aunt was better, for me to come over and go thru the papers.

There was a BETTIS-BURT connection somewhere along the line as told me by Miss Allene.......She also said the Burt and Bettis families were related by kinship further back.........Delia Burt of Delilah Burt was supposed to be the first wife of Stephen Bettis who removed from Edgefield Co. S.C. to Dallas Co. Alabama....In my Bettis work I never was able to prove that the first wife of Stephen Bettis was nee Delia Burt.

34

Trenton, S.C. in Edgefield Co. along the old Barnwell Co. line was an old center of social and religious life in early Edgefield. Here lived the old aristocrats of Edgefield County....Swearingen... Bettis...Burt...Hatcher...Miller...Dozier...Day...Vann...Mathis... Rainsford...Tillman...Wilson...Lott...Frazier...and many others. Today only one Bettis surname is left in the male line...No Burt name as far as I know...Many of the Rainsford-Dozier-Roper and other families who are BURT descendents live now mainly in and above Edgefield rather than in the Trenton area.......However at the site of the old and first Catholic Church at the Burt plantation is an old cemetery with many Burt graves and some of the Protestant Burts are buried in this old Catholic Church site graveyard..Some of the early Burts are buried at the old Aquilla Miles (See #15) family graveyard some few miles from Trenton....I have the copies of all graves at the old Hatcher Family Graveyard near Trenton, but no Burt graves there....also two old Swearingen family graveyards are near Trenton...to my regret, I never copied any of these.

Comment.

This man is likely one of the French refugees from Santo Domingo after the slave uprisings there......Many of these people came into Pennsylvania, Charleston and Augusta.........The Bacot family is one of these old French Catholic Families of Augusta......In St. Peter's Church Yard in Columbia are buried some Reids from Charleston who have the same first names as the Reids in this will....I do not know if the same family or not.

I checked the published record of all Abbeville Co. estates and found no BURT estate there........Much further data on Burt can be found in deeds and administrations in Barnwell...Edgefield and Anderson counties in S.C. and in adjoining Geogria counties.

The Burt descendents in Texas have recently given $5000 toward restoring the interior of the old Catholic Church in Edgefield and in 1954 the centennial celebration of the dedication will be an historical event in Edgefield.

53

Hatcher...I do not think a single person by name of Hatcher lives in Edgefield County today....Only one person by name of Bettis lives in Edgefield Count as far as I know...Not a single person by name of Burt lives today in Edgefield..A few people by name of Swearingen still reside there........Many Bettis-Burt-Hatcher descendents live in Edgefield but thru the women who wed and changed their names.

54

The Burt Family in S.C. have contributed much to the life of S.C. and the Catholic and Protestent branches, both have added lustre to the name of Burt. Both branches thru the descendents are still very close knit and clannish to a degree here in S.C. even if few still bear the name of Burt.

55

Hatcher was an Episcopal Family and they always predominate in religion...The Bettis family was first Baptist but now to Hatcher blood are are members of the Episcopal Church in Edgefield...The Mathis Family were early Catholics, but all Mathis who have Hatcher blood over the years have become members of the Episcopal Church. In Trenton 90 % of members of D.A.R. and of the Episcopal Church are Hatchers in descent.

Dear Mr. Andrea:

I have recently returned from Edgefiled, where I searched the Probate Court records for family genealogy. What a pity the files in that office are so scrambled. I had to go through the entire Equity file inorder to get the packages I needed. It was the only way to cover everything thoroughly.

I learned,,at a dinner party at Allene Rainsfords, that Bessie Yarborough had in her possession data on the Burt family. This was one of the lines that I was working on at Edgefield. Bessie graciously loaned to me the data that you and Miss Allene Dozier(I loved her dearly) had compiled. In this paper you mentioned your desire to see Miss Allenes papers, so I am making you a carbon copy for your file. It is terribly done and I am ashamed to send it. my typing.

Bessie said that this is all that she has or have had.

Miss Allene does not give dates but at least it will help if one wants to document the line. She did give me a lead by stating that the Burts came from Mecklenburg,Va. I am trying to arrange to go to Richmond, Va. If I cannot find the record there at the Va. State Library I will go to Boyaton,Va. which is the county seat of Mecklenburg county. Bessie said that Miss Charleton thought that A Miss Harwood was the wife of our mutual ancestor, Matthew Burt, who left a will recorded in the year 1794 at Edgefield C.H. I had thought that the wife of MMatthew Burt could have been either Harwood, Moody or Armistead because his sons Were given these names. He had a dau. named Patsy Hewitt Burt, therefore Hewitt may have signifiance.

Matthew's son Armistead Burt was my ancestor. he married Mary Baker Scott; widow of Samuel Scott (ref: Equity pkg.#1190 on file at Edgefield & her tomb stone is inscribed Mary J.Burt b. 8h Dec.1782 d.Jan 9.1857. Edgefield Dist. She is supposed to be nee Mary Baker dau. of John Baker of Abbeville.

Armistead Burt & wf. Mary Children were:

1 Armistead Burt m.1st.Sarah Key abt.1820 d. without issue. m.2nd.Martha Calhoun dau of W'm. Calhoun & wf. Catherine Jenna de Graffenreid Mar.12.1827.(S.C.Hist. Soc. Mag.vol.7. p 158 & Key & Allied Families by Mrs. Julian Lane)
2 Frances W. or Frank. Gov of Nebraska.
3 Henry S.Burt.
4.Martha Burt m. Robert ~~Xxxxxx~~Garrett my ancestor I have the Garrett line documented back to Colonial period. This is my line for Colonial Dames.

In Colonial Glouster records which include Matthews Co.Vol.2.p.92 -John Burt wit. deed Frances Shocklefoot to John Moody.

In Charles Parish York Co. Va.History & Register p.57---John Burt son of Harwood & Margaret Burt b. May 21.bapt. June 13.1762
In W'm & Mary Quart. Hist Papers Vol.1 1892-93.
p.52. W'm. Roane m. Frances Burt sec. by James Vaughn p 57. Harwood Burt Jr.sec. for W'm. Throckmorton& Elizabeth Phillips Mar.15.1787.
p.58. Daniel Elis of James City & Nancy Burt dau. of Phippip Burt May 18.1792.

I am sending you a miles name for your file, Joshph Talberts dau. Eliz. Miles is named in his will rec.1794. H e is my ancestor, he is the most elusive person. I could not find anything about him in Va. Records. I am told that he came from maryland.

I am sending you a clipping from the Edgefield Advertiser(I subscribe to it) At last Edgefield can afford a full time Priest. He is very nice and appearantly well liked, he was at two dinner parties I attended there, The hostesses were non Catholics. He is young and is a Convert. Elizabeth Smith (Allene's ~~Si~~ sister) and I used to take care of the Alter. The old Church has been renovated and looks lovely.

Will you advise me if the Equity files etc. are indexed and filed so that one does not have to spend too much time in Charleston, S.C. I want to do work there on the Burt, Holmes and look for Mary Baker who m. 1st Samuel Scott & 2nd. Armistead Burt. Your friend Mr. Hudson intrested me in working on the Holmes genealogy. He said I am the first one he has known to be intrested in the line. I have my line documented back to W'm. Holmes who left will rec. July 1790 , Edgefield

I have my McKie line documented back to Daniel McKie who left a Will proved Nov. 16.1818 at Edgefield C.h. They came to S.C. during the Colonial period. Daniel McKie's eldest son was Alexander McKie, I have an inkling that his father had the name Alex. (over)

Please excuse the appearance of this letter.

Sincerely Yours,

Sunie Talbert Fisher

Dear Mr. Andrea,

Thank you for the work sheet (carbon copy) which came December 15 on BURT surname.

I literally have no Evans data except for the name Susan Burt Evans who married David D. Marvin in 1827 in Edgefield, Co. S.C. (am sure of S.C. - the county may have been one adjoining if S.B. was not of Edgefield. From the 1850 Census record I learned that her birthplace was South Carolina circa 1807.

The EVANS name was repeated when it was given to Susan B.E. Marvin's son, Joseph Evans Marvin, who named his son Joseph Evans Marvin (I think he died in Ky. or Tenn. in the past 15 or 20 years.). I felt that my data were almost too limited to attempt a search. I could not give more data!

The War between the States almost surely disrupted communication between S.B. (Evans) Marvin and her S.C. kin. Her husband had died in 1856.

My aim in this search is to find the parents of Susan Burt Evans Marvin and data of her brothers and sisters, if she had any. The settlement of an estate should reveal this.

On a separate sheet I give a few comments or additions and corrections to your work sheet.

Wishing you and yours a joyous and peaceful Christmas Season and a good 1952

I am, Sincerely, Edna M. Dickey

Temperance M. Byrd was a Methodist. I have thought that her husband W.T. Byrd and his father were also Methodists. One of the connections was a Methodist preacher – may not have had a circuit or regular pastorate to be in conference. I do not know religion of David D. Marvin.

Cornelia)Kinsman Byrd may be buried in a Bird (Byrd) or Evans cemetery in or near Edgefield. She was b. 1848 died before Mar. 1850.

Were any of the Evans Catholics in Edgefield? Somewhere I have obtained the idea that Burts once lived in Scotland. I know many French Huguenots settled in S.C. and have thought the Foskee or Fooshe may have been Fr. Huguenots.

I wish I knew the ~~the~~ ancestral religions.

The James Burt (intestate) with widow Elizabeth and dau. Sara BURT sounds promising. There may be descendants with Bible and other records.

I'll study other data as soon as possible. My two brothers and sister with their families (younger than I and not genealogically minded – perhaps just leave that to me, knowing what I have is also theirs).

Glad to join your Evans kittypot for summer 1952 as I have to limit what I spend on my personal indulgences.

4. Wm T. Bird (not Temperance his wife) received income from from property in Edgefield Co., S.C. until 1863 – don't know final outcome or disposal of this.

When will you go to Edgefield to finish kittypot on Evans?

> Please send me postal card letting me know again rental on your Scott files. I have only the name (Mary) Polly Scott and an approximate date as clue, but, I believe, I can better spare a few hours now on Scott research than during the summer months as I may be away part of the time and we always have guests — more expected than usual this year. My "energy" for research suffers, too, during our hottest summer days; had better rent Scott files now.

D. D. Marvin who mar. Susan Burt Evans may have been a "Northern" sympathizer. I don't know, but his son-in-law, Wm Teakle (or Teackel) Bird (Byrd?) was loyal Southerner — owned slaves and land in Edgefield County from which he received an income until 1863. What we have is tradition as Bible, records, clippings were burned when home of [illegible] T. Byrd's widow was destroyed by fire. Mother does not know exact dates. She thinks there was an Adams relationship — does not know if it was on Burt, Evans, Marvin, or how.

Susan Burt Evans Marvin (wife of D. S. Marvin) according to Census of 1850, was born in S. C. about 1807. We think she died in 1870's and her husband died in 1850's (before War between the States).

Please overlook the use of this "stationery." I jotted down note and ideas that occurred — meant to re-write part as a separate letter.

Dear Mr. Andrea:

Perhaps in the next few months you will be in Edgefield and adjoining counties or can find data in Columbia or elsewhere.

I have record of estate settlement of Francis (Fannie) Bird in Edgefield Co., S.C. mentioning son Wm Teakle Bird and his 6 sisters or their heirs. Should like to know where Francis (Fannie) Bird and her husband who was Wm Teakle Bird, Sr., but may have been called Billy or Teakle Bird. Think he was converted to Methodist faith. Someone in W.T. Bird's family became Methodist preacher – may have not been a regular pastor.

I think the late Mrs. Parker said there was a Bird cemetery near Turkey Creek. She intended to get me the address of the head of the Bird family who held a reunion in Edgefield County last summer.

Have you done any research on this family? Have you a record of the settlement of Wm (?) Teakle (?) Bird's estate mentioning widow Francis (Fannie) and his son Wm Teakle Bird and his six daughters, one of whom was named Abby' – think she mar. a Reardon.

Where could I find ~~date~~ record of marriage in 1827 of Susannah Burt Evans & D D Marvin in S. C. (Edgefield Co. or near by?) and of their daughter Temperance in Feb. 1844 & Wm. T. Bird as his second wife. First wife was Caroline Reardon. No children by first marriage.

Can you recommend anyone in Edgefield Co. for research or do you know of any printed records that may be bought or borrowed through a library?

I think I was told that a Wm and a John Evans were in 3/ Edgefield County in 1810. Do you suppose Susannah Burt Evans b. abt. 1807 in S.C. (mar. 1827 & D D Marvin) was a dau. of one of these men? Have you any data on them? Wills on record in Edgefield probate records?

Temperance M. Bird dau. of Susannah Burt Evans Marvin named her oldest child + Cornelia Hinman (or Hinemon?); a son Joseph Evans Marvin; and a grandson Eldred Smith Bird. She was connected with an Adams family in S.C. (I think) with New England connections.

If there is any part of this research that you will tackle please let me know and the approximate price. I can spend only a limited amount on this hobby.

I am already a member of U.D.C., D.A.R., and U.S.D. 1812 - am eligible for other societies based on colonial services and am just trying to clear up these "puzzles" for my own satisfaction and to "balance" my lines a wee bit better.

Mrs. Parker wrote so highly of your ability. I miss her friendly, cheerful letters.

I shall appreciate hearing from you.

You did some Burt research for me.

Miss Mary T. Fitch, of Columbia, has extensive Burt material collected by her mother, but she could find no Evans marriage that would have helped me with parentage of Susannah Burt Evans who according to census records was born in S.C. I know she was married in S.C. to D D Marvin.

Sincerely yours,
(Miss) Edna M. Dickey

Dear Mr. Andrea,

I have just learned there is no Marshall Lott records in Mobile county. NoW I am trying for Baldwin Co., just across the Mobile River. When you think of it, the heavy ferry traffic would be toward the town. I have a feeling that I am on the track of it. It is true that when the ferry began operations and even when Marshall Lott died, all that area may have been Washington. As I recall, the later divisions of the state into counties came after Statehood, 1819. Anyway, after Baldwin, if necessary, I shall try old Washington county in the hope of eventually finding the record.

Another thing, there may need to be a complete realignment of family lineups. Jane may not have been the fourth cild of John and Mary. She may have been the eldest. She evidently married before a fourth child could have done so.

It does not seem that the elder Lotts left S.C. Jesse' will was recorded there. It is probable that if young Jesse went to Alabama, he left after the death of his father. If one could be sure that Emsley Lott had a son named Jesse, one might understand that a cousin Elbert might have administered, for the family ties were strong. I surely hope that, if Marshall did leave a will, it will be revealing instead of concealing.

Apropos of that characteristic of wills in general, it appears that Gerett Swearingen does not mention his two sons, Zacherius and Thomas. No doubt, the two sons of the first marriage received their patrimony before Gerett's second marriage, as so often happened; but not to refer to it, certainly clous their parentage and heritage.

Also, the appearance of another Gerett in the Maryland records is disturbing to some of the descendants in that area. But my first list of Gerett's children read like this: "Gerett, Thomas, Samuel. Our Samuel was a grandson of one of these." Authority given was Compendium of American Genealogy; Early Immigrants. The second written as if a supplementary title. The book and also a Century of Population Growth, 1790 to 1900. Both books are said to be in the Columbia Library. As soon as I can, I shall see if they are here in Houston. A very fine Historical Room, open only from 2:30 pm to 5. Few seats and it is not easy to use the facilities.

Mrs. Trenholm said to you that tradition brought the Bettis from the East to Brunswick Co., Va., and to N.C. Around the Albemarle Sound, I have several Bettises -- one or two whose dates may be acceptable. In Brunswick Co., Va., I have asked for a John's will for 1751 -- a photostat.

A fine letter from Mass reports that they found no contion (?) with Conn., NeW York or Pa. The Bettis in particular, Springfield, spelled Bettes as our ancient name was, happens to come from Biddaford, Maine. Will send what little data he has and will soon visit the Boston Institute. You see, if we came from the East, we came through that Church affiliation. Mass., Springfield, says they have found "no connection with the South, either." If not through the Church then it is Virginia. William of Hampshire, b. 1622, was at Barnstable, a descendent of Richards says. John and Thomas from Gravesend to Dorchester, then to Barnstable. No account of Thomas there, but Hinman admits a second Thomas at Guilford, but shies away from him. John had Hannah, Samuel, Hope (a son) christned at Barnstable up to 1640. No longer there, afterward, but Savage says he was later "of Dorchester." In 1643, the name was Beetts. An impossible name, of course, and could only have been B-e-t-t-e-s, letters misplaced. Some have guessed that it might have been Bills. I cannot see it that way. And here lies the confusion.

You have found these Bettises Congregational or Baptist. The pastor of the Medway Church was Presbyterian--no training in the Provinces for the Congregational. I have not found a Virginia Bettis that was not Church of England. The original families in England were Episcopalian, and still are, as far as I can learn. These names, Thomas, William, John, Richard, Francis, come down in every generation, if not in every family. They date from 1630. Francis is the only name found in our line exclusively. All the families, England or America, have them, along with Stephen, Elijah, Elisha, James, Matthew, David, Samuel. But --- Francis --- he comes down only in our family, from now to 1700. Back of that, there are lost records. In the church group, especially in Mass., they were not in the general life of the country, rather apart.

The sons of the Southampton or Hampshire studied at Oxford, it is said. There they studied under the Martyrologist Fox, imbibed his principles, and left the church. One married a daughter of Sir Thomas Lucy, Charlcote, Stratford - The Lucy studied at Oxford, too, and history says he, too, became Puritan.

I want fact. If we come from Va., I shall be glad to know it. I haven't found us there yet. I shall concentrate on the Edenton area after Brunswick. I am sorry I haven't heard from Mrs. Trenholm. I keep thinking of that impossible Chesterfield and Darlington. Our Francis 1814 was evidently in Bertie, Edgecombe and Wilson, N.C., in 1736, '38, '39. It takes him pretty close to the John Bets who appears around the Sound. John and Thomas the only names I have found there that fit.

Rest are hand written notes -

No wills - which indicates they moved on - to Brunswick Co., Va., perhaps? A shame to inflict such typing on you. Has William sent the application? Best Wishes. A. C. K.

Right here, Matthew' son, William James, Mrs. Munner -lyn's fourfather had owned a plantation in Baldwin Co.

It appears now, John, son of John Swearengen, settled in Carolinas. Names different.-

Dear Mr. Andrea:

The enclosed letter is explanatory. Do you know of any church records or other records that will mention these marriages? I think they took place in Edgefield Co. or (district?) or Abbeville or other nearby county. They definitely took place in South Carolina, as Susan (or Susannah?) William Teakle Bird's (Byrd's) first wife was Caroline Reardon (no children). His father was also Wm Teakle Bird (Byrd) but I do not know whether he was called Wm (Billy) or Teakle Bird. I have a copy of the settlement of estate of the mother of Wm Teakle Bird, Jr. She was named Francis and called Fannie. Spelling may have been Francis or Frances. You know better than I about the spelling of those days from your extensive research.

In some way Temperance M. Marvin was related to the John Quincy Adams sixth president of U.S. I saw a query in last week's (or the previous week's) Virginia Gazette (Williamsburg) about a S. Carolina Adams family said to be related to J. Q. Adams.

As you know from previous research for me, I am interested in the parentage (and other data) of Susan Burt Evans. She was born in S.C. and was married (1827) in S.C. so there should be a settlement of estate or some other record in S.C. that mentions her.

The Teakle in Wm Bird's name sounds like Virginia or Maryland. Wm T. Bird, Jr. had no brothers, only sisters.

Shall be glad to pay a reasonable price for data I do not already have, but I cannot afford to spend very much on this hobby.

The late Marie Hammond Parker was going to do some Bird-Byrd (cemetery) research for me when weather and time permitted. She spoke highly of you as a person and historian always wrote me about those Edgefield Hist. Soc. programs.

Please let me know if you think there is any hope of solving any of these genealogical "problems"?

I think D. D. Marvin came to S. C. in 1820's - and that he was a Presbyterian — do not know religion of his wife.

September 29, 1951

Dear Mr. Andrea,

Your letter of September 24 was encouraging in many ways, but discouraging as to the numerical strength of the Evans family. My search may be like the proverbial needle.

Susannah (or Susan) Burt Evans was born about 1807 in South Carolina, died 1870's, married in Edgefield, S.C. in or about 1827, D. D. Marvin. They moved from Edgefield (or near Edgefield) about 1844 or 1845.

Susannah's mother or her father's mother may have been a Burt. At least one of Susannah's daughters was a Methodist — so I am uncertain whether the Catholic Burts may be related.

Susannah's parents may have left a will that will identify which Burt and which Evans families we may claim.

The Catholic family has a record of which to be proud and a Catholic Burt may have married a Protestant Evans, but I imagine the Protestant Burt line may be the right one.

After I establish parentage of Susannah Burt Evans, I shall like to go back farther, I am sure.

I like the idea of sharing the expense with others seeking Evans data in Edgefield Co. and, perhaps, Marion Co. Please let me know more about this and the approximate cost.

I had photostat copies made of George Dickey's Revolutionary claims that are on file in Columbia. Mr. Salley furnished them.

Is he still State Historian or Archivist? He was with Marion,
I believe at that time George Dickey son of John and M. Dickey was in or near York (the "New Acquisition"). The Scott record
I seek is that of his wife Mary (Polly) Scott Dickey, whom he married, I believe, in South Carolina before going to Kentucky, thence to Alabama.

I'll be glad to rent Scott if you believe I may find her parentage or other clues.

Please advise me, in regard to best thing (economically speaking, too) to do about Burt-Evans; also, Scott.

As I wrote you, I have copies of wills of Pulliam and Fooshe
(Should this be FOUSHE or FOOSHE?)
of Abbeville, but understand that p.4 Fooshes were originally in Barnwell. There were both Fooshes and Pulliams in Virginia, but I have not been able yet to connect the two with S. Carolina.

This query for a neighbor: Have you Withers data for rent that will show Revolutionary record for a John Withers who married Mary Bowen daughter by first wife of a John Bowen, who married second a Withers?

I am quite willing to pay for data — just have to be judicious about expenditures as income is not increasing.

Sincerely yours,
Edna M. Dickey

Dear Mr. Andrea;

You will probably remember doing some Burt research for me.

I do not have your letter at hand, but I believe you offered some Scott material on hand at a reasonable rental. Before this would be of value to me I think I should have the marriage date of Mary (Polly) Scott who married George Dickey and the names of her parents.

From what data I can supply you may be able to advise me how to proceed and if you cannot do the research, you may suggest someone in York County who is capable and also reasonable in price as I have to limit what I spend on genealogy.

Data I have:

> A copy of the will of John Dickey - will dated Feb. 13, 1789, "Acquisition District." (He moved to S.C. from Va. in 1770's - died in York Co., S.C.)

> John's son, *GEORGE b. 1742 - served under Gen. Marion - mar. Mary (Polly) Scott, when? where?

*George had two or more uncles in North Carolina during the Revolution.

> *Have photostatic copies of S.C. records showing payments to George Dickey for services during Revolutionary War under Gen. Marion.

> George had several brothers, Robert (?) served under General Sumter.

Your name was first given me by Rev. E. M. Sharp, a Methodist minister, at the time in New Albany, Mississippi.

Others have written of your excellent and conscientious work.

The Burt work you did for me bore out this recommendation even though we failed to connect Susan Burt Evans (or Susan Evans Burt?) who married in Edgefield County in 1827 (or about that date) D. D. Marvin.

A stamped envelope is enclosed for your convenience in replying.

Yours truly,

Dear Ms. Butler,

Your entries in the "Roots" Cellar of the Genealogical Helper for Nov-Dec 1981 caught my eye because we are also researching the BANTA and DEMAREST (DEMAREE) lines. Please see enclosed sheet.

My husband's mother was a PARSELL and we are trying to trace back. Specifically, we are trying to learn the following:

1. The line of descent of Baeltie (Isabella) DEMAREST from David des MAREST the immigrant of 1663.
2. The name of her mother.
3. The parents of Martyntie BOGERT
4. The parents of Maritje WESTERVELT

By any chance do you have any of this data in your files?

I could not find anything pertaining to your Henry BANTA or Peter DEMAREE in my records. I do not have ready access to the books, but have photo copies from some pages of "The Huguenots on the Hackensack." "The Family of Joris Dircksen BRINKERHOFF" "A Frisian Family, The BANTA Genealogy". Also some information about the Low Dutch Colony of Conewago. If you think there is anything of interest or help to you, I will be glad to share.

A self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed for your convenience. I will be looking forward to hearing from you.

May I wish you a pleasant holiday season and "happy hunting" in the New Year.

Sincerely,

Dear Mrs. Dillon

So glad to receive your letter. Thank you for Writing.

The Hendrick Epke Banta b 1655 first wife Maritje Lubbertse Westervelt was not my line, so I don't have her parents. I descend from Hendrick Epke Banta and his 2nd wife Angenetie Hendricks m. about 1695, through their son Hendrick H. Banta b 13 Jan 1696 Bergen Co. N.J. married Gertrude Terhune 26 Jan 1717 Hackensack, Bergen, N.J. I went through my family sheets, but didn't have a Isabella Demarest. Perhaps there is a generation between. Do you know her father's name? I don't have near all the family sheets filled in, so because I don't have her listed doesn't mean too much. I also don't have anything on Martyntie Bogert.

I am sending a copy of David Demarest & Marie Sohier family sheet. Also Hendrick Epke Banta + Hendrick H. Banta II. These are my direct lines. If you want more I'll be happy to copy and send to you. I would like a copy of your info about the Low Dutch Colony of Conewago If it isn't too much trouble.

Thanks again for writing and I hope your Holiday is the best ever.

Sincerely
Elsie Buttler

Dear Elsie,

Thank you for your letter of 20 December. The information about given names is most helpful and by using it and checking back I found your Henry in my copies of some pages from the BANTA Genealogy. Perhaps you are fortunate enough to own a copy of the book or have ready access to it. In case not, I'll enclose a few pages.

Also enclosed some DEMAREST and BRINKERHOFF data. I do not own any of these books, worse luck, and do not have ready access to them, but made photo copies of a few relevant pages when I did see them. Wish now that I had copied more pages. The information says that Baeltie (Isabella) DEMAREST was a daughter of David DEMAREST of Bergen County and that the family dates back to the David DEMAREST who landed in New York in 1663. Obviously I am missing a generation or two and would very much appreciate being able to fill it in.

It seems my interest in all these associated names BANTA, BOGERT, BRINKERHOFF, PARSELL, PAWELZEN, SMOCK, WESTERVAL, needs research back in New Jersey and New York. Do you have any suggestions about books or places to write or people to contact?

On your Family Group sheet for Hendrick Epke BANTA you have his mother's maiden name as Tietske DIRCKSDR. May I ask the source of this information? Perhaps it was in the BANTA genealogy and I missed it. Anyway, glad to have it. Every little clue helps I find.

This will be a bit tardy because I have to get over to the Huntington Beach Library and make photocopies of all the pages in the little booklet about the Conewago Colony. I had copied only a few pages and think you would like the whole story, which I will enclose when I get it.

Your interest and help is much appreciated, and I hope we can keep in touch and continue to assist each other.

Sincerely,

Encs.

Dear Edna

I don't believe I told you I was operated on Dec 30th. The operation was painful, but not too serious. I will be home until about the 1st of March. I'm doing fine now and hope to get my notebooks in order.

I wrote to the publisher and found that the Banta Genealogy is still available, but the price is unreasonable, I thought. They wanted $97.20 for paperbound and $5.00 more for binding. I wish genealogy books were priced more reasonably so more people could buy them.

The response to my "roots Cellar" entry has been tremendous. It took about a year to get it published, but it was well worth the wait. I have sent in another batch, which will probably be in the Genealogical Helper next fall. One of the people who wrote to me was Mrs. Lyndon L. Kelley, 2325 Richland Dr. Des Moines, Iowa 50317. I hope she doesn't mind my passing her name along to you. She has been most kind in copying material for me and sent the info on Hendrick Epke Banta + over.

Tietske Dircksdr. Also the same info from James Banta, 7118 E. 111 Terrace, Kansas City, Mo. 64134. Mr. Banta wrote that he was leaving for the south for the winter Jan 20th, So a letter to him might be delayed for a whi

There is a Book on the Demarest Family Genealogy with at least 2 editions.

I certainly do appreciate the copying you did and please let me know how much I owe you. I know that copying can get to be real expensive and I certainly want to pay.

I have also been corresponding with Kevin P. Glass, 1 Washington Dr. Apt. B. Ramsey, N.J. 07446. He has been most kind and lives in the vicinity of the immigrant Bantas.

Please let me hear how you are getting along in your search. I need to get all my info on family sheets and then I can tell more about them and may find I have help for you also.

Thanks again for the material you sent and be sure and include a bill in your next letter.

Sincerely
Elsie Butler

Dear Edna

I went through my family sheets again looking for your family lines and although I don't seem to have the specific ones you mentioned with the help of lots of other people I have the Demarest Family line back to about 1025. If we could find where your Demarest comes in or if you would like to have copies for future reference, I would be glad to make copies for you.

I feel disappointed that I wasn't able to help you more after all the help you have given me. I know you were out quite a bit in time and money making copies for me. Please let me know how much the copies cost so I can at least reimburse you ~~your~~ the money.

Did you write to the people of which I gave addresses?

I'm enclosing a Shaker brochure I thought you might like.

Hope to hear from you soon.

4 March 1982

Dear Elsie,

How nice to hear from you again, and I do thank you for the brochure about Shaker Village. Who knows, someday we may be able to visit there.

I appreciate your checking your files and do feel that sometime I will be able to tie it all in. Would very much like to have the Demarest Family line information. Imagine, back to 1025! I will be glad to reimburse you for any costs in having it copied and for the postage.

We are preparing for a rather lengthy trip and I have not had time to work on any genealogy lately, but upon our return about the middle of May I hope to get at it again. Have not contacted any of the people whose names you sent, but plan to do so later. Will also take your list of surnames to our genealogy group meeting next time I am able to go. I know some of the members are doing research in Kentucky and Ohio.

You did not mention how you are feeling. I do hope the operation was a complete success and that you are now fully recovered. Did you get your notebooks all in order during your convalescence? It all does take time, doesn't it?

As for the material I sent you, please, you do not owe me anything. I am glad to be able to be of help as others have been most kind and helpful to me. This is a most rewarding hobby in that people are so generous in sharing their findings. Just hope you found the sketch of the "Mud Meeting House" to be of interest. There are a few dedicated people who try to maintain the old Low Dutch Cemeteries near Gettysburg, and since learning of them we try to send a small donation to help out. Nice that folks are interested in trying to preserve their heritage.

I am so glad your letter arrived before we left and I had a chance to answer you. Stay well, now, and good luck with your searches.

Sincerely,

March 13, 1982

Dear Edna

Always happy to hear from you and hope you have a wonderful time on your trip. Yes, I have recovered completely and am back at work. I returned to work sooner than expected. I thought I would not go back until March 1st, but returned Feb. 22nd. I did get my notebooks in better shape, but there is always room for improvement.

I don't know where Baeltie (Isabella) Demarest comes in, but I'll copy the Demarest family back to Jean de Marets & Margrieta de Herville their son David married Marie Sohier (this is the only child I have for them) David & Marie Sohier had 6 children - Samuel b 1656 is my direct ancestor, and from there on it is just my line.

I recently ordered the book "Pre-Revolutionary Dutch Houses and Families in Northern N.J & Southern N.Y." by Rosalie Fellows Baily. I am well pleased with it. If you would like to have the book, order from

DOVER Publications
180 VARICK St
NEW YORK, N.Y. 10014

It is Book # 0-486-21985-2 and cost 6.75 postpaid.

It has some info on the Bogert's and Westervelt, although I didn't find a Martyntie Bogert or Maritje Westervelt in the index. If you decide not to order the book let me know and I will copy from my book for you. It is a thick book (over 600 pages) with pictures of the Dutch Homes and info on their families. It has the Banta, Demarest etc I think it is a bargain

Next Oct. I think a friend and I will be going to Pennsylvania. I hope to to go to the Low Dutch Cemeteries near Gettysburg We went last Oct., but I didn't know about the cemetery. We spent the night just outside of Gettysburg.

Let me know if I can be of any help. About what years would Baertie (Isabella) Demarest, Martyntie Bogert & Maritje Westervelt have lived? That would put us in the right generation to search.

Hope to hear from you soon.

Sincerely
Elsie Butler

Dear Elsie,

What a pleasant surprise to hear from you again before we leave on our trip. I do thank you for the enclosures. I am sure to be able to tie into the Demarest line one of these days. Baeltie (Isabella) Demarest (1753-1836) was the daughter of David Demarest (which one, there seem to have been so many) and the wife of Roelef Brinkerhoff.

When we return I shall certainly send for the book about Dutch houses. Imagine so much genealogical material being available in an architecture book! From the pages you sent about the Westervelt house, it would seem that the Maritje (or Mareytje) Lubbertse Westervelt I am interested in might have been the daughter of immigrant Lubbert Lubbertsen Van Westervelt mentioned on p 325. Will try to locate one of the Westervelt Genealogies you mentioned.

Also upon our return I plan to write to the persons you mentioned in a previous letter. It is fun to be in touch with others who are researching the same names and areas.

To go back to Maritje Westervelt, she was born in Meppel in Drenthe, but I do not have a date. She was married in Bergen, N.J. on 17 Nov. 1678 to Hendrick Epke Banta.

I have no dates for Martyntie Bogert, but she was born in Hackensack and married Joris Brinkerhoff. He was born in 1719, married 1745, died 1810. She may have been the daughter of John Cornelius Bogert. Any help deeply appreciated.

Good luck with finding the Low Dutch Cemeteries when you go to Gettysburg this fall. Do you plan to do any research at the State Library in Harrisburg or at the Mennonite Archives in Lancaster? They seem to have some wonderful material, but it is not too easy to get it by mail. Would love to have an opportunity to be there for a week or so. Perhaps someday.

So glad you recovered completely and rapidly from your operation and trust all is well with you now and will remain so. Thank you again for all the data.

Dear Edna

So nice to hear from you again. I realize you ~~to~~ may have already left on your trip, but wanted to write you a few lines just in case you are still at home.

I found a page on Henrich Ephi Banta and Angenitie Hendricks & his second wife Maritje Lubbertsen Westervelt. I may have already sent you a copy, but am sending another because I'm not sure. Hope this will be of help.

I don't think we will go to State Library in Harrisburg. We went last year and stayed three days but missed the Mennonite Archives in Lancaster so will try to spend some time there.

I hope you have a wonderful time on your trip and will write to me as soon as you can when you return.

Best wishes for now, but hope to have more help for you next time.

Thanks again for all your help.

22 May 1982

Dear Elsie,

Your letter was waiting for me when we returned last week from our trip. So nice to hear from you again, and I am very pleased to have the enclosure about Hendrick Epke Banta. You had not sent it previously. Thank you.

I have sent for the book from Dover Publications, but have not yet had opportunity to write to the persons whose names and addresses you gave me some time back. Too much to get caught up with before starting any new contacts.

When I first wrote to you last December, I also wrote to another person, a Mrs. Alig, whose name appeared in an ad for a Tyker-Smock-Demaree reunion. Perhaps you saw this?

When we returned there was a letter from another person in reply giving me much information on the Demarest connection. She had also forwarded my letter to a Mr. David Smock in McLean, Virginia, and he wrote also with helpful material. He has published a book, "Hendrick Matthysen Smock and His Descendants, First Three Generations" (cost $10.00). I have sent for it also. At present I am trying to learn where I can see or purchase the Demarest Genealogies.

I have not yet had time to "digest" and enter in my notebooks the information provided, but am very happy to have made some progress on these lines. Can now tie into the material you sent about the very early des Marets. I do thank all you helpful, wonderful people.

Are you still planning on a trip to Pennsylvania in October? Certainly wish I could join you, there is so much to be learned there. Do you have any Mennonite connections? On my husband's father's side there are many. If you should get to Newville,Pa. you could visit the Diller Mennonite Church and Graveyard, still an active congregation.

Our younger son was married last Saturday, so you can imagine that with just returning from a seven week journey and then having a family wedding, we have hardly had time to come down to earth. Perhaps my next letter will be better organized and have some information you can use.

For now, thank you again, and stay well.

Sincerely,

11 July 1982

Dear Elsie,

Imagine my disappointment when my money was returned from Dover Publications with the statement that the book "Pre-Revolutionary Dutch Houses" was out of print! I had really been looking forward to receiving a copy, it sounded so interesting. To make things even more discouraging, two other genealogies I had hoped to receive are also unavailable. So frustrating to know that information is out there, but to be unable to see it.

However, I do have some good news. I received the Smock Genealogy that I mentioned in my last letter and also now have the 2 volumes and supplement for the Demarest Family. Do you have these? I found your John, Leah and Peter Demarest and will be glad to copy the data if you do not have it. The supplement states that Marie Sohier's line of descent comes down directly from Charlemagne. Were you aware of this? Have you done any research into it? It is an intriguing idea to say the least.

Recently our Genealogy Class had a field trip up to the Sons of the Revolution Library in Glendale. As always in such cases, the time was all too short. There was one book titled "Schraalenburgh Church Records of New Jersey" one of the "Collections of the Holland Society of New York" that I had time only to glance at, but would love to own, or at least have time to really go through page by page. There were so many familiar names, it would take much study to sort out the pertinent ones. Have you seen this book or any others of the Holland Society?

Guess that is about it for now. Let me know if I can look up anything for you in the Smock or Demarest Genealogies.

Sincerely,

Sorry I haven't been able to answer your letter. I hurt my hand (right) and had to have an operation on it. The cast wont be taken off until July 27th. I hope to be able to write then. Please forgive me the long delay.

August 14, 1982

Dear Edna

Sorry to have been so long in answering your letter. I finally got my hand & arm out of the cast August 2nd. It has been a very disappointing summer. I have not been able to do any research or writing since June 2nd.

We are still planning to go to Virginia & Pa. in the last of Sept. & 1st of October. We don't know how long we will stay, but hope to go to some of the court houses.

I'm sorry you didn't get the "Pre-Revolutionary Dutch Houses". Perhaps they will have a re-printing soon.

I ordered the Demarest Red Books today. Hope they are not sold out.

I have not seen "Schraalenburgh Church Records of New Jersey" but shall look for it in the future. A lot of our ancestors belonged to that church.

It is very interesting about Marie Sohier's line of descent coming directly from Charlemagne. First time I had heard this and am anxious to get my copies.

I don't have any new info, but need to get my records in order that have been put back over the summer.

Look forward to hearing from you soon and hope my bad luck is over for awhile. I had never been in the hospital except for my children's birth until this past year and have had enough already.

Sincerely
Elsie Butler

23 August 1982

Dear Elsie,

Congratulations on having the use of your hand again! I have some idea of what you have been through because my husband fell and broke his right hand recently. He refused to have an operation and pin insertion, so was in a cast for some weeks. That has now been removed, but the hand is still painful and the finger not fully functional. Swollen and looks staange. Hope time will help.

After haunting the bookstores in Orange County for weeks, I finally located a copy of "Pre-Revolutionary Dutch Houses". Was really thrilled and have spent many hours reading and checking. Many thanks for telling me about it.

I hope you have received the Demarest books by now. One of the members of our Genealogy Group borrowed mine and was delighted to find her grandmother (Julia De Mary #10-1322) and consequently ten generations back. She then ordered a set of her own and received them promptly.

Lucky you to be planning a visit to Pennsylvania. The Lancaster Mennonite Historical Society Library has many Cemetery Files (I bought a listing of them). Under Adams County there is listed "Conewago Low Dutch, near Gettysburg". I have no idea just what the file would contain, but if you visit the library perhaps you will want to take a look and see. If it is of value I think they will make photocopies for you. Incidentally, there are twenty pages to this list of cemeteries!

I have not done any research into Charlemagne nor have I tried to trace the Sohier line. Seems a bit far-fetched for me at this stage of my searching, but would certainly enjoy hearing about the results if anyone else is looking into it.

Cannot think of anything new or helpful to send you this time, but do trust you will have a wonderful trip and find much of value. It is all out there somewhere, if we just know where to look and whom to contact. Good luck.

Sincerely,

Sept. 5, 1982

Dear Edna

I received the Demarest Red Books, but have not taken the time to really apply them to my records. I suppose I will have to wait until winter when things slow down. I have had a "lost summer" and since the 2nd of August we have had someone on vacation at work, so I haven't been able to get away and do anything on my genealogy. Also I have had to work on Saturday a couple of times. There is no way I can get everything done I want on Sunday.

I take my vacation the 27th of Sept. so hopefully I can get back in stride after that. I appreciate your telling me about Lancaster Mennonite Historical Society Library. I plan to go there, although I expect to spend more time in Virginia. I have quite a few lines I am checking on, and most of them came from Virginia. I think that is my problem - I am stretched too this - working on so many lines at once.

I'm glad you enjoyed "Dutch House etc."
I'm glad I have a copy.

I'm sorry I don't have much to add, but hopefully will next time.

Enjoyed hearing from you and look forward to your next letter.

Sincerely
Elsie Beetler

Dear Edna

Sorry I have been so long in answering your nice letter. I haven't been able to do much on my genealogy of late. I seem never to have any time anymore. Whenever I do find time I'm always in a hurry and probably over-look a lot.

I also bought the "Banta Pioneers" by Elsa M. Banta, and copied Vincent Akers "Low Dutch Company" from a friend's copy. I don't have the other two you mentioned.

I have sort of put the Bantas & Demarests on a "back burner" and am trying to bring some of my other lines up to date. I did get a letter about the Ryker-Riker-Smock Demaree Reunion to be held in Madison, Ind. June 21-June 24. I probably won't get to go though. I am planning a trip to Washington D.C. the last week of July and don't feel I can take off from work too much.

We enjoyed our trip to Virginia & Pa. in 1982, but didn't find the Old Dutch Cemeteries near Gettysburg. I wish I had the time & money to follow up on leads & clues, but guess I never will.
So nice to hear from you. We must keep in touch. Love
Elsie Butler

5 April 1984

Dear Elsie,

It has been a long time since we exchanged letters. I have made some progress in my ancestor hunt, but am still seeking the parents of Martyntie BOGERT. There must be a genealogy out there somewhere! Am also still trying to learn about the early PARSELS. How are you doing?

Did you have a successful trip to Virginia and Pennsylvania in the Fall of 1982? I hope so. Did you locate and visit the Old Dutch Cemeteries near Gettysburg?

Perhaps you too have learned about various publications and ordered copies. If not, here is a list of my latest acquisitions:

1. "BANTA Pioneers" by Elsa M. Banta
2. "The Low Dutch Company" by Vincent Akers
3. "Taxables of the Low Dutch Settlement of Conewago" by Arthur Weaner
4. "Conewago Baptisms" by Betty Yenne

If I can look up anything in any of them for you, just let me know.

I trust all is well with you, and will be interested in hearing how you are doing with your research.
